Of the roads running South or Southwest from Chicago, the Illinois Central on the line from Chicago to New Orleans makes quite a large gain, and we should judge that this occurred wholly north of Cairo, in the State of Illinois, and not on the Southern Division, since the road delivered only 5,110 bales of cotton at New Orleans in April 1884, against 21,161 bales in April, 1883. The Chicago & Eastern Illinois, on the other hand, has a pretty big decrease, in addition to the merely nominal loss of a year ago. The roads that connect with the Southwest again give a very good account of themselves. The Chicago & Alton continues to swell its receipts in a moderate way, while the St. Louis & San Francisco makes most noteworthy improvement. The latter road in 1883 added $31,000 to its earnings, but this year has a further addition of nearly $90,000. The Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf, and its Memphis connection, the Kansas City Springfield & Memphis, also report an increasing business. On the Gould roads the figures have been withheld since the first of the year, but a brief statement covering the fourth week of April has within the last few days found its way into print. According to this, there was in this period an increase over last year of about $15,000 on the Missouri Pacific of $18,000 on the Central Branch, of $22,000 on the Iron Mountain, and of $28,000 on the Wabash, while the Missouri Kansas & Texas, the International & Great Northern, and the Texas & Pacific, had decreases ranging from $3,000 to $5,000, that on the Texas & Pacific being ascribed to the non-working of a portion of the New Orleans Pacific road, because of the damage caused by the high water in the Mississippi. Figures covering a single week, like these, never have any great value, but in the present instance especially they should not be taken as a criterion of what preceding weeks have shown, since the fourth week of April last year was one when the results were rather poor, the Iron Mountain, the International & Great Northern, the Wabash, and the Texas & Pacific, having all shown a decrease then (though previously they had been showing an increase), and that, of course, would make the comparison now more favorable. It is easy to see how the Missouri Pacific might make steady gains by reason of the excellent harvest that the State of Kansas has been blessed with, and also by the extension of new lines further into that territory, the St. Louis Fort Scott

& Wichita (which gives its traffic to the Missouri Pacific and which earned $32,000 this April against $15,000 last April), being an instance of this latter kind; but it does not seem likely that the reduced movement of cotton in Texas, which is such an important item of traffic on the roads in the extreme Southwest, should not have left some decided mark on the earnings of the lines chiefly affected, though, of course, to a very much smaller degree in April than in the months preceding, the Gulf Colorado & Santa Fé (which is not a Gould road), actually recording an increase this time. How very small the cotton movement has been this year, not only in Texas but all over the South, is shown in the subjoined table, in our usual form.

Here we see that while the Gulf ports have sustained the heaviest falling off, almost every port shows a larger or smaller loss, and for April the aggregate receipts for the whole South reach only 65,303 bales, against 228,029 bales in the same month of 1883, and against even as much as 106,595 bales in April, 1882 (from the short crop of 1881). That Southern roads have done as well as they have, despite this heavy contraction in their principal item of traffic, is certainly a very encouraging feature. Of course those that are least dependent upon this staple make the best exhibits, but the decrease even on those that have a large cotton tonnage is in no case heavy, and moreover comes, as a rule, after an increase the previous year. Of the roads that rely least on cotton, the Louisville & Nashville is to be assigned leading position for its gains. The road had a small loss in 1883 (hardly more than nominal), but has now in 1884 an increase of $156,000. At Mobile, it will be noticed, the cotton movement in April, though small, was somewhat larger than in 1883, and the Mobile & Ohio, which reported a loss of earnings in the latter year, this year has quite a handsome gain (over $41,000). But the East Tennessee Va. & Ga., the Richmond & Danville lines, the Norfolk & Western, &c., also make very good exhibits. The Norfolk & Western, besides a diminished cotton traffic, also had a smaller coal traffic from the mines on its lines, but nevertheless is able to report some improvement in its earnings over 1883.

For the first four months of the year our statement makes a tolerably good showing. The amount of gain on the roads reporting an increase now more than offsets the loss on those reporting a decrease, so that the net result is an improvement of nearly 1½ million dollars over the same period a year ago. The number of roads that fail to equal 1883 is growing less, and is confined chiefly to lines within the States of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana (where an indifferent harvest last year operates to diminish the tonnage of many roads) or to such roads as the St. Paul and the Grand Trunk of Canada. The following table furnishes full details.

† From January 1 to April 26.

Net earnings for March and the first quarter of the year are to hand for a number of leading companies, but they show no uniform result, and can not very well be treated as a whole. Different localities present different exhibits, while even the roads in the same section do not afford any similarity of showing. We have in previous issues discussed the returns of the Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia & Reading, and in another column to-day comment on the March exhibit of the Burlington & Quincy, and the Atchison Topeka & Sante Fé. Of other roads the Norfolk & Western and Shenandoah Valley have this time, from special causes, a decrease in net, as against an increase in former months. But the Mobile & Ohio, whose figures cover April, by a concurrent increase of earnings and decrease of expenses, is able to report quite an important addition to its net result. The Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis has a small decrease, and the Northern Central also falls behind last year. So, too, does the Louisville & Nashville. The Denver & Rio Grande has net of only $17,750 in 1884, against $204,223 in March, 1883, and it is said that snow-storms and snow-slides are in great part responsible for the poor showing made. Following are all the roads from which returns can be obtained for publication.

THE CRISIS IN EGYPTIAN AFFAIRS.

The Egyptian difficulty continues to command a large share of public attention. In the situation itself there is nothing absolutely new. It is more apparent that the joint administration is a failure, and that Great Britain must either resign the management of affairs into the hands of the Egyptian officials, contenting herself with supervision, as Nubar Pasha suggests, or assume unqualified control. As things are, responsibility is divided, and confusion, especially in the interior of the country, is becoming daily more evident. General Gordon remains shut up in Khartoum; and his letter to Sir Evelyn Baring, read the other night in the House of Commons, has made it plain to the British public and to the world generally that he considers himself the victim of a heartless or incompetent administration.

The one feature of novelty given to the general subject is derived from the coming Congress, which, at the request of the British Government, is to meet in London the first week in June, and the attention of which, it is understood, is to be exclusively confined to the financial affairs of Egypt. It is reasonable to take it for granted that Mr. Gladstone has some distinct and well-defined proposals to make to the assembled plenipotentiaries. But what these proposals are has not yet been very clearly divulged. It is understood that the Government has accepted the recommendation of Sir Evelyn Baring that there should be an extension of time allowed for the payment of the interest now becoming due, and that, among other changes of a more or less radical character, foreigners should be placed on the same level with the natives in regard to taxation.

But has this Congress been convened merely for the purpose of obtaining the consent of the Powers to such changes in the management of the financial affairs of Egypt? It seems hardly a sufficient cause for such a Conference. Italy and France are the only parties besides Great Britain who have any great interest in Egyptian finance; and France claims to hold more than half the Egyptian debt. If such changes are necessary, why not arrange with France? There is no evidence that, if the British Government could have come to a satisfactory arrangement with France, any of the other Powers would have offered objections. Italy would have followed France. If France had refused her consent, it would still have been competent for Great Britain to act on her own responsibility, and to do the best she could in the circumstances. As it is, by calling a Conference, Mr. Gladstone seems, at least, to have placed his country, in its particular relations with Egypt, at the mercy of Europe. A Conference after Tel-el-Kebir would have had about it an air of dignity. A Conference now, after some eighteen months of ineffectual effort, has the appearance of a confession of defeat.

Under these circumstances, the patience which the general British public have manifested is something exceptional in British history; and it goes very far to show the faith which they have in the uprightness, the patriotism and the ability of the statesman who is now at the head of affairs. It would seem, however, as if their patience was at last nearly exhausted; and recent demonstrations of public opinion, in circumstances which have given to the demonstrations peculiar and exceptional significance, leave little room to doubt that a political crisis has at last been reached. It is a sure sign of change when the London Times abandons the Administration; and its utterances within the last few days furnish positive proof that it, too, has become impatient of the Government's policy of indecision and delay. The Times has lent its weight to the motion tabled by Sir Hicks Beach, and which, on an early day, will bring under review in the House of Commons the whole policy of the Government regarding Egypt. The debate will be one of commanding interest; and at the present moment it is extremely doubtful how it may result. A vote of censure in ordinary circumstances is followed by the resignation of Ministers. But, with the Congress on hand and the Franchise Bill not yet passed into law, it is doubtful whether disapproval of his Egyptian policy would be regarded by Mr. Gladstone as a sufficient reason for abandoning the helm at the present juncture. The mere possibility, however, of such a result shows the gravity of the situation. Possible as it is, Mr. Gladstone's defeat is by no means certain. He has a powerful following in the House; and it is doubtful whether, among that following, the feeling of the country is fully reflected. Mr. Gladstone, in view of the coming Congress, has the best of reasons for refusing to be catechised as to his future policy regarding Egypt; and it will not be at all a surprise if he should be strong enough to compel the House to halt in its endeavor to force a dissolution. A general election could hardly fail to result in a Tory triumph; but that is the very reason why in the approaching debate the Liberal members are likely to support their chief.

In spite of present appearances to the contrary, Mr. Gladstone may successfully meet all these troubles. Intellectually, at least, he has shown no signs of waning powers; and it is difficult to conceive how a man so fruitful in resources as he has proved himself to be should not have seen his way to success by the policy he has been pursuing. We evidently do not know all. We do not know his plans. It may be that there is something which he wishes to do, which he has not yet done, and that there is some barrier which he wants to have removed so as to clear the way for action. If his Ministry should survive the coming debate, and if he should succeed in bringing about a satisfactory settlement of Egyptian affairs with the consent of Europe, it would be a very gratifying close to an already long and surpassingly brilliant career.

MR. GOWEN ON THE READING RAILROAD.

We gladly give place to the following letter from Mr. Gowen. It calls for no comment from us.

CRESHEIM—MOUNT AIRY, PHILADELPHIA, May 6, 1884.

To the Editor of the COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL CHRONICLE.

The statement in your issue of May 3d that the earnings of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company for the four months ending March 31st of the present year show a relative loss of over $2,100,000 as compared with those of the same time last year, while entirely correct, may lead to very erroneous conclusions and do great injury to innocent holders of the property unless explained. For years the productive capacity of the anthracite mines has been in excess of the demand, and over-production has been prevented by voluntary suspensions of mining, which last year amounted to 60 days, of which 51 days were within the fiscal year of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company which ended November 30, 1883. The latter company has always endeavored to induce the other companies to throw all the suspensions of mining into the winter months; but as the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company was shut off in the past, by the closing of the canals, from supplying the New York market in winter, the other companies having railroad connections with New York were unwilling to increase the winter suspensions. Since the acquisition of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, the Reading Railroad Company has been placed on terms of equality with the other companies for the winter trade of New York, and for the present year the companies have voluntarily agreed to increase the winter suspensions to such an extent that for the months of December, January, February and March last they have amounted to 48 days, as against but 24 days of idleness in the corresponding months of last year. The expected decrease of earnings was pointed out in the last annual report of the company, and is not so great as might have been expected from the increased number of idle days.

| For the four mos. named last year the net earnings were. | | $2,841,243 73 |
| For the same four months this year..... | $2,597,635 81 | |
| Increased fixed charges on account of Central RR. of New Jersey lease..... | 1,898,189 72— | 699,446 09 |
| Relative loss in earnings..... | | $2,141,797 64 |
| Of this the loss on Central New Jersey lease was..... | | 958,864 28 |
| Balance, representing loss of Reading RR. Company net earnings due to increased suspensions of mining..... | | $1,182,933 36 |

Or the same result is obtained thus :

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Four months' earnings last year..... | | $2,841,243 73 |
| Same months this year..... | $2,597,635 81 | |
| Net earnings Central New Jersey..... | 939,325 44— | 1,658,310 37 |
| Balance, same as above ..... | | $1,182,933 36 |

The loss of $958,864 28 in the working of the Central New Jersey lease must be expected in the winter months, when the coal trade is suspended, and when the monthly rental goes on, and will be made up in the latter part of the year; and I doubt very much whether, in the previous history of the Reading Railroad Company during the last five years, any period of time having twenty-four more idle days in coal mining, than a corresponding period in another year, can be found in which the loss resulting from such increased suspension of mining was not greater than $1,182,933 36. As against the 51 days of idleness in its last fiscal year—suspensions of mining amounting to 63 days have been agreed upon for the present fiscal year, viz., 48 in December, January, February and March, 6 in April and 9 in May. These 63 days of idleness should be sufficient to do away with the necessity for further restrictions of production prior to November 30 next. And if the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company can have full time in the coal trade after June 1, it will soon make up what it has lost in the earlier months.

Although I am no longer connected in any manner with the management of the company, I cannot but feel a deep personal interest in its success; and I trust you will do me the kindness to publish this letter in the next issue of your paper, for the information of those who hold its securities. Very respectfully,

FRANKLIN B. GOWEN.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS FOR MARCH, 1884, AND FOR THE NINE AND TWELVE MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 1884.

[Prepared by the Bureau of Statistics and corrected to April 22, 1884.]

Below is given the ninth monthly statement for the current fiscal year of the imports and exports of the United States.

The excess of the value of exports over imports or of imports over exports of merchandise was as follows:

| Month ended March 31, 1884 (excess of imports)..... | $5,007,115 |

LONDON, Saturday, April 26, 1884.

America's gold continues to reach Europe in considerable quantities, but, owing to the very easy condition of the London market, the greater proportion is being sent to the Continent. For some time past the Continental exchanges have been somewhat adverse to us, and a few parcels have been taken from the Bank of England on Dutch account. The diversion to the Continent is largely due to the appearance of a new Russian loan, and the movement is favorable, as it shows that some profitable use is to be made of it in the construction of railways in the Russian empire. We have an accumulation of gold in this country which is more than adequate to all requirements, and it is quite probable that it will remain intact, if not increase, so long as there is so little enterprise. At the present time there is no tendency to improvement, although the money market is now extremely easy. The disposition is to operate with great caution in every department, though there is no reason for believing that any serious difficulties exist. During the current year, however, many arrangements have been made, and obviously there is a want of confidence. It is believed, therefore, that the process of recovery will continue to be slow.

No change was made by the directors of the Bank of England in their published rate of discount. The open market rates of discount have been falling, and the price of three months' bank bills is as low as 1¼ per cent, while short loans on approved security are obtainable at 1 per cent. The Bank of England return is favorable, and the proportion of reserve to liabilities has risen from 47·75 per cent to 49·04 per cent. At this date last year it was only 38⅞ per cent. The total reserve, owing to a decrease of £212,920 in the note circulation, and an increase of £191,388 in the supply of gold, has been augmented to the extent of £404,308. The total reserve is now £15,777,330, against £11,323,013, and the supply of gold is £25,327,730, against £21,186,056 last year.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell observe:

Gold.—Further heavy shipments are reported from America, the amounts afloat from that country being £1,850,000; the total exports from the United States to Europe have now reached £5,457,000. We also have to report the arrival of £530,400 by various steamers from New York, and of this amount the Bank of England has taken £192,000. The balance has been bought for India and Holland, the latter country having absorbed a large amount, including £52,000 in Dutch coin, sold by the Bank of England. £50,000 in sovereigns have been withdrawn for Lisbon. The "Cathay" takes £70,000 to Bombay and £2,000 to Madras.

Silver has improved in price since our last, and to-day 51d. could be obtained. Only £30,000 have arrived from New York, and the market is almost bare at the present moment. The P. & O. steamer takes £103,800 to Bombay and £45,000 to Calcutta, and the "Ravenna," sailing this day, takes £15,000 to Bombay.

Mexican Dollars.—With only one arrival of £9,000 from New York, there has been but little doing in these coins, and the last quotation at which business was done is 49⅜d., showing an advance of 3-16d. during the week. The "Ravenna" takes this afternoon £119,130 to China and the Straits.

The quotations for bullion are reported as follows:

Tenders will be received at the Bank of England on Tuesday week for £1,500,000 Treasury bills under the usual conditions.

The subscription list of the new Russian 5 per cent railway loan for £15,000,000 will, it is said, be opened in Berlin, Amsterdam and St. Petersburg on the 29th inst. The price of issue will be £89 per £100 bond. Although the loan will not be formally introduced here, coupons will be made payable in London.

Financially, the more prominent feature is the introduction of the Government financial statement, which is now being subjected to much criticism. This was natural when so important a proposal is made as a reduction in the interest on the national debt. Taken as a whole, the proposal has been favorably received, but it could only be accomplished in times when money is so cheap as it is at present. The Chancellor of the Exchequer offers to the holders of consols a 2¾ per cent stock at the rate of £102 of the new stock for each £100 of consols, or into 2½ per cents, at the rate of £108 for each £100 of consols. The new 2¾ per cents are to be redeemable at any time after 1905, but the 2½s are not to be subject to redemption; £100 converted into 2¾ per cents will yield £2 16s. 1d. per cent, while the 2½ per cents will yield £2 14s. per cent. The effect of the proposal on the Stock Exchange has been to cause a transfer of the 3 per cents into the existing 2½ per cents, as well as into Indian Government and railroad securities. Three per cent consols have somewnat declined in value; but the 2½ per cents and Indian securities have risen in price to a moderate extent. There has also been a moderate demand for municipal government securities.

The proposal of the Chancellor of the Exchequer regarding the light gold coinage, by issuing a new half-sovereign of less intrinsic value, is not very popular. Half-sovereigns are seldom exported, but it is to be feared that the sterling character of our present coinage would suffer were the change to be made. A remedy is no doubt difficult, as it is difficult to distribute the loss.

The wheat trade is regarded as being in a more satisfactory position, and is said to be firm. At Liverpool an advance is quoted; but there is no corresponding movement in London. The business doing is almost entirely for actual consumption, at full prices. The weather has become more seasonable, and a moderate quantity of rain has fallen. This will be beneficial, as we now expect vegetation to make steady progress. The crop prospects, both here and on the Continent, are favorable.

It is estimated that the following quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn are now afloat to this country:

| | At present. | Last week. | Last year. | 1882. |
| Wheat.....qrs. | 1,850,000 | 1,910,000 | 2,260,000 | 2,349,000 |

| Indian corn..... | 117,000 | 132,500 | 240,000 | 177,000 |

In the annexed return is shown the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the 187 principal markets of England and Wales during the first 34 weeks of the season, together with the average prices realized, compared with 150 markets in the three previous seasons:

| | SALES. 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |

| Barley..... | 32 5 | 34 5 | 32 8 | 33 0 |
| Oats..... | 19 9 | 21 1 | 20 11 | 24 2 |

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....cwt. | 29,528,400 | 29,847,800 | 25,404,470 | 21,618,200 |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 3½, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4⅓. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

The following return shows the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first 34 weeks of the season, &c.:

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SEVENTH CALL FOR BONDS.—A Treasury circular, dated Washington, D. C., May 3, 1884, gives notice that the principal and accrued interest of the bonds herein below designated will be paid at the Treasury of the United States, in the City of Washington, D. C., on the twentieth day of June, 1884, and that the interest on said bonds will cease on that day, viz.: Three per cent bonds issued under the act of Congress approved July 12, 1882, and numbered as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| $50— | Orig. No. | 404 to Orig. No. | 442, both inclusive. |
| $100— | Orig. No. | 3,388 to Orig. No. | 3,840, both inclusive, and |
| | Orig. No. | 9,474 to Orig. No. | 9,478, both inclusive. |
| $500— | Orig. No. | 1,586 to Orig. No. | 1,757, both inclusive, and |
| | Orig. No. | 3,982 to Orig. No. | 3,986, both inclusive. |
| $1,000— | Orig. No. | 13,356 to Orig. No. | 14,471, both inclusive, and |
| | Orig. No. | 22,693 to Orig. No. | 22,732, both inclusive. |
| $10,000— | Orig. No. | 22,076 to Orig. No. | 22,953, both inclusive. |
| Total | | | $10,000,000 |

The bonds described above are either bonds of the "original" issue, which have but one serial number at each end, or "substitute" bonds, which may be distinguished by the double set of numbers, which are marked plainly "original numbers," and "substitute numbers." All of the bonds of this loan will be called by the original numbers only. Many of the bonds originally included in the above numbers have been transferred or exchanged into other denominations on "waiver," the original numbers being canceled, and leaving outstanding the amount above stated.

Imports and Exports for the Week.—The imports of last week, compared with those of the preceding week, show an increase in both dry goods and general merchandise. The total imports were $8,394,541, against $7,513,279 the preceding week and $8,485,041 two weeks previous. The exports for the week ended May 6 amounted to $6,033,295, against $5,934,831 last week and $5,157,159 two weeks previous. The following are the imports at New York for the week ending (for dry goods) May 1 and for the week ending (for general merchandise) May 2; also totals since the beginning of first week in January:

Of the above imports for the week in 1884, $5,030 were American gold coin and $5,007 American silver coin. Of the exports during the same time $402,200 were American gold coin.

Seaboard & Roanoke.—On May 6 the annual meeting of the stockholders of this company was held in Portsmouth. John M. Robinson, President, and all the old officers were re-elected. The report of the President showed the gross earnings for the past year to be $666,526; expenses, $479,747; net earnings, $186,778.

Spring Mountain Coal.—The stockholders of the Spring Mountain Coal Company are asked to surrender their certificates of stock to the Union Trust Company for redemption. The charter of the coal company will soon expire, and as its property has been purchased by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, it has been thought best to wind up its affairs. The stockholders will receive $26 in cash for each share of $50.

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—A meeting of some of the St. Louis Division bondholders of the Toledo Cin. & St. Louis Railroad was held at the Parker House, Boston, on Tuesday, in response to an invitation to hear remarks by Mr. Austin Corbin on plans for the reorganization of the road The Chairman announced that Mr. Corbin was not able to by present, and that he would be represented at the meeting be his attorney, Mr. Armstrong. After some remarks by other parties, Mr. Henry D. Hyde traced the history of the road for the past year, and said that the present state of affairs threatens the existence of the whole system, all the Ohio branches having been advertised for sale on the 28th of June. Every one is agreed that the line from Toledo to East St. Louis should be held together as a main line. He could see no advantage at the present day in trying to establish a new committee and organize a new plan, as this would only make confusion where confusion has already brought much injury. All have come to the conclusion that the road must be changed from a narrow gauge to a standard gauge. He did not believe that a better committee than the present could be had, and it was undesirable to make a new appointment.

Mr. George Wm. Ballou, who favors new plans, offered a motion that a committee of five be appointed to represent the bondholders of the St. Louis division of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad Company in arranging a new plan of reorganization, and that this committee shall confer with the present committee who represent the main line bondholders as well as the St. Louis division and Mr. Austin Corbin, for the purpose of harmonizing the interests of all, and that the committee shall be Messrs. Geo. N. Smalley, Jonathan Dwight, Weston Lewis, Samuel Atherton and I. A. Evans.

Mr. Hyde moved as a substitute that the present committee confer with Mr. Corbin. After some discussion, Mr. Ballou's motion was carried.

The proposed plans of Mr. Ballou and Mr. Corbin have not been made public; but it is understood in general terms that they rather favor the holders of income bonds and stock, and propose to give the present first mortgage bondholders preferred stock of the new company instead of bonds having a lien on the property. Whatever other features the bondholders may consent to, it would seem to be ill-advised for them to surrender their present mortgage bonds for any stock or income bond which should not have a definite lien on the property; in that case new mortgages could be put on at any time which would take precedence of their stock. On the other hand, the first plan, of which Messrs. Quigley and his associates are the committee, might be modified so as to give the second mortgage bondholders the privilege of voting on their bonds, and thus a voice in controlling the company.

Virginia State Bonds.—Messrs. John A. Hambleton & Co., said in their circular of April 26: "The suit against the City Treasurer of Richmond has come before Judge Bond and the following is the text of his decision which only reiterates and confirms former opinions:

"The court is of opinion that the defendant was a trespasser in levying on and seizing the plaintiff's property after the plaintiff had tendered to him the coupons described in plaintiff's replication in payment of his taxes, and that the act of the General Assembly of the State of Virginia, approved January 26, 1882, and the act of the General Assembly of said State which commands the defendant to levy on the plaintiff's property after said tender of coupons, both of which acts are referred to by the defendant in his rejoinder, are unconstitutional and void, so far as they command the defendant to refuse said coupons, and so far as they commanded the defendant to levy on and seize plaintiff's property after said tender of coupons, and therefore constitute no defense to the defendant for his said trespass. It is therefore considered by the Court that the plaintiff's demurrer to the defendant's rejoinder be sustained, and that a jury inquire of and assess the plaintiff's damages."

"We quote the opinion of an able lawyer in Richmond on the bearing this decision will have on the State bonds:

"This decision is, of course, most satisfactory and important to the bondholders, and most creditable to their counsel, to obtain this re-affirmation by so high a tribunal of the strength of their contract. The immediate effect of the decision, however, should not be over-estimated, for you will observe that it does not yet remove materially the obstructions to the present use of the coupon in any way which is likely to induce a present demand for them for actual use."

"Judge Bond at the same time rendered his decision in the test case brought by Mr. Royall, which involved the question as to whether it was or was not lawful to tender coupons in the payment of license fees. The case was alluded to in our Circular of April 12. The decision says in substance that the Court was not called upon to determine whether the charge made for a license was a tax or a demand, payable by the petitioner in coupons. The petitioner had no right to violate a law of the State because an officer of the State refused to accept such payment as was tendered. The warrant for his arrest and the mittimus which held the prisoner were in due form, and the petitioner, instead of violating one law when the State officers violated another, should have brought his action according to law against the officers who refused to grant his license. The writ of habeas corpus was refused, and the prisoner sent back into custody."

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The sensation of the week in financial circles was the failure on Tuesday of the Marine National Bank of this city, and the concurrent collapse of the firm of Grant & Ward, with liabilities of a great many millions. It is not believed that the methods that led to the failure of the Marine Bank are at all common to other banking institutions, but naturally the failure has dealt a severe shock to public confidence, which is manifest in the renewed severe decline that has taken place in the stock market. In addition to this unfavorable feature, the market has also been adversely affected by a number of events and circumstances peculiar to particular properties. Thus there have been rumors of receivers for both the Wabash and the Denver & Rio Grande, while the most has been made of the depression in the coal trade and the large loss of earnings by the Philadelphia & Reading. Then this afternoon the Union Pacific was again reported to have decided to pass its July dividend (denied on a former occasion, and again contradicted after the close of business to-day), while a statement that the Central Pacific would at least make a reduction in its rate of distribution found general credence. Erie second consols and stock have experienced marked depression, by reason of the fact that the company had pledged a large amount of Chicago & Atlantic 2d mortgage bonds with the failed firm of Grant & Ward, leading to reports that this would cause a default in the payment of the June interest on the bonds.

In the general industrial situation there has been little or no change. There is still a widespread disposition to reduce the cost of producing all kinds of manufactured articles, and also to reduce the cost of operating railroads and other means of transportation by reducing the wages of labor, &c.; and though no prominent instances have attracted public notice in the last few days, it is known that these movements are in progress in almost every line of business. The iron and coal trades and all their cognate industries remain conspicuously depressed.

The movement of grain from the seven principal Western cities to the Atlantic seaboard continues heavy. But the movement from farmers' hands to these same Western cities is not very large in the aggregate. The export movement of breadstuffs has for the last two weeks been in excess of the same time last year, but the smaller shipments of cotton have tended to diminish the supply of bills from that source; nevertheless the market for sterling has been weak and lower. A new feature, however, in the exchange market is the hardening rates for money in New York and the lower rates in London, which have this week apparently caused a cessation in the exports of gold.

The export of about $32,000,000 of specie in a little over two months up to last week has had the effect, as said, to harden the money market here as well as relax it in London, and notwithstanding that money is cheaper than usual at the West, and that domestic exchanges generally are in favor of New York, and money consequently flowing this way, the rates in New York have advanced all around. During the last week money on call on stock collaterals has been 3 and 4 per cent, against 1½ and 2 a couple of weeks previous. Time loans have been stiffly held at 4 to 4½ per cent, instead of 3½, and the rates of discount for mercantile paper have been advanced ½ cent, to 4½ and 5 for first-class double names for 2 and 4 months and to 5½ and 6 for single names.

The last weekly statement of the averages of the New York banks showed a decrease of $2,468,400 in deposits, which was mainly the result of the exports of specie and a consequent loss of $2,218,200 in the average of the specie holdings in the banks. As a result of this the banks reported a surplus reserve of only $806,000, against $1,604,125 at the same date last year.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

| | 1884. May 3. | Differ'nces fr'm Previous Week. | 1883. May 5. | 1882. May 6. |

The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed a gain of £59 in specie, but the percentage of reserve in the banking department was reduced to 48 per cent from 48½ in the preceding week. Money in London continues extremely abundant, and the Bank rate remained at 2½ per cent, while the rate in the street was 1¾. The Bank of France weekly statement showed a gain of 14,787,000 francs in gold and 1,870,000 francs in silver.

Exchange.—The market for sterling has not been so strong during the last week, and though the rates have continued nominally unchanged, the exports of specie have ceased. The posted rates throughout the week have been 4 88 and 4 90, but the Canadian banks on Friday lowered their quotations one-half a point. The rates for actual business on Friday, the 9th, were as follows: Sixty days, 4 87@4 87½; demand, 4 89@4 89¼; cables, 4 89¼@4 89½. Commercial bills have been very scarce at 4 85@4 86.

Quotations for foreign exchange are as follows, the prices being the posted rates of leading bankers:

| May 9. | Sixty Days. | Demand. |
|---|---|---|
| Prime bankers' sterling bills on London | 4 88 | 4 90 |
| Prime commercial | 4 86⅜ | ..... |

State and Railroad Bonds.—The general volume of business in the railroad bond market has been scarcely so large in the last week as in the preceding one, but there has been a more general and larger decline in prices than in any previous week this year. Public confidence seems to have been somewhat unsettled by the increasing troubles arising out of the competition, and the consequent reduction of rates of freight on the railroads. But, aside from this, there have been some special causes for declines. The failures of the Marine Bank and of Grant & Ward resulted in a heavy fall in Erie 2d consols as soon as it became known that the Erie had some of its funds involved in the bank, and that the Erie paper had been endorsed by the concern that failed. The business in Erie consols in the last three days was enormous, and the result a decline of 15½ per cent. The West Shore 5s also were unusually active, but were pretty firm through the week. The range of fluctuations of the other most active issues was as follows, viz.: Northern Pacific firsts at 104⅛, 105⅜, 104⅜, 105¼, 104¾; Metropolitan Elevated firsts at 105, 100½, 102¼; Wabash general mortgage 6s at 49, 50, 48, 49½; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes at 45½, 47, 45½; Texas & Pacific Rio Grande division firsts at 66, 66¾, 64, 64¼; other changes were: Declined—Chesapeake & Ohio currency 6s, 1 per cent; Denver & Rio Grande consols, 2¾; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts, 4; East Tennessee incomes, 3; East Tennessee 5s, 2; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts, 1¼; Rome Watertown & Ogdens. consols, 2. Advanced—Canada Southern firsts, ¾; Chesapeake & Ohio Series B, 1½; Denver & Rio Grande firsts, 4½; Oregon & Trans-Continental firsts, 3; Oregon Improvement firsts, 4.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market was depressed throughout the week by a variety of unfavorable developments. The most prominent of these was the failure of the Marine National Bank and of Grant & Ward on Tuesday. Following this came the report that, owing to the continued bickering of the Trunk Line railroads, Commissioner Fink had tendered his resignation, which made a prospect of a disruption of the Trunk Line Pool. There were also, as stated above, rumors that the Wabash was about to pass into the hands of a receiver, and more definite information that the Central Pacific would reduce its dividends; and finally, late on Friday, rumor had it that the Union Pacific would pass its next dividend for July. The latter rumor proved to be untrue, and served to indicate that all these events have been exaggerated by the bears for the purpose of depressing the prices of stocks. The coal shares (particularly Reading) displayed marked weakness, and Erie also was noted for its downward tendency. The Vanderbilt specialties and the higher-priced Gould properties have been tolerably well sustained.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The annual report of this company for 1883 has just been issued. The statistics are admirably arranged, as usual. A map of the Lake Shore system will be found in the INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT. The construction and equipment accounts now aggregate $84,000,000, as against $83,669,000 December 31st, 1882, an increase of $331,000, being the amount invested in additional land in Chicago and additional equipment. The total funded debt December 31st, 1883, was $42,942,000, a decrease of $250,000—the regular annual contribution to the sinking fund. The freight statistics show a decrease in tonnage of 716,933 tons, or 7·8 per cent. The average rate per ton per mile is exactly one mill more than in 1882, so that notwithstanding the decrease in tonnage, the freight earnings show an increase of $457,517, or 3·8 per cent.

There were laid in the track in 1883 11,004 tons (107·78 miles) steel rails, and 773,157 (276 miles) cross ties. The cost of these, together with all other expenditures necessary to the maintenance and improvement of the plant, were charged to operating expenses; yet the per cent of operating expenses in 1883, including all taxes, was 59·43 as against 60·67 in 1882 and 62·76 in 1881.

At the last annual meeting of stockholders, May 2d, 1883, a resolution was adopted, classifiying the board of directors as follows: Five directors, term to expire May, 1886; four directors, term to expire May, 1885; four directors, term to expire May, 1884. In accordance with this resolution, at the annual meeting of stockholders, May 7, 1884, an election was held for four directors in place of those whose term expired, and one to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Augustus Schell, who was in the three-years class.

Comparative statistics for four years, compiled in the usual form for the CHRONICLE, are as follows:

Michigan Central Railroad.

The annual report of this company embraces in all its traffic and earnings statistics the operations of Canada Southern. The balance sheet pertains to the Michigan Central alone. The report says: "An agreement for twenty-one years from Jan. 1, 1883, was entered into with the Canada Southern Railway Company, under which this company was to control and operate the lines of that company. The Canada Southern had partially built (and has since completed) a line from Essex Centre to Detroit River, opposite Detroit, with a suitable ferry to that city; and under the agreement it has constructed a branch of its main line from Welland to Niagara River, just below the falls, crossing the river upon the well known and unique 'Canti-Lever' bridge. It has also increased its equipment to an extent sufficient to meet the demands of the through traffic, and has made other improvements, as stated in the report of the General Manager.

"With regard to earnings, expenses, etc., the agreement provided that the earnings of the combined line should form a fund out of which the expenses of maintaining and operating the entire line should be paid; and also the interest of the funded debt of each company within the limits fixed in the agreement; each company to have the benefit of any diminution in the interest on its own bonds, by retirement or otherwise; and each company undertook to pay any demands against it, down to the date of the agreement, from its own funds. The balance of earnings, after paying the common charges as stated, is then to be divided in the ratio of two-thirds to this company and one-third to the Canada Southern."

The changes in the funded debt in 1883 were as follows: The equipment mortgage bonds issued in October, 1874, and falling due April 1, 1884, amounting to $556,000, were paid at maturity. Of the $2,000,000 seven per cent consolidated mortgage bonds referred to in last report, the $900,000 then remaining unissued have been issued, bearing five per cent interest. The proceeds have been expended in redeeming the equipment bonds above mentioned and in partial payment of the cost of the new passenger house and of the terminal improvements at Detroit.

New York Chicago & St. Louis.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The first annual report of this railroad company (Nickel-Plate), now controlled by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, was submitted at the meeting held in Cleveland. Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt is the President and from his report as given in the Cleveland papers the following extracts are made, the full report not yet having come to hand. It is not known whether the report will be printed in pamphlet form for distribution to the stockholders.

"The road extends from Grand Crossing, near Chicago, Illinois, to Buffalo, New York, a distance of 514·54 miles, 5·94 miles of which are double main track. There are 85·38 miles of sidings, including yard and shop tracks and 'Y' connections with other roads, making a total of 603·86 miles; 561·87 miles of this are laid with steel and 41·99 miles with iron rails." * * *

"The equipment consists of 108 locomotives; 24 first-class passenger cars; 10 second-class passenger cars; 1 officers' car; 1 pay car; 10 baggage cars; 4 baggage and mail cars; 80 caboose cars; 1,200 flat cars; 210 gondola cars; 4 derrick cars; 700 stock cars and 4,500 box cars.

"At all local stations of any importance are convenient depot buildings. At Chicago the passenger and freight depots and yard tracks of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway Company are used and our trains enter that city from 'Grand Crossing' over the tracks of that company.

"At Buffalo the local freight business is transacted upon the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern tracks and the passenger trains run to and from the passenger station of the New York Lake Erie & Western Railway Company.

"The earnings and expenses of the road for the past year were:

| EARNINGS. | | OPERATING EXPENSES. | |
| From freight | $2,000,562 | Conducting transport'n. | $608,756 |
| From passengers | 232,623 | Motive power | 496,047 |
| From express | 7,503 | Maintenance of way | 365,095 |
| From miscellaneous | 86,695 | Maintenance of cars | 87,656 |
| | | General and taxes | 131,740 |
| Total | $2,327,683 | | $1,689,294 |
| Net earnings | | | $638,389 |

"The operating expenses, exclusive of taxes, were 70·3 per cent of the gross earnings.

"Trains commenced running October 23, 1882, but on account of unsatisfactory arrangements for terminal facilities at Chicago and Buffalo were practically limited to a car-load exchange with connecting roads at those points and prevented from transacting a merchandise business. This state of things remained unchanged until May 1, 1883, when we were admitted to the premises of the Lake Shore Railway, and the use of the tracks of the Illinois Central Company was then discontinued and trains run over the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway between Grand Crossing and Chicago.

"The establishment of through-line freight organizations via our different connections at Buffalo required time, and not until late in the season were satisfactory results realized. The net earnings of the last four months of 1883 were $467,826, being 73 per cent of the net earnings of the entire year. The incomplete condition of the road rendered it necessary to make considerable expenditures for shops and shop machinery, station buildings, yard tracks, &c., a detailed statement of which accompanies this report."

The directors elected were: Messrs. Anson Stager, Charles Hickox, J. H. Wade, D. W. Caldwell and Chauncey M. Depew. The first three named were selected for three years, while Mr. Depew was chosen for two years to fill the vacancy left by the death of Hon. Augustus Schell. The directors of the Nickel-Plate road are now as follows: W. K. Vanderbilt, Cornelius Vanderbilt, F. W. Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew, J. H. Devereux, Stevenson Burke, D. W. Caldwell, J. Tillinghast, H. McK. Twombley, W. C. Whitney, Anson Stager, J. H. Wade, Charles Hickox.

Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern Railway.

The annual report of Mr. Tracy, President of this company, is very brief, and it is quoted in full as follows: "Owing to the partial and in some localities entire destruction of the corn crop by early frosts, in the scope of country tributary to the lines of this company, and the consequent diminution of traffic, the showing of business for the last half of the year is more satisfactory than at first anticipated, and nothwithstanding this loss to the farming and business interests of the country, the earnings of the road for the year are in excess of the previous year, thereby indicating increased earnings from through business. The report herewith presented in statistical and tabulated form, from the accounting department of the company's service, will show the result of the year's business—disposition of earnings after payment of the operating expenses and fixed charges.

"The gradual increase of traffic from year to year has necessitated a corresponding increase in equipment; and no provision having been made to meet such contingency, the expense of additional rolling stock of necessity had to be defrayed from net earnings. Arrangements have been made to cover into the company's treasury the money expended in constructing the lines of road mentioned in former reports upon which no incumbrances exist, by bonding such lines at rates not in excess of that borne by other portions of the road.

"In order to maintain the present standard value of the company's system of railway, as measured by its earnings, and for the purpose of procuring increase of traffic over its lines, and protection against encroachments of rival interests, the directors have determined to continue the work of extensions to a limited amount during the present year in accordance with the policy adopted by the company at an early day in its history, provisions therefore having been already made and the work commenced. The proposed changes in the company's articles of incorporation, as per notice thereof issued to stockholders, were adopted at the stockholders' adjourned meeting held at Cedar Rapids on April 9."

Statistics of operations, &c., for three years, compiled for the CHRONICLE, are as follows:

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Allegheny Valley.—James A. Logan and Wayne MacVeagh, representing the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Northern Central Company and Philadelphia & Erie Company, made application to the Court of Common Pleas at Greensburg, Pa., May 2, for the appointment of receivers for the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company. In the bill presented the plaintiffs show that the Allegheny Valley Railroad is debtor to the amount of $27,600,000; that the Pennsylvania Railroad is its creditor for $13,600,000; and that the Allegheny Valley has failed to meet its indebtedness. The Court appointed John Scott and W. H. Barnes receivers, who gave bonds in the sum of $200,000.

Chicago & Eastern Illinois.—It is stated that President Stevens of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad Company has effected a settlement with the old Chicago Danville & Vincennes stockholders, formerly in possession of the franchise of this property, by which a clear title to the property will be given the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Company.

Delaware & Hudson Canal.—Notice was sent to the Stock Exchange of the proposed increase of the capital stock of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company from $20,000,000 to $23,500,000, by the issue, on June 10, of 35,000 new shares of $100 each. This increase of stock is in conformity with the provisions of a circular which was issued to the stockholders on May 9, 1883.

Denver Rio Grande & Western.—A Broad Street house addressed a letter to the Stock Exchange stating that they own certain of the original bonds of the Denver & Western, which are included in the number agreed to be guaranteed by the Denver Company, but which the company has refused to guarantee, and asked for an investigation. The committee on stock lists summoned officers of the Denver & Rio Grande to appear before them for explanation. The Denver Company a few months ago ordered no more bonds to be guaranteed.

Houston East & West Texas.—The Houston East & West Texas Company offered to extend its road from the present terminus to Shreveport, La., provided that city would give $50,000 and the right of way and grounds for station and shops. The proposition has been accepted and work will be begun at once at Shreveport and Nacogdoches, Texas, the present northern terminus of the line.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern.—At Cleveland, May 7, at the annual meeting of this company, President Newell offered a resolution that the Lake Shore and Pittsburg & Lake Erie companies provide in equal proportions, from time to time, as needed, sums not to exceed $2,000,000, to the Pittsburg McKeesport & Youghiogheny Railroad, taking either stock or bonds of the company for the money so advanced. Mr. Newell said that the latter road proposes to issue $1,000,000 more of stock and $1,000,000 of second mortgage bonds. The resolution was adopted. Cornelius Vanderbilt, D. O. Mills, William L. Scott and Rasselas Brown were elected directors for three years, and Frederick W. Vanderbilt for two years, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Augustus Schell.

Louisville & Nashville.—The gross and net earnings for the fiscal years 1882–3 and 1883–4, to April 1, have been as follows:

| | Gross. | | Net. | |
| | 1883-4. | 1882-3. | 1883-4. | 1882-3. |
| July 1 to Dec. 31 | $7,794,865 | $6,860,533 | $3,272,847 | $2,672,071 |
| January | 1,039,317 | 1,118,735 | 303,442 | 403,455 |
| February | 1,015,431 | 1,011,807 | 302,304 | 322,890 |
| March | 1,187,738 | 1,141,337 | 421,175 | 451,292 |
| Total 9 mos. | $11,037,351 | $10,135,412 | $4,299,768 | $3,849,708 |

Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western.—This company gives notice that on October 6 next it will redeem the $199,000 in bonds now outstanding under the mortgage of March 1, 1879, at 105, with interest to date of redemption, in accordance with the terms of the mortgage.

This company has bought the St. Paul Eastern & Grand Trunk Road, which is completed from Oconto, Wis., westward 10 miles. The road is to be extended westward about 65 miles to a connection with the Lake Shore line.

Missouri Pacific.—Press dispatches from Washington, May 5, gave the following synopsis of the U. S. Supreme Court decision affecting this company. The title of the suit is the Pacific Railroad Company of Missouri, appellant, against the Missouri Pacific Railway Company, C. K. Garrison, Jay Gould, and others. Appeal from the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Missouri.

This suit arises out of the alleged fraudulent foreclosure in 1876 of a mortgage on the Pacific Railroad of Missouri, the sale of that road under decree of foreclosure, and its reorganization in the hands of Garrison, Gould and others, under the title of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company. The suit, therefore, is virtually one brought by the former holders of the railroad property against the present holders of it to recover legal title to it on the ground that they were deprived of it by gross fraud. It was alleged by the appellant in the Court below that the default in the payment of the interest on its bonds, which was made the pretext for the foreclosure and sale of its road, was fraudulently caused and procured by means of dishonest collusion between its unfaithful board of directors and the present appellees, and that, therefore, it is entitled to have the decree of foreclosure and sale set aside and its property restored to it.

The appellees demurred in the Court below upon various grounds, which this Court, in an elaborate opinion by Justice Blatchford, declares to be insufficient. This Court holds:—

First.—That the charges of fraud in the bill were sufficient to warrant the discovery and relief based on those charges.

Second.—That the case set forth in the bill was one showing that no real defense was made in the foreclosure suit of 1876 because of the unfaithful conduct of the solicitor and directors of the defendant in that suit, and it was, therefore, a case of which a court of equity would take cognizance.

Third.—That there was no laches in filing the bill as the time during which the appeal to this court was pending could not be counted against the plaintiff.

Fourth.—That as the bill showed hostile control of the corporate affairs of the plaintiff by its directors during the period covered by the foreclosure suit, mere knowledge by or notice to the plaintiff or its directors, officers or stockholders, of the facts alleged in the bill, during that period, was unimportant, a case of acquiescence, assent or ratification not having been shown and the corporation having acted promptly when freed from the control of such directors.

Fifth.—That it did not, however, follow that parties who became interested in plaintiffs' corporation, with knowledge of the matters set forth in the bill, were entitled to the same standing as to relief with those who were interested in the corporation when the transactions complained of occurred.

Sixth.—That the Circuit Court had jurisdiction of the bill notwithstanding the fact that the plaintiff and some of the defendants were citizens of Missouri. The decree of the Circuit Court is therefore reversed, and the case remanded, with directions to overrule the demurrers with costs, and take further proceedings not inconsistent with this Court's opinion.

The railroad property in controversy in this case was bought in at the foreclosure sale in 1876 by James Baker, for C. K. Garrison, Russell Sage and others, and a controlling interest in it was afterward sold by the latter to Jay Gould, and it has since that time formed an important link in the Gould system. The present case came to this Court on a legal technicality in 1880 and was decided against the plaintiffs or original owners of the road. The decision rendered to-day will enable the plaintiffs to bring the case here upon its merit and get a final decision of this Court upon the charges of unfaithfulness and fraud which, it is alleged, were the means by which the road was wrecked.

New York Elevated—Manhattan.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the New York Elevated Railroad Company an arrangement was agreed upon under which the lease of the lines of the New York Company held by the Manhattan Railway Company was surrendered. The agreements of May, 1879, and October, 1881, and the proposed agreement were read. The resolution ratifying this agreement was adopted by a vote of 57,836 out of 58,356. The effect of the agreement is summarized in the Tribune as follows:

"The New York Elevated Company, in consideration of the stockholders of the Manhattan Company surrendering all claims against the New York Company, will issue certificates containing an agreement on the part of the New York Company with each Manhattan stockholder to pay on such Manhattan stock dividends at the rate of six per cent a year, after a dividend of six per cent had been paid on the New York Elevated stock. If there is any surplus over the amount of these dividends, it will be divided pro rata between the two companies, according to the number of shares of each respectively. The Manhattan Company, in return, will surrender its lease of the New York Company. Not only is the original lease of May, 1879, abrogated, but also the agreement of October, 1881, and the merger agreements of November, 1881. This removes all control of the Manhattan Company over the New York Company. All of the New York Elevated stock which, under the merger agreements, was converted into Manhattan stock, can now be re-converted into New York stock."

New York Ontario & Western.—Below is a copy of a circular which has been addressed to the shareholders by the London committee:

"SIR: The shareholders are aware that nearly $10,000,000 was subscribed on the reorganization of the company for extending its line to New York, yet notwithstanding the fact that the Weehawken section of seventy-seven miles between Middletown and Weehawken has been constructed largely from the means of the Ontario Company, the directors had so arranged the contract that they only hold the section on a lease of ninety-nine years, agreeing to pay to the West Shore Company 25 per cent of the gross receipts from all sources, and guaranteeing that the 25 per cent should never be less than $500,000 per annum.

"The committee have energetically protested against this extraordinary contract, with the result that certain modifications have been offered, including the cancelment of the guarantee of $500,000 per annum, but they do not consider the modifications adequate to the just rights of the Ontario Company. The position as regards other points in this contract, and in that in reference to the obligations connected with the terminal company, also requires very close examination.

"The chairman and Mr Russell start for New York on the 29th inst., and the committee will report fully the result of their examination.

and they feel assured that by negotiation they will obtain still further beneficial modifications of the contracts above referred to, and thus place the Ontario Company in the position to which it is fairly entitled.

"Yours faithfully,

(Signed) "Joseph Price, Chairman."

New York West Shore & Buffalo.—The plan for the financial relief of this company has been sent to the persons interested, with a view of getting an expression for or against the propositions. The agreement which it is proposed shall be made with the Metropolitan Trust Company, as trustee, is described as an "agreement of first mortgage bondholders to receive 6 per cent bonds, with continuing first mortgage lien, for interest as it matures during three years." It is provided that the signing of the agreement by the holders of $25,100,000 first mortgage bonds of the West Shore Company shall be an authorization to perfect the agreement. Each subscriber will, upon five days' notice from the trustee named in the agreement, present his bonds at the office of the trustee and permit the following words to be stamped upon the face of each bond:

Coupons Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of this bond are subject to the bondholders' agreement of May 1, 1884, and each successive holder of this bond and of the said coupons takes the same subject to said agreement

On each coupon will be stamped "Subject to bondholders agreement." The holders who surrender coupons will receive new 6 per cent debenture bonds, and their coupons will remain with the trust company and not lose their lien in case of failure to fulfil the agreement.

The new 6 per cent bond will mature July 1, 1894. It promises to pay the principal in gold and the interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from July 1, 1884. It is expressly stated that the bond is issued for an amount equal to the interest falling due on July 1, 1884, Jan. 1, 1885, July 1, 1885, Jan. 1, 1886, July 1, 1886, or Jan. 1, 1887, upon the first mortgage bonds of the West Shore Road, the right to collect and receive which interest, with the lien thereof preserved, is held by the Trust Company as trustee. In case of 30 days' default in the payment of principal or interest of the new bond, or in case of foreclosure sale of the premises covered by the first mortgage, then the interest held in trust by the trust company shall at once become due and payable upon the surrender of the new bond. The West Shore Railway Company reserves the privilege of paying off this bond at any time before maturity, and stopping the interest by giving three months' notice, and by paying to the holder the face value of the bond, together with a premium of 10 per cent.

Should the proposed agreement not be signed by the holders of the necessary $25,100,000 of first mortgage bonds before July 1, 1884, it is stipulated that a majority of the signers may extend the time in which the document may be signed. In case this agreement is assented to by a majority of the holders of the first mortgage bonds ($25,100,000), a syndicate of bankers have pledged themselves to take $2,000,000 second mortgage income bonds of the company, the money realized to be used to relieve the immediate needs of the company. They will also, as part of the plan, advance $4,000,000 to the North River Construction Company to be used to pay the unsecured creditors of that company. In return the syndicate is to receive a portion of the West Shore stock held among the assets of the construction company. It is understood that if this plan is successful the management of the West Shore Company will be materially changed in order to allow a representation of the bankers who are to raise the money.

Oregon Railway & Navigation Co.—In the suit of Spencer Irwin and others against the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, in the United States Circuit Court, Judge Wallace has granted an injunction prohibiting the company from executing a lease of its road pending the trial of the suit. The injunction may be vacated on the company's giving a bond for $300,000. It is reported that the Union Pacific Railway has offered to lease the property of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company for 8 per cent dividends and the payment of all fixed charges, and the Northern Pacific has offered for the lease the payment of all fixed charges and 6 per cent dividends, to be raised to 8 per cent if the road earns that amount, and one-half of any excess earned over 8 per cent.

—The Oregon Railway & Navigation Company's earnings for April and the ten months of the fiscal year from July 1 to April 30, are given as follows:

| | April. | | Ten months. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1883-4. | 1882-3. |
| Earnings | $432,600 | $399,290 | $1,589,133 | $4,219,912 |
| Operating expenses | 260,100 | 220,483 | 2,579,634 | 2,159,357 |
| Net earnings | $172,500 | $178,807 | $2,009,799 | $2,060,525 |

Oregon Short Line.—The Oregon Railway & Navigation and Oregon Short Line are rapidly pushing their respective roads to a junction at Baker City. About 110 miles of road remain to be completed, the bulk of which is graded and ready for the iron.

Richmond & Danville.—The principal office of the Richmond & Danville Railroad will be removed to New York. Colonel A. S. Buford, of Richmond, Va., who has been President of the road, has resigned, and George S. Scott, the Broad Street banker, has been elected to take his place. Colonel Buford is a member of the Board of Directors, and will represent the company in Richmond.

Texas & Pacific.—An official of the Texas & Pacific says that the company sold from January 1 to April 12, 1884, 68,000 acres of land, at an average of $3 38 per acre, while the average price recorded up to December 31 last was $2 74 per acre. The lands were sold for stock-raising and agricultural purposes.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, May 9, 1884.

The failures of the Marine Bank and of the firm of Grant & Ward, and the complications arising therefrom (which are fully detailed on another page), have greatly disturbed mercantile circles here and at the West, retarding the speculations in leading staples and unsettling values. The bill for the reduction of import duties, which has been for some weeks under discussion in the lower House of Congress, was defeated on Tuesday by a close vote; but the agitation of the subject continues. Inland navigation is now fully resumed, and general trade is fair for the season. The weather has been quite stormy and rather cool, giving rise to reports of some injury to crops, and making it certain that the season is a late one.

The lard speculation has not been so active in the past week, and the fluctuations were not so wide, but there is some improvement im values, closing this afternoon at 8·61c. for May, 8·71c. for June, 8·82c. for July, 8·89c. for August and 8 94c. for September. Spot lard has latterly been taken more freely for export and closes at 8·45c. for prime city, 8·70c. for prime Western and 8·85c. for refined for the Continent. Pork is without essential change; mess sells at $17@$17 25 and clear at $18 75@$19 25. Bacon and cut meats firm but quiet; the sales to-day embraced 35,000 lbs. pickled bellies at 7¾@8c. Stearine has been more active at 9⅜c., and oleomargarine at 8⅞c. Dressed hogs close firmer at 7⅜@7½c. Beef dull and entirely nominal. Beef hams selling slowly. Butter in more demand; fresh creamery, 21@23c.; State dairy, 19@26c.; Western factory, 10@18c. Cheese, steady; new factory, 8@13½c.; skims, 2½@5c. Fresh eggs firmer at 14½@16½c.

Rio coffee has been quiet but about steady on the spot at 10¼c. for fair cargoes; options have been very quiet for several days, though in the fore part of the week they were fairly active. The closing prices are slightly higher than those of a week ago, May being at 8·60@8·65c.; June, 8·65@8·70c.; July, 8·70@8·75c.; August and September, 8·75@8·80c.; October at 8·80@8·85c., and November at 8·80@8·90c. bid and asked. Mild grades have sold more freely at steady prices. Tea has been dull and rather weak, though the close is more steady. Spices have, as a rule, been quiet and unchanged, but pepper and cloves have sold more freely at some advance. Rice has met with a fair demand at steady and unchanged prices. Foreign fruits have been dull and weak. Molasses has been quiet, and Cuba has declined to 20¼c. for 50 deg. test refining. Raw sugar has been quiet on the spot and more or less depressed; fair refining is quoted at 5¼@5 5-16c.; 4,000 hhds. centrifugal to arrive have sold at 3 11-16c, cost and freight; options have been more active at firmer prices, but the close is weaker, with sales of fair Muscovado for September at 5·47½c.; refined has been firmer on the spot; crushed closed at 7¾c., cut loaf at 7⅞c., cubes at 7½c., granulated at 7⅛c. and standard A at 6¾c.

Kentucky tobacco has been quiet but steady on the spot, though futures have latterly shown some weakness on 'Change owing to easier markets at the West; the sales on the spot have been 273 hhds., including 158 hhds. for export at 8@10½c. for lugs and leaf; on 'Change the sales have been 750 hhds., including June to-day at 8c. Seed leaf has sold to a pretty liberal extent, and though there has been no marked change in prices the tendency has been towards higher figures; the sales have embraced 2,900 cases crop 1883, New England, including fillers at 6c., seconds at 11½c. to 14c., wrappers at 13½c. to 22½c., assorted Havana seed at 23c. to 30c.; 200 cases crop 1883, Wisconsin, Havana seed, at 30c.; 64 cases crop 1883, do., seed leaf, at 12c.; 200 cases crop 1883, Little Dutch, at 17c.; 100 cases crop 1882, Wisconsin, Havana seed, at 28c. to 40c.; 150 cases crop 1881, Pennsylvania, at 6c. to 10c.; 150 cases crop 1882, do., at 10c. to 13c.; 100 cases sundries at 4¼c. to 25c.; 500 bales Havana at 80c. to $1 16; 150 bales Yara IL at 75c. to 85c.; and 300 bales Sumatra at $1 05 to $1 65.

In naval stores a moderate business on the spot has been reported, but spirits turpentine closed firm to-day at 32½c.; common to good strained rosins are slow at $1 42½@$1 45. Refined petroleum has had a fair outlet, aggregating 60,000 bbls., 70 Abel test, at 8¾c.; the feeling to-night is firm. Crude certificates were weakened by the reports of the free flowing of the Gartland wells, and from 97c. there was a change to 95⅝c., closing at 95⅞@96c. In metals, wools, hops and oils little of interest has transpired, and no quotable changes can be quoted.

In ocean freight room little has been done on the berth, but late rates have remained partially steady. Oil charter room has been more active, though at uncertain and slightly lower rates. To-day grain was taken to Newcastle by steam at 3d.; do. to Hull at 1¾d.; do. to Liverpool by steam quoted 1¼d.; refined petroleum to Gottenburg, 2s. 4½d.; case oil to Constantinople, 16½c.; do to Shanghai, 26c.; crude to Barcelona, 3s. 3d.; refined do., from Philadelphia to the Baltic, 2s. 9d.

COTTON.

FRIDAY, P. M., May 9, 1884.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (May 9), the total receipts have reached 15,657 bales, against 20,053 bales last week, 20,923 bales the previous week and 30,271 bales three weeks since; making the totas receipts since the 1st of September, 1883, 4,728,976 bales, against 5,711,245 bales for the same period of 1882-83, showing a decrease since September 1, 1883, of 982,269 bales.

Unusual influences have entered into the speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market during the past week, causing some sharp fluctuations in prices. A slight decline on Saturday was followed by a small advance on Monday, without any very salient influences at work. On Tuesday, a sharp pressure to sell was caused by the announcement of the failure of the Marine Bank, with which a large number of brokers had accounts, and in which considerable sums held as margins on contracts were supposed to be deposited. Prices fell off 7@11 points, August selling down to 11·77c.—the lowest figure in many weeks. Later explanations made the relations of the Cotton Exchange with the suspended bank less difficult than had been apprehended, and a partial recovery took place, followed by a slight advance on Wednesday. On Thursday, stronger accounts from Liverpool, private advices of reduced receipts at Bombay, and the persistent assertion that too much rain had fallen, especially in the Southwest, caused a brisk buying movement for the rise, resulting in an advance for the day of 9@14 points, making a total recovery from the lowest figures on Tuesday of 14@20 points, with a firm closing. To-day the opening was easier and the speculation much less active, but the market gained strength; then came a fresh decline, the close being weak, at a material reduction for the next crop; but, compared with last Friday, showing little change for this crop and 4@5 points dearer for the next. Cotton on the spot has been very dull. There was a decline of 1-16c. on Tuesday, but it was not quoted till Wednesday. Yesterday there were rumors of considerable sales for home consumption, but they were not officially reported until to-day, when there was a quiet market at 11 11-16c. for middling uplands.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 518,000 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 1,628 bales, including 12 for export, 1,616 for consumption, — for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON to-night, as made up by cable and telegraph, is as follows. The Continental stocks, as well as those for Great Britain and the afloat, are this week's returns, and consequently all the European figures are brought down to Thursday evening. But to make the totals the complete figures for to-night (May 9), we add the item of exports from the United States, including in it the exports of Friday only.

☞ The imports into Continental ports this week have been 59,000 bales.

The above figures indicate a decrease in the cotton in sight to-night of 212,112 bales as compared with the same date of 1883, an increase of 20,295 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1882 and a decrease of 185,921 bales as compared with 1881.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statement:

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,761,055 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,842,702 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,574,251 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 15,657 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 14,083 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 34,134 bales and for 1882 they were 10,184 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT MAY 9.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to May 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to May 9.. | 4,728,976 | 5,711,245 | 4,492,046 | 5,446,033 |
| Interior stocks on May 9 in excess of September 1..... | 32,079 | 131,457 | 82,205 | 155,824 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,761,055 | 5,842,702 | 4,574,251 | 5,601,857 |
| Net overland to May 1..... | 546,726 | 599,862 | 422,630 | 472,241 |
| Southern consumpt'n to May 1. | 264,000 | 275,000 | 210,000 | 175,000 |
| Total in sight May 9 ..... | 5,571,781 | 6,717,564 | 5,206,881 | 6,249,098 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,145,783 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 364,900 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 677,317 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—In general the weather at the South has been favorable for cotton planting and development during the week. In Texas, however, and also at a few other points in the Southwest, there has been too much rain, interfering with farm work and making some replanting necessary.

Galveston, Texas.—We have had hard rain on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching three inches and twenty-seven hundredths. We are having too much rain; dry weather is badly needed. Average thermometer 72, highest 80, lowest 60.

Indianola, Texas.—It has rained hard on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching four inches and ninety-eight hundredths. Accounts from the interior conflict, but unquestionably we are having too much rain. The thermometer averaged 71, the highest being 84 and the lowest 56.

Palestine, Texas.—It has rained very hard on five days of the week, and much damage is feared from washing and seed rotting. The rainfall reached four inches and two hundredth The thermometer has averaged 66, ranging from 52 to 80.

Huntsville, Texas.—It has rained on two days of the week harder than desired, but beyond the interruption of work probably no serious damage has been done. The rainfall reached one inch and sixty-six hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 51 to 82, averaging 68.

Luling, Texas.—We have had rain on two days of the week the rainfall reaching one inch and four hundredths. Crops are doing tolerably well, but we are having too much rain and dry weather is wanted. Average thermometer 69, highest 82, lowest 57.

Brenham, Texas.—We have had rain on two days of the week, almost a flood, the rainfall reaching five inches and sixty-five hundredths. Much damage has been done and much replanting is required. The streams are all out of their banks. The thermometer has averaged 70, the highest being 85 and the lowest 59.

Belton, Texas.—It has been showery on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and thirty hundredths. Planting has been about finished in this vicinity. The thermometer has averaged 65, ranging from 44 to 81.

Weatherford, Texas.—We have had hard rain on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching three inches and ninety-eight hundredths. We are having too much rain, but no serious damage has been done. The thermometer has ranged from 45 to 81, averaging 63.

Dallas, Texas.—We have had a hard shower on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch. Accounts from the interior are conflicting, but the recent heavy rains have certainly done much harm. The extent cannot as yet be estimated, but considerable replanting is required. Average thermometer 66, highest 84, lowest 45.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and forty-nine hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 68.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—We had heavy rains on the 3d and 4th, followed by clear and fair weather. The rainfall reached three inches and eight hundredths. The river is high and rising rapidly; there is considerable uneasiness among planters. Roads in fair condition. The thermometer has ranged from 56 to 85.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—We had delightful showers on three days in the early part of the week, and it also rained severely on one day, but the latter part of the week has been clear and pleasant. The rainfall reached two inches and eighty-nine hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 61 to 82.

Meridian, Mississippi.—It has rained on four days of the week. We are having too much rain. Weeds are growing so fast that they are becoming troublesome.

Greenville, Mississippi —Telegram not received.

Last week we had rain on two days, with a rainfall of ten hundredths of an inch. The thermometer ranged from 58 to 85, and averaged 71. Rainfall during April, five inches and fifteen hundredths.

Columbus, Mississippi.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and thirteen hundredths. May thus far has been a little cool, but otherwise the weather has been favorable. The thermometer has averaged 74, ranging from 58 to 86.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—It has been fair to clear on three days, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy with rain. The rainfall reached three inches and three hundredths. We had a hard shower of hail on Monday evening, since which time the weather has been quite cool. The thermometer has ranged from 51 to 74, averaging 63.

Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—We have had rain on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and thirty-five hundredths. Average thermometer 65, highest 80 and lowest 52. Last week it rained on three days. The thermometer averaged 68, and ranged from 50 to 80. During April the rainfall reached nine inches and ninety-nine hundredths.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and twenty-five hundredths. We are having fine weather for cotton planting. The thermometer has ranged from 50 to 84. It rained on three days last week. The thermometer ranged from 50 to 78, and averaged 66.

Helena, Arkansas.—We have had rain on three days, and the remainder of the week, excepting one clear day, has been cloudy. The rainfall reached two inches and forty-six hundredths. The river is falling, being now about inside its banks. Weather to-day clear and warm. The thermometer has averaged 67, ranging from 58 to 76.

Monticello, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Newport, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Memphis, Tennessee.—We had rain on the first five days of the week, and the remaining two days have been fair and clear. The rainfall reached two inches and sixty-one hundredths. We are having two much rain, which is greatly retarding farm work. The season is from two to three weeks late. The river is four feet five inches below the danger line, and rising slowly. The thermometer has averaged 67, the highest being 82 and the lowest 57.

Nashville, Tennessee.—We have had rain on five days, but as the week closes the weather has taken a favorable turn. The rainfall reached one inch and eighty-seven hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 67, ranging from 56 to 79.

Mobile, Alabama.—It has been showery on two days, and has rained severely on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and forty-seven hundredths. The crop is developing promisingly, and the plant looks strong and healthy. The thermometer has ranged from 61 to 87, averaging 72.

Montgomery, Alabama.—We have had delightful showers on two days of the week, and the indications are that they extended over a wide surface. The rainfall reached thirty-four hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 72·6.

In last week's report fertilizers should have been stated in tons, not value.

Selma, Alabama.—We have had rain on two days, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached eighty-eight hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 70, the highest being 84, and the lowest 59.

Madison, Florida.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching ninety-two hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 77, ranging from 61 to 98.

Macon, Georgia.—We have had showers on two days of the week, which did good. Weather seasonable. The thermometer has ranged from 58 to 86, averging 73.

Columbus, Georgia.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching fifty-eight hundredths of an inch. Average thermometer 73, highest 84, lowest 65.

Savannah, Georgia.—It has rained on two days, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant, but closes quite cool. The rainfall reached forty-three hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 76, the highest being 87 and the lowest 66.

Augusta, Georgia.—We had light rain on three days during the early part of the week, but the latter portion has been clear and pleasant. The rainfall reached ninety-one hundredths of an inch. The weather has been favorable to the coming crop. Planting is almost completed in this vicinity. Much of the plant is up and the stand is generally good. Prospects for a top crop are very favorable. Acreage about same as last season. The thermometer has averaged 73, ranging from 60 to 85.

Atlanta, Georgia.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching thirty-eight hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 58 to 82, averaging 70.

Charleston, South Carolina.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching ten hundredths of an inch. Average thermometer 75, highest 84 and lowest 69.

Columbia, South Carolina.—Telegram not received.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock May 8, 1884, and May 10, 1883.

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to May 8.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
| | Great Brit'n. | Continent. | Total. | Great Britain | Continent. | Total. | This Week. | Since Jan. 1. |
| 1884 | 21,000 | 24,000 | 45,000 | 329,000 | 445,000 | 774,000 | 73,000 | 1,034,000 |
| 1883 | 26,000 | 47,000 | 73,000 | 280,000 | 531,000 | 811,000 | 78,000 | 1,125,000 |

| 1881 | 16,000 | 22,000 | 38,000 | 175,000 | 325,000 | 500,000 | 49,000 | 742,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show a decrease compared with last year in the week's receipts of 5,000 bales, and a decrease in shipments of 28,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 37,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 66,200 | 12,000 | 78,200 |

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

| Alexandria, Egypt, May 7. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. |

A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending May 7 were 3,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 7,000 bales.

Manchester Market.—Our report received from Manchester to-night states that the market is flat at the decline. We give the prices of to-day below, and leave previous weeks' prices for comparison.

New York Cotton Exchange.—Five applications for membership are to be voted on next Monday, the 12th inst., and three new applications for seats are posted on the board. Thus it will be apparent that the Exchange continues to grow again in popularity. However, it is well to remember that for a length of time the Stock Exchange was the only rival in offering the opportunity for dealings in futures. Lately very many additional Exchanges have entered upon that business and have drawn away many customers from the Cotton Exchange, partly because most of them offer greater advantages. It is believed that the anticipated calls of print cloths will impart more life to the latter, but there exists one obstacle to enlarged dealings, the removal of which is considered very desirable, and that is the uncertainty as to the result of re-classifying cotton received on contracts. It is well known that the losses incurred thereby prevent no inconsiderable portion of Wall Street from operating in cotton. Those speculators now prefer other Exchanges, where they are not exposed to such risks, and where fluctuations are larger, as well as more frequent. Certificates respecting the grades of cotton delivered on contracts, to pass from hand to hand, would remove one of the obstacles which at present stand in the way of more extensive transactions. The unpopular commission law is another impediment. Without some changes in the rules, it is considered doubtful whether the growing competition of the Petroleum, Coffee and other Exchanges can be met; and the wish is often expressed that they may be amended so as to be more in accordance with the spirit of the times.

THE COTTON CROP IN THE MEMPHIS DISTRICT.—Messrs. Hill, Fontaine & Co., Memphis, issued to-day (9th) their first report for the season 1884-85 on the cotton crop in the Memphis district, which embraces West Tennessee, North Mississippi, North Arkansas and North Alabama. The report says:

"There will be a decreased acreage planted in cotton in this district of ½ per cent as compared with last year. The acreage in corn, however, shows an increase in the area planted of 2¼ per cent. The weather has been most and unfavorable for planting purposes, nearly all of our 248 correspondents reporting too much rain and cool weather. The average date for planting cotton in this district is from April 20 to 27, yet up to May 1 one half of the land that is to be planted in cotton had not been so used, and as the weather has continued unfavorable to date for planting, the farming interests throughout the district are therefore fully three weeks late. With fair weather from now on, however, planting will be pushed with vigor and the backwardness of the season cannot be taken as unfavorable for a good yield. Out of an aggregate of 298 responses regarding acreage, 62 report an increase in the acreage planted in cotton as compared with last year, 76 report a decrease in the acreage and 160 report about the same acreage. The average decrease is ½ per cent.

"Weather—284 report weather less favorable than last year and 14 report weather about the same as last year.

"Labor—272 report labor good and 26 report labor not so good as last year."

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The market for bagging has shown but little change for the past week and trade is rather quiet. There is nothing doing in a large way, few inquiries being reported, and orders continue to be for the present wants of consumers. Prices are steady and dealers are naming 9½c. for 1¾ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¼c. for 2 lbs. and 11¼c. for standard grades, but a round lot could be had at a shade less. Butts have been in better demand for bagging qualities, and prices are rather firmer. There has been considerable done in contracts, and holders are showing more confidence and are asking 2 13-16@3c. at the close for prime goods, while ordinary are quoted at 2 7-16@2½c. Paper grades are in steady demand for jobbing wants and a firmer tone is to be reported, with sellers asking 2 5-16@2¾c.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

This statement shows that up to April 30 the receipts at the ports this year were 923,316 bales less than in 1882-83, and 268,638 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to Apr. 30 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to May 9 in each of the years named.

THE EXPORTS OF COTTON from New York this week show an increase, as compared with last week, the total reaching 3,811 bales, against 2,198 bales last week. Below we give our usual table, showing the exports of cotton from New York, and their direction, for each of the last four weeks; also the total exports and directions since September 1, 1883, and in the last column the total for the same period of the previous year.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., May 9, 1884.

Flour at one time sold to a very fair extent, both for export and for home consumption, and prices were firm, especially for fresh-milled, low grades and some of the better brands of patents and straights. But latterly, with less excitement in the wheat market, the transactions in flour have fallen off materially, and the firmness of the fore part of the week has given place to some depression. To-day the market was quiet, but about steady.

Wheat has been less active on speculation and in the main very quiet for export. On one day nearly 200,000 bushels were sold, largely for export; but most of the wheat was taken by steamship companies, partly on speculation, but chiefly for the purpose of providing freight where it otherwise might have been lacking. Prices have fluctuated rapidly and within wide limits, especially for June and July, the months which show the greatest manipulation. Several strong operators have these two options apparently pretty well under control, and claim that they have within a month or more been largely oversold. The design is, it is understood, to corner June even more completely than has yet been done. The shorts have purchased but moderately, however, for some days past. They claim that the statistics as to the visible are deceptive; that wheat has been withdrawn from Western elevators with a view of creating a false impression as to the real magnitude of the supply. That the quantity of wheat available in this country is more than ample, is, of course, a fact generally recognized. The weather at the West has improved of late, and the indications seem to point to a bountiful yield this year. To-day the market was irregular; cash advanced ¼ to ½c.; options declined ½ to 1c., but afterward showed some recovery. No. 2 red sold at $1 07⅞@$1 08½ for May, $1 10@$1 10⅝ for June, $1 08¼@$1 09 for July and $1 06¾ for August. The general course of the market during the week has been upward. No. 2 red closed at $1 10½ in elevator, $1 08¼ for May, $1 10 for June, $1 08⅜ for July and $1 06¼ for August. These prices are ¾c. to 2c. higher than those of a week ago, July and August showing the greatest advance.

Indian corn has been quiet both for export and on speculation, but it has nevertheless followed wheat upward. The Chicago market has moreover been very strong at times, and this fact has been reflected in the tone of the market here. There is really no alteration in the general position of this cereal, and the market is without features of special interest. To-day there was a moderate trade at an advance of ¼ to 1c., cash corn showing the most firmness. No. 2 mixed closed at 64½c. in elevator, 65c. for May, 65⅛c. for June, 66½c. for July and 67½c. for August, showing an advance of 3 to 4c. during the week.

Rye and barley have latterly sold rather more freely at some advance. Oats have been quiet all the week, but prices have risen several cents in response to the advance in other cereals, To-day the market was a fraction higher but still quiet. No. 2 mixed closed at 38¾c. for May, 39¼c. for June and 40c. for July, showing an advance for the week of 2c.

The following are closing quotations:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

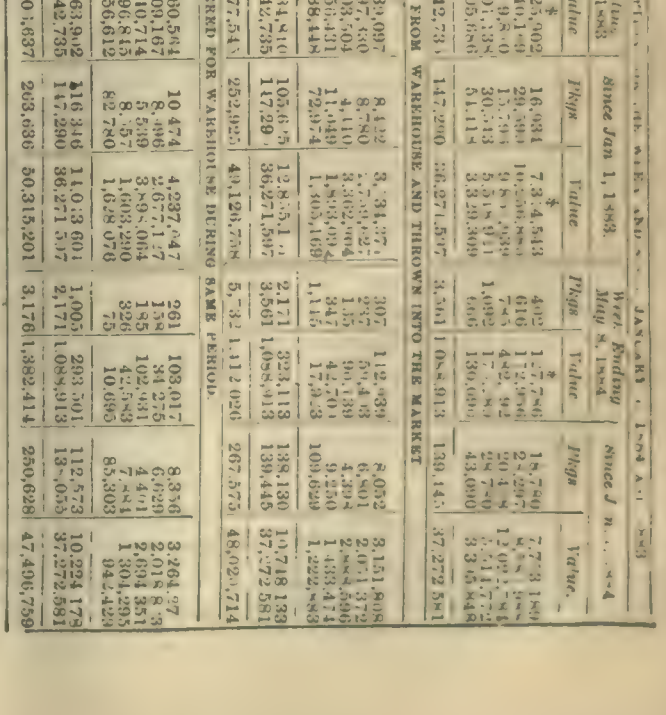
FRIDAY, P. M., May 9, 1884

The movement in dry goods was light and unsatisfactory the past week, owing in a measure to the prevalence of rainy and unseasonably cool weather. Wholesale buyers continued to govern their purchases by actual wants, and retailers bought sparingly because of the backwardness of the demand for consumption. The unsettled condition of affairs in Wall Street arising from the failure of the Marine Bank has to some extent impeded the restoration of confidence, and confirmed buyers in the wisdom of continuing a cautious hand-to-mouth policy for the present. On the other hand, the defeat of the Morrison Tariff Bill in Congress has imparted more confidence to holders of merchandise, and toward the close of the week there was a more hopeful feeling of a better market in the early future. The feature of the week was an auction sale of 784 cases plain and fancy white goods of domestic manufacture—the largest offering of the kind ever made in this market. The sale was a successful one as a whole, all the goods having been sold and widely distributed at average prices which fully realized expectations.



DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics for the week were 4,431 packages, including 2 820 to China, 450 to United States of Colombia, 420 to Brazil, 242 to Great Britain, 116 to Venezuela, 100 to Uruguay, &c. The demand for cotton goods at first hands was quite moderate, and almost wholly of a hand-to-mouth character, while the jobbing trade was of limited proportions. Many of the New England mills have commenced running on short time, and others are about adopting this course in order to restore the equilibrium between supply and demand. In view of this fact, holders of the best makes of plain and colored cottons have shown no disposition to shade prices, notwithstanding the prevailing quiet, and the tone of the market is steady. Print cloths were in moderate demand and firm as the week closed at 3⅛c. for 64x64s and 3c. for 56x60s. Prints, ginghams, lawns and other wash dress fabrics ruled quiet, but fairly steady in price.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The demand for clothing woolens was light and irregular, but there was a fair movement in heavy cassimeres, worsteds and overcoatings on account of back orders. Spring woolens were taken in moderate parcels by cloth and dry goods jobbers, but at prices which left a slim margin of profit to manufacturers. Kentucky jeans were less active in first hands, owing to the exhaustion of many stocks by the brisk trade that has lately been done in these goods. Satinets continued in fair demand, and a moderate business was done in ladies' cloths, cloakings, tricots, Jersey cloths and light-weight stockinettes. Flannels were lightly dealt in (except popular makes of white flannels, in which a fair business was reported), and blankets were generally quiet. Some additional orders were placed for all-wool and cotton-warp cashmeres, beiges, &c., for the fall trade, but seasonable worsted and all-wool dress goo is were mostly quiet, and dealings in shawls, carpets, hosiery and knit underwear were limited in amount.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The temporary subsidence of the tariff agitation has stimulated the order demand for certain fall fabrics, as dress goods, velvets, seal plushes, &c., and in this connection a somewhat improved business was reported by importers. The demand for goods adapted to the present season was almost wholly confined to a few specialties, and transactions were light in the aggregate. Staple goods are fairly steady in price, but concessions can readily be obtained by close buyers upon such fancy fabrics as cannot safely be carried over until next season with a reasonable hope of profit.

Importations of Dry Goods.

The importations of dry goods at this port for the week ending May 8, 1884, and since January 1, and the same facts for the corresponding periods of 1883, are as follows:

NEGOTIATED BY
No. 115 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.
All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms in that and other Northwestern States. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized to succeed him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions, and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Result Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upwards of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best-Paying Investment in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and our correspondents' statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period, we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to all inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, comprising investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity, there has now been paid $118,180, with an added interest of $63,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record a this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The story of the week is soon told. Our banks furnish the facilities for the transaction of our daily business. Wall street works so rapidly, that to effect exchanges, this delicate piece of machinery must be run at the highest pressure. It is only confidence in our fellow man that makes this possible. Suddenly Wednesday morning the Metropolitan Bank closed its doors. It proved to be the last straw, for as quick as thought the whole credit system in use for stock operations collapsed, the machinery for making exchanges was thrown out of gear, and those who could not bear the strain gave way. For the time being no one apparently wanted stocks or anything else but money, so an unreasonable panic prevailed with a frightful fall in values as shown in our tables of prices on a subsequent page, and with most disastrous results to brokers and their customers.

The events which have brought us to this point would require very much longer time to relate, and yet may we not briefly say that faults in corporate management and faults in legislation cover in the main the causes that excited the distrust, which the special disclosures of the last ten days have precipitated. Looking only to the immediate influences, we have the failure of Grant & Ward with its marvelous, almost insane, revelations, attended with widely-extending losses, the assignment of the North-western Car Company, supposed to be largely in debt throughout the East as well as in the West, but more than all the difficulties in our three Clearing House Banks, each being of a similar nature, and all showing lack of faithfulness on the part of the highest officer in charge. These banks lost so heavily, not because the country was insolvent, not because their advances to merchants had not been paid, not because brokers defaulted—none of these conditions existed—but simply and solely because of a power inside the institutions that had misused their assets. Hence it is well to know that the brokers who have failed in Wall Street do not in any degree owe their failure to recklessness in their business management, or to their holding of worthless securities, but wholly to the sudden and total withdrawal of bank facilities which these startling bank disclosures produced. They are the victims rather than the cause this time.

We refer to this feature because—passing the moral question, which we discussed last week—there is something very re-assuring in it, for though confidence can only be slowly restored, a statement of the cause of the trouble brings out in strong light the truth that the public is not insolvent, and that there is no reason why general business should be affected or why, for good properties, the recovery should not be speedy. In fact, merchants here and everywhere, and bankers and brokers in other cities, except in case of some direct connection, have looked almost with indifference upon our bank failures and wild scramble in Wall Street. They are fully conscious of its local, sporadic character. Some among us, however, are trying to draw a likeness to 1873, and to predict now what followed then. No such comparison is possible. At that time all classes, trades, corporations, municipalities, and in a word the whole country, was in debt. And not only that, but property for several successive years had been marked up in values, and each advance had furnished a basis for a new layer of debt—debt on debt, in increasing magnitude, making a credit structure which some one has aptly compared to a cone inverted standing on its apex. We have nothing resembling that to-day. The general public, as we have seen, is not the cause, and need not be involved. It is a case simply of deep distrust, and anything which will help to re-assure the public in our financial stability would be of great service. Time will heal some of the wounds, but Congress could do more at this moment by the repeal of the Silver Coinage law, for the permanent restoration of confidence, than all things else that could be done. Of course, we know well enough that that law is in no degree the immediate cause of the panic, but it is a source of deep disquietude, and if it were out of the way conservative classes would be re-assured, and foreign capital would flow in here like a river, to take all good securities now being sacrificed.

As already stated, the closing of the Metropolitan Bank Wednesday morning was the immediate event which started the panic. Its large capital, its very large deposits, holding in part the reserve of so many banks throughout the country, but worse than all, the moral question involved by the failure, following so speedily the frightful defalcation of the President of the Second National Bank, made public the previous day, served, in the then attitude of the public mind, to unsettle all credit. The scenes and events which quickly ensued forced the Clearing House banks to come to the rescue, and to pool their assets for mutual protection. This has now become the usual course in times of panic—the conservative banks, which are always managed so as to be prepared for the worst, are required when the hour of danger arrives to support their weaker and more extended brethren. The latter make the money and the former give the stability. We suppose they both like it, or it would not always be the case. In the present instance, and as a result of this action, the Metropolitan opened its doors again Thursday noon after the resignation of Mr. Seney its President, and an increase of confidence was quickly apparent in financial circles, the prices of securities advancing sharply.

A fact that helped the improvement of that day was the decided fall in sterling exchange which was due to the stringency in money here, the drawing of speculative bills the proceeds to be used in our loan market, and the purchase of securities made in Wall Street on foreign account. It is not however believed that there has been any large movement of stocks or bonds to the other side, but there has been moderate buying on European account for investment, while the speculative movements in London are such as to favor the arbitrage brokers in trading between the two cities. A further fact, which had a favorable tendency on the day mentioned, was the announcement of the Secretary of the Treasury directing that payment be made with interest to the date of presentation of the bonds embraced in the call due June 20th.

It is probable that the recovery on Thursday would have proved permanent had it not been for the important failures subsequently announced. The well-known and highly respected firm of Fisk & Hatch closed their doors in the afternoon of that day. In bank circles, this event was seen to be inevitable the previous day when loans due by the firm were called and not responded to; but to the street its announcement near the close of business Thursday came wholly unexpected, and of course proved very disturbing, the stock market becoming panicky again. Yesterday this disturbed feeling was further encouraged by the closing of the doors of the Newark Savings Institution, the rumors with regard to it being at first of a very unfavorable nature. There was one rumor that Fisk & Hatch had re-hypothecated securities left with them by this bank, but a statement to us, made by their counsel, shows that whatever use the securities in question were put to was fully authorized by the bank, and that they have now been returned and the bank wholly satisfied. The institution was closed simply as a precautionary measure. When this latter fact became known the market recovered its improved tone, and prices again rose rapidly. It is probable that in the main the effects of the disasters which have occurred have now been felt, and that the recovery which has set in will continue, unless there should be further developments of a serious nature.

Union Pacific statement for March, though unfavorable as expected, is more encouraging than were the exhibits for the months immediately preceding. It shows that the company's earning capacity is far from exhausted, as many would have us believe. In January and February combined the total net were only $580,495, while now for March alone we have as much as $768,159. It is true that this latter amount is over half a million dollars smaller than in the corresponding month a year ago, but that month in 1883 made an exceptionally good showing, owing to a combination of favorable circumstances, and a repetition of the large earnings then recorded could hardly be looked for. If we go back to 1882, the loss is only $263,000, and, as compared with 1881, there is actually an improvement of $275,000. This latter fact is important, because in many respects the conditions in the weather prevailing in the early part of 1881 were not unlike those that have existed the present year. That the company should have made larger earnings now, despite the additional drawback imposed by the contest with the Burlington & Quincy, is therefore a very gratifying feature. In the following table we give the gross and net earnings of the three contending companies, for March and the first quarter, during the last four years.

Here we find smaller net earnings this year than last, by all the companies, both for March and the three months. As an active strife between the roads has been in progress during this time, the inference seems natural that the decrease is attributable wholly to that fact. But that is not correct, and, moreover, it is possible to give altogether too much prominence to this one circumstance in seeking to account for the decline. We showed last week that the falling off on the Burlington & Quincy must be largely due to the diminished movement of corn, which in the previous year had been extraordinary. So the Union Pacific, though it no doubt suffered losses by reason of the difficulties in the Colorado and Utah pools, was certainly very greatly affected by the severe winter that has been experienced. We know also that the Denver & Rio Grande suffered seriously by snow slides and snow storms. Last year, on the other hand, the meteorological conditions were very favorable, and in 1882 they were hardly less so, the weather being unusually mild. In 1881, however, as already said, the winter was very bad, and it will be noticed that then both the Quincy and the Union Pacific had small earnings all through the first three months. The significance of this feature lies in the fact that it demonstrates that one at least of the circumstances responsible for the present loss in earnings can only be temporary in its nature.

Chesapeake & Ohio, in its March exhibit, shows for the first time in many months a falling off in earnings, which, however, is an apparent decrease only, since, according to the Company, the figures last year included $66,000 in this one month on account of certain items which should really have been distributed over a number of months. The Company's earnings have been steadily increasing for several years past, but the total in March last year recorded an unusual gain. This is seen in the fact that while, as compared with 1883, net exhibit a falling off of $23,000, as compared with March, 1882, there is an increase of over $67,000. How decided the growth has been since 1881, is shown in the following statement, covering March and the first quarter, for four years.

| | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| Gross earnings | 313,542 | 337,795 | 215,441 | 228,481 |
| Operating expenses | 216,153 | 216,909 | 185,501 | 228,103 |
| Net earnings | 97,389 | 120,886 | 29,943 | 378 |
| January 1 to March 31. | | | | |
| Gross earnings | 860,236 | 843,211 | 603,243 | 575,410 |
| Operating expenses | 630,214 | 621,294 | 501,156 | 556,052 |
| Net earnings | 230,022 | 221,917 | 102,087 | 19,358 |

From this we see that for the first quarter of the year both gross and net are larger than ever before, and that there has been no break in the upward movement. While in 1881 the net were scarcely more than nominal, in 1884 they reached over $230,000. The gain is directly due to the improvements and extensions that have been made both by it and the companies connected or allied with it, and it should be understood that the Chesapeake & Ohio's position to-day is vastly different from what it was after the crisis of 1873. Then it was practically without any Western connections, while now, by means of the Elizabethtown Lexington & Big Sandy, the Kentucky Central, and the Chesapeake Ohio & Southwestern, it has direct outlets to Louisville, Cincinnati, Cairo, and Memphis, and on the opening of the railroad between Memphis and New Orleans, now nearing completion, will have a continuous line all the way to the Crescent City. Further the Louisville Evansville & St. Louis affords it an excellent route to St. Louis, while Mr. Huntington's affiliations with the Scioto Valley and the Cincinnati Indianapolis St. Louis & Chicago place the road in an exceptionally good position for grain traffic to the seaboard from the sections in the Ohio Valley. As is known, in the recent construction of large elevators, &c., at Newport News, the company has supplied itself with special facilities for handling this kind of traffic. It should be said that the company does not yet have to meet full interest on all its debts, but we notice that the total net earnings for the last year were $1,306,858, while the actual cash liability for 1884 is estimated at only $1,279,260, showing that net no larger than in 1883 would enable it to take care of all its interest liabilities.

Money on call did not become fairly active until Wednesday. Then, on the news of the failure of the Metropolitan Bank, the rate suddedly advanced from 5 per cent per annum to 1 per cent premium and interest, and loans were subsequently made at as high as 3 per cent premium, and even then the scrutiny of securities offered was very close. Banks wholly declined to allow their customers to draw beyond their deposits, and refused to permit themselves to be placed in a position where they would be obliged to make forced loans in order to protect over drafts. Large amounts of money were also taken from the banks by individuals who were apprehensive of the safety of their deposits, and the institutions were necessarily obliged to call in loans, and could not be expected to discount except upon the very best securities, and then only to a moderate extent. There was a little better supply of money on Thursday, when the highest rate was ½ of 1 per cent premium and interest, and yesterday a further improvement took place, loans on exceptional collateral being effected at 4 per cent. The exchanges at interior points have been deranged by the existing condition of affairs, St. Louis falling to par against 90 cents per $1,000 premium, and Chicago being nominally 80 cents per $1,000 discount against 60 cents premium. These rates indicate a calling of balances from New York, due to the bank failures and the disturbed credit, and this is confirmed by the following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibiting the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

| Total gold and legal tenders | $2,498,000 | $3,605,000 | Loss. $1,107,000 |

* Includes $1,530,000 transferred in the shape of silver certificates, by a deposit of gold in the Sub-Treasury.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have gained $1,500,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item, therefore, to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the N. Y. Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day. It should be said that, owing to the fact that large amounts of money have been drawn out of bank by individuals through fear, and by savings institutions as a precautionary measure against unusual demands, the showing will very probably be much less favorable than here indicated.

There was a flurry in Government bonds on Thursday caused by comparatively liberal offerings of the 4 and 4½ per cents in the absence of demand. This movement was variously interpreted, but it was not until late in the afternoon that the fact appeared that it was due to the embarrassment of Fisk & Hatch who are large holders of these securities.

The Bank of England reports a loss of £372,000 bullion this week. This represents £243,000 received from abroad and £615,000 sent to the interior. The Bank of France shows a gain of 6,334,000 francs gold and of 257,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany reports an increase of 4,490,000 marks. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

BANK GROWTH, A FEATURE OF THE TIMES.

The irregularities developed the past ten days in some of our financial institutions and the prevailing disposition to interpret the disturbance in Wall Street as indicating widespread insolvency, suggest an inquiry as to the changes taking place in the number, and capital of our national banks. Not a week passes but the Comptroller gives notice of new organizations, sometimes many in number, although one might reasonably expect a shrinkage in banking capital at periods of business depression. At least, as there is during such a season less enterprise and a less demand for the use of money, the conditions do not seem favorable for growth in banking facilities. Thus in 1876 the March report to the Comptroller showed 2,076 organizations under the national law, with 504¼ million dollars capital; from that date to 1880 the shrinkage was constant, the report of September 1, 1879, giving only 2,045 banks, with 455 million dollars capital, and that of March 1, 1880, giving one more (2,046), but with only 454 millions capital.

In this we see that during four years of commercial prostration, there was not only no growth in banking facilities, but an actual loss of 30 banks in number and of 50 millions of capital. It should be remembered also that this retrogression occurred, although in those times the margin of profit on circulation was comparatively large. That is, Governments were selling at much lower prices then than of late years, the 4½s closing at 108¼ in 1876, at 103⅜ in 1877, at 104¾ in 1878, and at 106⅜ in 1879, while the 4s were during much of the time from July 1877 to 1880 only a fraction above par. This shows clearly enough the much larger profit the banks in those years secured on note issues than now, and consequently how much greater inducement that particular feature offered for the continuation of the old organizations and for the formation of new ones. In fact, notwithstanding the contraction in bank capital the aggregate circulation did increase during the period in question, it being reported at 292 millions in the December report of 1876, at 299 millions December 1877, at 303 millions December 1878, and at 321 millions December 1879; all of which only illustrates the decided advantage which at that time must have been derived from note issues to induce such an increase of circulation concurrently with such a large decrease of capital.

These statements have a present interest, because of the strong contrast they furnish with similar statements now. Many try to think that the country's present situation is a desperate one, and seek to draw analogies between the surroundings of to-day and those existing in the years prior to the resumption of specie payments. It seems to us quite impossible to draw any such analogy, the conditions being in so many particulars unlike, as we have often pointed out. The history of bank development furnishes an additional proof of this, as will be found in the following summary, prepared from the figures published by us after each return of the National Banks since 1880. The detailed report for March 7, 1884, was given in the CHRONICLE last week, page 568.

Here we find, instead of a loss in number and capital of banks, as in 1876 and subsequently, that there has been a steady growth in both particulars since 1880. Thus, whatever has been the depression existing in our industries, it appears neither so great nor so universal as to have checked enterprise in this direction. More than that, the growth in both number and capital which since 1880 has been in progress, is quite marvelous, the total additions since December of that year having been 468 in number, or a growth of 22·34 per cent, and about 57¼ million dollars in capital, or nearly 12½ per cent. If we analyze the changes which have occurred in the various divisions or sections of the country, we find the results even more remarkable. As for instance in the East (covered by the first three of above divisions) and in the older Western States (covered by the fifth division) although there has been progress, it has been moderate; whereas in the Southern, Western and Pacific States, where banking capital was really needed, the growth is very decided. Thus, during the period in question, the Southern States (division 4) have added nearly a half to the number of their banks (49·31 per cent), and 31·03 per cent to their capital; the Western States (division 6) have more than doubled the number of their banks (the increase being 111·04 per cent), while the other Western (division 8) show an increase of 116·00 per cent in number, and the Pacific States (division 7) 157·14 per cent. To indicate the actual development in the various parts of the country we have prepared the following, which shows the per cent of increase from December, 1880, to March, 1884, in each section, both in number and capital.

| Since December, 1880. | Increase in Number. | Increase in Capital. |
| (1) New England..... | 3·27 per cent. | 1·33 per cent. |
| (2) Eastern Middle..... | 9·82 per cent. | 2·66 per cent. |
| (3) Southern Middle..... | 16·67 per cent. | 9·05 per cent. |
| (4) Southern..... | 49·31 per cent. | 31·03 per cent. |
| (5) Western Middle ..... | 15·92 per cent. | 29·82 per cent. |
| (6) Western ..... ..... | 111·04 per cent. | 95·35 per cent. |
| (7) Pacific..... ..... ..... | 157·14 per cent. | 35·14 per cent. |
| (8) Other Western ..... | 116 00 per cent. | 133·33 per cent. |
| The whole country... | 22·34 per cent. | 12·48 per cent. |

This analysis might instructively be carried further, but enough has been said to indicate that instead of a retrograde movement as in 1876 and subsequently, there has been a very rapid development of the national banking system since 1880, and that the agricultural States, where there were but few banks before, have mainly contributed to the growth. Of course, it is evident from the facts given, that the new institutions are generally of small capital, the average of all the additions being only $122,000, while in the Pacific States the average of new banks reaches only $59,000. It will be of interest to note the actual condition in this particular, and how it compares with former averages, as we thus see how natural and apparently healthful the development has been. For that purpose we have prepared the following from the totals given in the first of above tables.

We should not omit to mention that the growth in number and capital of our National Banks which we have been remarking upon has been in some measure assisted by legislation. That is to say, were it not that the law had been changed in some particulars, the additions would most likely have been less numerous. This does not apply to the period prior to July, 1882, when the additions had already reached 144 in number and 17 millions in capital. At that date Congress provided (Sec. 8 of law approved July 12, 1882) that National Banks of $150,000 or less capital need not thereafter keep on deposit with the Treasurer, United States bonds in excess of one fourth of their capital; before that date, they were required to keep an amount equal to one-third their capital. As bonds had risen to so high a price that there was little or no profit on circulation, this provision was clearly of advantage. But what made it of even greater advantage, was that in the same law the three per cent bonds were authorized which gave the opportunity of securing a bond at par for banking business which would not be paid until after all other bonds payable at the pleasure of the United States should be redeemed.

These new features and exemptions undoubtedly facilitated the formation of banks, but even with them the situation was not so favorable in regard to circulation as in 1876 and subsequent years. In other words the changes simply removed the obstructions to growth which the rapid advance in Government bonds had interposed since 1880 began, but did not restore former inducements. Of a different character was the repeal of the taxes on bank capital and deposits of March 1883. But that relief could not have been of any influence in stimulating the new development of the system, except during the last six or eight months, and even during that time unfavorable circumstances have developed which to a considerable extent have neutralized that advantage. We refer to the further advance in Government bonds and the rapid calling in and payment of the 3 per cents; incidents which have not only deprived the banks of all profit on note issues, but also either made a large premium account necessary or rendered the life of the bond which is the basis of the circulation very uncertain.

Altogether, then, we find no reason for qualifying our remarks made above with regard to the inference to be drawn from the rapid increase in banks. It is one, among many, of the features which distinguish this period of business depression from its predecessors. Exchanges are inactive, interest has been decidedly low, profit on circulation is utterly gone, the high premium on bonds as well as the rapid payment of the 3s, makes investment in them not at all inviting, while enterprise in almost every direction is at a standstill—and yet, national banks are multiplying, as never before, the capital seeking employment in that field is increasing beyond precedent. Clearly, growth under such circumstances shows an urgent need and favoring conditions. A bank cannot be set up anywhere like a locust post; it is a development, not a manufacture. And if there is such a natural development, the conclusion forces itself upon every thoughtful mind that the times are not by any means so badly out of joint as the wearisome croakers would have us believe.

OREGON RAILWAY & NAVIGATION COMPANY'S EARNINGS AND INCOME.

The Oregon Railway & Navigation Company having recently reduced its quarterly dividends from 10 per cent per annum to 8 per cent, and then to 6 per cent, its figures of gross and net earnings (the monthly publication of which has lately been resumed) possess more than the ordinary amount of interest. This company, as our readers know, was the first of the enterprises with which Mr. Villard's name became associated, and from the outset enjoyed a very prosperous career. It, moreover, gave character to all of his subsequent ventures. During the last two years the nature of its business has undergone very decided changes. Formerly the bulk of profits were derived from the river lines, now they are chiefly earned on the railroad lines. With the opening, last autumn, of the Northern Pacific all the way through, a further modification took place, and despite the fact that the latter company has to use the Oregon road for an outlet to the Pacific Coast, there were not a few who predicted unfavorable results to follow, claiming that henceforth its career must be downward. Sufficient time has now elapsed to allow us to see whether these fears were well grounded.

The company's fiscal year begins with the first of July, so that only about six weeks remain to complete the current twelve months' period. Of the time already passed, we have returns for the ten months to the end of April (the figures for April of course being approximate). These ten months may be divided into periods of three months each. The first covers the three months to the end of September, when the company's business was as yet unaffected by the completion of the Northern Pacific. The second covers the three months to the end of December, when the Northern Pacific was in full operation, and before the severe winter weather had set in. The third covers the three months to the end of March, during which time many obstructions to transportation existed by reason of the unusual severity of the winter. In the fourth period we have placed the month of April, when traffic operations were again conducted with greater freedom, and when also the gold excitement in the Cœur d'Alene mines in Idaho tended to swell business and improve results. The following are the gross and net earnings for the ten months so arranged. It is important that such division of the ten months should be made, because only in that way can we correctly interpret the figures and determine the effects of the new condition of things.

| PERIOD. | Gross Earnings. | | Net Earnings. | |

| Total 10 months ..... | 4,589,433 | 4,210,912 | 2,009,789 | 2,060,525 |

We here see that for the whole period there is quite a material increase in gross earnings, but that net are some $51,000 behind the corresponding period of a year ago. This, of course, shows that the property has not been so cheaply operated this year, and if a larger proportion of the company's business has been through business, handled at lower rates, that is not difficult to understand. But has the decrease in net been uniform through the ten months, and have the gross increased in even degree? The above division of the figures tells the story. We find that during the first three months the result was not materially different from what it had been in the same time of the previous fiscal year. That is, before the Northern Pacific was open for business, the Oregon Navigation was just about holding its own. In the second three months there was a decided increase in both gross and net, amounting to $410,310 in the former and $158,157 in the latter, thus offering positive proof that the Northern Pacific was not hurting the Oregon company, but rather adding to its business. In the next three months, however, there was quite a falling off in gross, and a still larger falling off in net. The company never has very heavy earnings during these winter months, but this winter they were even less than usual. It is easy to understand the reason from what we have said above. The weather was exceptionally unfavorable, and this operated to reduce earnings, while at the same time increasing expenses. The Northern Pacific line is in no way responsible for the loss. In fact, that line during these months experienced the same unfavorable conditions. In April most of the obstructions to traffic operations were removed, though we do not know that they all were, so the gross earnings again exhibit an increase, with net, however, about $7,000 smaller. The result is, that for the ten months net earnings are now, as already said, about $51,000 behind 1882–3.

But in what position does this loss of $51,000 leave the company? We may take all other items of receipts and payments the same as in the previous fiscal year, and allow only for the increase in fixed charges and in the requirements for dividends. In that year the company had a surplus of $226,284 above interest, taxes, rentals and other charges of every description, including dividends on the stock. This therefore is the margin that remains to be exhausted on the basis of that year's operations. The company has lately negotiated three millions of debentures (the proceeds to be used in completing the Baker City extension to a connection with the Oregon Short Line), but as the bonds were not issued till April, and the coupon periods are April and October, we presume that no portion of the interest on the same will count in the present fiscal year. On the other hand, the company holding, as it does, 40 per cent of the stock of the Northern Pacific Terminal Company will have to contribute a like proportionate share towards meeting the interest on the $3,000,000 of terminal bonds which that company has put out. That would call for $72,000. Then, besides, the call for dividends will be heavier. The stock is 24 millions, whereas in the previous year it was only 18 millions, and larger dividends have been paid on the same. All the dividends that will come out of the present year's income, have already been declared, so it is easy to figure what the call for this purpose has been. The dividend periods are August, November, February, and May. In the two former periods 2½ per cent was paid, in February 2 per cent, and in May 1½ per cent. The full amount of the 24 millions stock had not been issued at the August payment, so the charge will be as follows.

| August 1, 2½ per cent, 18 millions stock | $450,000 |
| November 1, 2½ per cent, 24 millions stock | 600,000 |
| February 1, 2 per cent, 24 millions stock | 480,000 |
| May 1, 1½ per cent, 24 millions stock | 360,000 |
| Total for the year | $1,890,000 |

In the last fiscal year the amount paid for dividends was $1,584,000, so that we have here an increase of $306,000. If we add the $72,000 on account of the Northern Pacific terminal bonds, we get a total increased requirement of $378,000. The decrease of net earnings for the ten months we have above shown to be $51,000, which would make the total loss as compared with 1882–83 about $429,000—this on the supposition that all other items, as well as miscellaneous receipts and payments, will be the same as in that year. As against this loss, there was, as stated, a surplus of $226,284. Hence, it would appear that the company's earnings fall about $200,000 short of the $1,890,000 which it has paid out for dividends, and it will have to gain that much during the next two months over the same two months of 1883 to meet the amount in full. Very likely it will make some gain in this period, and possibly some of the minor items of payments—say rentals—may be less, which would further diminish the deficit. But in the absence of both these contingencies, the company has, of course, the surplus of previous years to fall back on, and we notice that the amount to the credit of profit and loss on June 30, 1883, was $2,263,856.

The foregoing analysis brings out two features about the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company that are deserving of notice. In the first place, it shows that the new managers of the company took a very conservative step in reducing dividends from 10 per cent to 6 per cent. It is now admitted by the best friends of the concern that it was a mistake ever to have raised the rate to 10 per cent. The property was doing well, and its future was reasonably well assured, but Mr. Villard took an over sanguine view of the prospects. In the second place, we find that, as far as can be judged from the immediate past, there is nothing to justify the fear that the property will lose its earning capacity through the completion of the Northern Pacific. Further, the company clearly appears to be earning the 6 per cent dividend now being paid. On the basis of 6 per cent, the requirement is only $1,440,000, against the $1,890,000 actually paid out, a saving of $450,000, which is amply sufficient to wipe out the deficit shown and leave a handsome balance besides.

LONDON, Saturday, May 3, 1884.

The money market during the past week has been very easy; still, an impression prevails that the lowest point has been reached, and was thought a most satisfactory feature, indicating a tendency to improvement. The apparent check to a downward movement has not arisen, however, out of any improved commercial or financial demand for accommodations, but to the diversion of the American supplies of gold to the Continent. For some time past money has been dearer abroad than it is here, and the movement in gold has not, therefore, occasioned any surprise. If the Continental demand has been brought about by renewed activity in commercial and financial circles, the feature is an important one, and yet it is to be apprehended that the new Russian loan has been the leading cause of the inquiry which has arisen. The supply of gold held by the Bank of England is now large, but not excessive. It amounts to £25,325,902, against £21,010,877 last year, showing an increase of about £4,250,000. In 1880, however, it was as much as £27,988,832 and in 1881 £26,256,509. Those supplies were above our requirements, and indicated a very indifferent condition of things. The present reserve amounts to £15,325,607, against £10,491,152 in 1883; while the proportion of reserve to liabilities is 48·09 per cent, against 34 per cent in 1883. In a brief period more demand for money will, it is expected, arise. The autumn trade in goods for export will soon be taken into consideration, and though it may, and will, no doubt, be conducted with caution, yet some increase of business may not unnaturally be looked forward to. So far as is known at present the crops promise well, but it is early yet to be confident.

The directors of the Bank of England have made no change in their published rate of discount, which remains, therefore, at 2½ per cent. Some were of opinion that a reduction to 2 per cent would be made, but as very little gold has accumulated at the Bank during the week, and as there is now a demand for gold in connection with the Scotch "term" payments, no reduction was made. Money for short periods is almost unlendable, and the rates of discount are very easy. To-day is practically the "fourth" of the month in the commercial and financial world, as the bills maturing to-morrow have to be met to-day. Not much effect has, however, been produced, though rather more firmness is apparent.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

The following remarks upon the bullion market are from the circular of Messrs. Pixley & Abell:

Gold.—The bank has received £171,000 since last week, and has sold £24,000, chiefly in Dutch gold coin. The demand for the Continent and for India has been lively, and the bulk of arrivals have been disposed of in the open market; the amount mentioned as having been received by the Bank consisting mainly of low grade bars which could not be used for export. The arrivals are, £855,200 from New York; £111,000 from West Indies; £1,000 from Chili; £6,600 from Australia; total, £973,800. The "Rosetta" takes £52,700 to Bombay.

Silver.—The market has weakened since our last, owing to a decline in the Eastern exchanges, and to the lower rates at which the Council transfers and bills were allotted yesterday. The price, which we quoted in our last, 51d. per oz., has gradually declined to 50 13/16d. per oz., at which quotation the bars (coin Chili and the River Plate have been placed. We have received since last week £30,000 from the West Indies; £40,300 from Chili; £4,850 from River Plate; £2,100 from New York; total, £77,250. The P. & O. steamer takes £70,000 to Bombay.

Mexican Dollars.—Consequent on large purchases on French account, the coin ex "Para" was disposed of at 50d per oz; since then, however, the price has receded to 49 7/8d, in sympathy with bar silver, and we give this as the nearest quotation this day. The "Packet" from New York brought £4,680 and the "Para" £1,250,000.

The quotations for bullion are reported as follows:

On the Stock Exchange, a prominent feature has been that the proposals made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer to lower the rate of interest on consols from 3 to 2½ per cent has led to a fall in the price of consols and to a decided increase in the value of the 2½ per cents, as well as of Indian railway, Municipal Government bonds, and the debentures or preference stocks of our leading railway undertakings. This was to be quite expected, but the relapse in consols has not been serious.

The cheapness of money has led to the introduction of several new loans, most of which possess attractive features. Prominent among them is a loan for the Metropolitan Board of Works for £1,900,000 in a three per cent stock. The minimum price at which tenders will be accepted is £97 10s. per £100, and the loan is to be secured upon the rates of the metropolitan area. The widening of streets and other improvements are the objects for which the additional capital is required.

Subscriptions are also invited to a Tasmanian loan for £800,000 in 4 per cent bonds, the minimum price at which tenders will be accepted, being 98 per cent. The money is required to extend the railway system.

A loan has been introduced by Messrs. C. de Murietta & Co. for £385,000 for the Northern Colonies Railway of Sante Fe in 5 per cent mortgage bonds. The price of issue is £80 10s. per cent.

The Oriental Bank Corporation, limited, which has for some time past been an undertaking struggling against losses, has at length succumbed. It long held a high position, but disaster seems to have been succeeded by disaster.

We have had some genial weather during the past week, and a fair quantity of rain has fallen, which has been productive of much good. On the Continent similar weather has prevailed, and the crop prospects are regarded as satisfactory. With larger supplies advised from the United States, especially of flour, the trade in this country has been very quiet, but there has been no important relapse in prices. The tendency, however, is in buyers' favor. As the supplies of home-grown produce must now fall away, an augmented consumption of foreign wheat may be looked forward to. The supplies of wheat and flour afloat to the United Kingdom have increased to a moderate extent. The following are the particulars:

| | At present. | Last week's. | Last year. | 1882. |
| Wheat.....qrs. | 1,963,000 | 1,860,000 | 2,276,000 | 2,479,000 |

| Indian corn | 152,000 | 117,000 | 253,000 | 211,000 |

The following return shows the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the 187 principal markets of England and Wales during the first 35 weeks of the season, together with the average prices realized, compared with 150 weeks in previous seasons:

| | SALES. 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |

| Oats | 19 9 | 21 1 | 21 0 | 24 2 |

Converting quarters of wheat into hundred-weights, the total sales in the whole kingdom are estimated as follows:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....cwt. | 30,029,600 | 30,905,700 | 26,128,300 | 21,135,760 |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 31/8, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4/5. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

Annexed is a return showing the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first 35 weeks of the season, the sales of home-grown produce, the average price of home-grown wheat, the visible supply of wheat in the United States, the quantity of wheat and flour afloat to the United Kingdom, and the exports in seven months compared with previous seasons:

—First mortgages on real estate should now be in demand, and since the enormous decline in stocks, investors will feel more than ever that they prefer to put their money where it has good real estate as security. Attention is called to the advertisement of real estate mortgage bonds sold by the Corbin Banking Company. This concern has a long experience in placing these mortgage bonds, and after a series of years the record of their business is most favorable.

—It was with feelings of deep regret that the business community heard of the suspension of Fisk & Hatch, and the belief was entertained that the suspension would be only temporary. The firm had earned a high reputation for dealing honorably with their creditors after the terrible crisis of 1873, and their business since that date has been mostly in Government bonds, and quite conservative in its character. The announcement of the firm says: "The long-continued decline in the market prices of securities, even the very best, accompanied by a general weakening of confidence in financial matters, together with a heavy drainage of deposits, are the principal causes of our unfortunate position. We can only request those having claims against us to extend to us such consideration and indulgence as we may need, and it may be in their power to grant."

—Attention is called to the card of Messrs. Asiel & Co., in to-day's CHRONICLE. This firm transacts a banking and brokerage business at 51 Exchange Place, and is composed of young and energetic business men.

—The Homestake Gold Mining Company of Dakota has declared its sixty-ninth dividend of $25,000, for April, payable in San Francisco, or at the transfer agency here (Lounsbery & Haggin), 15 Broad Street.

—Attention is called to the card of Messrs. Kohn, Popper & Co. in the CHRONICLE to-day. Those having Missouri, Minnesota or Nebraska bonds will do well to take notice.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1884—5 P.M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Financial circles have passed through an excited week, marked by many disasters and full of disturbing features. The failure last week of the Marine Bank and of Grant & Ward, together with the developments to which this gave rise, created serious distrust, which was deepened when it was announced Saturday afternoon that the Northwestern Car Company, in which Senator Sabin of Minnesota was the controlling spirit, had been placed in the hands of a receiver. Consequently an uneasy feeling prevailed on our Stock Exchange at the opening of business on Monday, and the fear was freely expressed that other institutions and firms would be found to be in an equally precarious condition. Prices reflected this fear in a pretty general decline through the day. The uneasiness increased rather than diminished during Tuesday, and when it appeared on Wednesday morning that a defalcation of three millions had been detected in the Second National Bank, confidence entirely disappeared. It was apparent then—even before the opening of the Exchange—that only very little more was needed to precipitate a panic and a wholesale destruction of values. The final shock came in the failure of several brokerage and banking firms, and in the suspension of the Metropolitan National Bank. Then the wildest kind of a panic raged, and securities were thrown overboard regardless of price.

To add further to the discomfiture of dealers, money became exceedingly stringent, and at one time commanded as much as 4 per cent for 24 hours use. This caused a further sacrifice of stocks since few could afford to pay the high rate asked. The exorbitant charge was of course the direct result of the distrust prevailing, since there was no actual scarcity. There was no improvement till it was understood in the afternoon that the banks had taken action similar to that of 1873, and that no further bank suspensions were therefore likely. At the close of business on that day the disasters included Metropolitan Bank, Atlantic State Bank (Brooklyn), Hotchkiss, Burnham & Co., Hatch & Foote, Nelson Robinson & Co., O. M. Bogart & Co., Donnell, Lawson & Simpson, Goffe & Randle, J. C. Williams.

The improvement noted at the close on Wednesday made further headway on Thursday, when it appeared that the Metropolitan Bank, through the aid of the Clearing House, would be enabled to resume at once, and that the Second National Bank was experiencing no difficulty whatever in meeting all payments, the deficit having been made good in full by the father of the president of the bank. The failure in the morning of A. W. Dimock & Co. had comparatively little effect upon the market (though it caused a fall of 64 per cent in Bankers' & Merchants' Tel. stock), but the unexpected suspension of Messrs. Fisk & Hatch late in the afternoon was a complete set-back, and again threw things into confusion. Friday morning the closing of the Newark Savings Institution was another unfavorable feature, but it was soon seen that this was connected with the suspension of Fisk & Hatch, and a more hopeful view of the situation prevailed. No further failures occurring, the market improved in tone, and late in the day a pretty substantial recovery took place, which was furthered by the relaxation in the rates for money.

We have thus briefly reviewed each day's events, because of their great importance and because of the bearing they have had upon the general commercial and financial situation. To state briefly the cause of the disturbances in the market, it may be said that they were strictly due to a complete loss of confidence, not so much in the market prices of securities as in the stability and soundness of various institutions and firms. The difficulty of obtaining ready cash, as a result of the disquietude prevailing, also contributed to intensify the troubles that had developed. It is to this latter fact—namely the desire to realize and obtain cash—that the large decline on Thursday and Friday of nearly 7 per cent on United States Government bonds is to be attributed. There was no loss of confidence in the value of these, nor was there in good railroad bonds and stocks.

One result of the phenomenal and temporary rise in the rates for money was to bring a vast amount of foreign capital promptly into this market. Some of it was sent here to buy stocks at their depressed prices, and more to loan on stocks or any other good securities at the high rates of interest. The effect of this was to completely turn the foreign exchanges which had been running so heavily against us for the last three months. Large amounts of loan bills and bankers' demand bills on London came on to the market, and on Thursday rates for sterling dropped 1 cent on the £ and on Friday 2 cents more. The supplies of available funds furnished by this means, together with the relief afforded by the banks in the Clearing House Association adopting the same plan of issuing Clearing House certificates for use in the settlement of their clearings as in 1873, already alluded to, had the effect to overcome the pinch for money, and the result was that at the close of business on Friday money on call had dropped to 5 and 6 per cent per annum.

In the temporary squeeze for money, resulting from the above causes, there was of course less business done in other classes of loans than those on stocks, but the evidence that there was no loss of confidence in values of other kinds of collateral nor in mercantile credit at large was shown by the fact that while money was loaning at 3 and even 4 per cent per day for use in connection with stock speculations, the rates for mercantile discounts remained nominally unchanged at 4½, and 5 per cent per annum on first-class endorsed paper for 2 and 4 months, and 5½, and 6 for single-name paper.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a loss of £372,000 in specie. The proportion of the Bank's reserve to liabilities, however, was unchanged at 48 per cent, against 32⅝ per cent at the same time last year, and the Bank rate of discount remains at 2½ per cent. The Bank of France weekly statement showed a gain of 6,334,000 francs in gold and 257,000 francs in silver.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—As explained above, the market for sterling was depressed on Thursday and Friday by the stringency of money, and the posted rates, which a week ago were 4 88 and 4 89, were 4 85 and 4 87 on Friday afternoon. The rates for actual business were too much demoralized to quote with certainty, but were in general about 1 cent on the £ below the posted rates for 60 days and demand bills respectively. Commercial bills were not offered and not quotable.

United States Bonds.—Government bonds, for the reasons stated above, have suffered an exceptional decline during the last few days, and bid quotations (where there have been no actual sales) are many points lower than a week ago.

State and Railroad Bonds.—The general market for railroad bonds in the last seven days has been quiet compared to the stock market. There was considerable activity from Saturday the 10th to Tuesday the 13th, but after that the business diminished and there was only special activity in the particular issues affected by the various failures. The Chesapeake & Ohio issues were depressed by the suspension of Fisk & Hatch; the East Tennessee 5s and Ohio Central firsts by that of the Metropolitan Bank and of Mr. Seney, its President. The Erie 2ds by that of the Marine Bank and Grant & Ward. Aside from these there was also a large depression in the Wabash and Texas & Pacific securities in connection with the belief that the Wabash must go into the hands of a receiver. The stringency of money caused large declines in others. The most important fluctuations for the week are shown below: Chesapeake & Ohio cur. 6s at 50, 33, 36½; do. firsts, series B, at 98@90; East Tennessee 5s at 73⅛, 56, 59; Erie second consols at 68, 70, 59¾, 65; Kansas & Texas general mortgage 6s at 77, 70, 70⅞; Louisville & Nashville general mortgage 6s at 94¾, 91, 92; Northern Pacific firsts at 105¼, 102, 102¼; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts at 105½, 100, 101½; Chicago & Northwestern debenture 5s at 94¾, 90; Oregon Short Line 6s at 87¾, 83; Omaha consols at 112¾, 109; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes at 45, 38, 40; do. Rio Grande Division firsts at 64½, 50, 54½; Wabash general mortgage 6s at 46, 38, 43; Oregon Improvement firsts at 68½, 60; New York West Shore & Buffalo firsts at 53, 53⅞@47, 50½; Ohio Southern firsts at 84¾, 72½, 75.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The questions which under other circumstances would govern the movement of prices of stocks have this week been left entirely out of sight by the prevailing panic, in which there was a rush to turn all railroad stocks into money. Before the panic began the predominant influences were bearish, and specifically the several questions as to whether the Erie would pay the interest on its bonds, whether the Wabash general mortgage bondholders would accept first preferred stock for their bonds, whether the Union and Central Pacific would pay their next dividends, and whether the Trunk-Line roads could come to any satisfactory arrangement to continue the pool. All of these doubts hung over the market a combination of depressing influences which prepared the way for the panic (though not the cause of it), which began, as stated above, when it became known that the President of the Second National Bank had been speculating in stocks and had lost somewhere between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000. There was, however, a change in the aspect of the market on Friday afternoon under which part of the great decline in prices recorded on Wednesday and Thursday was recovered. Erie and Reading are the only stocks that have been notably firm.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The annual report of this company for 1883 is just published. The income account and balance sheet of the company are always very obscure, by reason of the unusual method of presenting these accounts in the annual report. There is no income account proper, but a statement of "receipts and disbursements for the year" is given with many petty details, including also receipts from sales of bonds. It is sufficient to say of the general balance sheet that it occupies seven pages of fine print in the report, whereas in the majority of railroad reports a half page is sufficient to give a clear abstract of assets and liabilities. It would doubtless be acceptable to the many holders of stock and bonds of this company if it would adopt the clear method of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern or some other equally good company, in preparing the statistics of the report.

From the remarks of Mr. C. P. Huntington, the President, the following extracts are made:

"The business of the company for the past fiscal year has been sufficiently gratifying to meet the reasonable expectations of the stockholders and bondholders." The gross earnings and operating expenses for 1882 and 1883 compare as follows:

| Gross earnings | $3,334,976 | $3,906,791 |
| Operating expenses, including taxes | 2,302,448 | 2,599,933 |
| Earnings over operating expenses | $1,032,528 | $1,306,858 |
| The interest requirements upon the funded debt for the year in cash were | | $979,260 |
| The total interest liabilities in cash for the current year 1884 will be | | 1,279,260 |

The earnings and expenses for three years were as follows:

| | 1881. | 1882. | 1883. |
| Miles operated | 424 | 499 | 517 |
| Earnings— | | | |
| Passenger | $504,204 | $624,598 | $695,105 |
| Freight | 2,106,592 | 2,600,539 | 3,081,032 |
| Mail, express, etc | 94,547 | 109,840 | 130,654 |
| Total gross earnings | $2,705,343 | $3,334,977 | $3,906,791 |
| Operating expenses— | | | |
| Maintenance of way, etc | 740,947 | 531,557 | 484,951 |
| Maintenance of equipment | 408,589 | 425,701 | 279,886 |
| Transportation expenses | 942,939 | 1,161,366 | 1,683,123 |
| General | 174,928 | 180,832 | 152,067 |
| Total (including taxes) | $2,267,403 | $2,302,449 | $2,599,932 |
| Net earnings | $437,940 | $1,032,528 | $1,306,859 |
| Per cent of oper. exp. to earn | 83·81 | 69·00 | 66·54 |

"The company has not yet realized the full benefit of its Tidewater Extension to Newport News." * * * "The grain elevator at Newport News, to the construction of which allusion was made in my last report, has since then been completed, and is now ready for business. It has a capacity of 1,500,000 bushels, is constructed on the most improved plan, with all modern appliances for handling grain, and will, without doubt, prove one of the most efficient elevators on the Atlantic seaboard. It must become a valuable auxiliary to your road, and lead to a large development of its grain traffic. The coal traffic for the year, notwithstanding the depressed state of the iron manufacturing and other industries upon which the consumption of coal largely depends, I am pleased to say continues to show an increase." * * * "One hundred and seventy-seven ocean steamers were supplied with fuel coal from your company's wharves at Newport News during the year. A much larger number, I am satisfied, would have touched at this port but for the arbitrary restrictions placed upon this commerce by the compulsory pilotage laws of Virginia. It is to be regretted that the Legislature of Virginia has not yet realized the importance of abolishing or abating this arbitrary burden upon the commerce of her ports, which operates to nullify, in a measure, the superior natural advantages they might otherwise claim, as compared with her neighbor States." * * * "The expenditures for the current year over current charges will be limited to such enlargements and additional facilities as will yield an immediate return in increased earnings." * * * "The opening of the railroad between Memphis and New Orleans, which will be owned and operated by the Louisville New Orleans & Texas Railroad Company, will have an important bearing upon the construction of this gap, and will extend your connections to New Orleans, and, via the Southern Pacific system, to Texas, Mexico and California. But for the prevailing high water on the lower Mississippi this would have been accomplished by the early part of May next, and may now be expected to take place by mid-summer. Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans will thus be connected by a first-class, low-grade, steel-tracked road of 450 miles, on which fast trains and heavy freight trains can be run with great speed and economy, so as to fit it to take its part, in connection with your road, in the business between the national capital and the Gulf States, and also to participate in the movement of merchandise between the Atlantic States and the great fertile regions of Texas, Mexico and California."

The liabilities of the company on December 31, 1882 and 1883, were as follows:

New York Susquehanna & Western Railroad.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The annual report for 1883 contains the following:

"With the closing of the fiscal year on December 31 last, the company completed the first, in its history, as a coal-carrying road, and it will be noticed from the accompanying statements, that it transported for that period 329,522 tons of coal. Owing to the general depression in business during the past year, the anthracite coal companies worked their mines only 251 days, and the loss of sixty-two working days necessarily reduced our coal output. Our daily average of coal tonnage for the 251 working days of 1883 was 1,313 tons.

| | Tons. |
| From the mines of the Pennsylvania Anthracite Coal Co | 141,778 |
| " " Lackawanna Coal Co. (limited) | 97,864 |
| " " John Jermyn | 89,880 |

"The necessity of enlarged facilities at the mines to increase our daily coal output received the early attention of your board of directors during the past year, and to accomplish this result it was deemed expedient to create a special coal trust fund of $150,000, to be applied specifically to the securing of new coal properties and the early development of the same, as well as to ensure the speedy development of the other properties controlled by this company. This trust was consummated in November last, by means of which the company has secured control of some 350 additional acres of choice coal land situated near Scranton, Pa., and also perfected the means by which the early development of other properties is assured.

"The company has under its absolute control, by virtue of the ownership of a majority of capital stock and perpetual traffic contracts, the following coal properties, situated in the Lackawanna Valley, Pennsylvania, viz.: Properties of the Pennsylvania Anthracite Coal Company, 2,740 acres; Lackawanna Coal Co. (Limited), 512: John Jermyn, 1,000; William Winton, 700; Edward Dolph, 700; Spencer Brothers, 350; Frank Collins, 185—a total acreage of 6,187." * * * "Our General Coal Manager estimates our daily output of coal for the current year, from and after June 2, for each and every working day, at a daily tonnage of 3,200 tons." * * * "From the properties of the other parties with whom this company has perpetual contracts, it would not be unreasonable to expect a daily output when developed to their full producing capacity of 3,500 tons, or an aggregate daily output of 6,000 tons from properties absolutely secured to this company." * * *

"The amount of the several classes of securities of the Midland R. R. Company of New Jersey, consisting of capital stock, income bonds and scrips, converted into the preferred and common stock of the company, as provided under terms of consolidation, up to Dec. 31, 1883, is as follows:

| The total issue of these securities (as stated in last report) was | | $8,997,179 |
| Amount converted up to Dec. 31, 1882 | $5,605,719 | |
| Amount converted during year | 262,604 | |
| Leaving amount unconverted Dec. 31, 1883. | | $3,128,856 |

|---|---|
| Capital stock | $340,738 |
| Income bonds, class A | 1,068,786 |
| Income bonds, class B | 936,357 |
| Scrip No. 1 | 435,615 |
| | $3,128,856 |

"Our arrangement with the New York Ontario & Western and New York West Shore & Buffalo railroad companies, for interchange of business between Little Ferry Junction and our connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad at West End, is working to the mutual satisfaction of both companies. With the increase in business from the completion of their line to Buffalo, and connections there made to all Western centres of traffic, a very considerable increase in revenue may be expected from this source for the current year."

Comparative statistics for two years, compiled for the CHRONICLE, are as follows:

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Atlantic & Pacific.—At Boston, May 15, the stockholders of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad elected the following directors: Jesse Seligman, C. P. Huntington, E. F. Winslow, W. F. Buckley, Bryce Gray, W. J. Frost, H. C. Nutt, W. B. Strong, A. E. Touzalin, I. T. Burr, A. W. Nickerson, B. P. Cheney and L. C. Wade.

Brooklyn Elevated.—The Brooklyn Elevated Railroad, with all its debts and properties, was put up at auction under foreclosure of mortgage, and bought in by the trustees for $100,000, $20,000 being paid down to the referee, W. N. Dykeman. A protest against the sale was made in behalf of some of the bond and stock holders. The receiver's certificates for $460,000 are a first lien on the road. The trustees will reorganize the company.

Central of New Jersey.—The stockholders of the New Jersey Central Company have elected the following directors for the ensuing year: H. S. Little, Jonn Kean, Geo. B. de Keim, E. C. Knight, Robert Garrett, Sidney Shepard, H. C. Kelsey, Samuel Sloan and J. Kennedy Tod. The only change is Mr. de Keim in place of Mr. Gowen. 155,000 shares voted for this ticket. The company has 1,400 stockholders, the largest in its history.

Chesapeake & Ohio.—The comparative statement of earnings and expenses for the month of March, and for three months from Jan. 1 to March 30, have been as follows:

| | March | | Jan. 1 to March 30. | |
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Earnings | $313,542 | $337,795 | $860,235 | $843,211 |
| Expenses | 216,153 | 216,909 | 630,213 | 621,294 |
| Net earnings | $97,389 | $120,886 | $230,022 | $221,917 |

Note. The decrease in earnings in March, 1884, is only apparent, for the reason that in March, 1883, about $66,000 of the revenue was on February and April business.

Denver Utah & Pacific.—The Denver Utah & Pacific Railroad Company and the Colorado Northern Railroad Company have filed a certificate of consolidation and incorporation with the Secretary of State of Colorado. The corporate name and style will henceforth be the Denver Utah & Pacific Railroad Company.

Elizabethtown Lexington & Big Sandy.—The comparative statement of earnings and expenses for the month of March, and the three months from Jan. 1 to March 30, have been as follows:

| | March | | Jan. 1 to March 30. | |
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Earnings | $57,519 | $53,044 | $150,856 | $158,436 |
| Expenses | 43,861 | 49,319 | 125,398 | 142,443 |
| Net earnings | $13,658 | $3,725 | $25,458 | $13,993 |

Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf.—The financial statement for 1883 shows the gross earnings to be $2,016,212, an increase of about 15 per cent; operating expenses, $1,178,544, an increase of 17 per cent; net earnings, $837,670, an increase of 11 64-100 per cent. The average number of miles of road operated was 388, an increase of 5 95-100 per cent. The bonded debt has been reduced, leaving a total amount outstanding Jan. 1, 1884, of 7 per cent bonds, $2,400,000.

Louisiana State Bonds.—The Governor of Louisiana has promulgated the vote on the Constitutional amendment, which is adopted by the following vote: For, 51,784; against, 44,589. This is the State debt amendment, concerning which there has been so much bitter controversy. It changes the State bond from a 3 to a 4 per cent security from and after January 1, 1885.

Louisville New Albany & Chicago.—At Louisville, Ky., May 6, the Louisville New Albany & Chicago Railway Co. filed a deed of trust in the County Court to the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company of New York, by which the railroad company mortgages all of its property to the trust company to secure the payment of $3,000,000 of bonds, issued April 1, 1884, and made payable in 1914.

Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis.—The gross and net earnings for April, and for the ten months ending April 30, in 1883 and 1884, have been as follows:

| | April. | | 10 mos. to May 1. | |
| | 1883. | 1884. | 1882-3. | 1883-4. |
| Gross earnings | $161,435 | $188,167 | $1,941,783 | $2,019,379 |
| Operating expenses | 105,152 | 116,019 | 1,092,841 | 1,115,747 |
| Net earnings | $56,283 | $72,149 | $848,942 | $903,632 |
| Interest and taxes | 54,022 | 55,028 | 542,744 | 552,735 |
| Surplus | $2,261 | $17,120 | $306,198 | $350,897 |

New York Lake Erie & Western.—Nothing is yet definitely known as to the payment of the June interest on the second consolidated bonds, but from all that can be learned it is probable that the interest will not be paid unless the directors of the company decide to borrow the money for that purpose. It is well known that under the terms of the second consolidated mortgage no foreclosure can take place till three years' interest is in default.

To a representative of the Tribune, Mr. C. L. Atterbury, assistant to the President, said, regarding the suit against Grant & Ward: "The action was brought in Connecticut to recover securities and notes which were deposited with the firm. The amount of the securities it is impossible to state, and especially their value cannot be determined; the sum sought to be recovered has been put sufficiently high to cover all the possibilities in the case, and is a nominal one for that reason; perhaps $2,000,000. Advances on the securities were made by the firm to the amount of some $1,500,000, pending the sale of Chicago & Atlantic second mortgage bonds to the amount of $2,500,000. The sum demanded in the complaint covers not alone the balance due on the bonds, but the amount required to redeem 11,000 shares of the Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis stock, $300,000 of negotiable securities and the notes of the company disposed of by the firm."

New York West Shore & Buffalo.—A circular has been issued under date of May 14th by the Bondholders' Committee, which says in reference to the funding agreement (reported in the CHRONICLE of May 10, p. 572): "It is important that the signatures of a majority in interest of the first mortgage bondholders be obtained before the 24th day of June next, as the Company has made arrangements, conditioned upon such signing, which are expected to provide the necessary money for the payment of its floating indebtedness, the completion and further equipment of its railway, and the protection of its interests in the terminal property. Lenders upon the terminal bonds have also agreed to extend the time for the payment of their loans for one year, with a condition that said agreement shall receive the signatures of a majority in interest of the first mortgage bondholders. These plans, fully and promptly carried out, will ensure such change of the majority of the board of directors as shall promote the best interests of the bondholders, and will maintain the independence of the enterprise." * * * "Henry F. Spaulding, Chairman; William Mertens, Frederic A. Potts, Horace Russell, New York; E. W. Clark, Philadelphia; Bondholders' Committee."

Old Colony.—At Boston, May 13, at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Old Colony Railroad Company, to consider the question of consolidating the Lowell & Framingham Road with the Old Colony Road, it was voted to purchase the Lowell & Framingham Road outright, the 4½ per cent twenty-year bonds of the Old Colony Road to be exchanged for the other road's bonds at par. One share of the Old Colony common stock will be given for four of the Lowell & Framingham preferred and one share of Old Colony for 20 shares of Lowell & Framingham common. The road has for five years been leased by the Old Colony Company at a rental of 30 per cent of the gross earnings per annum, and the purchase is made at the present terms of this lease.

Oregon Improvement Co.—This company makes the following statement for February and the three months of its fiscal year from Dec. 1 to Feb. 29:

| | February. | | Three Months. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Earnings | $225,133 | $221,945 | $758,748 | $770,293 |
| Expenses | 203,851 | 176,311 | 634,536 | 610,866 |
| Net earnings | $21,282 | $45,634 | $124,212 | $159,418 |

Railroad Construction in 1883.—The Railway Age of Chicago has been accustomed for several years past to compile a full statement of railroad construction in the United States after the close of each year. The statement for 1883 has just been published by the Age, and the results are given in the following table:

| New Eng'ld States— | Roads. | Miles. | Southern States— | Roads. | Miles |

| | Roads. | Miles. | | Roads. | Miles. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New England States | 13 | 84·2 | Missouri Belt | 30 | 835·5 |

| Southern States | 45 | 1,212·0 | | | |
| Pacific Belt | 19 | 1,046·3 | Totals | 257 | 6,869·6 |

"It will be seen that track-laying was carried on during the year in almost every one of the States and Territories—the only exceptions being New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Maryland and Wyoming—on some 257 lines, and that, while the mileage was much less than that of the previous extraordinary year of railway building, it was still very large. In fact, it was much greater than in any previous year of the past decade, with the exception of the years 1880, 1881 and 1882, in which years 7,174 miles, 9,784 miles and 11,591 miles were laid respectively. The total railway mileage of the United States on December 31, 1883, was in round numbers 120,200 miles. It is possible that these figures should be slightly increased, but our researches indicate them to be complete."

Railroads Operated within New York State—(Quarterly Reports.)—The following abstract has been compiled for the CHRONICLE from the returns made to the Railroad Commissioners of this State for the quarter ending March 31, 1884:

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—A meeting of first mortgage bondholders of the St. Louis Division of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad, called by a committee appointed at the meeting held May 6, was held at the Parker House in Boston on Tuesday, May 13. Mr. George W. Morse presided, and introduced Mr. Weston Lewis, who, in behalf of the committee, reported that the committee suggest the following plan of re-organization:

First—To issue a 6 per cent first mortgage bond on road and equipment, not exceeding $8,000 per mile, from Kokomo to East St. Louis, 268 miles, amounting to $2,150,000.

Second—To issue a preferred stock in exchange for—

| Present first mortgage bonds | $3,000,000 |
| Unpaid coupons on same | 270,000 |

Our mileage proportion of debenture bonds and interest; our mileage proportion of 25 per cent of the Delphos trust. The last two items subject to any action of the Court, and for such other limited purposes as may be necessary.

Third—To issue a common stock for minor securities, as may be determined at a future meeting of the bondholders, when your committee have obtained full information of all claims against this property. We are of the opinion that they should be recognized either as appurtenant to first mortgage bonds or under some sealing process.

We recommend that the preferred stock shall have exclusive voting power until there has been paid dividends on the same for three years of not less than 6 per cent per annum.

Mr. Austin Corbin of New York, President of the Indiana Bloomington & Western Railroad, was introduced. He stated frankly that his interest as a bondholder is not sufficient to have induced his attendance, but that if his road can get an outlet to St. Louis by means of this, the contract will be mutually beneficial. He read the following letter in behalf of the executive committee of the I. B. & W.:

NEW YORK, May 8, 1884.

Gentlemen—In confirmation of the conversation we have had with you in regard to the reorganization of the T. C. & St. L. road, St. Louis Division, I beg to say that if the plan which we have discussed can be carried out, there is no question whatever about our ability to take care of the expenses attached to the foreclosure of the property, such as may be assessed against this division by the court; and if no more than $8,000 per mile be put upon this property—which I claim is ample to place it in first-class condition for business as a standard-gauge road, including a reasonable amount of equipment—we can place the mortgage without any sort of difficulty whatever, and take care of the financial part of the enterprise. Aside from this, after consultation with the executive committee of the I. B. & W. road, I can promise you a lease or traffic arrangement that shall by its terms provide for at least enough money to meet, at all times, the fixed charges made upon the property. This pledge will be made, and at the same time leave the committee quite free to make the best arrangement possible after they come into possession of their property. In other words, we offer you this guarantee in order to make it sure that interest will always be paid upon the bonds, and at the same time leave you entirely free to make a better negotiation with other corporations than the I. B. & W. Company, if others are willing to do better. Yours truly, AUSTIN CORBIN.

On motion of Mr. George A. Doane, Jr., it was voted unanimously that the report of the committee be accepted and adopted; that the action of the committee in obtaining an office and preparing papers for the protection of the property be approved, and that the committee be authorized to prosecute the plan recommended by them; that the four members of the committee, acting under the appointment of the former meeting, associate with themselves Mr. Austin Corbin of New York, and constitute the first members of the committee a board of trustees to carry out the purposes of this association. The meeting then adjourned.

—The committee of the bondholders of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad, main line and St. Louis Divisions, the Boston Advertiser says, concluded to favorably entertain the suggestion that no assessment be made on the income bonds and common stock, and that the bondholders who have already signed consent to this modification of the plan of re-organization. It is expected that they will soon issue a circular in regard to this matter.

—A meeting is called of the main line bondholders (Toledo Delphos & Burlington) at the office of the Corbin Banking Company on May 20 to discuss and act upon a plan of re-organization which will work in harmony with the St. Louis Division and Dayton Division, and leave control of the property in the hands of the present first mortgage bondholders, who will receive preferred stock for their bonds.

Union Pacific.—The statement of earnings for March is more favorable than preceding months, and since Jan. 1, the exhibit is as follows:

| | March. | | Jan. 1 to March 31. | |
| | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. |
| Gross earnings.. | $2,391,758 | $1,972,712 | $5,981,836 | $5,059,589 |
| Expenses..... | 1,095,688 | 1,204,553 | 3,122,264 | 3,710,936 |
| Net earnings... | $1,296,070 | $768,159 | $2,859,572 | $1,348,653 |

Land sales of the Union Pacific continue to show a large increase over the sales of previous years. The April sales upon the Kansas Pacific division were 42,931 acres for $201,500, against 25,149 acres and $110,307 in April, 1883. From Jan. 1 to April 30 the sales this year amounted to $597,700, compared with $303,731 for the same period of 1883. From Jan. 1 to April 26 the sales upon the main line of the Union Pacific have been 721,533 acres, of the value of $1,801,719. During the same period last year the sales amounted to 147,007 acres, for $528,705. This shows that for the first four months of the present year the land sales upon both divisions have been $2,399,400 against, $832,400 for the corresponding months of 1883.

Western North Carolina.—At the annual meeting last week, the following statement was made for the past year:

| Gross earnings | $360,065 |
| Expenses (49·56 per cent) | 178,517 |
| Net earnings | $181,584 |

This sum has been expended in payment of interest and reduction of floating debt against the company.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, May 16, 1884.

The additional calamities which have overtaken financial circles during the week under review, unsettling exchange and causing severe stringency in the money market (as fully detailed in preceding pages), have had a marked effect upon speculative staples, causing on Wednesday a sharp decline, and general business has suffered somewhat. But mercantile circles seem to be not at all disturbed. Values were already low, trade was on a conservative basis, and credits much restricted, so that there was little room for serious disorder from any cause. Surplus stocks of food staples flow promise to be actively exported, and the whole commercial situation brought into safe relations. The agitation of the tariff reduction is probably postponed till after the Presidential election. The weather has been generally very favorable for crop prospects.

The speculation in lard has latterly been quite depressed by the turn of matters in Wall Street, the dearness of money causing declines this morning in prime Western to 8·40c. on the spot, 8·33c. for June, 8·42c. for July, and 8·45c. for August; but after 'Change there was a reaction in futures to 8·42c. for June, 8·51c. for July and 8·60c. for August, with refined for the Continent somewhat nominal at 8·60c. The stock of lard in this market has increased 10,000 tcs. since the 1st inst. Pork is dull, closing at $16 75@$17 for mess and $18@$18 50 for clear back. Bacon and cut meats, in the absence of late transactions, are quite unsettled, but are not materially lower than last quoted. Beef and beef hams are entirely nominal. Butter has declined; creamery, 20@26c.; State dairy, 18@24c.; Western factory, 11@17c. Cheese lower; new factory, 8@12½c.; skims, 2½@4½c. Eggs lower at 14@16c.

Rio coffee has been dull and nearly nominal on the spot, at 10¼c. for fair cargoes. Options have been fairly active at times, but latterly very quiet and more or less depressed; May closed at 8·50@8·55c., June at 8·55@8·60c., July at 8 60@8·65c., August at 8·65@8·70c., September and October at 8·70@8·75c., November at 8·75@8·80c., and December at 8·85@8·90c., bid and asked; mild grades have sold moderately, at about steady prices. Tea has been dull and lower for future delivery; on the spot trade is very dull, but prices are steady. Spices, though at one time a little more active, have latterly been dull and nearly nominal. Foreign dried fruits have been quiet, but currants and prunes have been firm; green fruits have been in fair demand, especially when fine, and have brought firm prices. Rice has been quiet of late, but is very well sustained. Molasses has been dull and unchanged. Raw sugar has been dull and unchanged on the spot, but lower for future delivery; fair refining on the spot is quoted at 5¼c. and 96-degrees test centrifugal at 6⅛c.; fair Muscavado has sold at 5·17½c. for July and 5·55c. for September; refined closed dull at 7¾@7⅞c. for crushed and cut loaf and 7@7 1-16c. for granulated.

In Kentucky tobacco little has been done, only 275 hhds. having changed hands during the week; lugs quoted 7¾@8¼c.; leaf 8½@9¾c. Seed leaf has had a better movement, aggregating 2,300 cases; prices as a rule show steadiness. The sales include: 1,683 cases crop 1883, New England fillers, at 6c., seconds at 11½ to 14c., wrappers at 15 to 22½c., Havana seed at 25 to 31c.; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, at 12 to 22½c.; 250 cases crop 1882, Pennsylvania, at 5 to 16c., and 300 cases crop 1881, do., at 6 to 10c.; also 450 bales Havana at 80c. to $ 1 15, and 200 bales Sumatra, $1 30 to $1 65.

Trade in naval stores has been quite limited, and spirits turpentine has declined and closes at 31½c. on the spot. Rosins are still quoted at $1 40@1 42½ for strained to good strained. Refined petroleum has been affected by the almost unprecedented decline in certificates, and 8⅜c. for 70 abel test are the final figures to-night. Crude certificates have had a panicky week, and through the financial crashes have declined 32c. since last Friday evening; the business has been limited, owing to the timidity of operators; the opening figures to-day were 77c.; highest, 78½c; lowest, 65c. and closing 77½c. Hops, wool, oils and metals have been quiet almost to stagnation.

In ocean freight room the business on the berth has been moderate, but as a rule the feeling is steadier. The money pressure has stimulated exports, but lower exchange is an obstacle to business. Charters continue in fair request from the oil trade, at about steady rates. Grain to Liverpool by steam quoted 1½d.; 8,000 bales cotton shipped to day at 7-64@3-16 d.; cheese, 20s.; grain to Glasgow by steam quoted 8d.; do. to Antwerp by steam, 3¾@4d.; refined petroleum to Java, 27@28c.; do. to Mediterranean ports from Philadelphia, 16½c.; crude oil hence to Bilbao, 3s.; refined to Hamburg, 2s.

The disturbances in financial circles, and especially the extreme rates demanded for money, have caused depression and irregularity in the speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market during the week under review. A variable market on Saturday last was followed on Monday by a smart advance, based on unfavorable crop accounts, together with reports of serious floods in the Lower Mississippi and its Western tributaries, the effect of recent heavy rains in the Southwest. On Tuesday the rumors from Wall Street were disquieting, the demand for cotton futures fell off, and the advance of Monday was lost. On Wednesday, the financial storm burst, in the failure of two banks and seven leading stock-broking firms, and cotton for early delivery declined sharply. The close, however, was steady, at a slight improvement on the lowest figures of the day. On Thursday, at the opening, the next crop was dearer, but the difficulty of procuring temporary loans depressed this crop, and May options quite broke down, closing 25 points below the close on Tuesday, while the summer months were only 9 to 14 points lower for the 48 hours. The irregularity was due to the calling in of loans. It was believed that the result will be a considerable export movement, reducing the uncomfortable accumulation of stocks in this market. To-day there was an early decline, under this continued dearness of money, but the return of comparative ease in rates for call loans caused a rally, and the close was slightly dearer, except for May, but as compared with last Friday 32 points lower for May, 9 to 16 points lower for the summer months, and 4 to 8 points lower for the next crop. Cotton on the spot was quoted 1-16c. lower on Wednesday and again on Thursday, when the business for home consumption was materially increased, Eastern spinners having been in the market for some days previously. To-day there was a further decline of 1-16c., middling uplands closing quiet at 11⅛c. Freight room has been taken to Liverpool for 8,000 bales, delivered on May contracts.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 424,500 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 3,598 bales, including — for export, 3,598 for consumption, — for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON to-night, as made up by cable and telegraph, is as follows. The Continental stocks, as well as those for Great Britain and the afloat, are this week's returns, and consequently all the European figures are brought down to Thursday evening. But to make the totals the complete figures for to-night (May 16), we add the item of exports from the United States, including in it the exports of Friday only.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,764,336 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,872,607 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,589,875 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 8,694 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 3,281 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 29,905 bales and for 1882 they were 8,669 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT MAY 16.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to May 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to May 16 | 4,737,670 | 5,755,221 | 4,519,865 | 5,488,448 |
| Interior stocks on May 16 in excess of September 1..... | 26,666 | 117,386 | 70,010 | 135,971 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,764,336 | 5,872 607 | 4,589,875 | 5,624,419 |
| Net overland to May 1..... | 546,726 | 599,862 | 422,630 | 472,241 |
| Southern consumpt'n to May 1. | 264,000 | 275,000 | 210,000 | 175,000 |
| Total in sight May 16.... ... | 5,575,062 | 6,747.469 | 5,222,505 | 6,271,660 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,172,407 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 352,557 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 696,598 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather has been quite favorable at the South during the week, and the cotton plant is now making good progress. There has been an improvement in the conditions in the Southwest, although there are complaints of too much rain in a few districts.

Galveston, Texas.—The weather has been warm and dry all the week. The thermometer has averaged 76, the highest being 83 and the lowest 65.

Indianola, Texas.—We have had warm and dry weather all the week. Good progress is being made in clearing the fields of weeds. The thermometer has averaged 74, ranging from 60 to 86.

Palestine, Texas.—Fortunately we have had no rain during the week. Good progress is being made in clearing the fields of weeds, and in re-planting the damaged lowlands. The thermometer has ranged from 56 to 85, averaging 72.

Huntsville, Texas.—We have had no rain during the week. The crop is doing tolerably well. Average thermometer 72, highest 88, lowest 55.

Luling, Texas.—The weather has been warm and dry all the week. Good progress is being made in clearing the fields of weeds. The reported damage to crop is much exaggerated. The thermometer has averaged 75, the highest being 86 and the lowest 61.

Brenham, Texas.—We are glad to say that there has been no rain during the week. The defective stands have been re-planted, and good progress is making in clearing the fields of weeds. There is much complaint of worms in the corn. The thermometer has averaged 72, ranging from 56 to 89.

Belton, Texas.—We have had warm and dry weather all the week. The wheat harvest has begun. Corn and cotton rather favorable. The thermometer has ranged from 51 to 89, averaging 71.

Weatherford, Texas.—It has rained hard on two days of the week, retarding the wheat harvest and delaying other necessary work. We need dry weather badly. The rainfall reached two inches and thirty-two hundredths. Average thermometer 72, highest 86, lowest 49.

Dallas, Texas.—We have had rain on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and eleven hundredths. There seems to be no end to the rain. The wheat harvest and cotton replanting have been delayed, and weeds are growing so fast that they are becoming troublesome. Unless dry weather speedily ensues much damage is feared. The thermometer has averaged 73, the highest being 88 and the lowest 51.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—We have had rain on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching forty-two hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 74.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—We have had fair weather this week, with a heavy rain on Wednesday. The rainfall reached one inch and thirty-eight hundredths. Roads are in bad condition. Nearly all of the river plantations are overflowed. The river is now falling. The thermometer has ranged from 60 to 91.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—The early part of the week was warm, dry and clear, but during the latter portion it has rained severely on one day. The rainfall reached one inch and seventy-nine hundredths. Nights have been cold. Planting is about three weeks late. The thermometer has ranged from 57 to 86.

Meridian, Mississippi.—It has rained on two days of the week. The weather has been cool and cloudy, the nights being unusually cold for the season. These conditions are unfavorable to young cotton.

Greenville, Mississippi.—We have had rain on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching sixty hundredths of an inch. The weather had been so unfavorable that much seed planted failed to come up, and re-planting was generally necessary. Planting is now about completed. The thermometer has ranged from 60 to 87, averaging 73. Last week we had rain on two days, with a rainfall of three inches and five hundredths. The thermometer ranged from 62 to 88, averaging 74.

Columbus, Mississippi.—It has been showery on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching five hundredths of an inch. The weather thus far in May has been very favorable. Average thermometer 70, highest 86 and lowest 54.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—It has been cloudy on three days of the week, with light rains, which were beneficial to the planting interests. The rainfall reached seventy-three hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 67, the highest being 86 and the lowest 56.

Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Helena, Arkansas.—It has rained on one day, three days have been clear, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy. The rainfall reached twenty-one hundredths of an inch. The river is now below danger line, and falling. Crops are clean and in good condition, and a good stand has been secured. Average thermometer 68, highest 84, lowest 54.

Monticello, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Newport, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Memphis, Tennessee.—We have had no rain this week. The weather has been all that could be desired for farm work, and rapid progress is being made with plowing and planting on the uplands and also in the river valley, where the water is off. The river is falling steadily and will soon be off all the submerged lands. The thermometer has ranged from 54 to 87, averaging 70.

Nashville, Tennessee.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and twenty-six hundredths. Average thermometer 69, highest 85, lowest 49.

Mobile, Alabama.—Telegram not received.

Montgomery, Alabama.—We have had delightful showers on three days of the week, and the indications are that they extended over a wide surface, and did good. Rain was needed. The thermometer has averaged 78·6, and the rainfall reached thirty-three hundredths of an inch.

Selma, Alabama.—It has rained on two days, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached thirty-nine hundredths of an inch. The crop is developing promisingly. The thermometer has ranged from 54 to 88, averaging 70.

Madison, Florida.—We have had rain on one day of the week the rainfall reaching twelve hundredths of an inch. Average thermometer 78, highest 93, lowest 60.

Macon, Georgia.—It has rained on two days of the week, with some hail on one day. There are no complaints about crops. The thermometer has averaged 72, the highest being 86 and the lowest 55.

Columbus, Georgia.—We have had rain on one day during the week, the rainfall reaching fifty-three hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 76, ranging from 62 to 85.

Savannah, Georgia.—It has rained on two days, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached six hundredths of an inch. Planting generally reported late. The thermometer has ranged from 62 to 90, averaging 76.

Augusta, Georgia.—It has rained lightly on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching seventy-one hundredths of an inch. We are having good growing weather and the cotton crop promises well. A good stand has been secured, and chopping out progresses rapidly. Corn, oats and wheat are likewise doing finely, with good prospects of large crops. Average thermometer 73, highest 88, lowest 59.

(From Another Correspondent).—We are having an extremely favorable spring. It is late, but as planters report stands perfect, by June everything will have caught up.

Atlanta, Georgia.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching forty hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 71, the highest being 86 and the lowest 56.

Charleston, South Carolina.—We have had rain on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching eighty-eight hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 74, ranging from 62 to 87.

Columbia, South Carolina.—Telegram not received.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock May 15, 1884, and May 17, 1883.

| | | May 15, '84. | | May 17, '83. | |
| | | Feet. | Inch. | Feet. | Inch |
| New Orleans | Below high-water mark | 1 | 5 | 1 | 3 |

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to May 15.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
| 1884 | 8,000 | 26,000 | 34,000 | 337,000 | 471,000 | 808,000 | 88,000 | 1,122 000 |
| 1883 | 22,000 | 70,000 | 92,000 | 302,000 | 601,000 | 903,000 | 68,000 | 1 203,000 |
| 1882 | 37,000 | 42,000 | 79,000 | 568,000 | 375,000 | 943,000 | 64,000 | 1,202,000 |
| 1881 | 4,000 | 10,000 | 14,000 | 179,000 | 335,000 | 514,000 | 55,000 | 797,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts of 20,000 bales, and a decrease in shipments of 58,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 95,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. | | | Shipments since January 1. | | |
| | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |

| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 4,500 | 1,000 | 5,500 |
| All others— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 13,500 | 3,000 | 16,500 |
| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 4,000 | 2,000 | 6,000 |
| Total all— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | 500 | 2,900 | 3,400 | 113,000 | 48,500 | 161,500 |
| 1883 | 3,200 | 100 | 3.300 | 69,400 | 12.100 | 81.500 |

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. |
| Bombay | 34,000 | 808,000 | 92,000 | 903,000 | 79,000 | 943,000 |
| All other ports. | 3,400 | 161,500 | 3,300 | 81,500 | 3,200 | 163,200 |
| Total | 37,400 | 969,500 | 95,300 | 984,500 | 82,200 | 1,106,200 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

| Alexandria, Egypt, May 14. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. |

| To Liverpool | 2,000 | 244,000 | 1,000 | 227,000 | 1,500 | 237,700 |
| To Continent | 1,000 | 129,000 | 1,000 | 82,000 | 500 | 169.871 |
| Total Europe | 3,000 | 373,000 | 2.000 | 309,000 | 2,000 | 407,571 |

A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending May 14 were 4,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 3,000 bales.

Manchester Market.—Our report received from Manchester to-night states that the market is steady. We give the prices of to-day below, and leave previous weeks' prices for comparison.

May Report of the Agricultural Bureau.—Under date of May 10th the Agricultural Bureau at Washington issues the following respecting cotton:—

"The progress of cotton planting has been delayed everywhere by the low temperature in April. In some of the Virginia counties none was planted on May 1, and very little in several of the counties of North Carolina. The proportion planted May 1 of the proposed area is reported as follows: Virginia, 35 per cent; North Carolina, 45; South Carolina 60; Florida, 95; Alabama, 75; Mississippi, 76; Louisiana, 77; Texas 80; Georgia, 68; Arkansas, 70; Tennessee 52. Average for all the States 66 per cent. The acreage will be reported on June 1.

The comparison with last year and the previous year, and also with an average year, as given in a previous report of the Agricultural Bureau, is as follows:

| States. | Proportion of Crop Planted May 1. | | | Proportion Planted May 1. Av'ge Year. |
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1882. | |
| Virginia | 35 | 15 | 40 | 35 |
| North Carolina | 45 | 35 | 75 | 67 |
| South Carolina | 60 | 75 | 85 | 81 |
| Georgia | 68 | 73 | 86 | 83 |
| Florida | 95 | 96 | 98 | 97 |
| Alabama | 75 | 83 | 86 | 88 |

Outlook in South Carolina.—The Charleston News and Courier, of the 10th inst. says:—

"The prospects of the farmer and planter are very good. The planters are making good progress and working on economical principles With favorable weather to their advantage, they are buoyant with hope of an increased crop. It is too early at this date to estimate the acreage planted in cotton, but the general impression is that it is in excess of previous years. Already they are making arrangements for the harvesting of the oat crop, which will yield a larger supply than was expected after the heavy frosts of January and February."

Outlook in Southeast Alabama and Southwest Georgia.—Under date of May 13th we have advices from Messrs. John W. Tullis & Co., Eufaula, as follows:—

"The cotton crop has all been planted, has come up, and there is a fair stand. There is no appreciable difference between the acreage planted this year and last. Labor is sufficient and is working well. The fact that the plant may be small at this time of the year amounts to nothing, as the weather hereafter will determine whether the crop be late or early."

East India Crop.—Messrs. Wallace & Co.'s Cotton Report, dated Bombay, April 4th, furnishes the following:—

"Receipts of cotton, although increasing, continue to fall off and are now over 150,000 bales short of last year, and the clearances for the quarter ending March 31 are nearly 100,000 bales less. The present prices, however, and improved demand may bring down the bulk of the Dhollerah crop to market before the Monsoon, in which case the scale of receipts will probably be larger, but as this crop is now reported by the best authorities to be smaller than last year, it is probable that the deficiency will be more than double by the end of the second quarter. The quality of the Dhollerah crop continues to give satisfaction, but Broach is falling off a little in class, and not much more "Fine" will be available exports for this season. Oomrawuttee has turned out much smaller than was generally expected would be the case, and the quality has not improved much since first arrivals."

European Cotton Consumption to May 1.—The cable brings us to-day Mr. Ellison's cotton figures, brought down to May 1. The revised totals for last year have also been received and are given for the purpose of comparison. The takings by spinners, in actual bales and pounds, have been as follows:

| From Oct. 1 to May 1. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
| For 1883-84. | | | |
| Takings by spinners...bales | 2,230,000 | 1,928,000 | 4,158,000 |
| Average weight of bales.... | 431 | 429 | 430 |
| Takings in pounds ..... | 961,130,000 | 827,112,000 | 1,788,242,000 |
| For 1882-83. | | | |
| Takings by spinners...bales | 2,231,000 | 2,039,000 | 4,273,000 |
| Average weight of bales.... | 444 | 433 | 439 |
| Takings in pounds ..... | 991,896,000 | 882,887,000 | 1,874,783,000 |

According to the above, the average weight of the deliveries in Great Britain is 431 pounds per bale to May 1, against 444 pounds per bale during the same time last season. The Continental deliveries average 429 pounds, against 433 pounds last year, and for the whole of Europe the deliveries average 430 pounds per bale, against 439 pounds during the same period last season. In the following table we give the stock held by the mills, their takings and their consumption, each month since October 1, all reduced to bales of 400 pounds each for this season and last season. It is a very convenient and useful summary:

| Oct. 1 to May 1. Bales of 400 lbs. each. 000s omitted. | 1883-84. | | | 1882-83. | | |

A more striking comparison with last year is reached by bringing together the above totals and adding the average weekly consumption up to this time for the two years:

| Oct. 1 to May 1. Bales of 400 lbs. each. 000s omitted. | 1883-84. | | | 1882-83. | | |

The foregoing shows that the actual weekly consumption in Europe during March was 140,000 bales of 400 lbs. each, against 137,000 bales of the same weights at the corresponding time last year.

It appears by our cable this week that Mr. Ellison has added to the previous consumption in Great Britain 15,000 bales; this has been done, without doubt, so as to bring the consumption during March up to 73,000 bales per week, instead of 69,300 bales per week, as his figures last month indicated, and we change our figures above to correspond.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The demand for bagging has not shown much improvement since our last and the market is rather quiet. A moderate business is being done in small parcels, but buyers are scarce for quantities. Prices are unchanged, and sellers are firm, there being no disposition shown to accept less than 9½c. for 1¼ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10½c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades. Butts are in light request at the moment, the firm prices restricting business to some extent, and the only sales reported are for present wants. For paper grades dealers ask 2 5-16@2½c., while bagging qualities are not offered below 2 13-16@3c., the market closing at these quotations.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

This statement shows that up to April 30 the receipts at the ports this year were 923,816 bales less than in 1882-83, and 268,638 bales more than at the same time in 1881-83. By adding to the above totals to Apr. 30 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

This statement shows that the receipts since Sept. 1 up to to-night are now 999,053 bales less than they were to the same day of the month in 1883 and 227,323 bales more than they were to the same day of the month in 1882. We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to May 16 in each of the years named.

SHIPPING NEWS.—The exports of cotton from the United States the past week, as per latest mail returns, have reached 16,300 bales. So far as the Southern ports are concerned, these are the same exports reported by telegraph, and published in the CHRONICLE last Friday. With regard to New York we include the manifests of all vessels cleared up to Thursday night of this week.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, P. M., May 16, 1884.

Flour has been dull and for most descriptions weak, owing to the decline in wheat and the financial disasters of the week. So far as the statistical position is concerned it is favorable to holders. The receipts here of all kinds of winter and spring wheat flour are small and the supply is likewise light. Moreover the Minnesota mills, whence the bulk of the supply is derived at this stage of the season, are, it is said, producing little. But the slowness of trade and the atmosphere of distrust and uncertainty created by the recent failures of banks and financial houses offsets the statistical advantages, and, like most other products, flour to-day was dull and depressed.

Wheat has been quiet for export, and, as a rule, only fairly active on speculation. The sharp fluctuations in prices, however, have made it an eventful week. It has, in fact, been a week crowded with events of an unusually exciting nature. The numerous failures in Wall Street, the drooping foreign markets, the favorable report of the Agricultural Bureau touching the outlook for the crop, and the fine weather at the West, have naturally exerted a depressing influence here, and the decline within a single week has been much greater than is often witnessed in so brief a space of time. There have not only been failures in Wall Street to unsettle confidence, but the embarrassments of a number of banks as well as rumors affecting commercial corporations and firms, have contributed to the same baleful result, and the fall of prices would undoubtedly have been much greater but for the covering of shorts here and the determined efforts of the Milwaukee clique to sustain prices at Chicago. The failure of one financial firm here has been a severe blow to a number of Western banks, however, and the grain trade of the West has thus been affected in distributing centres that might otherwise have escaped comparatively uninjured. To-day there was a light business here at a decline of ¾c. to 1¼c. The export trade was small, partly owing to the difficulty of selling foreign exchange in the present unsettled state of affairs. No. 2 red sold at $1 00½ for June, $1 02½ for July, $1 03 for August and $1 04 for September, showing a decline for the week of 9½c. in June, 6½c. in July and 3c. in August. No. 2 red in elevator was quoted at $1 01⅛, or 9½c. lower than a week ago. No. 2 red closed firmer, however, at $1 01 in elevator, $1 02⅛ for June, $1 04¾ for July, $1 04⅝ for August and $1 05½ for September.

Indian corn has also been quiet for export and the speculation has not as a rule been brisk, though on one or two days quite a good business was done. Prices have declined, but have not shown the depression noticed in wheat. Occasional reports of unfavorable weather at the West have had some effect in breaking the force of the various adverse influences at work, but some decrease in the receipts at Chicago also helped to sustain prices here. The interest just now centers mainly in wheat, however, and corn is left to a great extent to take care of itself. To-day there was a small business at a decline of ¾c. to 1¼c. No. 2 mixed closed at 62½c. in elevator, 63c. for May, 62¾c. for June, 64¼c. for July and 65½c. for August. The lowest figures of the day were 62c. for May, 61⅞c. for June, 63¼c. for July and 64⅜c. for August. The decline for the week is from 2 to 3 cents.

Rye has been quiet and barley is now about out of season. Oats have been dull and declining. To-day a small trade was done at a further decline. No. 2 mixed sold at 37@37¾c. for June, 36⅞@38c. for July and 37⅜@38¼c. for August. The market closed firm at about the highest figures of the day.

AGRICULTURAL BUREAU REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE CROPS IN MAY.—The returns of the Department of Agriculture for May make the wheat prospect nearly as favorable as in April. Then the general average was within 5 per cent of the standard of full condition. The May average is 94. It was 83½ in 1883. Barring the changes of the future a winter wheat product of about 350,000,000 bushels is indicated.

The temperature of April has been lower than usual, and low-lying lands have been saturated with moisture, retarding growth. Well-drained wheat soils are nearly everywhere bearing a vigorous and healthy growth.

A few reports of injury by the fly have been received, but the aggregate loss from insect ravages will be trivial.

The winter wheat of New England is a scarcely appreciable quantity. Its condition is quite uniformly high. The Middle and Southern States make averages ranging from 90 to 100. The Ohio basin makes a less favorable showing, with little difference in the States on the north side of the river.

The States of large production make the following averages, 100 representing not an average conditon, but a full stand of healthy plants of medium growth: New York, 97; Pennsylvania, 98; Kentucky, 99; Ohio, 85; Michigan, 85; Indiana, 85; Illinois, 87; Missouri, 94; Kansas, 103; California, 95.

The seeding of spring wheat is nearly finished in Minnesota. It has been delayed by heavy rains and low temperature in Dakota, and is not yet completed. Returns of area will be made on the 1st of June.

Rye promises fully as well as wheat. The general average is 96. It is several points higher than wheat in the principal States of the West.

The general average for barley is 101. It is 100 in New York, 100 in Pennsylvania, 98 in Michigan and 103 in California.

Meadows and pastures are generally promising, though failing to come up to the standard of healthy growth and unimpaired condition.

The spring plowing is a little delayed by low temperature and excessive moisture in undrained and tenacious soils. For the entire country it is two-thirds completed. In an average year 72 to 75 per cent should be done on May 1.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., May 16, 1884.

In sympathy with other branches of business, all of which were more or less depressed by a financial crisis in Wall Street, the wholesale trade in dry goods was very quiet during the greater part of the past week, but a much better and more confident feeling was apparent before the close. Dry goods merchants have, as a rule, pursued a very cautious and conservative policy for a long time past, and they have not been seriously affected by recent failures. There has been no shrinkage in the value of merchandise, as the result of the late upheaval, and there is a general impression that a revival of business will be witnessed in the not far distant future, because the fears so long entertained regarding probable troubles in financial and speculative circles are no longer a matter of suspense. The weather was spring-like and favorable for the distribution of seasonable goods by retailers, and a satisfactory business in this department was reported in most sections of the country, and, though stocks have not yet been reduced to the replenishing point, a fair supplementary demand is expected by jobbers before the close of the season.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods for the week were 2,292 packages, of which 1,237 were shipped to Great Britain, 344 to Brazil, 201 to U. S. of Colombia, 116 to Venezuela, and smaller parcels to other markets. There was a light and irregular demand for plain and colored cottons at first hands, and the jobbing trade was of limited proportions. The relations between supply and demand are improving to such an extent by the curtailment of production, that prices are steadily maintained by manufacturers' agents, and there is no pressure to force goods upon unwilling buyers. Brown and bleached goods were mostly quiet, but a very fair business was done in wide sheetings. For colored cottons the demand was governed by actual wants, and white goods were lightly dealt in. Print cloths were in fair demand and firm on the basis of 3½c. for 64x64s and 3c. for 56x56s, respectively. Indigo-blue prints were in steady request, but other calicoes ruled quiet, and there was a limited call for ginghams, lawns and other wash fabrics.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The demand for men's-wear woolens, as cassimeres, worsteds, overcoatings, &c., was light and disappointing, but agents continued to make considerable deliveries of heavy weights on account of back orders. In light-weight clothing woolens no transactions of importance were reported, the unsettled condition of affairs in Wall Street having effectually checked all speculative tendency. Satinets were in moderate request, but Kentucky jeans and doeskins were less active in first hands, most accumulations having already passed into the channels of distribution. Cloakings were more or less sluggish, but some fair sales of Jersey cloths and stockinettes were effected by agents, and there was a light hand-to-mouth inquiry for ladies' cloths, tricots, &c. Some pretty good orders were placed for all-wool and cotton warp dress goods for the fall trade, but seasonable fabrics were mostly quiet, and flannels, blankets, carpets, hosiery and knit underwear exhibited very little animation.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There was a conspicuously light movement in most kinds of imported goods from first hands, and the jobbing trade was by no means active. Some additional orders for fall fabrics were placed with importers, but transactions in this connection were checked to some extent by the financial crisis. The most staple goods are generally steady in price, but many fancy fabrics are easier and in buyers' favor.

Importations of Dry Goods.

The importations of dry goods at this port for the week ending May 15, 1884, and since January 1, and the same facts for the corresponding periods of 1883, are as follows:

The Corbin Banking Co.

No. 115 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms in that and other Northwestern States. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized to succeed him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions, and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Result Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upwards of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best-Paying Investment in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and our correspondents' statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period, we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system. Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

To investors who wish to place money for a term of years with entire safety, at rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent, we recommend these loans as being, all things considered, the Best in the World.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to all inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, comprising investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity, there has now been paid $118,180, with an added interest of $63,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record as this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans.

Interest, Dividends, &c.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD CO.
TREASURER'S DEPARTMENT,
PHILADELPHIA, May 1, 1884.

The Board of Directors has this day declared a Semi-Annual Dividend of FOUR PER CENT upon the capital stock of the Company, clear of all taxes, payable on and after May 29th, 1884, to shareholders as registered on the books at 3 P. M., April 30th, ult.

In order that shareholders may have the option of converting two per cent of this dividend into the capital stock of the Company at par, certificates will be issued at the time the dividend is collected, representing such amount which will be exchanged for the capital stock at par, prior to August 1st, 1884, when presented in sums of fifty dollars.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The improvement of the week has in a certain way been positive, but the restoration of confidence is making very slow progress with little promise of any marked change in this particular for some time. Where distrust is chronic and the outgrowth of so many agencies, it is unreasonable to anticipate a quick recovery. Especially must this be so when almost every day adds to the unsavory disclosures and to the list of failures. But there is an improvement, and it consists in the better control of the situation the banks hold and the opportunity that circumstance has given houses needing and deserving help to perfect arrangements for carrying their securities.

It was because we possessed such a wretched currency system, making money so easy for so long a time, with a plausible promise up to May 10th of little change in that particular, that the panic of last Wednesday and Thursday was possible. The public could not see its coming foreshadowed in the shipments of gold (the very backbone of our banks which cheap money was so largely instrumental in driving away from us), for it was many times proclaimed from Washington that we had 606 millions of it, an abundance and to spare. Still it is timely just at present to remember, that it is only those who were scared then, that are going to make the money now. The body of borrowers however took no alarm, failing to distinguish between real capital and the stuff we pay our domestic debts with, and were induced by this marvelously easy condition of the loan market to depend far more than usual upon temporary accommodation. Lenders also, in their eagerness to keep their funds out, took more risk, scrutinizing less closely the securities accepted. In these ways were the conditions fostered that made the panic possible. And yet the currency system that has been so instrumental in producing this disaster still remains a menace to business, and neither branch of Congress shows the least disposition to grant relief.

The resistance which the banks could not supply individually against the destructive forces set in motion on Wednesday of last week, was secured by the combination entered into under which they really stand as one corporation. A more effective instrument for staying a panic could not be devised, for as an organization it possesses a financial power and stability it would be difficult anywhere to equal. Few perhaps understand the severity of the monetary pressure we have passed through. Published reports talk about a per cent for accommodation, as if one could have obtained any amount at the rate named. The truth is, for the greater part of two days it was impossible, except through favor, to get money at any price or on any security. We know a party who went to fifteen of our associated banks to borrow on Governments, offering twenty-five per cent margin or more if required, and could obtain nothing. This explains a surprising feature of the panic, the serious fall in Government securities. To holders it was a great disappointment, as there never has been an occasion since 1873 (and then the conditions of the bond supply were so different), when a crisis in values had any appreciable effect on them. During the serious stock depression in May and June, 1880, the rise in Government bonds was uninterrupted; and since then no disturbance in the Wall Street markets or period of close money, has unsettled them in any degree; in fact, during all the stock tribulations of the last eighteen months they have shown that they were outside of that range of influences, and yet last week sales were made fully 6 per cent below the opening prices, solely because money could not be borrowed on anything, so that in some cases, where money was a necessity, they were pressed for sale.

This sharp contrast in the condition of the loan market May 10, and May 14, has never before been presented. The panics of 1857 and 1873 came when money had been very stringent, this one after a year of lower rates than ever known before. Such a conjunction could only be possible in case of a redundant currency and great business inactivity. A feature arising out of these facts, and which distinguished the situation, is the line of deposits. The total so held by the New York Associated Banks on February 16th was 363½ millions; this had declined on April 5th to 344 millions and on the 10th of this month to 330 millions. But even at the latter amount (330 millions) the total was about 105 millions more than the amount held at the same date in 1879, and about 130 millions more than was held May 10, in 1873.

We are accustomed to such large figures that these differences may not impress the reader as they should. But they show how under a redundant currency fictitious balances were carried, how they began to waste away under a loss of gold, and yet, after they had thus contracted, the total was still over a third larger than in May, 1879. Furthermore, these latter figures mean unusual interior bank deposits liable to be called at any moment, and a corresponding inflation of loans. It is probably not desirable at present to carry these suggestions further. All we need to know is that the movements set in motion by the failure of the Metropolitan Bank were happily arrested in time. But do not these facts prove so plainly that the wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein, that no interest is benefited, but every interest is imperilled and injured by a vicious, inflated currency.

The disturbing influences of most prominence this week (outside of Wall Street, which we shall notice later on) have been connected with bank failures (of which there have been several, but with one or two exceptions, of small importance), and rumors of weakness in other banks throughout the country. These rumors were without real foundation, but in some cases they had an air of plausibility that gave them currency, especially as now a story needs little more than to be unfavorable to recommend it. The most serious event was the closing of one of the Pittsburg banks, as it gave opportunity to circulate the report that through the collapse of the oil speculation, not only the Pittsburg banks were crippled, but the Philadelphia banks too. A sharp fall in Reading and Jersey Central stocks for a time was used in the same connection because of the large holdings of these properties in the latter city. Boston financial institutions also came in for a share of distrust, as they are supposed to be carrying a large aggregate of railroad securities which have seriously declined. We mention these rumors as incidents of the week, knowing that there is nothing in them to cause solicitude. Even the Pittsburg bank opened its doors again yesterday, its trouble having arisen out of the distrustful attitude of the public mind and not from insolvency. It is no surprise after the astounding disclosures that have been made in this city that evil reports should find quick belief.

Another class of rumors and developments which have affected Wall Street values unfavorably this week, are those connected with the railroads themselves. First, and perhaps most prominent among these, was the evidence connecting the Treasurer of Erie with the transactions of Grant & Ward. Another was the Louisville & Nashville, and the reported use made by Mr. Baldwin, its President, of a portion of its securities. As Mr. Baldwin resigned his trust, and as an admission of some wrong doing was published by the directors, though the loss incurred was stated to have been paid back, the worst was believed, and the stock fell accordingly, the whole affair having a very demoralizing effect on the general market. The view which was taken of this latter case by the public would probably not have prevailed without more evidence were it not for the epidemic of corporate mismanagement which is now so prominent a feature of the situation. Another unfavorable influence was the announcement that the management of the Reading had determined to issue scrip running four months, without interest, to meet current disbursements for the purpose of accumulating cash sufficient to pay forthcoming interest charges. The fall in Reading also affected Central New Jersey and the other coal properties, and there was a very ragged tone to the market all day Tuesday and more particularly toward the close when the peculiar methods adopted by Mr. Sage in settling his stock privileges gave color to the rumor that he had, in street parlance, "laid down" upon his contracts. There was a further fall in the coal shares on Wednesday, but one feature was a manipulated advance during the middle of the day which simply served to make a market on which to unload Union Pacific, this stock not only being affected by the loss in earnings in April but by a report from Omaha via Boston that Messrs. Adams and Ames had found the condition of the company's affairs much worse than was expected. This fall in Union Pacific continued to be the feature the following day and it had more or less of an unsettling effect until near the close when there was a denial of the statement said to have come from Messrs. Adams and Ames, and a recovery in the whole list. Yesterday the coal shares were again weak, more particularly Delaware Lackawanna & Western and Central New Jersey, and Chicago & Northwest also sustained a large fall, in which the general market shared more or less. In the afternoon a decline in Erie 2d consols, on report that the directors had decided to pass the June interest, was a feature, and this tended to increase the demoralization prevailing.

Stocks now have certainly reached very low figures. Even on the basis of a receivership, those that are believed to be in danger of such an end are pretty well down. We are obviously nearing the point where prices must show some recovery, for railroad property in this country still has a value. Looking at earnings, we have a very encouraging feature. There are gains in many quarters where a heavy decrease had been looked for. Northwestern roads particularly make a very good exhibit. The Milwaukee & St. Paul last year had swelled its receipts during the first two weeks of May no less than $208,000, so it was expected a material falling off would occur in the present year, but actually the decline for the two weeks is only $32,000. The Chicago & Northwestern last year recorded a decrease of $3,000, but this year affords an improvement of over $38,000, and the St. Paul & Omaha, which in 1883 gained $28,000, this year gains $29,000 in addition. The Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern also adds about $5,000 to its increase of $11,000 in the two weeks of May, 1883. The St. Paul & Duluth falls somewhat behind, but the Northern Pacific continues to roll up very large gains, the increase for the two weeks being $258,000, on earnings of $380,000 in 1883. In the Southwest, the St. Louis & San Francisco, which last year had an augmentation of $21,000, this year has a further augmentation of $23,000, while from the South the exhibits are also quite encouraging. Not to speak of such roads as the Gulf Colorado & Santa Fe, the Norfolk & Western, and the Florida Railway & Navigation, we have the returns of the Louisville & Nashville, recording a gain of $41,000, besides the gain of $44,000 recorded in the same two weeks last year. The exception to the general rule of increase is found in the roads traversing the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, where the yield of the crops last season was not heavy, and where moreover competition is very active, and it is also believed that the great trunk lines east from Chicago are not doing well, but as to these latter it should not be forgotten there is great room for a reduction in expenses, which would act as an offset to a loss of business. We have already noticed the increased economy practiced on the Pennsylvania, but the figures of the Grand Trunk of Canada, issued this week, offer evidence to the same effect. The statement covers the first quarter of the year, and shows that while gross receipts have suffered a diminution of £72,767 (about $360,000), it has been possible at the same time to reduce expenses £60,192 ($300,000), leaving the loss in net no more than £12,575.

Northern Pacific has issued some figures of earnings and expenses this week, showing a further steady improvement. They cover January, February, and March, and though the conditions are never favorable to large receipts during the winter months, and were less so than usual in the present winter, we have in each case an improvement over the corresponding period a year ago. Gross earnings increased $255,000 in January, $192,000 in February, and $415,000 in March. The severe winter weather added largely to expenses, so during the first two months the gain over the small net earnings of 1883 was not heavy, the total net for January and February being $193,026 in 1884 and $133,617 in 1883, but for March a very decided improvement took place, the net for the month being as much as $436,677, against only $82,163 in 1883. For April a still better exhibit may be looked for, since the gross earnings then reached the large aggregate of $1,438,600, against but $665,509 in 1883, and of course this gives promise of a corresponding gain in net when the latter are made up. Below is a comparison on gross and net for January, February, and March, and for the nine months of the company's fiscal year, in 1884 and 1883.

| | January. | | February. | | March. | | July 1 to April 1. | |
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| *Expenses | 497,023 | 272,769 | 444,138 | 280,757 | 542,270 | 481,740 | 5,500,359 | 3,604,314 |
| Net | 117,080 | 86,216 | 75,946 | 47,401 | 436,677 | 82,163 | 3,230,774 | 1,966,131 |

* Including taxes and rentals.

The interest which accrued during these months was $316,041 in January, $341,741 in February, and $331,231 in March, so only in the latter month were the earnings sufficient to take care of it. But it is always expected that in the winter, when traffic is light, there will be some falling behind, and any deficiency can be made good in the remaining months. The figures for the nine months of the company's fiscal year are more useful to this end. We find that net in this period reached $3,230,774. Mr. Oakes, the Vice-President, in a carefully prepared statement early in January, estimated the call for interest during the current fiscal year at $3,882,341, which is only about $650,000 more than the actual net here given for the nine months, with the three best months yet to come in. From the large gross for April, it would seem that the net for the ten months will come very close to meeting the charges for the twelve months in full, leaving the May and June net as surplus to carry forward on the year's operations.

An important feature of the situation is the changed condition of our money market. Apparently we have passed from an absolute deadlock in money last week to an abnormal glut represented by a daily rate as low as 1 per cent per annum. But the present reported rate does not represent the true condition of the market. Undoubtedly there has been a gradual relaxation. This is partly due to the fact that commission houses have not been borrowing money because they have been selling stocks. Those buyers of these properties who have been simply trading in the market have carried their load until the next day, and then distributed it, and the daily demand for money has not been sufficient to absorb the offerings at the Stock Exchange, therefore the rates have fallen to nominal quotations of from 1 to 2 per cent per annum. But outside the precincts of the Exchange, we find money loaning on demand at from 2½ per cent on Government bonds to 4 and 5 per cent on good mixed collateral; on time, however, probably very few loans are made below 6 per cent. The situation of the money market is rendered somewhat anomalous by the Clearing-House loan certificates. A resort to them will of course be continued only so long as there remains an absolute necessity for the same. The rates of exchange at interior points continue to rule against this city, and this accounts for the continued large movement of funds out of the banks. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

| Currency | $1,942,000 | $2,278,000 | Loss $1,036,000 |
| Gold | 50,000 | *1,340,000 | Loss 1,290,000 |
| Total gold and legal tenders | $1,292,000 | $3,618,000 | Loss $2,326,000 |

* Includes $780,000 transferred in the shape of silver certificates, by a deposit of gold in the Sub-Treasury.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have gained $1,000,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item, therefore, to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total loss to the N. Y. Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued today.

| Week Ending May 23, 1884. | Into Banks. | Out of Banks | Net Change in Bank Holdings. |

| Banks' Interior Movement, as above | $1,292,000 | $3,618,000 | Loss. $2,326,000 |
| Sub-Treas. operations | 1,000,000 | ..... | Gain 1,000,000 |
| Total gold and legal tenders | $2,292,000 | $3,618,000 | Loss. 1,326,000 |

Exchange has not fully recovered from the demoralization caused by last week's panic, although it is unsettled in a less degree. An attempt was made on Monday to restore rates one cent per pound sterling, but the demand was so insignificant and the offerings so liberal, that there was an immediate reaction. Since then not only the posted rates but those for actual business have been entirely nominal. The ability of bankers to employ funds here at from 5 to 6 per cent on what they regard good security, has induced somewhat liberal drawing of bills against balances abroad which can there earn scarcely 2 per cent on call. Some speculative drafts have been made in the expectation of covering with cotton and breadstuffs later in the season, and the operations of the arbitrage brokers last week made a supply of bills which has not yet been absorbed. Some securities are going out, but they are chiefly those for which bankers have standing orders, and the recent decline in them has enabled these commissions to be executed. From these various sources the offerings have been about equal to the customary demand and any urgency in the supply, arising out of the temporary necessities of the drawers or holders of the bills, has caused sales below the quoted rates. As to the immediate future of the market, opinions differ. A return to the normal condition of money would naturally cause an upward reaction, but as this seems at present improbable the future is very uncertain.

The following shows relative prices of leading bonds and stocks in London and New York at the opening each day. The decline in government bonds and in some of the railroad stocks has been attributed, by the cables, to realizations in the London market, but it has doubtless been aided to a great extent by the disclosures of corporate mismanagement made during the week.

Government bonds have been heavy this week, partly because of lower prices from London, but mainly for the reason that there is now less prospect of the passage by Congress of the McPherson bill, which enables banks to take out circulation equal to within 10 per cent of the market value of the bonds held or bought as security. The liquidation by some of the firms who failed having on hand comparatively large amounts of Government bonds, may also have aided the decline. At the moment there is a comparatively light demand, and this chiefly from small investors, and therefore insufficient to absorb the offerings.

The Bank of England return for the week shows a loss of £920,000 bullion. This represents £5,000 received from abroad and £925,000 sent to the interior. The Bank of France shows a gain of 3,081,000 francs gold and of 4,004,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany, since the last report, gained 9,254,000 marks. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

MR. CORBIN AND THE TOLEDO CINCINNATI & ST. LOUIS.

Though railroad securities keep depreciating in market value, and though the present time is not considered auspicious for holding any kind of railroad property, it is evident that there are some who still have faith in railroads, when properly conducted, and who by no means fear that they will hereafter always prove losing ventures. It is also evident that, despite the poor success attending so many late enterprises for the formation and perfection of new trunk systems in various parts of the country, all the promoters of such undertakings have not yet become discouraged, and there are those not unwilling to put more money in like ventures in the certain hope that the growth and development of the country will justify their existence. In illustration of this, we have the efforts which Mr. Austin Corbin is making to raise the Indiana Bloomington & Western into a trunk system of larger proportions, and his determination to turn to advantage the approaching disintegration of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis road.

The Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis system is one of the projects undertaken in the "flush" times of 1880–1. It has lines from Toledo to St. Louis and from Toledo to Cincinnati, as well as some branches—one to Ironton, Ohio. It was to be the grandest narrow-gauge enterprise on the continent, and much faith was entertained by Boston people as to its ultimate success. The undertaking proved more costly than expected, quite considerable sums of money having been absorbed by it. As each new outlay only made apparent the necessity for still further outlays, much difficulty was experienced in securing the funds with which to carry on the work, but in the hope that as soon as the road was fairly in operation its entire length, the results would prove satisfactory, enough money was finally obtained to complete the line. The St. Louis extension has been open now for about a year, but the road is doing as poorly as ever, and the entire system has for some time been in receiver's hands. The fact of its being narrow gauge, which was to be its chief advantage, is now declared to be its chief fault. A committee appointed by the bondholders, which included some competent experts we are told, reported a short time ago unanimously that the only salvation for the road lay in making it broad gauge, and all efforts at present appear to be directed to that end. Of course, the change cannot be effected without additional money, and this it is proposed to raise by issuing a new first mortgage, giving the present bondholders a subsequent lien or else stock. This relates more particularly to the line between Toledo and St. Louis. The whole system, however, is in the same unsatisfactory state. The bonds cover different pieces and divisions, and each is being reorganized separately. There is the Dayton & Southeastern Division, the Ironton Division, the Cincinnati Northern Division, the Toledo & Delphos Division, and the St. Louis Division. It is this latter division that Mr. Corbin is anxious to secure by an arrangement with its bondholders.

The Indiana Bloomington & Western has already undergone considerable enlargement under Mr. Corbin's management. When it passed into his control it consisted merely of a line between Indianapolis, Ind., and Peoria, Ill. Then the Cincinnati Sandusky & Cleveland, (from Sandusky to Springfield and Columbus, Ohio), was acquired at one end, and the Indianapolis Decatur & Springfield, (from Indianapolis to Decatur), at the other. In 1882 the two ends were joined by building a connecting link of 140 miles from Springfield, O., to Indianapolis, and the system now extends from Lake Erie to Springfield, Columbus, Indianapolis, Peoria and Decatur. From Decatur it has been proposed to build a line to St. Louis, but that will be obviated if the St. Louis division of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis can be secured. This latter division (beginning at Kokomo, Ind.) crosses the Indiana Bloomington & Western at Metcalf, Ill., so that the piece between Metcalf and Decatur would not form part of the through line to St. Louis; but at any rate the Bloomington & Western would get a very direct route to the latter city, an outlet to which it has been seeking for some time. It would then have a line all the way from the lakes to the Mississippi River, and practically also a line to the Ohio River, opposite West Virginia, since the Ohio Southern, connecting with the Bloomington & Western at Springfield, is operated by the same parties. It should be said, too, that the Danville Olney & Ohio River, a bankrupt road in Illinois running from Danville to Olney, is being reorganized in the interest of Mr. Corbin, and this may prove of benefit to the Bloomington & Western as a local feeder.

There appears to be some discussion as to the value of any guarantee that the Bloomington & Western may be disposed to give, so it will be interesting to see just what the earning capacity of the system is. The guarantee, according to Mr. Corbin, would be in the form of a lease or traffic arrangement, by which the company agreed to pay enough at least to meet the interest on the new first mortgage bonds to be issued. It would probably be much the same as the leases of the Indianapolis Decatur & Springfield and the Cincinnati Sandusky & Cleveland, the former being leased for 30 per cent. of earnings with $200,000 as a minimum, and the latter for 33⅓ per cent with $300,000 as a minimum. The company's own charges for interest, aside from this call for rentals, are not very heavy, but have not yet reached their maximum. Some of the bonds which bore 4 per cent interest last year bear 5 per cent now, and will eventually bear 6 per cent. There are five millions of these, which, at one per cent additional, would increase the requirement for interest $50,000. But as the bonds did not begin to bear five per cent till the 1st of April, 1884, the company will in the present year have to meet only one semi-annual coupon—that of October next—at the higher rate. So the increase over 1883 on this account will be only $25,000. Against this, the company had a surplus on the operations of 1883 of $13,228. The gross earnings then were $3,022,366, and the net, above expenses and taxes, $1,036,519. Out of the net was paid $569,164 for rentals, $433,375 for interest, and $20,752 for miscellaneous items, which left the surplus, as stated, $13,228. In 1882, when the company had a much smaller charge to meet, but before its middle division was fully in operation, there was a deficit of $43,311.

As to the amount of the proposed guarantee, it will evidently be a smaller item than the rental of either of the other two leased roads. We do not understand that Mr. Corbin proposes to extend the guarantee to any other division than the St. Louis. He is anxious to have the committee for that and the Delphos division (these two divisions together making up the line between St. Louis and Toledo) act in harmony, and this obviously for the reason that if the guage of the Delphos division is changed, the traffic from Toledo may be thrown over the St. Louis division in addition to that which he will throw over it from Sandusky, but for his own system he seems to want merely the St. Louis section. Now, it is estimated both by Mr. Corbin and the bondholders that this St. Louis division can be changed to broad guage, and all other necessary improvements made, for $8,000 per mile, which, on the whole 268 miles, would call for an outlay of about $2,150,000. Assuming that bonds for this amount could be placed at 6 per cent, the yearly interest would be about $130,000, and this is the charge the Bloomington & Western would assume.

As to the small surplus which the Bloomington & Western had last year, it should be said that the conditions then were not very favorable, and this year thus far have been even worse, so that for the period from January 1 to the end of the second week of May gross earnings have fallen about $123,500 behind. Almost all the roads in that section have done poorly of late. One reason is that competition is very intense, but a more potent cause, no doubt, is the indifferent yield of the crops. For several successive years farmers have fared badly, and it is clear therefore that if the region should be favored with one or two excellent harvests, a marked improvement in the earnings of the Bloomington & Western might take place. Besides, with a line of its own to St. Louis, its earnings ought to improve anyway—perhaps in amount sufficient to take care of the $130,000 interest which would be assumed. The advantages to accrue to the Cincinnati & St. Louis bondholders from an arrangement with the Bloomington & Western consist in the fact that Mr. Corbin agrees to take care of the reorganization expenses, and also the placing of the new mortgage bonds which are to provide the money for the necessary improvements in the division. Mr. Corbin says that his people "can place the mortgage without any sort of difficulty whatever." This is certainly a very important feature, for it being admitted on all sides that a new mortgage is a necessity, it is essential to the success of any scheme that no difficulty be encountered in floating the bonds. The promoters of the enterprise, relying upon their own efforts, might not be so fortunate in the matter as the Corbin party. As concerns the guarantee of interest on the bonds, if the Bloomington & Western should be unable to meet it—and it should always be remembered that the management could no doubt carry the company over any temporary period of adverse circumstances—the bondholders will have lost nothing, since they will merely have to fall back on their own resources, which they would have to do anyway without the guarantee.

TOKEN MONEY IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The proposition of Mr. Childers, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, to re-coin the gold half-sovereigns, putting into each of them only nine shillings' worth of gold, has raised a great storm in England. The newspapers print communications by the score on the subject. Some of those who venture into print in opposition to the measure declaim in the most frantic manner against it, while others are evidently deeply wounded in their sensibilities. That the act should be unpopular is the most natural thing in the world. But the arguments with which amateur objectors contend against the "debasement of the coinage" do not seem weighty.

For example, most of them refer to the fact that counterfeiters might make a profit by striking new ten-shilling pieces containing as much gold as those which the Government proposes to mint, and put them in circulation. But it is wholly forgotten, in dwelling upon this danger, that the silver coins now current in England are based upon a relation of 1 gold to 14·154 (nearly) silver, even when those coins are new, and that counterfeiters might derive an enormous profit to-day from furnishing silver half-crowns, florins, shillings and sixpences worth intrinsically more than those in circulation. The danger of being flooded with bogus money, as good nevertheless as that issued from the mint, is therefore one that exists already. Other writers fancy that Englishmen traveling abroad will lose money by being subjected to a discount on their half-sovereigns; but they will not, if they refrain from taking token money with them when they leave home. Lord Randolph Churchill thinks the measure will reduce wages by ten per cent; but no one who understands the laws of money will agree with him. In point of fact there is but one element of novelty in the proposition of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and that is a very slight one. It is simply this: that, for the first time, it is proposed to coin token money in gold. The principle of token money in base metal has been familiar to Englishmen since the reign of Elizabeth, and copper coins have been made by royal authority ever since 1613, the eleventh year of James I. It was first extended to silver money in 1816, and was applied at once to all the silver coins. Should Mr. Childers' plan be carried out, there would be left but one denomination of coin, the sovereign, of full weight and full legal tender. This is all there is in the proposition, and theoretically there can be no objection to it after the country has adapted itself to the new system.

Just here, however, comes in that element of habit which is the one thing economists are most apt to neglect in their speculations. The habit of the British people is to regard their money standard as inviolable. They have forgotten the scores of changes which, beginning in the time of Edward I., debased the silver money until, in the year 1600, sixty-two shillings were cut out of the Troy pound that originally yielded but twenty shillings; and the permanent degradation of silver to the position of subsidiary money in 1816. They have also forgotten that the Troy pound of gold which yielded only £15 in the time of Edward III., was made by successive changes, the last of which took place in 1717, to yield £46 14s. 6d., the present amount. The era of debasement has passed, and Englishmen know that their gold money has been of one standard and of one nominal value for nearly a century nd three quarters. Most of them will see no reason why should be altered now. Should Mr. Childers carry his bill through Parliament the new coins are almost certain to be discredited from the beginning, and the public obstinacy and persistence in preferring the old way to the new, may bring about all the evils which the objectors now foresee, none of which would necessarily happen if the people were all intelligent and reasonable. Not the sensible objections which some financiers make to the proposition, but the popular opposition, will defeat the measure if it be defeated at all.

Another objection which we have not seen mentioned in any English newspaper is that the change is substantially a piece of jugglery by which the people are made to pay the expense of re-coinage without an apparent addition to the expenditure. Mr. Childers estimates that the £20,000,000 in half-sovereigns is now light to the amount of £420,000; and that the £90,000,000 in sovereigns is light,—or will be before the re-coinage is completed,—to the amount of £830,000. The cost of re-coinage and contingencies bring up the total expense of making all the gold coins good, and of full weight, to £1,170,000,—less than six million dollars. Now if the Government is to get a profit of £2,500,000 by clipping the half-sovereigns, it is to get that profit indirectly out of the people, who would pay the cost of re-coinage directly were the Government to propose defraying that cost wholly out of the exchequer. So that, in order to save an amount of six million dollars, distributed over twenty years, the British cabinet proposes to degrade a respected coin, but at the same time to make the people pay the cost indirectly.

But, supposing the law passed and put into operation, the question then arises as to the amount of this token money the people would absorb. On that point the experience in this country gives a fair opportunity for a study of the possibilities and of what is impracticable. That there is a limit beyond which, with free redemption, the issues cannot be kept out, does not need asserting. Thus, in the United States an excessive coinage of subsidiary money, and an excessive absorption of such money in the circulation, has been followed by a return of so much as was redundant to the vaults of the Treasury, where a stock of twenty millions or thereabouts has long been awaiting the revival of a demand for it. We notice Mr. Childers states that his plan contemplates arrangements to be made with the Bank of England for the receipt from bankers of redundant half-sovereigns, the same as redundant silver is now received there. We do not know how effectual is the working of that system—that is, how freely the coin may in that way flow into the exchequer and be redeemed; but, apparently, there is no intention of keeping out more than the country can absorb. It is scarcely necessary to add that any excess or redundancy would be disturbing.

When the half-sovereign has been "degraded," it will necessarily take its place among other token coins, and will be subjected to the same laws as other over-valued money. That is to say, it will not be capable of use in any large transactions. At present a shop-keeper in London has no preference, in receiving payment of a bill, between five sovereigns and ten half-sovereigns. But after the change has been made he will naturally and inevitably prefer one sovereign to two half-sovereigns. It will be the same all through the country. Men will object to receiving the new coins except as change. And the same disposition to regard the over-valued coin with suspicion will lead the receivers of them to make all speed to get rid of them. Consequently a smaller number than are now used can be put in circulation, first, because so many half-sovereigns as are now accepted will not be accepted in any single transaction when the intrinsic value has been reduced, and, second, because the new coins will circulate much more rapidly than the old. Mr. Childers apparently reckons upon deriving a profit from the whole £20,000,000 in half-sovereigns now current. That implies that he expects to re-coin and put in circulation the whole amount. But that would not be possible even in a community so long suffering in currency matters as are the people of this country, as is shown by the unalterable objection to the silver dollar which is a full legal tender. In Great Britain it seems to be wholly out of the question.

London, Saturday, May 10, 1884.

The failure of the Oriental Bank Corporation, and the almost complete cessation of the shipments of gold from New York, have caused the money market to present a somewhat firmer appearance, and, although the supply of bills in the discount market is still small, the rate for three months' bank bills has advanced to 1⅝ per cent. To some extent the slight rise which has taken place has been due to precautionary measures; but, although we are still in the slack period of the season, it is thought by many that the value of money will continue to improve. This, however, is very probably a premature thought, as we have yet to pass through that period of the year when anxiety is felt with regard to the growing crops. At the present time every crop promises favorable results, not only in this country, but abroad. It is difficult, however, at comparatively so early a period to calculate upon results, when they are obviously not procurable; but the day is not very remote when some definite opinion can be formed, and until it arrives active business will be kept in check. The Oriental Bank failure and the difficulties which have arisen

In New York, besides failures which are taking place in Glasgow, cause merchants to reflect, and fresh business is in consequence impeded.

In the early part of the week the rate of discount for three months' bank bills was 1¼ per cent, but to-day it is 1⅝ per cent. Floating money has been easy at 1¼ per cent. The Bank of England return shows but few changes. The proportion of reserve to liabilities has declined from 48·09 to 47·76 per cent, contrasting with 38·41 per cent last year. The suspension of the Oriental Bank has at this writing produced no serious commotion, for, although there is a diminution of £136,476 in the reserve, it is smaller than is expected at this period of the year, when coin is sent in considerable quantities to Scotland. The return is certainly calculated to give encouragement.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold.—The demand has hardly kept pace with the supply, in consequence of a rise in the Dutch Exchange, and the Bank of England has purchased £316,000. The arrivals comprise £8 3,160 from New York and £5,400 from Australia. The Bank has sold £50,000 for South America. The P. & O. steamer takes £47,500 to Bombay, and the "Nile" £12,000 to the West Indies. The total amount of gold shipped from New York to Europe, from the commencement in February, to the present time, is $35, 67,940.

Silver, which we quoted as 50 13/16d. last week, has given way slightly, because of large arrivals on an extremely dull market. We did, however, to-day a better inquiry, and we give 50¾d., buyers, as this day's quotation. The "Rhode" has brought £16,000 from Buenos Ayres, and "The City of Chester" about £20,000 from New York. The West India steamer takes £3,000, the "Ocean" £154,000 to Bombay, and the "Assam" £16,000 to Calcutta.

Mexican Dollars have all the week maintained their price of 49⅞d. To-day, however, there are buyers at 50d., and this price we must give as the nearest quotation. The "Assam" takes £17,740 to China and the Straits. The sole arrival is £6,000 from New York.

The weather during the past week has been decidedly favorable for the growing crops. A fair quantity of rain has fallen, but we have had at the same time a moderate amount of sunshine. To-day it is very brilliant and summer-like. Vegetation is making, therefore, healthy progress, and good crops are anticipated. The pasture lands are becoming quite luxuriant, and scarcely a drawback is to be noticed. It is said that wall-fruit has suffered in some localities from the recent frosts, but there are no general complaints. In consequence of the favorable weather and increased importations the wheat trade has been very dull, and sales are only practicable by submitting to lower prices. The Baltic is now quite free to navigation, and larger supplies of Russian wheat are anticipated, but oats are scarce at St. Petersburg, and command more money. The Board of Trade returns show that the imports of wheat in April were only 2,823,149 cwt., against 6,070,157 cwt.; of flour 1,158,144 cwt., against 1,679,001 cwt.; and of Indian corn 1,802,911 cwt., against 3,434,942 cwt. last year. The following quantities were received from the United States:

| From Atlantic ports.....cwt. | 928,082 | 1,316,743 | 921,823 |
| From Pacific ports | 965,528 | 1,365,443 | 2,466,564 |

The falling off, therefore, in April last, compared with the same month in 1883, is nearly 3,000,000 cwt.

The estimated value of the above was as follows:

The following are the quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn estimated to be afloat to the United Kingdom. Baltic supplies are not included.

| | At present. | Last week. | Last year. | 1882. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat.....qrs. | 1,845,000 | 1,963,000 | 2,403,000 | 2,447,000 |
| Flour | 236 000 | 267,000 | 216,000 | 240,000 |
| Indian corn | 166,500 | 152,000 | 255,000 | 244,000 |

In the following return is shown the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the 187 principal markets of England and Wales during the first 36 weeks of the season, together with the average prices realized, compared with 150 markets in previous seasons:

| | SALES. 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....qrs. | 2,155,268 | 1,849,340 | 1,545,780 | 1,313,823 |

| Barley | 32 4 | 33 9 | 32 6 | 32 11 |
| Oats | 19 9 | 21 2 | 21 1 | 24 2 |

Converting quarters of wheat into hundred-weights, the total sales in the whole kingdom are estimated as follows:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 31/3, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4/5. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

The following return shows the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first 36 weeks of the season, the sales of home-grown wheat, the average price of English wheat, the visible supply of wheat in the United States, and the quantity of wheat and flour afloat to the United Kingdom, compared with previous seasons:

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—While the last seven days present a record of fewer failures and those of very much less importance than those of the preceding week, it has nevertheless become more apparent that the process of liquidation in several of the most important lines of investment remains unabated, and the only wonder is that the continued decline in oil and in railway stocks and bonds has not produced a larger list of disasters. The great break that has taken place in oil since the panic of last week caused the suspension on Wednesday of the Penn Bank of Pittsburg and several of the less important class of speculators in oil. These, however, did not seem to have any very important general effect either on finances or on the public mind. Two small failures have occurred on the Stock Exchange here, without attracting much attention or exciting comment.

The only absolute developments have been the discovery that the pool in Louisville & Nashville stock embraced the President of that company, who had been speculating in his own stock and using the funds of the company to sustain the price, and though it is known that he made restitution and that the company loses nothing, the effect of the discovery was nevertheless damaging to confidence. The position of Mr. Russell Sage, the great speculator in puts and calls, has also been an openly-confessed source of uneasiness on the Stock Exchange, though, as subsequent events have proved, without sufficient reason. The most legitimate cause, however, of a further unsettlement of confidence has been the announcement that the Reading Coal & Iron Company would be compelled to issue scrip due in four months, without interest, to pay the wages of its operatives. This, together with the discussion by the coal companies of the question of suspending coal mining for two weeks in June, indicates a depression in the coal and iron trades which is being reflected in the decline in the value of the stocks of all the coal-carrying railroads.

The further fall of 10 points in a railway stock as widely and popularly held as Union Pacific, has had its effect not only on the stock market, but on all kinds of railway investments. The growing belief that the interest on the Erie second consols would not be paid was also another source of uneasiness.

One point of great difference, however, between the last week and the preceding one has been that money has been extremely easy, whereas last week the rates for call loans ran up temporarily to 1, 2 and even 3 per cent per day. The decline in the prices of sound railway stocks has made them safer collaterals for loans, but a good many of the low-priced securities have been thrown out altogether, and the decrease in available collaterals of this kind in the last three weeks no doubt reaches several hundred millions of dollars, thus affording a smaller field for the loan of money.

Rates for call loans on acceptable stock collaterals have ranged during the last week at from 2 to 4 per cent per annum. There has been very little done in time loans on stock collaterals, though some three-months' loans have been made at 6 per cent. The rates for mercantile discounts have been advanced since last week 1 per cent on endorsed paper and ½ cent on single names, to 5½ and 6 per cent on double names and 6 and 6½ on single names.

The last weekly statement of the New York Associated Banks showed a contraction of $6,784,300 in the loans and $12,621,500 in the deposits, which was quite as small as could have been expected, in view of the several disturbing causes above referred to. The banks, however, still remained in a very strong condition generally, having a surplus reserve of $3,127,025. One encouraging feature in this connection is, that the exports of specie have ceased.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed a loss of £920,000 in specie. The reserve, however, was increased to 48 3-16 per cent from 48 last week. The Bank rate of discount remained unchanged at 2½ per cent. The Bank of France weekly statement showed an increase of 3,081,00 francs in gold and 4,004,000 francs in silver.

Exchange.—The market for sterling has been a good deal unsettled in the last seven days by the erratic movements of capital. Last week and for a few days this week there was considerable offering of loan bills in the market for money to be used, first in loaning and afterwards in the purchase of stocks at the reduced prices. There has been none of this for the last four days, but the posted rates have nevertheless remained unchanged at the reduction caused by these movements last week. Even the rates for actual business have been a good deal unsettled and cannot be closely quoted. The leading drawers quote about as follows on Friday the 23d, viz.: Sixty days, 4 84; demand, 4 86; cables, 4 86⅛; commercial bills 4 80@4 81. The latter class of bills continues scarce.

United States Bonds.—Government bonds have recovered considerably from the extreme depression noted last week, but there is still much irregularity in prices, and the supply is rather in excess of the demand, which latter at the moment is very light.

The closing prices at the N. Y. Board have been as follows:

State and Railroad Bonds.—The general market for railroad bonds has been more active and considerably lower in the last seven days, but has also been somewhat erratic. On Monday and Tuesday there was a large business, on Wednesday and Thursday the transactions were comparatively small, while on Friday they were large again. The decline in prices has not only been heavy, but continuous, with an increasing weakness in the last two days. The largest depreciation is in Oregon Short Line 6s, which have moved in sympathy with the great decline in Union Pacific stock. They have sold down from 83¾ to 69, closing at 70¼. Erie 2d consols also declined 11¼ points to 55¾, closing at 56½, the cause of the decline being the report that the interest would not be paid. The widest fluctuations have been as follows since the morning of Saturday, the 17th, viz: Atlantic & Pacific Incomes at 15, 18, 14; Burlington & Quincy debenture 5s at 92, 93¼, 91¾; Canada Southern firsts at 99⅛, 100, 98; Chesapeake & Ohio currency 6s at 37, 39, 33½; do. first series B at 90, 97, 90; East Tennessee 5s at 60, 61, 57; do. incomes at 20, 14½; Kansas & Texas general mortgage 6s at 70, 74, 72; New York West Shore & Buffalo 5s at 50¾, 52½, 45¾, 46; Erie second consols at 67, 68, 55¾, 56½; Jersey Central consols assented 108, 108½, 104½; Chicago & Northwestern debenture 5s at 92, 94, 91½; Wabash general mortgage 6s at 45½, 45½, 40; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes at 40½, 40, 45, 40¼; do. Rio Grande division firsts at 56½, 60, 55, 55¼; Rome Watertown & Ogdensburg 5s at 65, 64, 67½, 66. Oregon Short Line 6s at 83¾, 69, 70¼; New Orleans & Pacific firsts at 74½, 69⅞. State bonds have been neglected.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—Following the panic of last week there has been a quieter but very general movement for liquidation in the stock market, which was increased by the very unfavorable aspects of the coal and iron trades, this latter fact causing a large decline in the stocks of all the coal-carrying railroads. The decline of 21 points in Jersey Central is due in great degree to the acknowledgement that the Reading to which it is leased, and which is the guarantor of its proposed dividends, is pressed for ready cash, but largely also to the cause first mentioned, which affected all coal stocks, as is shown by the fall of 13⅝ in Lackawanna 8⅜ in Reading and 10⅝ in Delaware & Hudson. After the coal shares the granger stocks show the next largest decline, which was mainly experienced in the last two days as the result of the general movement for liquidation. Northwestern shows a decline of 7⅜, Burlington & Quincy 6½, Union Pacific 7¼, St. Paul 2⅞, &c. The Vanderbilt stocks have been comparatively steady, except Lake Shore, which is 4¼ points off, though New York Central was also weak on Friday. Missouri Pacific and Louisville & Nashville likewise show large declines, notwithstanding the apparent efforts made to sustain them. The latter, of course, was adversely affected by the disclosure that its President had been using some of the company's funds in the attempt to hold up the price of the stock.

Investments AND RAILROAD INTELLIGENCE.

The Investors' Supplement contains a complete exhibit of the Funded Debt of States and Cities and of the Stocks and Bonds of Railroads and other Companies. It is published on the last Saturday of every other month—viz., February, April, June, August, October and December, and is furnished without extra charge to all regular subscribers of the Chronicle. Extra copies are sold to subscribers of the Chronicle at 50 cents each, and to others than subscribers at $1 per copy.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf Railroad.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The annual report of this company supplies the following:

"The bonded debt of this company has been reduced during the year by the purchase of $160,400 bonds from cash received from the Land Department. The net amount to be realized from the land assets still remaining for the purchase of bonds is estimated at about $300,000. The bonded debt of the leased lines (principal and interest of which is guaranteed by this company) has been increased during the year 1883 by the sale of $25,000 Fort Scott Southeastern & Memphis Railroad Company 7 per cent bonds and $178,000 Kansas & Missouri Railroad Company 5 per cent bonds, as referred to in our last annual report.

"FORT SCOTT EQUIPMENT COMPANY BONDS.

"The largely increased business anticipated for this road upon the completion of the Kansas City Springfield & Memphis road necessitated provision for the use and ultimate purchase of considerable additional equipment. A company was therefore organized under the name of the Fort Scott Equipment Company, whose bonds, bearing 6 per cent interest and secured by mortgage upon the equipment itself, dated Dec. 1, 1883, having ten years to run and subject to sinking fund provisions, for retiring at least one-tenth of the whole amount of bonds annually, were guaranteed principal and interest by this company, and offered to its stockholders under circular dated Sept. 22, 1883. The amount issued to date is $525,000, the total issue being limited to $700,000." * * *

"KANSAS CITY SPRINGFIELD & MEMPHIS RAILROAD.

"After much delay, owing to unfavorable weather and difficulty in construction, this road was opened for through business about the 1st of November last. It has proved to be a valuable auxiliary to the Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf Railroad; for even in its incomplete state it has furnished at least two-thirds of the increased business of that road for the past year."

The following statement, prepared for the Chronicle, gives the operations and fiscal results, but not including the 50 miles of narrow-gauge road prior to 1883 (which during the year 1882 was widened to standard gauge). The income account, however, includes all lines, the difference in net earnings as stated being due to a deficit of $6,000 in 1880 and $9,000 in 1881, and a profit of $50,745 in 1882, on the narrow-gauge road. In 1883 all lines are included in operations:

Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon.

(For the year ending February 29, 1884.)

"There have been bought and canceled during the year $3,000 of the 8 per cent bonds and $21,000 of the 6 per cent bonds of the company, and there still remain applicable to further purchases—of the 8 per cents, $202,730 with the New England Trust Company, and of the 6 per cents, $1,367 with the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company.

"The amount received from royalties under mining leases is applicable to the retirement of bonds. This amount in 1882 was $17,794 and in 1883 $3,253, the decrease resulting from diminished ore shipments. The extension from L'Anse to Houghton, a distance of 32 miles, has been completed and was opened for business November 19, 1883. This line is substantially built and is laid with steel rails. There have been added to branches four miles and to double track one mile, making a total construction of 37 miles. Total mileage is—main line, 95 miles; branches, 40 miles; total, 135 miles." * *

"In comparing the business of 1883 with that of 1882 it will be seen that the gross earnings are considerably less; but at least this percentage of decrease was to be expected in view of the unsatisfactory state of the iron trade. The ratio of expenses to earnings was, however, greater, thus further decreasing the net earnings. Among the causes contributing to the large item of expenses are (1) more than ordinary repairs on equipment and docks, (2) taxes exceeding those of last year by $8,000, and (3) cost of transporting material for constructing the Houghton & L'Anse extension; all of which was charged to operation.

"The extension to Houghton is completed, and will call for no extraordinary expense; the taxes to be paid this year on the business of 1883, being based on gross earnings per mile, should show a large reduction, and the track, equipment and docks are in better condition than ever before. No extraordinary expenditure for construction, equipment or repairs, so far as can be foreseen, will be required, except for re-laying the eight miles with steel to which attention was called under the head of construction.

"The extension to Houghton is doing a good business, which should improve in another year. The passenger and freight traffic have been satisfactory, though the low price of copper has prevented free shipment. The company has a valuable asset in the eighty thousand odd acres of land granted by the State of Michigan to aid in the construction of this extension."

Allegheny Valley Railroad.

(For the year ending December 31, 1883.)

This road is now in receiver's hands at the suit of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Mr. John Scott, the President, remarks in his annual report for 1883:

"Substantial improvements have been made o both road and equipment by the enlargement and repair of stations and other buildings, the construction of freight depots at Du Bois and Falls Creek, the laying of additional sidings upon the different divisions, the renewal of bridges and culverts, and the purchase of one new locomotive and repairs to others. Last year the River Division was reported as being entirely laid with steel rails. At the close of 1883 the Low Grade Division lacked only 17 miles of being also fully equipped with steel, all of which has been charged to operating expenses, no additions having been made to construction account. For the year 1884 fifteen hundred tons of steel rails will be required and about 113,000 cross-t es." * * *

"The revenues of our road are still seriously affected by unavoidable reductions in freight rates, consequent upon the construction of new competitive lines. The receipts per ton per mile for 1883 were only 1·07 cents, being 0·08 cents lower than in 1882; and by reference to the detailed reports it will be seen that there has been a continuous reduction from year to year since 1872. There has been a slight improvement in empty freight car mileage, but the percentage for 1883 still shows unfavorably, being 38·82 for the River and 44·05 for the Low Grade Division. Notwithstanding these adverse features, and the expenditure in improving the condition of your property, as above noted, the cost of operating the road was slightly reduced for 1883, the percentage being 60·47 for 1883 and 60·57 for 1882."

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Chicago & Eastern Illinois.—At Chicago, May 20, the stockholders of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad met to consider the proposed issue of new bonds. President Stevens and Director Ball voted proxies for 27,789 shares out of a total of 30,000. They decided to issue $6,000,000 of first consolidated mortgage bonds, to retire the present outstanding bonds and to provide the means for building the necessary extension and purchase new equipment. This is an increase of $1,500,000 over the old bonded indebtedness of the company.

East Tennessee Virginia & Georgia.—It is reported that an arrangement has been consummated by which the East Tennessee Virginia & Georgia road secures entrance into Cincinnati over the Louisville & Nashville tracks from Jellico to Livingston, and from there over the Kentucky Central division of the Chesapeake & Ohio to Cincinnati. The Kentucky Central is now controlled jointly by Mr. C. P. Huntington and by Mr. Brice and his associates.

Grand Rapids & Indiana.—At Philadelphia, May 16, the bondholders of the Continental Improvement Company considered propositions in regard to the payment of interest due on December 1 next, and for the issue by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company of bonds which shall take precedence of the income bonds of that company. A committee was appointed by the Chairman (Senator Sherman), consisting of John N. Hutchinson, Charles J. Clark, William P. Shinn, George B. Roberts and William Thaw. This committee will repert at another meeting to be held a month later.

Grand Trunk of Canada and Associate Lines.—The returns of these roads are chiefly important to the New York market, as showing the net result of the working of one of the trunk lines from Chicago to the coast. In the returns below the most striking feature is the decrease in working expenses, which goes far to balance the loss in gross earnings. The following revenue statements are from the London papers:

Missouri Pacific.—The following is an official statement of the earnings and expenses of the Missouri Pacific Railway, including the Iron Mountain, for the first four months of the current year, ending with April. These figures are the first from the office of the earnings of the Southwestern (Gould) roads which have been furnished the CHRONICLE since January 1, 1884:

|---|---|
| Gross earnings | $5,222,289 |
| Expenses | 2,912,896 |
| Net earnings | $2,309,393 |
| Charges, including taxes and leases | 1,339,662 |
| Surplus income | $969,731 |

It is said that the above exhibit gives an increase in net earnings of $232,000 over the same period of 1883.

Northern Pacific.—The Philadelphia Press says that in March there was a material reduction in the ratio of operating expenses. They were reduced from 82 per cent in February to 50 per cent in March. The land sales amounted to $112,890 for the month, and $279,525 of preferred stock was canceled during the month, leaving the total outstanding $40,825,874. The gross and net earnings in March and for nine months of the fiscal year, from July 1 to March 31, were as follows:

Philadelphia & Reading.—Press dispatches from Philadelphia, May 21, said: "Ex-President Gowen, of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company, said to-day, respecting the rumors of the issuing of scrip by that company for wages and materials, that no scrip had yet been issued to any of the employes; the company had made its payment for materials and supplies in ordinary four-months' notes instead of cash. It was contemplated to issue scrip bearing interest for the wages payable in May and June, and when this issue was made it would be for the railroad hands, at three months, with interest, and for those of the Coal & Iron Company at thirty days, with interest; the reason for the difference being that a recent act of the Assembly made it illegal for mining and manufacturing companies to issue scrip for the payment of wages extending over a greater period than thirty days, and that by the time the announcement of the issue of this scrip was made public it would be accompanied by an announcement that the workmen could get cash for the scrip for its full face value at once. The company has to pay out in June and July for rentals and interest about $3,700,000. If they could have had full work in May and June they could have earned, over and above the fixed charges in those two months, more than enough to meet these large payments for interest and rentals. Although the company has good collaterals, and in ordinary times could have borrowed the money to tide over, at present it would be folly to pay out the money in hand and rely upon the ability to borrow; and hence it is considered wiser to issue scrip for the wages, which is a fixed lien upon the property of the company. The relief afforded by the issues of scrip will amount to $1,000,000 more in cash than is required by the company to pay the entire rental and interest accounts for June and July."

Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago.—At Pittsburg, May 21, the annual meeting of the stock and bond holders of the Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad Company was held. The following directors, whose terms had expired, were re-elected for four years: George W. Cass, Samuel J. Tilden, J. N. McCullough and Charles Lanier. President L. H. Meyer submitted his annual report, which showed that the gross earnings of the road for 1883 were $10,884,357; operating and maintaining expenses, $6,916,669. The absolute immediate cash profit to the lessee for 1883 was $700,718. Subsequent to the stockholders' meeting, a meeting of stock and bond holders was held, with a view to consider the proposition to sell the stock issues of the road to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for betterment bonds. President Meyer, in his report, says: "This plan has so far not met with the encouragement or approval it is entitled to; it is a feasible one, perfectly equitable, and ought to have the support of every stockholder." No action was taken with reference to the scheme, further than the appointment of a committee, consisting of L. H. Meyer, G. W. Cass and John N. Hutchinson, to make personal examination, and report to the President.

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad Company.—At Cincinnati, May 20, the application of the receiver of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad to file an intervening petition alleging that the first mortgage bonds of the Cincinnati & Northern were not legally issued, and asking that the order for the sale of the road be vacated, was argued before Justice Matthews, of the United States Supreme Court, Circuit Judge Baxter and District Judge Sage. The second mortgage bondholders and the judgment creditors were represented by counsel, and they asked to be made parties to the suit. The decison was to the effect that none of the parties had any standing in the court. This was true of the receiver, for the reason that he could not maintain an action hostile to the foreclosure suit in which he was appointed receiver. It applied to the second mortgage bondholders for the reason that they purchased the second issue under the supposition that the first issue was valid, and they could not complain if the validity of that issue was still maintained. As to the judgment creditors, while they might have had the right to file an intervening petition before the entry was made ordering the sale of the road, they could not claim that right now.

—A meeting of the bondholders of the Toledo Delphos & Burlington Railroad was held in room No. 15 at No. 115 Broadway, May 20. S. L. Woodhouse was made chairman. A motion that only first mortgage bondholders be allowed to vote was put and carried. Mr. Austin Corbin said that the call for the meeting had been made simply to state that the Indiana Bloomington & Western RR. wished to act in harmony with the bondholders of the Toledo Delphos & Burlington RR.; that he had no plan to suggest as to reorganization, but would suggest that a committee be appointed to confer with the committee of St. Louis Division bondholders appointed in Boston at a meeting a week ago. After some discussion the bondholders present passed a resolution approving the plans of the Quigley Committee, and thus declined to cooperate with Mr. Ballou and Mr. Corbin.

Trans-Continental Association.—At Chicago, May 22, the Trans-Continental Association, which regulates all California business, met to make final arrangements for the carrying into effect of the new money-pool arranged at the meeting in St. Louis a week or two ago. The Santa Fe and Burlington people objected to signing the new contract, unless the Union Pacific would give pledges that the Eastern connections of the Union Pacific would not interfere with the West-bound rates agreed upon by the association. The Union Pacific, under the tripartite agreement, could give no such assurances, as its Eastern allies have the right under contract to make all West-bound rates over its lines. A long and heated discussion finally culminated in an abandonment of the scheme to transfer the association into a money-pool. In order to prevent a war in California rates it was agreed to go on under the old contract, which is a traffic agreement, each road taking all the business it can get at agreed rates, under a heavy penalty for violating it. The Union Pacific re-called its notice of withdrawal, which would have gone into effect to-day, and the Texas Pacific, which had gone out, agreed to go in again. The association was to meet again on the 23d to strengthen the old contract, in order to prevent cut-rates until a new agreement can be made.

Wabash St. Louis & Pacific.—A press dispatch from Indianapolis, May 17, said that this railroad company had filed with the recorder of the county, and all other counties through which any of their lines run, copies of a mortgage made to the St. Louis & Iron Mountain Company, and covering their entire lines. This mortgage was prepared in December, 1883, and contains the following provision:

"In consequence of the guarantee of principal and interest of $10,000,000 collateral trust bonds of the Wabash Company by the Iron Mountain Railway Company, the Wabash conveys all its railroads and other property to the Iron Mountain Company, unless the Wabash pays the interest and principal of the said bonds. In case the Iron Mountain should default on its guarantee, the indenture stands for the benefit of the collateral trust bondholders. In case of a default by the Wabash, the Iron Mountain has the right to have possession of the property by foreclosure. This mortgage comes immediately after the first and general mortgages."

—In the old suit on equipment bonds, a decree was entered at Indianapolis, Ind., on May 10, against this company and in favor of David J. Tyson, Jr., Benj. F. Ham, et al, for $1,100,110, interest to date from May 1, 1883. The judgment was made a lien on that part of the road lying in Ohio and Indiana. An appeal was taken by the defendants to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Western North Carolina.—A dispatch from Waynesville, N. C., May 21, said: "The Ducktown Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad has been completed to the summit of Great Mountain, the highest point on the line, and will be open for through business to Murphy by August. From Murphy a line will be extended to Atlanta, and a branch to connect with the Louisville & Nashville system of roads."

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, May 23, 1884.

The continuance of the troubles in financial circles have had an unfavorable effect upon general trade. Many additional failures are announced. Coal production is to be further restricted. The depression in foreign exchange has retarded export business in food staples, though a considerable business has been done in wheat for the Continent. There has been a severe storm in the whole trans-Mississippi region, but generally the weather is most favorable for the growing crops.

The speculation in lard futures has shown considerable activity, and prices have varied widely. There was severe depression early in the week in sympathy with Western advices. To-day there was a slight improvement, but the close was weak at 8·39c. for June, 8·49c. for July and 8·59c. for August. Lard on the spot touched 8@ 8·05c. for prime City and 8·25@8·30c. for prime Western, at which there were heavy purchases, and the close is steadier; prime City 8·10@8·15c., prime Western 8·40@8·45c. and refined for the Continent 8·65c. Pork is firmer for mess, through the effect of Western speculation, closing at $17 75; but other grades are unchanged, clear back selling to-day at $18 25@ $18 75. Bacon remains quite nominal, but cutmeats are better; pickled bellies 7⅝@8c., hams 11½@12c. and shoulders 7¼c. Smoked meats quiet. Beef has been dull and India mess lower at $19@$21 per tierce. Beef hams are also lower at $24 per bbl. Tallow has declined to 6½c. for prime, stearine to 9¾c. and oleomargarine to 8⅝c. Butter is lower at 18@24c. for creamery and 10@17c. for Western factory. Cheese lower at 7@12c. for factory and 2@4½c. for skims. Fresh eggs declined, but closed steadier; Western and State, 13@15c.; Southern, 10@12½c. The following is a comparative summary of aggregate exports from November 1, 1883, to May 17, 1884:

| Pork, lbs | 23,119,800 | 27,902,600 | 4,782,800 |
| Bacon, lbs | 203 845,110 | 258,378,390 | 54,533,280 |
| Lard, lbs | 114,292,534 | 138,021,031 | 23,728,497 |
| Total lbs | 341,257,444 | 424,302,021 | 83,044,577 |

Rio coffee has been dull and, to a great extent, nominal on the spot at 10¼c.; the closeness of money here and in Rio de Janeiro has a bad effect on the trade; options have been quiet at declining prices; to-day June sold at 8·20c., July at 8·40c., August at 8·45c., September at 8·50c., October at 8·60c., November at 8·65c. and December at 8·70c.; mild grades have been fairly active and steady. Tea has been dull and nominal. Spices have been quiet but firm, especially for pepper. Rice has been moderately active and steady. Foreign fruits have been steady but quiet. Molasses has been dull and Cuba has declined to 19c. for 50 degrees test refining. Raw sugar has been dull and lower; fair refining is quoted on the spot at 5⅛c.; that grade has sold at 5·07½c. for July and 5·35c. for Sept.; granulated was quoted at 6⅞@6 15-16c., powdered at 7¼@7½c. and crushed at 7⅝@7¾c.

In Kentucky tobacco the movement either on the spot or for future delivery has been quite moderate, and yet all prices are well sustained: lugs on the spot quoted 7¾@8¼c. and leaf 8½@ 9½c.; June sold to-day at 7⅞c., July, 8 1-16c. and September 8¾c. Seed leaf steady but quiet; sales 1,550 cases, including 500 cases crop 1883. State Havana seed, private terms; 300 cases crop 1883, New England, 11 to 26c.; 150 cases crop 1883, Pennsylvania, 5 to 16c.; 200 cases crop 1881, do, 7 to 10c.; 100 cases crop 1882, Wisconsin Havana, 25c., and 100 cases sundries, 5 to 18c.; also 400 bales Havana, 80c. to $1 15 and 200 bales Sumatra, $1 20 to $1 65.

Although spirits turpentine has remained quiet, the tone has been well supported, and to-night the figures are firm at 33c. in yard. Rosins also have been quite slow and the drift has been downward; common to good strained quoted to-day at $1 37½ @$1 42½. Refined petroleum has been fairly active until to-day, when the advance in ocean freights checked the movement and depressed 70 Abel test to 8¼c. Crude oil certificates have been depressed to 69⅞c., but since Wednesday a brighter tone has existed; there have been sales at 76c., and yet to-day on a selling movement prices broke from 75⅜c. to 73¼c. and closed at 73⅜@73⅞c. In metals, oils, wool and hops the movement has been limited and prices do not occupy a very sound position.

Ocean freight-room has been more active of late, particularly for oil charter room, and rates all along the line have been advanced. To-night the feeling is quite firm, and tonnage is not in excessive supply. Grain was taken to London by steam, 3⅜@3½d.; do. to Leith by steam, 4d.; do. to Newcastle by steam, 4d.; do. to Hamburg by steam, 40 pfennigs. Refined petroleum to Antwerp, London, or Liverpool, 2s. 4½d.; crude do. to Fiume, 3s. 10½d.; crude and residuum to Cette, 3s.@3s. 4½d.; refined, London, or Antwerp, 2s. 5¼d.; do. to German Baltic, 3s. 3d.; cases from Philadelphia to Genoa, 14c.

COTTON.

FRIDAY, P. M., May 23, 1884.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (May 23), the total receipts have reached 5,863 bales, against 8,694 bales last week, 15,657 bales the previous week and 20,053 bales three weeks since; making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1883, 4,743,533 bales, against 5,793,760 bales for the same period of 1882-83, showing a decrease since September 1, 1883, of 1,050,227 bales.

The speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market has been much less active for the week under review. Prices, though somewhat irregular and unsettled, have been less depressed. The foreign markets have slightly improved, and crop accounts from the Southwest, where excessive rains have again fallen, have been unfavorable. On Saturday the market was active and buoyant with the return of ease in the money market, the advance for May amounting to 15 points, and on Monday there was a further advance for May of 6 points, making a recovery of 21 points from the closing figures of Friday; but the other months were only slightly dearer, and on Tuesday there was a general decline of 6@9 points. Wednesday was variable, closing slightly dearer. Thursday opened strong but dull; not until the last hour, when reports were received of destructive storms in Texas, obstructing railway transportation and necessarily doing injury to growing crops, was there any material advance. Then the next crop became buoyant, improving 9 to 12 points, which was partially lost at the close. To-day there was some further advance, in sympathy with Liverpool advices, but the heavy rains in the Southwest had ceased, and the market soon relapsed into dulness, closing, as compared with last Friday, 26 points dearer for May, 9@11 dearer for the summer months and 17@20 dearer for the next crop. Cotton on the spot has been more active for export as well as home consumption, the business footing up a larger aggregate than in any week for many months past. Quotations were advanced 1-16c. on Monday. To-day there was a further advance of 1-16c., middling uplands closing at 11⅝c., with the business still brisk.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 357,100 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 9,891 bales, including 3,755 for export, 6,136 for consumption, — for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON to-night, as made up by cable and telegraph, is as follows. The Continental stocks, as well as those for Great Britain and the afloat, are this week's returns, and consequently all the European figures are brought down to Thursday evening. But to make the totals the complete figures for to-night (May 23), we add the item of exports from the United States, including in it the exports of Friday only.

☞ The imports into Continental ports this week have been 43,000 bales.

The above figures indicate a decrease in the cotton in sight to-night of 335,087 bales as compared with the same date of 1883, a decrease of 92,995 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1882 and a decrease of 241,159 bales as compared with 1881.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statement:

* This year's figures estimated.

The above totals show that the old interior stocks have decreased during the week 5,240 bales and are to-night 48,627 bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 10,522 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 674,585 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows -1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,764,900 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,902,840 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,592,[illegible] bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 5,863 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 564 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 30,233 bales and for 1882 they were 2,564 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT MAY 23.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to May 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to May 23 | 4,743,533 | 5,793,760 | 4,533,846 | 5,530,131 |
| Interior stocks on May 23 in excess of September 1..... | 21,367 | 109,080 | 58,593 | 108,635 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,764,900 | 5,902,840 | 4,592,43[illegible] | 5,638,766 |
| Net overland to May 1..... | 546,726 | 599,862 | 422,640 | 472,241 |
| Southern consumpt'n to May 1. | 264,000 | 275,000 | 210,000 | 175,000 |
| Total in sight May 23..... | 5,575,626 | 6,777,702 | 5,225,06[illegible] | 6,286,007 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,202,076 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 350,557 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 710,381 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—There have been very heavy rains in Texas during the week, the rainfall being particularly excessive in the northern districts. In consequence some plantations have been flooded and work is at a stand-still. At a few other points in the Southwest the rainfall has also been greater than desirable. In the remainder of the South, however, the weather has in general been quite favorable and the crop outlook is encouraging.

Galveston, Texas.—It has rained hard on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and sixty-one hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 78, ranging from 63 to 84.

Indianola, Texas.—It has rained very hard on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and fourteen hundredths. The extent of damage has not yet been ascertained. The thermometer has ranged from 65 to 88, averaging 78.

Palestine, Texas.—It has rained tremendously on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching eight inches and ninety-eight hundredths. Much damage has been done, and all work is suspended. Average thermometer 72, highest 85 and lowest 60.

Huntsville, Texas.—We have had very hard and unwelcome rain on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching three inches and thirty-four hundredths. As yet we cannot report the effect of the rain, but it must be hurtful. The thermometer has averaged 78, the highest being 91 and the lowest 62.

Luling, Texas.—It has rained enormously on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching four inches and ten hundredths. We were needing a good shower, but not such a flood. Accounts from the interior conflict. The thermometer has averaged 78, ranging from 64 to 82.

Brenham, Texas.—We have had rain on three days of the week, and coming on top of previous rains much damage has been done. The rainfall reached three inches and sixty hundredths. It is impossible to work. The thermometer has ranged from 62 to 90, averaging 77.

Belton, Texas.—It has rained hard on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching three inches and ninety-nine hundredths. Work has been suspended and all streams are overflowed. Much damage has been done. Average thermometer 75, highest 90 and lowest 56.

Weatherford, Texas.—It has rained on three days of the week—a flood unprecedented. The rainfall reached thirteen inches and ninety-seven hundredths. Much damage has been done. All work is at a halt, and there are railroad washouts everywhere. The thermometer has averaged 70, the highest being 84 and the lowest 50.

Dallas, Texas.—We have had rain on five days of the week (another flood this week), the rainfall reaching five inches and twenty-two hundredths. Much damage has been done to both crops and railroads; it lacks little of a disaster. Streams everywhere out of their banks. The thermometer has averaged 75, ranging from 60 to 92.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and seven hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 78.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—We have had several heavy rains during the week, with very heavy rain on the night of the 21st. The rainfall reached eight inches and forty-eight hundredths. About six inches of rain fell on the 21st, and the river rose nearly two feet, but is now falling. The thermometer has ranged from 60 to 87.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—We have had warm, sultry, wet weather during the week, with rain on three days, the rainfall reaching four inches and twenty-one hundredths. We are having too much rain. The thermometer has ranged from 59 to 85.

Meridian, Mississippi—It has rained on one day of the week. The crop is developing promisingly, and good progress is being made in clearing the fields of weeds. The thermometer has ranged from 58 to 91.

Greenville, Mississippi.—Telegram not received.

Columbus, Mississippi.—It has been showery on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching fifty-seven hundredths of an inch. Considerable re-planting has been necessary, but stands are fairly good. Weather favorable. The thermometer has averaged 73, the highest being 89 and the lowest 57.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—It has been cloudy on four days of the week, with rain, and the remainder of the week has been clear. The rainfall reached three inches. Crops are looking very fine, but for the next two or three weeks will need dry weather to keep the grass down and bring crops to a stand. The thermometer has averaged 67, ranging from 56 to 77.

Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—We have had rain on three days of the week. Cotton is suffering somewhat from cold nights. The thermometer has ranged from 58 to 86.

Helena, Arkansas.—It has been showery on two days, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy. The rainfall reached three inches and forty hundredths. The river is now fifteen feet below the danger line and falling rapidly. The thermometer has averaged 73, the highest being 78 and the lowest 60.

Newport, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Memphis, Tennessee.—We had dry weather on the first five days of the week, but on the last two there has been rain, which was very beneficial to crops. The rainfall reached two inches and seventy-five hundredths. Average thermometer 70·5, highest 82 and lowest 54·5.

Nashville, Tennessee.—We have had no rain all the week. The receipts during the past fortnight were composed largely of cotton shipped here from New Orleans for our mill. The thermometer has averaged 69, the highest being 88 and the lowest 51.

Mobile, Alabama.—It has been showery on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and fifty-six hundredths. The crop develops promisingly; there are but few complaints. The thermometer has averaged 77, ranging from 64 to 91.

Montgomery, Alabama.—It has rained on two days, but the remainder of the week has been pleasant and warm. The rainfall reached fifty hundredths of an inch. The crop is developing promisingly. The thermometer has ranged from 59 to 93, averaging 76.

Selma, Alabama.—It has rained on one day, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached twenty-eight hundredths of an inch. The crop is developing promisingly. Average thermometer 75, highest 89 and lowest 57.

Madison, Florida.—Telegram not received.

Macon, Georgia.—We have had rain on one day of the week. More rain would be beneficial. The cotton plant looks strong and healthy, though small, and a good stand has been secured. The thermometer has averaged 73, ranging from 56 to 87.

Columbus, Georgia.—We have had no rain during the week. The thermometer has ranged from 64 to 89, averaging 81.

Savannah, Georgia—The weather has been pleasant during the week, with no rain. Average thermometer 76, highest 90 and lowest 65.

Augusta, Georgia.—The days have been warm and the nights cool and pleasant, with light rain on one day. The rainfall reached two hundredths of an inch. Crops are about ten days behind last year, but promise well. Stands are good, and the plant looks strong and healthy. The weather continues favorable. The thermometer has averaged 75, the highest being 90 and the lowest 61.

Atlanta, Georgia.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching forty hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 72·6, ranging from 56 to 86.

Charleston, South Carolina.—There has been no rain during the week. The thermometer has ranged from 65 to 91, averaging 75.

Columbia, South Carolina.—Telegram not received.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock May 22, 1884, and May 24, 1883.

| | | May 22, '84. | | May 24, '83. | |

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to May 22.

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts of 22,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 32,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 63,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| 1883 | 100 | ..... | 100 | 69,500 | 12,100 | 81,600 |

The above totals for the week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 300 bales more than same week last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments since January 1, 1884, and for the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are as follows:

Exports to Europe from all India.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

| Alexandria, Egypt, May 21 | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82 |

GEORGIA AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT REPORT.—The report of the Georgia Agricultural Department for May has been issued. It speaks as follows on cotton:

The area devoted to cotton is reported one per cent less than that of last year in the whole State. In North Georgia the acreage compared to that of last year is 94, in Middle Georgia 100, in Southwest Georgia 99, in East Georgia 101, and in Southeast Georgia 102.

The average time of planting is reported in the whole State seven days later than that of last year. In North Georgia, twelve days later, Middle Georgia twelve days, Southwest Georgia four days, East Georgia four days, and in Southeast Georgia two days.

The amount of commercial fertilizers used on cotton compared to last year is reported in North Georgia 97, in Middle Georgia 107, in Southwest Georgia 100, in East Georgia 98, in Southeast Georgia 77, and in the whole State 96.

Eighty per cent of the cotton crop of the State is manured with commercial fertilizers, or home manures. In North Georgia 94 per cent, in Middle Georgia 84 per cent, in Southwest Georgia 79 per cent, in East Georgia 80 per cent, and in Southeast Georgia 67 per cent.

In North Georgia home manures or composts are reported as constituting 33 per cent of the fertilizers used on this crop, in Middle Georgia 29 per cent, in Southwest Georgia 33 per cent, in East Georgia 25 per cent, in Southeast Georgia 54 per cent, and in the entire State 35 per cent.

In North Georgia 5 per cent of the crop was up to May 1st, in Middle Georgia 14 per cent, in Southwest Georgia 72 per cent, in East Georgia 46 per cent, and in Southeast Georgia 62 per cent.

In some portions of North Georgia the crop was not all planted at this date.

The stand where the cotton is up, compared to a good stand is 90 in North Georgia, 86 in Middle Georgia, 97 in Southwest Georgia, 91 in East Georgia, 97 in Southeast Georgia, and 92 in the whole State.

The condition of the plant compared to an average is 93 in North Georgia, 84 in Middle Georgia, 97 in Southwest Georgia, 91 in East Georgia, 97 in Southeast Georgia and 93 in the whole State.

EAST INDIA CROP.—Messrs. Wallace & Co.'s cotton report, dated Bombay, April 18, gives the following:

"Oomrawuttee of satisfactory quality is now difficult to obtain. Broach is rapidly coming to an end, and Dhollerah is therefore the only growth that is likely to be available for shipment to Europe in any quantity after the end of this month, but, looking to the improvement that has lately taken place in prices, there is every probability of the bulk of that crop being marketed before the rains, which will go some way towards making up for the unexpected shortage in the supply of Oomrawuttee and Broach, and bring the export to Europe for the half-year up to 900,000 bales."

BREADSTUFFS.

Flour as a rule has been very quiet and more or less depressed. The higher grades of both spring and winter flour have been the best sustained, but even these have sold to only a moderate extent. Most descriptions have been in ample supply. To-day the market was quiet but steady.

Wheat has been in better demand for export, and the firmness of holders has alone prevented a notable increase in the trade. Foreign exchange has at times been somewhat more favorable to exporters, and this fact has encouraged business, as also have the rather stronger markets in Europe; while the possibility of an import duty being levied on wheat by France and Germany has not been without a certain influence. High rates for money and excessive carrying charges, however, have caused a falling off in the speculative transactions here, and in Chicago the same causes have produced a like result. The weather has been favorable for the crop. Prices have fluctuated frequently. Yesterday they advanced, owing to light receipts at Chicago and some demand from the shorts. To-day there was a moderate business here at a decline of ½c. to 1c. No. 2 red sold at $1 03 in elevator, $1 02½@$1 03⅛ for June, $1 04¾@$1 05¾ for July, and $1 04⅜@$1 05⅛ for August, showing an advance for the week of 2c. on the spot, while a rise in futures at one time noticeable was lost to-day. The bull clique at Milwaukee, it is stated, refuse to sell. No. 2 red closed at $1 03⅛ for June, $1 05¾ for July, $1 05 for August and $1 05¾ for September.

Indian corn has been in fair demand for export and prices have advanced a little. The speculation has been unusually small, however. The weather has been favorable in the main, but there are fears expressed that some of the stock at Chicago will have to be posted as unsound if it is kept much longer. To-day there was a light trade here at a decline of ½c. to ¾c. No. 2 mixed closed at 63c. in elevator, 62½c. for May and June, 64c. for July and 65¼c. for August, showing an advance for the week of ½c. to 1c.

Barley is out of season. Rye has been firmer and fairly active. There is considered to be a possibility of an import duty being levied on this cereal by France and Germany. Oats have been quiet and featureless, beyond the fact that prices at one time advanced slightly in response to a rise in other cereals. To-day the market was dull and weaker. No. 2 mixed closed at 37½c. for June and 38c. for July.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

In the wholesale branches of the dry goods trade the past week the volume of business was exceedingly light, and disappointing to manufacturers' agents, importers and jobbers alike. The season has now so far advanced that nothing beyond a mere hand-to-mouth demand is looked for by wholesale merchants, but even these moderate expectations were not realized. There were very few out-of-town package buyers in the market, and their purchases were confined within very narrow limits, while the order demand was conspicuously light, despite favorable accounts regarding the increased activity of the retail trade, and encouraging reports about the condition of the growing crops. Of course the late financial upheaval has engendered a very cautious feeling among merchants, and some little time will probably elapse before confidence is fully restored. The retail trade throughout the country has been greatly stimulated by fine seasonable weather and liberal quantities of spring and summer fabrics were undoubtedly placed in the channels of consumption during the week. Notwithstanding the late lull in business, jobbers and the manufacturing trade are paying up promptly as a rule, and jobbers in most sections of the country report very little difficulty in making collections from their customers.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics for the week were 3,289 packages, including 2,345 to Great Britain, 227 to Chili, 200 to British East Indies, 120 to United States of Colombia, 113 to Venezuela, and minor shipments to other destinations. The demand for nearly all descriptions of cotton goods was extremely light at first hands, and the jobbing trade was very quiet. Despite the lack of demand prices are without quotable change, and the most desirable fabrics are steadily held, though slight concessions could probably be obtained by buyers of "round lots" of outside makes—if any such buyers could be found. Stocks of plain and colored cottons are gradually increasing, but production is being kept within reasonable bounds, and no unwieldy accumulations exist as yet. Print cloths were in moderate demand and fairly steady on the basis of 3⅛c. for 64x64s and 3c. for 56x60s, with rather more sellers than buyers at these figures. Prints were very dull in first hands, but a fair business was done in these goods by jobbers; and other wash fabrics, as ginghams, lawns, chambrays, foulards, sateens, &c., were in fair request.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The demand for woolen goods has shown no improvement, the transactions of the week (as regards new business) having been very unsatisfactory. Many of the most popular heavy cassimeres, worsted coatings and overcoatings are well under the control of orders, and fair deliveries of these goods were made on account of early purchases, but the supply of indifferent styles and poor qualities is somewhat redundant. Stocks of Kentucky jeans in first hands have been reduced to a minimum by curtailed production and recent large sales, and goods of this class are steadier than of late. Satinets continued to move in fair quantities on account of back orders, but the current demand was only moderate. Jersey cloths, cloakings and stockinettes were in light and irregular demand, and dealings in flannels were mainly restricted to popular makes of white wool flannels, in which a fair trade was done by agents. Carpets and shawls ruled quiet, and the demand for hosiery and knit underwear was exceptionally light.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS were dull and featureless in first hands, and the jobbing trade was spasmodic and irregular. There was, however, a steady call for small parcels of light summer fabrics, as white goods, laces, nun's veilings, summer silks and specialties in ribbons and millinery goods. The auction rooms presented small offerings of assorted goods, but with indifferent results, the demand having been slack and prices low.

Importations of Dry Goods.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

During the forty years of its publication THE LIVING AGE has met with continuous commendation and success.

double-column octavo pages of reading matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its great amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a satisfactory completeness attempted by no other publication, the best Essays, Reviews, Crit cisms, Serial and Short Stories, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific, Biographical, Historical and Political Information, from the entire body of Foreign Periodical Literature.

It is therefore invaluable to every American reader, as the only satisfactorily fresh and COMPLETE compilation of an indispensable current literature,—indispensable because it embraces the productions of

in all branches of Literature, Science, Politics and Art.

"No other periodical gives so diversified a view of current literature, not by abridgments, but by publishing entire the best essays, criticisms, discussions, short stories, and serial romances of the day * * * It is for readers of limited leisure or purse the most convenient and available means of possessing themselves of the very best results of current criticism, philosophy, science, and literature."—Presbyterian Banner, Pittsburg.

"Through its pages alone it is possible to be as well informed in current literature as by the perusal of a long list of monthlies.'—Phila. Enquirer.

"Whatever there is of interest in the literary and scientific world is spread before its readers."—Boston Journal.

"No reader who makes himself familiar with its contents can lack the means of a sound literary culture."—New York Tribune.

"It furnishes a complete compilation of an indispensable literature."—Chicago Evening Journal

"Remarkably cheap for the quality and amount of reading furnished."—Montreal Gazette.

"It is by odds the best periodical in the world."—Morning Star, Wilmington, N. C.

"We know of no equal to THE LIVING AGE for variety of information, depth of interest, and purity of tone. Its pages are sufficient to keep any reader abreast with the best printed thoughts of the best of our contemporary writers. It is the great eclectic of the world."—Episcopal Register, Philadelphia.

"It flourishes in even more than youthful vigor It has become indispensable."—New York Observer.

"Its readers are supplied with the best literature of the day. * * * There is nothing noteworthy in science, art, literature, biography, philosophy, or religion, tha cannot be found in it. * * * It gives in accessible form the best thought of the age."—The Churchman, New York.

"It becomes more and more necessary as the field of periodical literature broadens."—Zion's Herald, Boston.

The Corbin Banking Co.

No. 115 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms in that and other Northwestern States. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized to succeed him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Result Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upwards of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best-Paying Investment in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and our correspondents' statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period, we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

To investors who wish to place money for a term of years with entire safety, at rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent, we recommend these loans as being, all things considered, the Best in the World.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to all inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, comprising investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity, there has now been paid $118,180, with an added interest of $63,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record as this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans. 33088

On page 636 will be found the detailed returns of the Banks of the Dominion of Canada for April 30, furnished us by the Deputy Minister of Finance, Mr. J. M. Courtney. The returns for March 31 were published in the CHRONICLE of April 26 on page 493, and those for February 29, in the issue of March 29, on page 376.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The improvement noted last week has made further progress this week, and in the very same directions then indicated. It should be remembered, that this has not been strictly speaking a financial nor a commercial panic, but a moral panic. Commercially we were in a conservative condition, and financially we were by no means extended; on the contrary, capital was abundant, interest was low, and merchants were comparatively out of debt. But the public has been in a distrustful attitude ever since the third week of February, when it first realized the danger there was from silver coinage—so distrustful that our banks lost 33½ millions of deposits from that date to May 10th. With such a start, the demoralization produced by the frightful developments in the financial institutions of this city can cause no surprise. For the moment all of them were distrusted, but the impregnable position they quickly assumed as a united body, speedily checked the delusion and confidence has been growing ever since.

We are therefore very much better off than we were a week ago, though so long as silver dollars are coined the recovery will never be complete. A source of no little strength has been the very decided flow of foreign capital this way; it has had a reassuring influence, besides having directly helped to steady values at our Stock Exchange. There has been much discussion as to the extent of this movement, but the fuller mail advices this week from London, taken in connection with the very decided fall in the rates of sterling exchange in face of the fact that our foreign trade is running so decidedly against us, together with the information obtained from our own bankers, leave no warrant for doubting its importance. In fact we learn of large amounts of securities being sent forward, not only first-class investment stocks, but also a good supply of railroad mortgages which have been picked up at the lower rates prevailing. And we are inclined to think that this movement once begun will continue, since capital is very abundant in London, and if discrimination is used, railroad property can be obtained here which is well worth the purchase even at higher prices than now ruling. It is evident from the trade figures for April, comment upon which is elsewhere made, and the less favorable trade for May, as the New York movement indicates, that the only dependence of the exchange market for bills must be the sale of securities or foreign capital drawn here by reason of our improved rates of interest. As to breadstuffs speculators, they appear determined to pursue the policy of artificially maintaining prices above the views of foreign buyers, notwithstanding the fact that not only here but the world over the present promise of the wheat crop points to a very abundant yield.

The recovery which is in progress has been materially retarded by the new evidence constantly coming to light with reference to the failures which were the immediate cause of the panic, and by fresh developments of faithlessness and fraud in connection with corporate management elsewhere. Last Saturday the West Side Bank closed its doors, after acknowledging a defalcation on the part of its paying teller of $85,000. An examination of its condition shows however that its capital is unimpaired, and that even a surplus remains; but in the disturbed state of credit, and with the defalcation announced, it was feared that its deposits would be very rapidly withdrawn, and thus a heavy burden be laid on any bank which should undertake to act as its agent; hence, as it could obtain no one to redeem for it, it was forced to suspend. It is announced now that it will resume operations to-day. The Penn Bank of Pitsburg, which reopened its doors last Saturday, closed them again on Monday, and the developments since then seem to point to a most disgraceful state of facts, the frauds committed almost passing belief. Thursday it was announced that receivers of the Wabash railroad had been appointed. These and other somewhat similar, though less important, developments, have served to prevent that speedy return of confidence which so many anticipated.

A class of operators on our Stock Exchange have also been busy endeavoring to keep up the general nervousness, and have undoubtedly had some influence. One day it was announced that money was loaning flat, the object being to convey by that statement the idea that the holder of the money had no confidence in the banks, and considered it safer to let it out on good security without interest, than to put the money into any of them. Another day it was proclaimed that Clearing-House certificates were selling at a discount. The foolishness of such a statement is not known to the large body of depositors. For the sake of such it may be well enough to explain that these certificates cannot have any vitality outside a bank. Any one of the Clearing-House institutions who desires them takes to the loan committee its bills receivable as security, and obtains in return certificates in amounts of say $10,000 each, which can be used to pay balances at the Clearing-House. As 6 per cent interest must be paid on these certificates, and as they can be turned in and canceled at any time and the interest stopped, one readily sees the absurdity of the idea of their being sold below par anywhere. Still, suggestions like these are to some extent disturbing even now, as the public has been so thoroughly frightened; it is really more natural to believe that the loan committee are taking nothing but "chromos" for collaterals, than that the paintings it has received are simply one among many pieces of evidence of an earnest effort on the part of the late president of the Metropolitan Bank to make every restitution possible for the losses incurred through the poor securities which may have got into the bank by his influence.

The actual progress we have made this week towards a better state of things is pretty fairly reflected in the recovery in values of stocks and the improved feeling in the market. There has been good buying, more than the mere covering of short contracts. In addition to the takings on foreign account already referred to, strong combinations have been formed backed by large amounts of capital which has been borrowed on long time, the intention apparently being to support properties of established value, and thus help to restore confidence. It is not to be expected that there will be any continuous rapid rise; it would not be supported even if it were possible to effect it. There is too much distrust still, too many elements of uncertainty remaining for such a market. But earnings continue fairly satisfactory, and though it is to be expected that, during the summer, traffic on the trunk lines will be light, that Delaware Lackawanna & Western and Reading will, for the present, suffer more or less loss from the partial suspension of mining which has been agreed upon by the coal combination, and indeed that exceptional influence may operate against other stocks, yet during succeeding weeks the general conditions ought to improve, and values improve with them.

Pennsylvania Railroad's exhibit for the month of April is more favorable than that of any other recent month, and is interesting as showing the importance, in any estimate bearing upon the future, of making allowance for the possibility of large reductions in expenses under the cheapening of the cost of fuel, materials, supplies and probably also labor later on. In proportion as expenses have increased in the past is there room for reduction in the future, and the Pennsylvania certainly has been adding very heavily to its expense account in recent years. Measures of economy, too, it must be remembered, do not show their effects all at once, but are rather progressive in their growth, and need time for their development. In this view, the figures of the Pennsylvania for the four months of the current year may possess greater significance than has yet been attached to them. Thus it is to be remarked that on the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie there was during January and February a heavy decrease in earnings, accompanied by only a small decrease in expenses; in March the decrease in expenses was much greater, and came nearer to equalling the falling off in receipts, while now in April gross earnings have increased $94,559 over 1883, and yet expenses have been cut down $132,066 in the same time, which is the best proof attainable of an increased economy in operating. It is to be noted further that business could not have been so bad as many would have us believe when the Pennsylvania can show a gain, however small, in earnings, and particularly on a 15 cent rate for through business between Chicago and New York. Of course, the Pennsylvania's stronghold is the local traffic, but it was not supposed that this could escape the effects of continued business depression. It may be, however, that the benefits from coal traffic, of which it is known the road had a larger amount than in the previous year, may have offset the diminution in other items. On the lines west of Pittsburg, where there is less local traffic, the influence of the lower rate would be more decided, and here there is again a falling off, though much smaller in amount than in the preceding months. Below are the results on the combined lines for six years.

We here see that on the Eastern system the net earnings this year were larger than in any other April, but on the Western lines the surplus (beyond the amount necessary to meet all liabilities) was only $49,682, against $124,382 last year, and as much as $488,661 in April, 1881. Still, any surplus at all is an improvement on preceding months, when there was a heavy deficit. This is shown in the fact that for the four months we have a deficiency of $315,808, against a surplus of $401,022 in 1883, and a surplus of between $1,300,000 and $1,400,000 in 1880 and 1881. Taking both east and west lines, the company is $1,058,118 behind on the four months as compared with last year, and $2,155,398 behind 1881, but about $200,000 ahead of 1882.

Philadelphia & Reading's exhibit for the month of April shows clearly that the company's losses of earnings heretofore reported have been due to the single fact of a large restriction in the output of coal, and not in any degree to a falling off in its general business. For the four months to the end of March, the company had, as Mr. Gowen showed in his letter to us, twice as many idle days at the mines as in the corresponding four months of the preceding fiscal year, and the result was, that there was a comparative falling off in the net earnings available for interest and other fixed charges of over two million dollars, allowing in this for the loss on the Central New Jersey lease. In April, however, the company had only six idle days or the same number as in the preceding year, and consequently its net earnings for the month not only show no falling off from 1883, but, on the contrary, exhibit an increase, even after taking into account the loss on the Central of New Jersey lease, which is this time small. The increase, of course, reflects the larger movement of passengers and of merchandise freight, and here we note that the number of passengers carried during April, 1884 (after taking out those on the Central New Jersey), was 1,135,739, while in April, 1883, it was only 1,033,827, and that merchandise freight amounted to 649,032 tons, against 562,446 tons. The company states its total net earnings for April this year at $1,410,951, against $817,428 last year, but of course that does not afford a correct comparison, since the Central New Jersey added $466,626 to the total in the present year, but added nothing last year. In the following table we present the results in such a way as to permit of a direct comparison.

| Philadelphia & Reading RR. | April. | | Five Months. | |
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. |
| | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| Net earnings of Railroad lines | 1,304,161 | 755,428 | 4,305,551 | 3,586,219 |
| Deduct Central of N. J., net | 466,626 | ..... | 1,405,953 | ..... |
| Net on Reading proper | 837,535 | 755,428 | 2,899,598 | 3,586,219 |
| Add result on Coal Co. | +106,790 | +62,000 | −296,964 | +72,453 |
| Total of both companies | 944,325 | 817,428 | 2,602,634 | 3,658,672 |
| Loss on Central lease | −48,017 | ..... | −100,881 | ..... |
| Actual net result | 896,308 | 817,428 | 1,595,753 | 3,658,672 |

From this we see that taking out the Central of New Jersey net, and also allowing for the loss on the lease of that road—in other words, taking out the rental in full, which the company had to meet this year, but did not have to meet last year—the Reading had remaining $896,308 to apply to its own charges for interest, rentals, etc., in April of the present year, against $817,428 in the month of April last year, an improvement of $78,880, which is by far the best exhibit that the road has made in any month of the present fiscal year. Of course this gain could offset only in small measure the heavy loss of preceding months; so we find that to the end of April the company is still $2,062,919 behind the corresponding period last year, the net actually available this year being $1,595,753, against $3,658,672 in 1882–3. As the road is so largely dependent upon the output of coal for its prosperity, we may say that in May there was a stoppage of production on nine days, against six in April, but this should not affect the comparison with 1883, since in May, 1883, the stoppage was also nine days. In June, however, it has been agreed to suspend mining for twelve days, which is twice as long as in June of last year.

Pacific Mail Steamship Company is promptly to hand with a report of its operations for the fiscal year ended April 30. The showing made will be considered a very favorable one, especially when it is remembered the ocean carrying trade the world over has been greatly depressed of late, complaints of dulness and an entire absence of freight being very numerous. The company's earnings direct from passengers and freight during the year reached $4,403,071, which is an improvement of $689,911 on the preceding year. The report tells us that the increase, with one exception, is common to all the company's different lines, and we observe that both passengers and freight share in it, the gain in the former being $258,873, and in the latter $431,038. In addition to its earnings from passengers and freight, the company received $384,828 from subsidies and miscellaneous items, which raised the total of its receipts to $4,787,899. Of this, expenses and all other items of payment absorbed only $3,394,418, leaving a clear balance of $1,393,481 on the year's operations. How this compares with previous years is shown briefly in the following statement.

| | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| Gross earnings | 4,057,285 | 3,762,082 | 3,713,160 | 4,403,071 |
| Other receipts | 345,363 | 362,633 | 389,607 | 384,828 |
| Payments— | | | | |
| Operating expenses | 2,543,993 | 2,476,013 | 2,553,250 | 2,787,144 |
| Other payments and int. | 628,712 | 747,026 | 627,271 | 607,274 |
| Net result | 1,229,943 | 901,676 | 912,260 | 1,393,481 |

Here we find a considerable gain in net result both on 1882–3 and 1881–2, and, contrary to the rule among railroad companies, also a marked improvement on the year 1880–1, which latter was a period when the country at large was enjoying such exceptional prosperity. As the company's stock is 20 million dollars, the balance remaining is, as the directors state, equal to nearly 7 per cent on the same. The Pacific Mail's position, both as respects finances and earnings, has undergone great improvement of late. Only a few years ago it was on the verge of bankruptcy, with its credit gone, its ships in part disabled and in part unpaid for, and a debt beyond its ability to handle. Now its service is in good condition, and it reports no debt except the $838,944 still due on the loan from the Panama Railroad, and this is being steadily reduced at the rate of $20,000 per month and has been cut down to the present figure from $1,400,000 in 1881. The liabilities of the company beyond the Panama loan are only $348,876 altogether, and against this there is $993,814 in cash on hand and $293,166 more in cash items.

Northern Pacific has this week furnished a telegraphic abstract of its expenses and earnings for April, which bears out the remark we made last week in reviewing the figures to the end of March, namely that the net for April, when added to the previous net, would suffice to meet the whole of the company's fixed charges for the fiscal year. On gross of $1,441,514, operating expenses are reported as $598,167, which would leave net of $843,347. In the preceding nine months the company had earned $3,230,774, so this makes the total net for the ten months of the fiscal year that have elapsed, $4,074,121. Vice-President Oakes, as stated last week, has estimated the call for interest during the year at $3,882,341, consequently there is a surplus of nearly $200,000, with May and June yet to hear from.

The rates for money at the Stock Exchange have been variable this week, and governed more by the demand than by any other consideration. While stocks remained largely oversold, the rates for money on call were quoted at from 1 to 3 per cent. After the short interest was closed out the rate rose to 8 per cent on Wednesday, but later in the afternoon of that day it fell to 2 per cent. That rates at the Stock Exchange afford no indication, at present at least, of the condition of the money market is shown by the fact that the very few call loans made by the banks are at 6 per cent, and even at this rate on choice collateral. The banks are doing nothing in commercial paper, and what few notes are now being made are absorbed by country institutions who are investing their balances here in this security. The Boston banks report that all their money is at home or in that vicinity, balances having been entirely withdrawn from this centre. During the week some large loans have been made by institutions other than deposit banks in this city at from 5 to 5½ per cent for six months on government bond collateral. After confidence is fully restored and when balances now withdrawn are returned, the market will resume its normal condition. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

| Total gold and legal tenders | $2,068,000 | $1,142,000 | Gain. $926,000 |

*Includes $180.000 transferred in the shape of silver certificates by a deposit of gold in the Sub-Treasury.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $500,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item, therefore, to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the N. Y. Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued today. Of course, the different modes banks have of treating the Clearing House certificates in their accounts, and also the withdrawal and redeposit of funds by savings institutions and individuals, continue disturbing features, and make it practically impossible to forecast the actual result.

The Bank of England return for the week shows a gain of £105,000 bullion. This represents £46,000 received from abroad and £59,000 received from the interior. The Bank of France reports a gain of 3,736,000 francs gold and of 2,889,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany, since our last, has gained 8,354,000 marks. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

LESSONS WHICH THE PANIC TEACHES.

Before the crisis in monetary affairs has wholly passed into history, it will be worth while to note a few of the lessons it teaches. They are not as a general thing new, some of the more prominent of them having been very forcibly presented by Mr. George S. Coe to the Clearing House as long ago as 1873. But even those features, under the changed conditions, come up with a new force now, while there are others peculiar to the present time, quite as deserving of attention.

A first fact to be remembered is that our New York city banks really carry the reserve of the whole country. This statement hardly needs asserting, and yet it is so important in any discussion, and so often apparently forgotten or ignored, that it seems necessary to recall it. A good recent illustration, is the gold export movement since February. That movement ended with the week closing May 3, and our banks in their returns of that date reported only 84 millions specie and legal tenders against 111 millions February 16, the week the shipments began, or a loss of 27 millions of dollars. From March 1 to May 1 the Treasury also lost about 5 millions, and though the dates of the Treasury returns do not correspond with the bank figures, still taken together we see readily enough that the demand for shipment fell, directly or indirectly, almost wholly upon the New York banks.

This condition follows from the relation this city holds to the trade of the country. We are in truth the general Clearing House, and through the agency of our banks, the country's products, whether of the west, south or east, find a market. But if the needs of commerce were the only influence, it is obvious that no more outside money would be placed here than sufficient to meet the wants for the domestic exchanges. Under the provisions of the banking law however, the country banks are allowed to keep three-fifths of their reserve in this city, while the fact that several of our institutions pay interest on deposits, induces a general emptying in dull times of the resources of the interior banks into the vaults of their correspondents here. But the present is not only a dull time, it is a period of great redundancy in our currency; hence as a result of all these influences (as stated by us last week in the deposit figures given) the New York Associated Banks reported their deposits February 16 at 363½ millions, on April 5 at 344 millions and on the 10th of this month (the Saturday before the panic) at 330 millions, while even at the latter amount (330 millions) the total was about 105 millions more than the amount held at the same date of 1879 and about 130 millions more than was so held May 10, 1873.

It may be asked why was there such a very considerable decrease in deposits as 33½ million dollars beginning just subsequent to the return of February 16. The reply is that the distrust which culminated in the panic, received its first impulse about that date. It will be remembered that the earliest shipments of gold were made the week following February 16, and during the same week Assistant Treasurer Acton, suggested to the Manager of the Clearing House Mr. Camp, that possibly the Treasurer might be forced to draw on his pile of silver dollars in paying his balances to the banks. The mere suggestion of such a necessity, brought to the notice of the public so very sharply our silver danger, that the business interests of the country took alarm. Our readers probably have the situation as it then existed well in mind. If there are any who have not, they can recall the facts and prevailing feeling by reading our article on "The Financial Situation," in the Chronicle of Feb. 16, Feb. 23 and March 1. It is enough to say here that the alarm, which was so marked a feature at that time, has never been quieted since, and the decline in deposits is not only palpable evidence of its existence, but evidence also that it has all the time been actively working. Perhaps Congress will one of these days heed the lesson events are teaching, and remove this cause which to so great an extent induces the prevailing disquietude, by stopping the coinage of silver dollars.

But aside from that question, the panic illustrates how great a menace to business these large unnatural deposits become, which are piled up here through the inducement the payment of interest offers. They do not accumulate in obedience to trade requirements. If they did, their stay would have a degree of permanency not now possessed, or at least their amount could be forecast and their average known as accurately as the ordinary commercial deposits. Now they remain only while confidence is absolute, and even then only so long as they can earn more than they can earn at home. In ordinary times, when business is fairly active, they are drawn down materially twice a year. On each of such occasions they cause a spasm in the money market, and as that occurs usually at the period when merchants require accommodation, it is especially disturbing. In case of a panic, or during the prevalence of any distrust, they are the first money to be needed, while the amounts being large, makes their withdrawal at such a time particularly harmful.

For these reasons it is obvious that deposits by interior banks in our city institutions, increased under special inducements beyond trade requirements, must always be extremely sensitive and mutable. On the other hand, the fact that the bank holding the money pays interest for it, makes it necessary that it shall keep the money so held, not subject to draft, but constantly employed. This again encourages speculation, (particularly in dull seasons when these deposits are largest), and leads the bank to incur greater risks by accepting inferior collaterals with small margins. Hence it happens that a kind of deposit, very large in the aggregate, peculiarly timid, sure to leave suddenly on the least disturbance of credit and which should therefore be the most mobile, is put into a form rendered under conditions of distrust almost inconvertible. Precisely such surroundings as these precipitated the late panic and made it so alarming. First came the accumulations; next, about February 16, the silver fright, followed quickly by the steady calling in of these funds, so that on May 10 they had been reduced 33½ millions; this contraction produced in turn a strain which hastened the startling disclosures of the Marine Bank, the Second National and finally ended in the closing of the doors of the Metropolitan (a bank that probably had more country money than any other), causing a flutter among country banks, which would in turn have swamped several other of our city institutions had not the whole of them organized as one to resist the pressure. The conservative members of the association put their quick assets at the disposal of their weaker brethren and the danger was passed.

With regard to the question these facts raise—whether the banks that are more prudently managed and as a consequence make smaller profits, should thus always help out their neighbors that are more extended and make larger profits—we have nothing to say. And still we cannot help adding, that to one wholly uninterested, it would certainly seem fairer, if there is always to be a pooling of assets in an emergency, that there should be a pooling of dividends too. To the public this experience makes a strong appeal in favor of conservative banking. All our industries are at the mercy of the banks. These industries have just now been imperilled and have many times before been imperilled by this very custom of paying interest on deposits. It is wrong in principle, it is very harmful in practice. If the interior banks retained their reserve at home except sufficient for exchange purposes, they would afford just so many little reservoirs to be drawn from in case of urgent need. In this way they would become a support, a source of strength to our financial system. And some such force back of our city banks is especially essential now, for their reserve has to do many times the work it did a few years ago. Not to mention other dependencies, we may cite the trust companies, whose deposit business is so extensive, as we have on other occasions explained, and all of which rests for convertibility upon our banks. The situation here of the Clearing House institutions with reference to trust and other companies is not very unlike that of the Bank of England with reference to the joint-stock banks of London. There is no reserve in the city except what our associated banks carry. We cannot therefore have stability unless we increase it or give it less to do.

THE CONTINUED DIMINUTION OF OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

The returns of our foreign commerce for the month of April, which the Bureau of Statistics has this week made public, are of the same unfavorable character as those of the month immediately preceding. There is a continued falling off in the exports, while the imports show no corresponding diminution, and the result is, that the merchandise balance for the month is against us in the sum of over 4¼ million dollars, while in 1883 it was nearly 4 millions in our favor. The total of the exports is less than 50 millions ($49,894,065) and is smaller than in any other April since the year 1877. The same fact, it will be remembered, was also true of the March total, and that gives an idea of the depths to which our export business has fallen. To show how each of the four months to the end of April compares with the same period in the five preceding years, not only as respects the exports but also the imports, we give the following statement.

The above exhibit is interesting as showing that the exports for the four months this year are of smaller amount than in any other year given,—even smaller than in 1879, from which time the expansion of our foreign commerce dates. It is true that in 1882 the exports were only a trifle greater, but that was after the shortest crop season we have ever had, against which the yield this last season was incomparably better. The most significant fact, however, about the foreign trade, as we have before said, is, that despite the great depression in our exports, the imports show but comparatively little diminution. Thus while the value of the former has suffered a contraction from last year of 44½ million dollars, the imports have been reduced scarcely 6½ millions. As compared with 1879, exports are 3½ millions less, while imports are nearly 72 millions greater, a difference against the present year on the four months of 75 million dollars. To be sure, in one or two other recent inflated years, the imports have been even above the aggregate of this year, but to make it apparent how very heavy they still are, we need only say that the total for the four months is at the rate of nearly 675 millions a year. That in a period of general distress and great business depression, we keep on importing at such a rate as this, is, as we have taken repeated occasion to say, one of the remarkable and peculiar features of the situation that can only be explained by the effects of our currency system, which does not permit gold to occupy its proper function in checking any tendency to undue expansion. As an evidence that the importations were not going into consumption, we cited a month ago the increasing stocks of goods in the warehouses, and the same tendency is still manifest, for the total which on March 1 was $30,907,627, and on April 1 had risen to $33,330,212, has now been further augmented, to $34,201,226 on May 1. On the latter day in 1883, when the enactment of the new tariff law caused the holding of goods in bond, the total was $42,308,101, but in 1882 it was only $28,460,420. To show how the merchandise exports and imports compare this year and last, at each leading port, for April and the four months, we give below our usual table.

It will be observed that the falling off in the exports is by no means common to every port, Boston, San Francisco, and Philadelphia, all showing an increase, and this calls attention to the fact that the shipments of wheat during the month were considerably heavier than in April last year. The break in the speculation in that cereal had a very good effect on the export movement, and while in April, 1883, only 3,965,802 bushels of wheat and 698,827 barrels of flour went out, in April, 1884, we shipped 6,114,526 bushels of wheat and 728,362 barrels of flour, which seems to prove that Europe will take our breadstuffs at a price, and that it is not so much good crops abroad as it is the senseless speculation in prices here that has tended to retard shipments. This increase in the exports of wheat would have made the total breadstuffs exports heavier than in 1883, except that it was accompanied by a very decided falling off in the movement of corn, of which only 2,756,549 bushels were exported in April, 1884, against 5,166,882 bushels in 1883. Prices were somewhat lower than a year ago, but would still appear to be too high for the foreign markets. The ports that did not have their gains in wheat offset by a loss in corn, are the ones that have larger export totals this year than last, as shown in the table above—San Francisco being the chief of these. How the leading ports have fared in both the breadstuffs and provisions movement, is set out in the subjoined exhibit.

Thus there has been a loss of $208,000 on account of the breadstuffs exports and $2,512,000 on account of the provisions exports, or together about 2¾ millions for the month. But the loss in the total merchandise exports reaches over 11 millions, so we must look for the greater part of the decrease in some of our other staples of exports, and we find about the whole of it in the item of cotton. The price of this commodity was nearly a cent and a half per pound higher than in April a year ago, but the shipments were only 186,098 bales, against 388,058 bales in 1883, entailing a loss of between 8 and 9 million dollars, which with the falling off in breadstuffs and provisions, suffices to account for the 11 millions decrease recorded. There was, besides, also some falling off in the shipments of petroleum, if the figures of the movement at New York may be taken as a guide.

In the provisions and dairy exports, the decrease is ascribable not to a contraction in any one item, but to a general falling off all through the list. In beef products this diminution is not so pronounced, but in what are termed pork products—more particularly bacon and hams—the decrease is very heavy. Dairy products, too, fall behind last year. In the following table full details are furnished.

In the breadstuffs exports, the leading features as respects individual items have already been pointed out, namely the decrease in corn and the increase in wheat, and it only remains to mention that the shipments of rye continue heavy and decidedly above the previous year, as heretofore. Subjoined are the figures.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT—THE CONFERENCE.

The Egyptian question continues to be an absorbing topic of public discussion. The failure to bring about a vote of censure in the House of Commons has had but little effect in allaying public excitement in England or in revolutionizing public sentiment in outside communities. Interest centres in the coming Conference; and the question of the hour is whether the Gladstone Government is, or is not, about to take a step backward under the pressure of French influence.

The news, it must be admitted, is somewhat conflicting. It is confidently asserted that the French Government will not be a party to the Conference on the basis laid down by Mr. Gladstone; and the Pall Mall Gazette, latterly one of the best-informed journals in London on all foreign questions, makes the statement that Mr. Gladstone and his friends have so far changed their minds regarding the manner in which Egypt is to be managed for the future, that they are willing that country should be placed under international control. On the other hand, we have the statement of Mr. Gladstone himself, made not later than Tuesday last in the House of Commons, that the Egyptian Conference will be limited to a discussion of the financial situation. The Pall Mall Gazette gives particulars which would seem to imply that it had received its information from no second-hand source. If its statements are correct, the Conference will open with power to decide all questions in regard to the control of Egypt, reform of the present administration, and the term of British occupation. It is certainly not easy to reconcile the two statements. If Mr. Gladstone's language is to be taken in its literal meaning, the Pall Mall Gazette must be in error. If the Pall Mall Gazette is correctly informed, Mr. Gladstone must in some way be concealing the truth.

The situation is assuredly peculiar. It has been a complicated affair from the first; but it has never been, so far as appearances go, so complicated as now. It becomes more and more apparent as time advances that Mr. Gladstone went into the Egyptian difficulty with no definite purpose, and with a very imperfect knowledge of what was wanted in the premises. In a letter to the London Times, Earl Grey very clearly and very properly shows that want of purpose and ignorance of the real requirements of the situation have been characteristic of every step which the Government has taken. The sending of the fleet was a useless menace. The bombardment of the forts of Alexandria only irritated the populace; and its one practical result was to produce the conviction that nothing could be done without an army, a truth which ought to have been apparent at the outset. Similar mistakes were committed after Tel-el-kebir. It was the duty of the Government either to strengthen the hands of the Khedive, and allow him to rule, or to grasp the reins firmly themselves. They did neither. And so it has been at each successive stage. According to Earl Grey such a series of purposeless acts will be fittingly crowned, if, after well-nigh two years of occupation, England shall hand over Egypt to an International Board of supreme authority, and retire from the country.

It is quite probable, however, that the end may not be in accord with these rumors, nor in accord with the tendency events seem to indicate. Mr. Gladstone may see his way out of the difficulty; and as he has promised to lay before Parliament, before the meeting of the Conference, the result of the interchange of views between France and England, it becomes us to suspend judgment. It is not wonderful, however, that his latest utterances in the House regarding Egypt and the Conference should have failed to give satisfaction. His language seemed studiously evasive; and it was felt when he had concluded as if he had held back some unpleasant information. In spite of all that he said, the public mind remains dissatisfied; and there is a strong feeling—a feeling amounting almost to a conviction—that something has been done, or is about to be done, which the Ministers are in no haste to reveal.

We attach but little importance to the idea of multiple or international control. It matters but little to Germany, Austria or Russia how Egypt is governed. In that country they are not largely represented, nor have they otherwise great interests at stake. In the first instance, therefore, they were not slow to give their consent to England's proposal. It is quite different with France and Italy. If there should be a conference, and if there should be a distribution of power, it will be impossible to prevent that power being centred in the hands of those most interested; and, as we have seen, the really interested parties are England, France and Italy. Now, it is known that France has demanded that Italy be represented on the commission which shall be empowered to manage the finances of Egypt. It is understood that Russia and Austria and Germany all favor this demand. It is natural enough that France should seek to strengthen her own cause by pressing the claims of Italy. It is very certain, however, that on such a commission Italy would be far more likely to be with England than with France, and it is not to be wondered at that Bismarck should have so arranged it that no opposition should be offered to this French proposal by either Austria or Russia. He sees very clearly that England and France will not agree in Egypt, and that if Italy should side with England, as it is all but certain she would do, France would be left without an ally in Europe.

Much will depend on Mr. Gladstone's promised explanations and revelations. Parliament is stronger than Mr. Gladstone; the people are stronger than Parliament; and the Conference may yet be forbidden or rendered powerless.

Western Union Telegraph—Baltimore & Ohio.—At Baltimore, May 24, Chief-Justice Waite filed his decision in the case of the Western Union against the Baltimore & Ohio Company, which has been pending for a number of years in the United States Circuit Court for Maryland. The Western Union, as the successors of the old Western Telegraph Company, claimed the telegraph lines erected under a contract between the Baltimore & Ohio Company and the Western Telegraph Company in 1855, from Baltimore to Wheeling and Parkersburg. The Baltimore & Ohio Company contended that the contract had expired, and that the Western Union Company had no right upon its line of road, and that the Baltimore & Ohio has been in complete possession, and operation of this line of telegraph since 1877. The Court upholds the position taken by the Baltimore & Ohio Company, giving to the Western Union simply the value of one wire, which was tendered to it by the Baltimore & Ohio Company at the time of taking possession of the lines in 1877.

Consolidated Vermont.—Notice has been given that the bonds of this company will not be exchanged at par and accrued interest for the securities of the Vermont Central, Vermont & Canada and the receivership, after June 30, proximo, and that interest will be allowed up to that time on all bonds given in exchange, the same as if the securities had been presented earlier. The object of this is to hasten the exchange of the small amount outstanding of the several issues.

Louisiana's Debt Amendment.—In the State Senate at Baton Rouge a resolution was adopted for the appointment of a joint committee of five from the House and Senate for the investigation of the vote upon the debt amendment.

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, May 17, 1884.

Notwithstanding the serious difficulties which have arisen in New York, there has been great calmness here, and evidence is thus afforded of the stability of our position. Naturally much anxiety is shown, but the great depression in securities in New York has brought forward a large number of investors and speculators, and many of the leading stocks have become scarce through their rapid absorption. There is confidence in the belief that some very remunerative investments have been made, and that speculators will, in a comparatively brief period, realize substantial profits. The brilliancy of the weather in this country, as well as on the Continent, together with the fact that there is a large amount of unemployed capital, promotes confidence, and no doubt the heavy purchases which have been made by England and the Continent of American railroad securities have done much to mitigate the crisis in New York.

There are many who believe that the greatest difficulties have been met; but at the same time there is much anxiety felt and a strong desire shown to ascertain if the crisis is to be restricted to its present comparatively limited sphere. It is quite possible that amongst a certain class of speculators an effort will be made on the first rise to secure profits, and that a check will be given to the present condition of buoyancy. Yesterday, owing to their scarcity, Illinois Central and New York Central shares were "bought in" against the sellers at 130 and 120½ respectively, the market prices being 125½ and 112½. The present crisis will probably tend to draw the attention of the public to the intrinsic merits of several of the leading railways in the United States. Lately there has been a great demand for British securities of undisputed soundness, and up to the present time the upward movement in the value of Indian railway shares, municipal securities, Indian preference bonds and the debenture and preference stocks of British railway companies has been uninterrupted. But the point of value which has been reached reduced the return of interest to a low point, which will not be satisfactory except to those whose position is a fiduciary one. The trustees of funds must obviously continue to purchase such securities in order to cancel their liability; but a vast majority of the public will not long be content with so low a rate of interest as is now obtainable. We may yet see greater changes, more especially if we have a continuance of the present very brilliant weather, and if there should be a realization of the favorable harvest prospects.

The advance in the price of money in the United States and the fall in the sterling exchange has not had much influence here, but they have led to a discussion as to the future movements in gold. The telegram received to-day quotes the rate for 60 days' bills at $4 81 and for cable transfers at $4 83. A shipment of gold could not, therefore, occasion much surprise; but there seems to be very little probability of the movement being in any degree permanent, unless the British public should take more fancy to American securities and absorb them freely. It may be observed that the course pursued in London is not generally followed by thrifty provincials. The provincials are slow to be convinced, and seldom move in times of uncertainty. They hardly ever buy or sell at the correct moment in the matter of Stock Exchange securities, though they are clever enough, as a rule, in their own immediate businesses. An immediate provincial demand for American railroad bonds is perhaps doubtful, but the holders of bonds are not likely to press them for sale under existing circumstances and at the present low prices.

Notwithstanding that there has been a settlement at the Stock Exchange, the money market has been very quiet for short loans at about 1¼ per cent. The supply of bills in the discount market has been very moderate, and at this period of the year is not likely to increase. The market, however, is regarded as somewhat firm in tone—1¾ per cent being the quotation for three months' bills.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold.—There has been but little inquiry for gold during the week, and the Bank has purchased the bulk of arrivals, amounting to £[illegible],000. We have received £ 80,000 from New York, £21,000 from Sydney and £ 1,920 from the West Indies; total, £ [illegible].

Silver gradually improved since our last, until Monday, when 50⅝d. was obtained for immediate shipment; since then, owing to fluctuations in exchanges, combined with a fall in the Bengal rate of discount, have tended to lower the market, and the only quotation to-day is 50⅛d., at which rate the amounts to hand from Chili and the West Indies have been placed. The arrivals are £ 5,000 from New York, £2[illegible],000 from South America and £8,370 per West India steamers; total, £71,370. The P. & O. steamer "Ganges" takes £40,000 to Bombay.

Mexican Dollars.—We have to report the arrival of the "Ville de Brest" with £145,000, and about £3,000 from the West Indies. This amount has been sold to-day at 50d. per oz., and the demand is still good.

The quotations for bullion are reported as follows:

The new Indian 3 per cent loan has been a disappointment. The amount has been subscribed, but only at a fraction above the minimum of 93⅛ per cent. The highest tender was £97, but it was a very small amount, as applications at £93 11s. 6d. will receive as much as 98½ per cent of the amount tendered for. The average price obtained was £94 4s. 2d. per cent.

A sum of £1,700,000 3½ per cent debenture bonds of the Southern Mahratta Railway Company, guaranteed by the Secretary of State in Council for India out of the revenues of India, has been rapidly taken up at par.

A new South Australian 4 per cent loan for £1,651,300 is announced. The minimum is par.

No weather could have been more favorable to the agricultural interests and to the country than that which we have enjoyed during the past week. We have had a moderate quantity of rain and some brilliant sunshine. Vegetation has made rapid progress, and both the cereal and grass crops promise unusually satisfactory results. Vegetable food is also becoming increasingly abundant, and the consumption of bread is therefore diminishing. The wheat trade, consequently, is in a very inactive state, and sales are not practicable except at some reduction in prices even from the present low currency. Fine qualities of home-grown wheat are realizing a slight advance, owing to the improvement in the condition of the produce, but foreign wheat is somewhat cheaper. The supplies visible at this advanced period of the season are very considerable. The pastures are in a state of luxuriance, and our flocks and herds are in a flourishing condition.

The following are the quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn estimated to be afloat to the United States:

| | At present. | Last week. | Last year. | 1882. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat.....qrs. | 1,7[illegible],000 | 1,[illegible]5,000 | 2,[illegible]10,000 | 2,4[illegible]0,000 |
| Flour | 19[illegible]0 | [illegible]36,000 | 21[illegible]00 | 2[illegible],000 |
| Indian corn | 23[illegible],0 0 | 16[illegible],500 | 194,000 | 52[illegible],000 |

In the following statement is shown the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the 187 principal markets of England and Wales during the first 37 weeks of the season, together with the average prices realized, compared with 150 markets in the three previous seasons:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| SALES. | | | | |
| Wheat.....qrs. | 2,2[illegible],[illegible]6 | 1,[illegible]7,770 | 1,[illegible],[illegible]5 | 1,34[illegible],942 |
| Barley | 3,0[illegible],105 | 1,[illegible],[illegible]1 | 1,65[illegible]3 0 | 1,[illegible],[illegible]92 |
| Oats | 445,189 | 248,[illegible]4 | 204,[illegible]43 | 15[illegible],212 |
| AVERAGE PRICES. | | | | |
| Wheat.....per qr. | 30 1 | 41 6 | 46 8 | 42 11 |
| Barley | 32 3 | 33 8 | 32 5 | 33 10 |
| Oats | 19 9 | 22 0 | 21 1 | 23 5 |

Converting quarters of wheat into hundred-weights, the total sales in the whole kingdom are as follows:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....cwt. | 32,149,000 | 33,311,000 | 27,425,580 | 23,363,700 |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 31/3, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4 1/3. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

The following return shows the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first 37 weeks of the season, the sales of home-grown wheat, the average price of English wheat, the visible supply of wheat in the United States, and the quantity of wheat and flour afloat to the United Kingdom, compared with previous seasons:

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS FOR APRIL, 1884, AND FOR THE TEN AND TWELVE MONTHS ENDED APRIL 30, 1884.

[Prepared by the Bureau of Statistics and corrected to May 22, 1884.

Below is given the tenth monthly statement for the current fiscal year of the imports and exports of the United States.

The excess of the value of exports over imports or of imports over exports of merchandise was as follows:

|---|---|
| Month ended April 30, 1884 (excess of imports)..... | $1,268,998 |
| Four months ended April 30, 1884 (excess of exports)..... | 16,895,657 |
| Ten months ended April 30, 1881 (excess of exports)..... | 78,912,413 |
| Twelve months ended April 30, 1881 (excess of exports) ... | 70,263,442 |

The total values of imports and of domestic and foreign exports for the month of April, 1884 and 1883, and for the ten and twelve months ended April 30, 1884 and 1883, are presented in the following tables:

Union Pacific.—A Boston report says that the Union Pacific Railroad Company has decided to pass the July dividend, and that the officers have made an arrangement with the Government whereby the latter will not press its demand for the immediate payment of the balance claimed against the railroad company.

—The Times says: "The land sales of the Union Pacific continue very heavy, and are increasing almost daily. From Jan. 1 to May 20 there were sold 1,459,703 acres, realizing $3,542,058, an average of $2 46 per acre. Of this enormous aggregate there were sold between May 15 and 20, 276,143 acres, for $445,510. Nearly all the lands recently sold are in the regions hitherto considered barren. The purchasers are in the main cattle ranchers. They propose to develop these so-called worthless lands by establishing large ranches for the breeding of cattle for the Eastern markets. A very large share of the lands have also been taken up by English and Scotch capitalists for similar purposes. President Dillon stated that during the three months in which the earnings fell off so largely the increase in actual tonnage carried was 14 per cent. Had it not been for the bitter fight waged with the Denver & Rio Grande, he said, the results for the three months' business would have been equal to any similar period since the construction of the road."

Wabash St. Louis & Pacific.—At St. Louis, May 28, the following official statement was made to a representative of the Associated Press by General Swayne, Counsel, and Solon Humphreys, formerly President of the Wabash Railroad:

Judges Brewer and Treat, of the United States Circuit, today appointed Solon Humphreys, of New York, and Thos. E. Tutt, of this city, receivers of the Wabash St. Louis & Pacific Railway. Mr. Humphreys was formerly President of the company, and has been connected with the property for many years. Mr. Tutt is President of the Third National Bank of St. Louis. The railroad extends from Omaha and Kansas City to Detroit and Toledo, with lateral extensions to Chicago, Cairo and Indianapolis, and numerous branches. The total length is about 3,600 miles. The receivers were appointed on the application of the company in view of the default of the interest falling due June 1 upon its general mortgage bonds. There was also danger that unless this action should be taken a large amount of its equipment, terminal facilities and other property essential to working its line would be swept away by foreclosure and sale under the collateral trust to which those properties are pledged. The trustees of all the mortgages upon the several portions of the line are made defendants, the principal defendant being the Central Trust Company, of New York, trustee of the general mortgages. The order of the court provides for the payment of the amounts due for labor, material and supplies.

—A press dispatch from St. Louis says that under the receivership the divisions which are earning their interest charges will be compelled by the courts to pay them. There will be no permanent default on the obligations of the Toledo, Chicago and Kansas City divisions. The interest of the non-paying branches, however, will be defaulted and the original owners allowed the alternative either of funding their coupons or taking back their property.

The following circular has been issued by the board of directors:

The St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Company has notified this company that the net earnings of the Wabash lines operated under the lease of April 10, 1883, are insufficient to pay the interest and other fixed charges, and that, as the lessee company, it will no longer advance for the deficiency.

In consequence of this notice, and of the large decrease in the net earnings of this company, arising partly from the failure of the crops in the past two years, and partly from the severe competition at low rates, it has become necessary to ask the holders of the general mortgage bonds, as also the holders of the bonds on the several lines that have not earned their interest, to co-operate in a plan of relief which will not only place the company in a sound financial condition, but will, it is believed, restore confidence in the value of all its securities.

In pursuance of this plan, the holders of the general mortgage, Indianapolis Division and Havana Division bonds, are now asked to surrender the coupons due June 1, and accept in exchange, income bond scrip, entitled to 6 per cent interest from the net earnings of the company in excess of its fixed charges, and convertible into bonds in sums of $1,0 0. The coupons thus surrendered to be held in trust to secure the ultimate payment of the income bonds.

The other bonds the coupons of which it may be necessary to fund in like manner, the company is at present unable to designate, b at due notice will be given to the holders thereof.

It is clear that the interest of the holders of all these securities, the fixed charges of which are not at present earned on their respective lines, is to unite in such an equitable arrangement as will permit the operation of the entire system without embarrassment.

This can only be accomplished by the forbearance and intelligent co-operation of these bondholders. Under no circumstance or conditions can they expect more than the entire net earnings of the lines covered by their bonds, and these it is proposed to apply rigidly and fairly to the protection of every interest in its respective order of priority, providing also for the safety of all the interests by the gradual extinction of the floating debt, which controls a large share of the rolling stock and other property essential to the traffic operations of the company.

The Wabash system is composed of more than fifty-three original companies, in all about 3,600 miles, in six contiguous States, having in all thirty-eight separate mortgages, in view of all which, and in order to secure an equitable adjustment between these various interests, it is apparent that no plan can be carried out without the intervention and protection of the United States courts. It has therefore become necessary to apply for a receiver who can thus be enabled to hold and operate the property in its entirety until measures of permanent relief can be perfected.

During the past two years this company has suffered very seriously from the ruinously low rates on a large portion of its traffic. A small advance in these rates would change a deficiency in its fixed charges to a surplus for its stockholders, and it is hoped that the time has come for a better understanding between all competitive lines, to the end that more remunerative rates may be obtained.

—Important contributions to the discussion of "Railway Pools" have recently appeared in the columns of the Chicago Railway Review. Mr. Justice Cooley, of the Supreme Court of Michigan, prepared a paper entitled "Popular and Legal Views of Traffic Pooling," and Mr. Blanchard, Vice-President of the Erie Railway, wrote an extended article, "Traffic Unity, Popularly Called Railway Pools." The above have been issued in pamphlet form, re-printed from the Review.

—Parties wishing to place their bonds, stocks or valuables in a safe place will notice the advertisement of the Safe Deposit Company of this city. This was the first company of the kind established, and offers great security for the protection of its customers.

—Messrs. Tinker & Weston, bankers and brokers, have just removed to large and elegant offices at 2 Exchange Court. The firm is composed of energetic business men well qualified for attention to stock operations in the present times.

—Messrs. E. S. Jemison & Co., bankers and cotton commission merchants, have just removed to new and commodious quarters at 23 William Street, where their customers and friends will in future find them.

Auction Sales.—The following, seldom or never sold at the Stock Exchange, were sold at auction this week by Messrs. Adrian H. Muller & Son:

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The past seven days, which, however, embraced only five business days (to-day being Decoration Day and a legal holiday), have developed considerable further agitation in financial affairs, though not of as unfavorable a character as last week or the week before. On the contrary, there has been a very strong upward re-action in the prices of railroad stocks from the extreme depression incident to the general liquidation which was the cause of most of the failures of two weeks ago on the Stock Exchange, and to a large extent also of the recent bank troubles.

As regards the situation of the New York banks there has been a decided improvement in public confidence. The Clearing House certificates are being gradually reduced, and the banks will dispense with them altogether as soon as that is possible. The only further unfavorable development has been the suspension of the West Side Bank, which, however, was only temporary, and was caused by the defalcation and flight of the paying teller. The amount of loss from the defalcation is comparatively small, being less than $100,000, and the bank will resume business to-morrow. Outside of New York there have been three other bank suspensions, if we reckon the re-suspension of the Penn Bank of Pittsburg. This latter appears to be another flagrant case of misappropriation of funds, and the latest advices show that the loss will be somewhere between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, though the accounts are yet in great confusion. The other suspensions are of minor importance, being chiefly Western banking institutions that have become financially embarrassed in one way or another, but whose effect is chiefly confined to the particular locality where the bank is located.

On the whole, it may be said that the situation of affairs has undergone some decided change for the better, though the cases of the Marine, the Second National, the Metropolitan and the Penn have given such a remarkable outcrop of dishonest management as to produce a feeling of general uneasiness which time only can wholly remove, and which was the cause of the withdrawal of a great deal of money from banks everywhere. This latter has unquestionably subsided to some extent this week, as is shown by the fact that the Western exchanges are growing more favorable to New York, and in some cases money is now coming here from the Western centres instead of going the other way.

The most unfavorable feature of the general trade and industrial situation is the depression of the coal trade, which has induced the anthracite coal companies to agree to a suspension of mining operations for two weeks in June. This, of course, affects adversely the coal-carrying railroads, and the same fact, together with losses and complications in connection with Grant & Ward and the Marine Bank, has obliged the Erie directors to give notice of default on the June interest on the Erie 2d consolidated 6s. The Reading Company, which was somewhat embarrassed before the determination to suspend mining, will now have a further loss of tonnage to contend with. The appointment of receivers for the Wabash, definitely settled this week, was not unexpected, and therefore had little effect. The expectation of a default on the interest on Mexican Central securities, however (chiefly held in Boston), is comparatively new.

The field of loans on collaterals of railway stocks has been further diminished by the decline in stocks and by the desire of the banks to strengthen their position; but where loans on call on stock collaterals have been made they have been on large margins and at generally lower rates than in the previous week. A few exceptional instances of 7 and 8 per cent per annum have occurred in the last week, but the average rate has been from 2 to 4. Very few time loans on stocks have been made. The rates for mercantile discounts remain nominally unchanged at 5½ and 6 p. ct. per annum for endorsed paper for 2 and 4 months and 6 and 6½ p. ct. for single names.

The last weekly statement of the averages of the New York banks indicated the withdrawal of a large amount of cash and contraction of loans, but not more than might reasonably have been expected under the uneasy condition of the public mind caused by the recent developments. The decrease of $9,734,150 in the surplus reserve reduced it so as to leave a deficiency of $6,607,125 below the required 25 per cent, as compared with a surplus of $9,177,400 over the required reserve at the same date in 1883 and $4,208,625 over in 1882.

The Bank of England statement showed a gain of £105,000 in gold during the week. The reserve of the Bank was reduced to 48 1-16 per cent from 48 3-16 last week. The Bank rate of discount remained unchanged at 2½ per cent. The Bank of France gained 3,735,000 francs gold and 2,880,000 francs silver. The Bank of Germany shows an increase of 8,354,000 marks for the last week reported.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The market for sterling, while not largely affected by the regular movements of trade, has been unsettled by the movements of bankers' bills and security bills in connection with the purchase and sale of railroad stocks on European account. The posted rates were at first advanced to 4 85½ and 4 87½, then reduced to 4 84 and 4 86, then advanced to 4 84½ and 4 86½, and again reduced on Thursday to 4 84 and 4 86. The rates for actual business at the close were quoted as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 83@4 83½; demand, 4 85@4 85½; cables, 4 85½@4 86; commercial bills being 4 80½@4 81.

United States Bonds.—There has been less irregularity in the prices of Government bonds, and though the quotations at the close are not quite as high as they were early in the week, they are nevertheless ⅛@¼c. higher than on last Friday.

The closing prices at the N. Y. Board have been as follows:

State and Railroad Bonds.—The market for railroad bonds has been very much unsettled, and prices have taken a wider range of fluctuations than usual, being on the whole somewhat higher than a week ago; but the net changes are small compared to the extreme declines at various times in the week, thus indicating a recovery of confidence to some extent from the periods of especial depression. The range on the more active bonds is given below, viz.: Chesapeake & Ohio, Series B, at 89½, 89, 92½, 91½; Burlington & Quincy debenture 5s at 91¼, 92½, 92¼; Chesapeake & Ohio currency 6s at 33½, 33, 36; Denver & Rio Grande consols at 55, 59, 55; ditto firsts at 95, 97, 96; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts at 39, 37, 40, 39; East Tennessee 5s at 56½, 58, 53, 56; do. incomes at 14½, 14, 16, 15; Erie second consols at 56, 54½, 61, 58½; Fort Worth & Denver City firsts at 66, 67, 63, 65; Jersey Central consols at 100, 98, 104, 103½; do. Kansas & Texas general mortgage 6s at 72, 70, 73; Kansas Pacific consols at 80, 81, 69 seller 60 days, 80; Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago & Pacific Western Division, 94½, 94, 97; Northern Pacific firsts at 101½, 102, 100½, 102¾; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts at 103, 103⅜, 102, 103; Oregon Short Line 6s at 80, 75 and 70 seller 60; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes at 40½, 40¼, 45, 43; do. Rio Grande Division firsts at 55, 53½, 56½, 56; Wabash general mortgage 6s at 43, 42, 43; West Shore & Buffalo 5s at 46, 47¼, 42¾, 45½.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been greatly agitated during the last week by the circumstances of the general financial situation rather than by anything new in the railroad situation. The movement for a general liquidation of loans and indebtedness in connection with railway stocks began in the understanding a month or so ago that the earnings of some prominent roads, like Union Pacific, Erie, &c., were diminishing, and that there would be some cases of reductions in dividends, or passing them entirely, and of default on interest on bonds. The movement seems to have "touched bottom," at least for the time being, in the past week, and there was a great rebound in prices, which, though not fully sustained, left the great majority of stocks higher at the close than on last Friday. Only half a dozen prominent stocks, like New York Central, Michigan Central, Illinois Central, &c., show declines of from 2 to 4 per cent. Almost all other stocks are higher. Mr. Gould's two special stocks—Missouri Pacific and Western Union—recording gains of 11 and 5 per cent, respectively. Notwithstanding the bad outlook for the coal trade, the coal stocks are also higher than a week ago, and after these St. Paul, Northwestern, Burlington & Quincy, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific all show gains of from 2½ to 5½ per cent,

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Pittsburg Cincinnati & St. Louis.

(For the year ending December 31, 1883.)

The annual report of Mr. George B. Roberts, President, says:

"The tonnage transported was 3 466,544 tons, against 8,125,645 tons in 1882, an increase of 340,899 tons, mainly in coal and live stock. The coke traffic shows a decrease of about 25 per cent, or 84,346 tons, and grain a decrease of 78,097 tons. There was an increase in freight earnings of $315,669, of which $179,521 was from through tonnage. The average rate received per ton per mile was 7·6 mills as compared with 7 mills for the previous year, but the average cost also shows a slight increase.

"There were carried 1,235,983 passengers, as compared with 1,161,538 in 1882, the gain being on local travel. There was an increase of $57,794 in passenger earnings, the rates being better on both local and through traffic.

"The increase in expenses was mainly due to the cost of re-building engines, and an outlay of $91,465 upon the new shops at Columbus." * * *

"The issue of first consolidated mortgage registered bonds was increased $82,000, in exchange for a like amount of coupon bonds retired, making a total of $3,997,000 of registered bonds issued at the close of 1883. The first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Steubenville & Indiana Railroad Company, amounting to $3,000,000, which matured at the close of the year, have been extended as registered bonds for thirty years, bearing 5 per cent interest per annum.

"Under the re-organization of the Columbus Chicago & Indiana Central Railway Company, already referred to, your Company received in settlement of its claim against the former $1,028,668 of the preferred and common stock of the Chicago St. Louis & Pittsburg Railroad Company."

The comparative statistics of the Pittsburg Cincinnati & St. Louis for four years, compiled for the CHRONICLE, are as follows:

Kentucky Central.

The report of the President, Mr. C. P. Huntington, has just been issued, and states the mileage as follows: "Main Line—Covington to Richmond, 117·59, and Argenta to Ironton, 30·48 miles; Maysville Division—Maysville to Paris, 49·53; Lexington Division—Paris to Lexington, 19·17; Richmond Branch—Richmond to Stanford, 33 80. Total miles operated, 250·37." * * *

"The floating debt of the company, including bills payable, final estimates due the contractors on the extension, etc., amounted [Dec. 31, 1883,] to $939,364, less $75,524 of assets that can be applied to its reduction, leaving a floating debt of $863,840 to be arranged for. To provide for this there are on hand unsold $341,000 of the 6 per cent consolidated bonds. The larger holders of the bonds of the company proposed to reduce the interest on their holdings to 4 per cent per annum for the next three years, on condition that the stockholders would contribute 10 per cent on their shares. This proposition has been assented to by nearly all of the holders of both stock and bonds, and it is confidently believed that all will join in this plan, as they will all share alike in its advantages. These measures will secure about $540,000 from the stockholders, and from the bondholders a reduction in the interest obligation of $380,000 for the three years, and this will enable the company to extinguish the entire floating debt, complete the extension with the necessary terminal facilities, provide for the renewal of the remaining wooden bridges on the old line with substantial iron structures, and other additions, and place the company on a substantial financial basis, which will result in the appreciation of its securities." Under this arrangement, the fixed charges for the year would be $308,990, including interest and rentals.

Comparative statistics for three years have been compiled for the CHRONICLE as follows:

Pacific Mail Steamship Co.

(For the year ending April 30, 1884.)

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. the following directors were elected without opposition: Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon, Russell Sage, C. P. Huntington, Henry Hart, Wm. Remsen, Edward Lauterbach, J. W. Shaw and J. B. Houston. The only change was the election of J. W. Shaw in place of E. H. Perkins, Jr., who declined a re-election.

The report of Mr. J. B. Houston, President says: "I submit hereto annexed the statement of your business for the past year, and hope that the same may be considered satisfactory, as it shows the net earnings to have been seven per cent, and also that the increase, with one exception, is distributed over the different lines of the company. The present status of affairs is due to the excellent fleet of steamers we now possess, and the growth of the business generally at our various ports of call—giving the company greater freights, and enabling us to transport the same at lower cost.

"The payment of our indebtedness to the Panama RR. Co. has been continued, without default in a single instance, at the rate of $20,000 a month, in addition to the fixed charges due that company on traffic account; and we have paid a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent, leaving us with cash on hand nearly sufficient to pay a year's dividend at the same rate, and a prospect of an increased business for the ensuing year.

"The company, through its able counsel, has laid before the proper committees of Congress, in a formal and official manner, the gross injustice that has been done to American ships in compelling them to carry the mails without compensation, and I am glad to say that this appeal has met with an affirmative response from almost every person who up to this time has had an opportunity to act upon it. Remember that in this matter we only ask to be placed on an equally favorable footing by our Government with vessels carrying the flags of rival nations."

The earnings and expenses in detail, for three years, were as follows:

| EARNINGS. | 1881-82. | 1882-83. | 1883-84. |

| Total deductions | $338,732 |
| Balance, deficit | $85,494 |

The balance sheet of the company gives very few of the second mortgage bonds as outstanding (only $703,000), and it is presumable that a large part of the item of loans and bills payable—$2,669,798—is secured by second mortgage bonds pledged as collateral. In the transactions of Grant & Ward a large amount of these bonds appeared as collateral for loans. But the whole amount of the second mortgage bonds issue is $10,000,000, and after allowing $700,000 for bonds sold and say $3,000,000 for bonds pledged as collateral, there would yet remain $6,300,000 of these bonds in the company's treasury available for use hereafter.

N. Y. Lake Erie & Western.—The directors of this company held a meeting, and decided to pass the interest falling due June 1 on the second consolidated bonds, owing, it is believed, to the losses caused by the failure of the Marine Bank and the firm of Grant & Ward. Mr. Bird W. Spencer, the Treasurer of the Erie Railway Company, was a director in the Marine National Bank, and, according to the testimony of Ferdinand Ward, he was instrumental in getting certain loans on the hypothecation of securities and notes. How far the transactions of Mr. Spencer with the Marine Bank and with Grant & Ward were instrumental in forcing this company to its present default the public does not know, and possibly never will know. But it is a matter of record that the company had previously dealt with firms of high reputation, such as Drexel, Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and it seemed strange to transfer its negotiations to such a concern as Grant & Ward.

It has been the misfortune of the Erie property for years past to be managed by officers who had no large interest in the company as stockholders; and if the present situation shall result in the company's going into new hands and obtaining a strong and economical administration directly in the interest of its stockholders, it may be the best thing that could have happened for the company. Secretary A. R. McDonough issued the following official statement in regard to the non-payment of interest:

The fiscal year of this company commences with the 1st of October. As a general rule the business and earnings of the company are much less for the first half than for the last half of the year. The falling off in earnings for the first six months of the present year has been unusually large. The coupons on the second consolidated mortgage bonds are due and payable on the 1st of June, proximo. It was decided wise by the parties in interest, who planned the reorganization of the Erie Company and the organization of this company (in pursuance of which plan and reorganization the second consolidated mortgage and the bonds secured thereby were executed and issued) to provide for the contingency of "any failure to pay interest which may result from the want of net earnings of the mortgaged premises," and to provide further and against the usual consequences which would follow from such failure to pay "until on each of six successive due dates of coupons some interest secured by the said indenture shall be in default and unpaid." Under ordinary circumstances the Board might on the present, as on former occasions, provide to some extent for the deficit of the first six months, relying on the usual increase in earnings of the last half of the year; but in the present depressed condition of the business of the country and of the earnings of this company, as well as of others, the Board does not feel at liberty to deal with anything but the business and earnings as now ascertained, and therefore deems it wise to accept the provisions of the mortgage as the lawful rule for its government in the existing emergency and circumstances, and for the present to postpone the payment of the coupons belonging to the bonds issued under such mortgage and payable by the terms thereof on the 1st prox. The Board believes that such failure to provide for the payment of the interest cannot be of long duration, but that by the exercise of great economy in conducting the business of the company and a careful husbanding of its resources and protection of its credit, the emergency requiring such postponement of payment, either in whole or in part, will speedily pass.

Northern Central.—The comparative statement of earnings and expenses for April and for four months ended April 30, is as follows:

| | April. | | 4 mos. ended Apr. 30. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |

Northern Pacific.—The gross earnings of the Northern Pacific Railroad for the month of April are officially reported as being $1,441,514; operating expenses, $598,167, or about 41½ per cent of the gross earnings; net earnings $843,347, against $436,676 net earnings in March. This statement is remarkably favorable, and shows especial strength in the small percentage of operating expenses.

Pennsylvania Railroad.—The gross and net earnings for April and for four months are specially compiled for the CHRONICLE in the tables below. The result of the operation of all the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie for the month of April was an increase of $226,625 in net earnings, and for the four months a decrease of $341,287 this year compared with the same period in 1883. On the lines west of Pittsburg there was a decrease in net profits of $100,028 for April and a decrease of $701,674 for the four months, as compared with 1883:

Philadelphia & Reading.—The result of the joint operations of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad and Coal & Iron Company in the month of April was an increase of $126,897 in net earnings, and for the five months from December 1, 1883, a decrease of $1,056,034 net, compared with the same period in 1882-83. On the lease of the Central Railroad of New Jersey there was a loss to the Reading of $48,017 in April and a loss of $1,006,880 for the five months. The total receipts of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad and Coal & Iron Company (not including the Central of New Jersey, leased) for each month of the fiscal years 1883-84 and 1883-84 were as follows:

| | Gross Receipts | | Net Receipts | |

—The following circular signed by the President of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company has been issued:

"Notice is hereby given to the holders of wages notes issued for April wages that on and after July 15 next the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company and the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company will receive the same at par and accrued interest, in payment of freight and toll bills of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company, and coal bills of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, maturing on and after July 15, 1884, provided such notes do not exceed the amount of said bills."

—The Record says:

"The Directors of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company have decided to pay the employees of the Central Railroad Company working in the State of New Jersey in cash, as the laws of that State prohibit the payment of labor with scrip. No definite action has been taken upon the payment of miners in scrip, and it is thought that they will receive cash. The railroad laborers and other employees of the company will receive scrip, large amounts of which have already been sent out and found its way back into Third Street, this city, where it is quoted at 95 to 98 cents."

Shenandoah Valley.—The statement of earnings and expenses for April and for four months in 1883 and 1884, is as follows:

| | April. | | Jan.—Apr.—4 mos. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Gross earnings | $58,538 | $60,677 | $232,763 | $218,803 |
| Expenses | 52,475 | 49,140 | 208,841 | 207,003 |
| Net earnings | $6,062 | $11,536 | $23,922 | $6,799 |

Texas & Pacific.—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: "Col. H. M. Hoxie, Third Vice-President of the Gould lines, yesterday affixed his signature to one of the largest deeds of land ever made by the company. The deed was issued by the Texas & Pacific Railway Company to the Magnolia Cattle & Land Company, and transfers forty-eight square miles of land, or 30,720 acres, to the latter, in consideration of the sum of $99,840, or at the rate of $3 25 per acre. The land is on the line of the Texas & Pacific in Texas, and is admirably suited for cattle-raising."

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—The committee first appointed to represent the bondholders of both the main line (Toledo Delphos & B.) and the St. Louis Division (Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis) consists of Messrs. Jas. M. Quigley, Halsey J. Boardman, Chas. W. Pierce, John McNab and Chas. T. Harbeck. Their plan for keeping both divisions together as a complete route from Toledo to St. Louis was for some time the only plan in the field. It proposes, in substance, that a new mortgage at $15,000 per mile shall be authorized, and so much of it as may be necessary shall be used to change the road to standard gauge, pay off outstanding liens, and put the property in good working order. Also to issue to present first mortgage bondholders new second mortgage bonds, which shall have voting power, and thus practically have control of the property. Income bonds and stock were to be admitted in the reorganization on payment of an assessment, but this feature it is proposed to modify, and admit the holders of those junior securities without assessment.

Subsequently Mr. Austin Corbin proposed a different plan, which also has the support of Mr. Geo. Wm. Ballou, the banker who originally negotiated the bonds of the company, and under this plan new mortgage bonds for $8,000 per mile would be issued, and to the present first mortgage bondholders preferred stock would be given instead of second mortgage bonds. The interest on the new first mortgages would be guaranteed in some manner by the Indiana Bloomington & Western Railroad Co.

At a meeting held May 20, in New York, the bondholders approving of the plan of the original or Quigley committee declined to accept Mr. Corbin's plan, or to co-operate with his committee, and in a circular just issued the following objections are made to Mr. Corbin's plan:

1. That the proposed issue of $8,000 per mile is clearly inadequate, since careful estimates given in detail in the circular show $12,584 per mile as immediately required to pay off prior liens, and put the whole property in suitable order for through business.

2. Mr. Corbin's plan proposes to give present mortgage bondholders no lien on the property, and subsequent mortgages (which would certainly be found necessary) would take precedence of their preferred stock.

3. That Mr. Corbin or the I. B. & W. has no interest in any part of the property, except the 162 miles of the St. Louis Division, from the crossing of the I. B. & W. at Metcalf, Ill., to St. Louis, and that as to all the rest of the 288 miles from Metcalf to Toledo the interests of the I. B. & W. would be hostile.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, May 30, 1884.

To-day, "Decoration Day," being a close holiday, business is wholly suspended. The improvement during the week in the financial situation has not been sufficient to give a fresh impulse to trade. Discounts, except of the most legitimate character, have been restricted, and further liquidation made necessary. But there has been no severe depression in values, and the future is looked forward to with increasing confidence. The weather has turned quite cool, and floods are reported from the Southwest, but crop accounts are generally very good.

The speculation in lard futures has been much less active, and prices somewhat unsettled. The tendency has latterly been downward, and yesterday there was a sharp decline, under Western manipulation, closing at 8·25c. for June, 8·48c. for July, 8·57c. for August and 8·68c. for September. Spot lard also receded yesterday, closing at 8@8·05c. for prime city, 8·32½@8·35c. for prime Western and 8·50@8·55c. for refined for the Continent. Pork has lost the advance of last week, through the ending of the speculative "corner" at the West; mess quoted at $17 and clear back $18@$18 50. Bacon is entirely nominal. Cut meats have had a pretty fair sale; pickled bellies 7½@8c., hams 11½@12c., and shoulders 7¼@7½c. Smoked meats quiet; hams 13@13½c. and shoulders 8@8¼c. Beef has been dull; India mess $19@$21 per tierce. Beef hams are quiet at $24 per bbl. Tallow has been more active at 6½c. Oleomargarine sold fairly at 8⅝c. Stearine is quoted at 10c. Butter declined to 17@22½c. for creamery and 10@16c. for Western factory, but closes steadier, with a better demand. Cheese has dropped to 5½@11¼c. for factory, leading to a brisker business for export. Eggs are dearer at 14@16c. for Western and State.

Rio coffee has been quiet and fair cargoes have declined to 10c. on the spot; options have latterly been dull at lower prices, closing barely steady at 8·05@8·10c. for June, 8·25@8·30c. for July, 8·35@8·40c. for August, 8·45@8·50c. for September, 8·55@8·60c. for October, 8·60@8·65c. for November and 8·65@8·70c. for December. Mild grades have sold moderately, at prices showing no marked change. Tea has been dull, and, at auction, lower. Spices have been very quiet and somewhat weak as a rule. Foreign dried fruits have remained quiet, with little change in prices; green have been fairly active and steady. Rice has met with a moderate sale at unchanged prices. New Orleans has been quiet and unchanged; Cuba active at a decline to 17c. for 50-degrees test refining. Raw sugar has been declining, with little business on the spot, but a larger trade for future delivery; fair refining on the spot is quoted 5c.; that grade sold yesterday at 4·82½@4·85c. for July, 5·05c. for August and 5·20@5·22½c. for September; refined has declined, but closed steady; granulated 6¾@6 13-16c.; powdered 7¼@7½c., standard "A" 6⅜c.

Kentucky tobacco has ruled quite steady, though the movement has been slow; lugs are quoted at 7¾@8¼c.; leaf 8½@9¾c. Seed leaf continued steady, and there are reports of injury to the growing crop by frosts; sales 1,150 cases, including 500 cases crop 1832, Pennsylvania, 5@14c.; 150 cases crop 1881, do., 6@10c.; 200 cases crop 1832, Wisconsin Havana, 22@45c.; 200 cases crop 1883, New England, 12@30c., and 100 cases sundries, 4¾@20c.; also, 300 bales Havana, 80c.@$1 15, and 150 bales Sumatra, $1 25@$1 65.

In naval stores little of interest has transpired, and the general feeling has been easy and irregular; spirits turpentine 32@32½c.; strained to good strained, $1 37½@$1 42½. Refined petroleum has recently shown a slight improvement, and closed last night quite firm at 8¼c. for 70-abel test. Crude oil certificates have latterly improved, with large buying orders from local operators. Thursday the opening figures were 76c., highest 79½c. and closing 77⅝@77¾c. In metals, hops and wool nothing of importance has transpired, but an undertone of steadiness is noticed.

In ocean freight room berth tonnage has been rather easy, exchange continuing unsettled, but oil tonnage has been quite active, and all rates have been advanced. To-day grain was engaged to Liverpool by steam at 1½d.; cotton 11-64d.; cheese 30s.; grain to London by steam, 3¼d.@3⅜d.; do. to Glasgow by steam, quoted 3¼d.; steamer was chartered to load at Philadelphia or New York for Bombay with case oil at 20c.; crude petroleum hence to Blaze, 2s. 9d.; refined do. to Bremen, 2s. 6d.; cases to Java, 28@29c.; refined in bbls. to Plymouth, 2s. 7½d.; grain by steamer from Philadelphia to Cork for orders, 2s. 10½d. per quarter.

COTTON.

FRIDAY, P. M., May 30, 1884.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (May 30), the total receipts have reached 8,129 bales, against 5,863 bales last week, 8,694 bales the previous week and 15,657 bales three weeks since; making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1883, 4,751,662 bales, against 5,824,186 bales for the same period of 1882-83, showing a decrease since September 1, 1883, of 1,072,524 bales.

The week under review has been much quieter in the speculation for future delivery, and the fluctuations in prices much less important than last week. The floods in the Southwest, the rapid reductions of stocks, and comparatively favorable foreign advices were elements of strength early in the week; but on Wednesday notices of delivery on June contracts came out quite freely, and being thrown upon the market, in the process of liquidation which the banks seem to be urging upon their customers, this crop declined a few points, while the next crop also favored buyers, though to a smaller extent only. There has been a slight increase in the movement of cotton, due, probably, to the financial pressure. Yesterday there was less depression, but a dull market, especially for the next crop. The close was at a decline of 7@11 points for this crop and 2@4 points for the next. Cotton on the spot has continued to be taken freely for export, but the home demand has fallen off. The reports from New England mills indicate that while some are stopping, others are resuming, work, through the termination of strikes, but the general tendency is to restrict consumption. Yesterday there was less doing for export, but a fair business for home consumption, the market closing quiet at 11⅝c. for middling uplands.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 287,600 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 13,688 bales, including 11,690 for export, 1,998 for consumption, — for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON to-night, as made up by cable and telegraph, is as follows. The Continental stocks, as well as those for Great Britain and the afloat, are this week's returns, and consequently all the European figures are brought down to Thursday evening. But to make the totals the complete figures for to-night (May 30), we add the item of exports from the United States, including in it the exports of Friday only.

☞ The imports into Continental ports this week have been 47,000 bales.

The above figures indicate a decrease in the cotton in sight to-night of 400,950 bales as compared with the same date of 1883, a decrease of 88,695 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1882 and a decrease of 242,385 bales as compared with 1881.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statement:

* This year's figures estimated.

The above totals show that the old interior stocks have decreased during the week 5,674 bales and are to-night 44,508 bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 5,764 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 685,455 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,766,680 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,922,380 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,605,049 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 8,129 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 1,780 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 19,540 bales and for 1882 they were 5,517 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT MAY 30.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to May 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to May 30 | 4,751,662 | 5,824,188 | 4,556,889 | 5,565,042 |
| Interior stocks on May 30 in excess of September 1..... | 15,018 | 98,194 | 48,160 | 97,632 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,766,680 | 5,922,380 | 4,605,049 | 5,662,674 |
| Net overland to May 1..... | 546,726 | 599,862 | 422,630 | 472,241 |
| Southern consumpt'n to May 1. | 264,000 | 275,000 | 210,000 | 175,000 |
| Total in sight May 30..... | 5,577,406 | 6,797,242 | 5,237,679 | 6,309,915 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,219,836 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 339,727 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 732,509 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather during the week at the South has in general only been fairly favorable. There has been an improvement in the Southwest, although some sections had further heavy rains. In the Northern Atlantic sections there seems to have been a cold wave, checking growth, but no frost is reported anywhere.

Galveston, Texas.—It has rained hard on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and eighty-two hundredths. By the recent rains and floods much damage has been done to crops, fences, railroads, roads and bridges throughout the State. At the close of the week there is a favorable change in the weather. The thermometer has ranged from 67 to 83, averaging 78.

Indianola, Texas.—We have had showers on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching thirty hundredths of an inch. Weeds are growing so fast that they are becoming troublesome. Average thermometer 78, highest 86 and lowest 66.

Palestine, Texas.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching ninety-eight hundredths of an inch.

Much damage has been done by recent rains, and weeds are becoming troublesome. For several days the railroads were compelled to stop running. The thermometer has averaged 72, the highest being 82 and the lowest 63.

Huntsville, Texas.—It has rained hard on two days of the week, and much damage has been done. The rainfall reached two inches and sixteen hundredths. Weeds are becoming troublesome. The thermometer has averaged 75, after ranging from 62 to 86.

Luling, Texas.—We have had no rain during the week. Prospects are better than in most sections, but still we are badly in the grass. The thermometer has ranged from 67 to 90, averaging 78.

Brenham, Texas.—It has rained hard on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching three inches and ten hundredths. There seems to be no end to the rain. Immense damage has been done to crops and railroads. All the streams have been out of their banks, and submerged crops are lost. Average thermometer 75, highest 89 and lowest 63.

Belton, Texas.—It has been showery on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching eleven hundredths of an inch. Much damage has been done to bottom lands by overflows; uplands are doing better, but weeds are troublesome, and we are having too much rain. The thermometer has averaged 74, the highest being 86 and the lowest 60.

Weatherford, Texas.—Fortunately we have had no rain during the week. Work is about resuming after the recent floods. The thermometer has averaged 70, ranging from 55 to 85.

Dallas, Texas.—We have had no rain during the week, at which there is great rejoicing. Much damage has been done to crops and railroads by recent rains, and both work and traffic were entirely suspended for a while. The thermometer has ranged from 64 to 91, averaging 77.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching thirty-four hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 78.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—We have had clear and fine weather except on the first day of the week. The rainfall reached twenty-five hundredths of an inch. The river is falling steadily. Planting prospects much better. Roads bad. The thermometer has ranged from 63 to 87.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—It has rained on three days of the week, on two of which severely, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy and cool, but at the close there is a favorable change. The rainfall reached two inches and eighty hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 61 to 87.

Meridian, Mississippi.—The early part of the week we had rain, but the latter portion has been clear and pleasant. Good progress is making in clearing the fields of weeds.

Greenville, Mississippi—Telegram not received.

Last week we had too much rain, the rainfall reaching three inches and forty-eight hundredths. The thermometer ranged from 61 to 80.

Columbus, Mississippi.—Telegram not received.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—It has rained on two days of the week. Generally the days have been warm, but the nights have been cold. Stands injured. Average thermometer 73, highest 83, lowest 62.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—We have had no rain during the week. The days have been warm, but nights have been cold. There has been 10 per cent more cotton planted this year than last year. The thermometer has ranged from 54 to 84.

Helena, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Newport, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Memphis, Tennessee.—We have had rain on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and ten hundredths. The weather has been too cold for young crops during the latter part of the week, but no serious damage has resulted. The thermometer has averaged 71, the highest being 85 and the lowest 60·5.

Nashville, Tennessee.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching forty-five hundredths of an inch. Days have been warm, but nights cold. The plant is small and backward, but the crop is now steadily improving. The thermometer has averaged 70, ranging from 55 to 86.

Mobile, Alabama.—We had severe rain on three days during the early part of the week, but the latter portion has been clear and pleasant. The rainfall reached three inches and seventy hundredths. We have secured a good stand, and the crop is developing promisingly. The thermometer has ranged from 64 to 92, averaging 75.

Montgomery, Alabama.—We have had a shower on one day of the week, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant and warm. The rainfall reached but one hundredth of an inch. The crop is developing promisingly, and prospects in this section so far are excellent. Average thermometer 76, highest 89, lowest 63.

Selma, Alabama.—The weather has been warm and dry all the week, and the crop is developing promisingly. Average thermometer 72, highest 86 and lowest 59.

Eufaula, Alabama.—Crop prospects good.

Madison, Florida.—We have had delightful showers during the week, and the indications are that they extended over a wide surface. The rainfall reached fifty-two hundredths of an inch. The cotton plant looks strong and healthy. The thermometer has averaged 84·5, ranging from 67 to 93.

Macon, Georgia.—It has rained on three days of the week. The crop is developing promisingly; we hear no complaints. The thermometer has ranged from 61 to 89, averaging 75.

Columbus, Georgia.—It has rained lightly on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching fifteen hundredths of an inch. Average thermometer 79, highest 88, lowest 67.

Savannah, Georgia.—We have had rain on three days, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached seventy three hundredths of an inch. A cold wave passed over the State yesterday and to-day, and the tendency will be to check the growth of the plant, which is at present small and backward. The thermometer has averaged 77, ranging from 66 to 88.

Augusta, Georgia.—We have had heavy general rain on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and fifty-seven hundredths. Crop accounts are splendid, and the crop develops promisingly. The thermometer has averaged 74, ranging from 67 to 89.

Atlanta, Georgia.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching fifty-six hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 61 to 85, averaging 73.

Charleston, South Carolina.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and twenty hundredths. Average thermometer 76, highest 87, lowest 67.

Columbia, South Carolina.—Telegram not received.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock May 29, 1884, and May 31, 1883.

| | | May 29, '84 | | May 31, '83. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | Feet. | Inch. | Feet. | Inch. |
| New Orleans | Below high-water mark | 1 | 7 | 1 | 6 |
| Memphis | Above low-water mark. | 18 | 7 | 25 | 7 |

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

INDIA COTTON MOVEMENT FROM ALL PORTS.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to May 29.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1884 | 12,000 | 10,000 | 22,000 | 378,000 | 522,000 | 900,000 | 73,000 | 1,289,000 |
| 1883 | 29,000 | 34,000 | 63,000 | 339,000 | 656,000 | 995,000 | 69,000 | 1,344,000 |
| 1882 | 23,000 | 37,000 | 60,000 | 430,000 | 457,000 | 1,067,000 | 86,000 | 1,370,000 |
| 1881 | 8,000 | 26,000 | 34,000 | 207,000 | 397,000 | 604,000 | 89,000 | 929,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts of 4,000 bales, and a decrease in shipments of 41,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 95,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. | | | Shipments since January 1. | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Great Britain. | Conti-nent. | Total. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
| Calcutta— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 86,500 | 40,900 | 127,400 |
| 1883 | 500 | ..... | 500 | 61,500 | 9,100 | 70,600 |
| Madras— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 13,000 | 4,600 | 17,600 |
| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 4,500 | 1,000 | 5,500 |
| All others— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | ..... | 600 | 600 | 13,500 | 4,000 | 17,500 |
| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 4,000 | 2,000 | 6,000 |
| Total all— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | ..... | 600 | 600 | 113,000 | 49,500 | 162,500 |
| 1883 | 500 | ..... | 500 | 70,000 | 12,100 | 82,100 |

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. |
| Bombay | 22,000 | 900,000 | 63,000 | 995,000 | 60,000 | 1,047,000 |
| All other ports | 600 | 182,500 | 500 | 82,100 | 2,800 | 172,500 |
| Total | 22,600 | 1,082,500 | 63,500 | 1,077,100 | 62,800 | 1,239,500 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

ALEXANDRIA RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

| Alexandria, Egypt, May 28. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Receipts (cantars*)— | | | |
| This week | 5,000 | 2,000 | 4,000 |
| Since Sept. 1 | 2,637,000 | 2,249,000 | 2,828,720 |

| | This week. | Since Sept. 1. | This week. | Since Sept. 1. | This week. | Since Sept. 1 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Exports (bales)— | | | | | | |
| To Liverpool | 1,000 | 246,000 | 1,000 | 229,000 | 2,000 | 241,200 |
| To Continent | 1,000 | 131,000 | 1,000 | 84,000 | 2,500 | 172,871 |
| Total Europe | 2,000 | 377,000 | 2,000 | 313,000 | 4,500 | 414,071 |

* A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending May 28 were 5,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 2,000 bales.

MANCHESTER MARKET.—Our report received from Manchester to-night states that the market is dull. We give the prices of to-day below, and leave previous weeks' prices for comparison.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE — FOURTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING.—The New York Cotton Exchange held its fourteenth annual meeting on Tuesday, May 27. Mr. M. B. Fielding presided. The Secretary, Mr. George E. Moore, read the report of the Board of Managers, which contained the following:

The transactions in actual cotton during the year aggregate a total of 422,116 bales, as against 506,123 last year and 513,975 bales two years ago. The said total was distributed and compares with the two previous years as follows:

| | 1884. Bales. | 1883. Bales. | 1882. Bales. |
| For export | 45,477 | 119,963 | 115,198 |
| For spinning | 129,240 | 146,213 | 138,733 |
| On speculation | 236,499 | 28,507 | 38,328 |
| In transit | 10,500 | 21,100 | 14,819 |
| Delivered on contract | 155,200 | 137,600 | 154,900 |
| Estimated shipments direct to spinners | 52,000 | 52,000 | 52,000 |
| Total | 422,116 | 506,123 | 513,975 |

It may here be stated that one of the causes that has contributed to the comparatively smaller quantity of transactions in actual cotton has been the fact that holders thereof, having obtained remunerative premiums for carrying their stocks into the summer months, they have availed themselves of the opportunity to a larger extent than in former seasons; the more so, as on account of the depleted condition of all Southern markets, the liquidation of their spot holdings later on may reasonably be expected to prove more advantageous; otherwise the transactions, considering the large stock which has been attracted to this market, and which reached its maximum figures, viz., 348,497 bales, on the 26th of March, and has only been equaled by the stock on hand of February, 1881, viz., 348,552 bales, would have been considerably larger.

The transactions for the year in contracts for future delivery amount to 4,828,600 bales, against 25,907,100 bales in 1883 and 32,768,000 bales in 1882.

A suggestion having been made to the effect that the introduction in the Exchange of transactions with regular calls in print cloths would be in keeping and enhance the business of the trade, it was duly considered by the Board of Managers and favorably, though informally, entertained both by members of the Cotton Exchange as well as manufacturers.

Hence, the matter was referred to a Special Committee who have had the subject under consideration, and it is expected that the By-Law Committee, acting in conjunction with the said Special Committee, will have perfected the necessary by-laws and rules, so that the proposed measure may be carried into effect, and be in operation on or before the 1st of July next.

During the past year certain cases have occurred, and have been brought to the official cognizance of this Exchange, involving a question of most vital interest to the trade at large.

The question involved affects the responsibility of steamship or railroad corporations attaching to bills of lading issued in regular form, duly signed by their accredited agents, in cases whereby the negligence of such agents or their collusion with others in fraudulent practices, the innocent holders of such bills of lading have failed to receive the merchandise called for.

The combined action of this and all other Exchanges and commercial bodies of the country should be brought to bear, to impress public carriers to recognize their liability for the acts of their authorized agents; otherwise the very foundation upon which the interchange and transportation of commodities rest is completely undermined.

The same commercial bodies should, by concerted action, petition the National Legislature in favor of the passage of a law covering the question above referred to.

Fifty memberships have changed ownership by transfer, and thirty-eight new members have been elected during the year; the entire number of memberships standing at four hundred and fifty-five.

The Treasurer's report showed receipts for the year, including balance on hand May 25, 1883 ($14,488 10), of $61,715 96; disbursements, $42,088 96; balance in Treasury May 22, 1884, $19,627.

The Building Committee reported that they had entered into contracts to the amount of $513,380, leaving marble and floor-tiling yet to be contracted for.

The Trustees of the Building Fund reported receipts for the year, including balance on hand May 25, 1883 ($63,168 13), of $219,843 34; disbursements, $128,236 61; leaving balance in the hands of the Trustees, $91,606 73.

THE COTTON CROP IN THE NASHVILLE DISTRICT.—We have this day received from Messrs. McAlister & Hopkins, of Nashville, a copy of their first cotton report for the present season. The district embraces Middle Tennessee and North Alabama. The report is as follows:

Acreage—Six per cent of our correspondents report acreage increased over last year; 40 per cent same as last year, and 54 per cent report a decrease from last year.

Preparation of land—Twenty five per cent of our correspondents report preparation thorough, 11 per cent fair, and 64 per cent rough and poor.

Date of planting—One correspondent reports planting complete April 25; two, May 1; all others, May 5 to 15; the average date of completion being May 12.

Re-planting—Seventy-four per cent of our correspondents report more or less re-planting, from 2½ per cent to 10 per cent of the crop; 26 per cent report no re-planting.

Stands—Forty per cent of our correspondents report good stands of early planting; 54 per cent report tolerable, and 6 per cent poor. Nearly all report late planting as not yet up.

The conclusions to which the above reports lead us are:

1. That the cotton acreage in the district is about 3 per cent less than last year, the falling off being chiefly in Middle Tennessee, where a largely increased acreage was sown in wheat, partly at the expense of cotton.

2. That the preparation of the land, on account of frequent and excessive rains, was generally rough and incomplete.

3. That the average planting has been two to three weeks later than usual.

4. That partly on account of the dampness and coldness of the soil, and partly in consequence of the poor proportion, much more re-planting than usual has been necessary.

5. That stands are not so good as usual. The hasty and rough preparation of the land, the lateness of the planting, and the deficiency in the stands, constitute an unfavorable start for the crop, rendering subsequent cultivation more difficult, and increasing the susceptibility of the crop to injury from unfavorable weather in the future; but all these drawbacks may be overcome with proper management and favorable weather conditions hereafter.

THE CROP IN ARKANSAS.—A special to the New Orleans Times-Democrat, dated Little Rock, May 25, says:

"Reports received yesterday announce that the cotton crop throughout the State is in good condition, but owing to universal rainfall cultivation has been delayed and the crop will be very backward, probably three weeks. The stands now are mostly above ground and the general outlook for an average yield is favorable. The increased acreage in many sections will cover the loss sustained in the overflowed districts."

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

| Monthly Receipts. | Year Beginning September 1. | | | | | |

This statement shows that up to April 30 the receipts at the ports this year were 923,316 bales less than in 1882-83, and 268,638 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to Apr. 30 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—Some business has been done in bagging for the past week and a fair jobbing demand is reported. Prices are steady and holders are not disposed to shade present quotations on the parcels that are being taken, but a prompt offer of a shade less would be accepted for a quantity. The market closes with sellers asking 9¼c. for 1¼ lb., 10c. for 1¾ lb., 10¾c. for 2 lb. and 11½c. for standard grades. The inquiry for jute butts has been rather light an the market is easy, and more disposition is being shown to accept less money. Buyers are not very anxious to operate at the moment and only small orders are coming in. We hear of a few transactions in paper grades at 2¼@2⅜c., but these figures could be shaded on a quantity. Bagging is dull and easy at 2¾@3c.

SHIPPING NEWS.—The exports of cotton from the United States the past week, as per latest mail returns, have reached 26,912 bales. So far as the Southern ports are concerned, these are the same exports reported by telegraph, and published in the CHRONICLE last Friday. With regard to New York we include the manifests of all vessels cleared up to Thursday night of this week.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., May 30, 1884

Flour has been very quiet for most descriptions, and more or less depressed in value as a consequence. The statistical position, as a rule, is not unfavorable to holders, but it is, nevertheless, true that if the supply of no description is at all excessive, there is more than enough of all kinds to satisfy the existing demand. To-day the market was dull and weak. There is a liberal supply of Southern flour here.

Wheat has been only moderately active either for export or on speculation, and prices for future delivery have declined. It is averred that the Milwaukee clique has given up the attempt to force an advance, owing to the stringency of money and the high carrying charges. The weather has, moreover, been very favorable in the main for the growing crop, and the indications seem to point to an increased yield this year. A report that some damage had been done in Missouri and Southern Illinois by cold weather lacks confirmation, and is by some considered a canard. The weather at the West has undoubtedly been cool for several days past, however, and this fact has led to some covering of contracts both here and at Chicago with a moderate re-action in prices. The visible supply has shown some decrease, but the foreign advices have not been favorable. As to the quantity of wheat available in this country, it is considered more than sufficient to supply the demand between now and the time for the new wheat to arrive, which is not more than six weeks or two months off. To-day, in response to an advance in Chicago, there was a rise here of ½c. to 1c., but the transactions were moderate. Reports of damage to the crop by cold weather caused the advance, but comparatively little credence is given to them. No. 2 red sold at $1.04, deliv red, $1 01⅝@$1 02⅛ for June, $1 04⅛@$1 05⅛ for July, $1 05@$1 05⅛ for August and $1 05⅞@$1 06⅜ for September. No. 2 red closed weak at $1 01 in elevator, $1 01 for June, $1 04¼ for July, $1 05 for August and $1 05⅛ for September, showing a decline for the week of 1½c. to 2c. for the next two months, while the later deliveries, as well as the spot quotation, show no material change.

Indian corn has been quiet on speculation, and as a rule only moderately active for export. Corn has, however, shown more strength than wheat. The receipts at Chicago have at times been rather liberal, partly owing to the stringency of money, but the visible supply in the United States has nevertheless decreased 1,500,000 bushels, and this fact, taking the Chicago shorts by surprise, caused a demand to cover which reports of damage to the crop by the late cold weather also stimulated. These reports, though generally discredited here, led to some covering of contracts, and prices, which were at one time weak in sympathy with wheat, have within the last two days advanced slightly. To-day there was a moderate demand for options at a small advance, while the export demand was light, and corn on the spot was weak. No. 2 mixed sold at 64⅛@64¼c. in elevator and No. 3 at 62½c. No. 2 mixed closed steady at 64c. delivered, 63½c. for June, 64½c. for July, 65⅝c. for August and 66⅝c. for September, showing a fractional advance for the week.

Rye has been in fair demand and steady. Oats have been in better demand, partly for export to France, where the supply is understood to be short, and prices have advanced. No. 2 mixed closed steady at 37½c. for June and 37¾c. for July, after sales for the day of 980,000 bushels, the largest business for some little time.

The following statement, prepared by the Bureau of Statistics, will show the exports of domestic breadstuffs from the undermentioned customs districts, during the month of April, 1884, and for the ten months ended the same, as compared with the corresponding months of the previous year:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

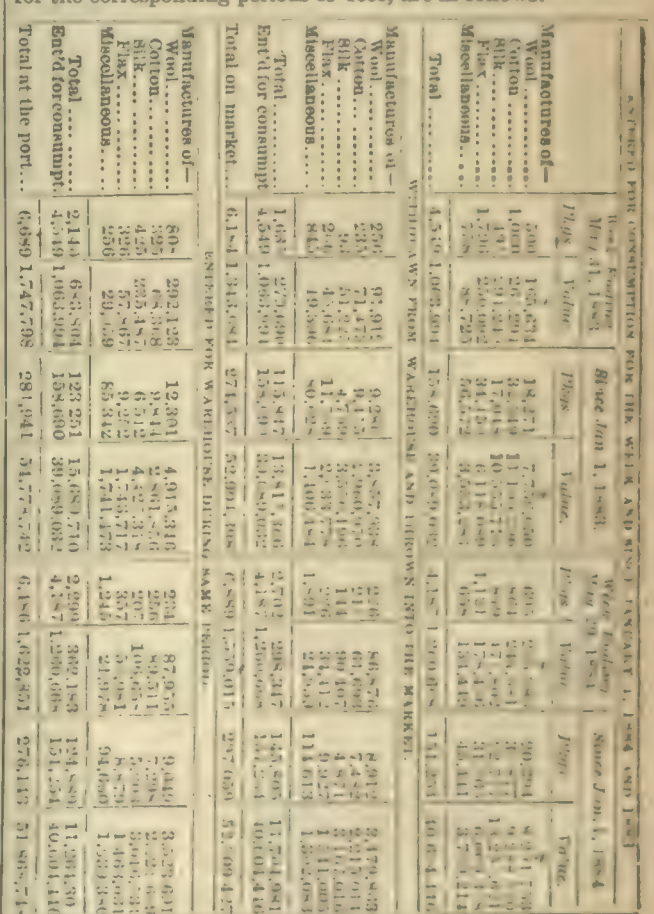
FRIDAY, P. M., May 30, 1884

Even after making due allowance for the intervention of a legal holiday (Decoration Day), and bearing in mind the fact that business is usually quiet "between seasons," the dry goods trade was by no means satisfactory the past week, as far as the wholesale branches are concerned. There was a moderate demand for a few specialties required for immediate distribution, but both wholesale and retail buyers manifested more desire to contract their liabilities than to increase their obligations, confidence having been only partially restored, notwithstanding the somewhat improved financial situation. It seems probable that distributors will continue to pursue a hand-to-mouth policy for some little time. Still there is nothing discouraging in the outlook. Merchants have been exceedingly cautious in their operations for many months past, and their stocks are consequently small. Crop prospects are considered favorable, and though collections are rather more difficult than of late in some parts of the country, there is as yet no serious ground for complaint on this score.



DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods for the week aggregated 4,215 packages, including 923 to Africa, 375 to Great Britain, 295 to United States of Colombia, 175 to China, 114 to Mexico, 89 to Hamburg, &c. Some further transactions in cotton flannels were stimulated by low prices, and fair sales of brown and colored cottons were made for export, but in other respects the cotton goods market was exceedingly quiet throughout the week. Buyers were so apathetic, that there was no disposition on the part of manufacturers' agents to force business, and a similar view of the situation was taken by jobbers. The most desirable plain and colored cottons are generally steady in price, but low grade brown and bleached goods are a trifle easier in some cases. Print cloths ruled quiet and nominal at 3⅛c., less 1 per cent, for 64x64s and 3c., less 1 per cent, for 56x60s, with a downward tendency. Prints were dull, but a very fair business was done in other wash fabrics, as sateens, lawns, chambrays, seersuckers, black plaid ginghams, reversible suitings, &c.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There was a very small business in men's-wear woolens, and other woolen fabrics were mostly quiet in first hands, and sluggish in jobbing circles. Agents continued to make fair deliveries of heavy-weight cassimeres, worsteds, suitings and overcoatings on account of back orders, but the current demand for such goods was exceedingly light, and nothing of importance was done in spring woolens. Satinets were less active than of late, and Kentucky jeans and doeskins were quiet in first hands, though a pretty good package trade was reported by jobbers. Ladies' cloths, dress goods, tricots, cloakings, Jersey cloths and stockinettes were severally in light request, and transactions in flannels were mainly restricted to popular makes of white all-wool flannels. Hosiery was in moderate demand, but shirts and drawers ruled quiet, and stocks of the latter are so large that manufacturers are wisely considering the expediency of curtailing production for a time.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The demand for foreign goods was dull and irregular, as usual between seasons. Light summer fabrics, as white goods, laces, embroideries, summer silks and thin dress materials, were in moderate request for the renewal of assortments, but nearly all staple goods were very quiet, though fairly steady in price. As for some time past, the offerings at auction were unimportant, having been chiefly confined to "odds and ends" from the surplus stocks of importers and jobbers, and prices ruled low and in buyers' favor.

Importations of Dry Goods.

The importations of dry goods at this port for the week ending May 29, 1884, and since January 1, and the same facts for the corresponding periods of 1883, are as follows:

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

During the forty years of its publication THE LIVING AGE has met with continuous commendation and success.

double-column octavo pages of reading matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its great amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a satisfactory completeness attempted by no other publication, the best Essays, Reviews, Critisms, Serials and Short Stories, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific Biographical, Historical and Political Information, from the entire body of Foreign Periodical Literature.

It is therefore invaluable to every American reader, as the only satisfactorily fresh and COMPLETE compilation of an indispensable current literature,—indispensable because it embraces the productions of

in all branches of Literature, Science, Politics and Art.

"No other periodical gives so diversified a view of current literature, not by fragments, but by publishing entire the best essays, criticisms, discussions, short stories, and serial romances of the day * * * It is for readers of limited leisure or purse the most convenient and available means of possessing themselves of the very best results of current criticism, philosophy, science, and literature."—Presbyterian Banner, Pittsburg.

"Through its pages alone it is possible to be as well informed in current literature as by the perusal of a long list of monthlies."—Phila. Enquirer.

"Whatever there is of interest in the literary and scientific world is spread before its readers."—Boston Journal.

"No reader who makes himself familiar with its contents can lack the means of a sound literary culture."—New York Tribune.

"It furnishes a complete compilation of an indispensable literature."—Chicago Evening Journal

"Remarkably cheap for the quality and amount of reading furnished."—Montreal Gazette

"It is by odds the best periodical in the world."—Morning Star, Wilmington, N. C.

"We know of no equal to THE LIVING AGE for variety of information, depth of interest, and purity of tone. Its pages are sufficient to keep an reader abreast with the best printed thoughts of the best of our contemporary writers. It is the great eclectic of the world."—Episcopal Register, Philadelphia.

"It flourishes in even more than youthful vigor. It has become indispensable."—New York Observer

"Its readers are supplied with the best literature of the day. * * * There is nothing worthy in science, art, literature, biography, philosophy, or religion, that cannot be found in it * * * It gives in accessible form the best thought of the age."—The Churchman, New York.

"It becomes more and more necessary as the field of periodical literature broadens."—Zion's Herald, Boston.

NEGOTIATED BY

The Corbin Banking Co.

No. 115 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms in that and other Northwestern States. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized to succeed him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Result Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upwards of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best-Paying Investment in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and our correspondents' statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period, we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

To investors who wish to place money for a term of years with entire safety, at rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent, we recommend these loans as being, all things considered, the Best in the World.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to all inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, comprising investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity, there has now been paid $118,180, with an added interest of $63,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record as this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans.

FIRST MORTGAGES

ON

Improved Property

Worth from Three to Five Times the Amount of the Mortgage.

INTEREST SEMI-ANNUAL

AND PAID PROMPTLY IN NEW YORK EXCHANGE.

This is one of the few classes of securities that has not suffered any during the recent depression in financial circles.

We have had experience of several years in lending money on improved property, during which time we have placed large sums of money for Insurance Companies, Savings Banks, Trustees of Estates and capitalists, and the safety of these investments is evidenced by the fact that not one of our investors has ever lost a dollar of interest or principal when negotiated by us.

Loans are made only on very desirable, improved and productive property, after we have made a thorough personal inspection of the security and the abstract of title examined and approved by our Counsel. And in no case do we loan more than 33 1-3 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

Located as we are at Kansas City, the Metropolis of the Southwest, with a population of 100,000, we are able to select from the most desirable locations, and place money to a much better advantage for the lender than firms located in New York or Boston, where they cannot have a personal supervision of the investments. Satisfactory references will be furnished.

The borrowers pay us for our services, and interest is collected and remitted by us in New York exchange the day it falls due, with no charges to investors.

Write us, stating how much you would like to invest, and ask for particulars.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Chicago and the political convention being held there have occupied a large share of public attention the past week. Perhaps as a counter-irritant this is not unwholesome at the present time. And yet among commercial classes the suggestion of a six years'-single-term for President is growing in favor. That plan at least makes these contests less frequent, and may it not be presumed also that under such an arrangement legislation would be more responsive to the needs of commerce and less affected by the question of party supremacy. With three Congressional elections under a single administration, the middle one, if no other, ought to be favorable to the unprejudiced action of the members.

In the meantime, while the proceedings at Chicago have awakened so much interest, our banks have continued slowly gaining strength. So far however as accommodating the public is concerned, their power to do it has been restricted by the very considerable drafts the country is now making on this centre, and also by the tendency on the part of our Clearing House institutions to contract their loan certificates as rapidly as possible. These certificates amount to a temporary local inflation, not so very unlike in principle and effect the note issues several times made in special emergencies by the Bank of England beyond the legal limit. Of course while these certificates are being retired a process of contraction is in operation. If that occurred concurrently with a return to this centre of country deposits (a natural movement after the withdrawals the panic caused) it would not be felt. But the more recent disclosures, suspensions and failures throughout the interior (imitations of the rogueries revealed here) have kept up the outward flow of deposits, though there is reason to believe as the week closes that this demand has now been mostly satisfied. Meanwhile the certificates outstanding are being further contracted. The total originally issued was 24 millions. The total still remaining uncancelled yesterday (Friday) was $18,750,000. But of this latter amount $6,000,000 were held by banks which took them out as a provision against possible wants, but have never used them. Consequently there are now left in actual use only $12,750,000. This is a remarkably satisfactory showing in view of the crisis we have passed through, and especially of the fact that considerably more than half of this 12¾ millions is being used for the purposes of the one bank which the efforts of the association have resuscitated.

An unfortunate because premature movement this week, was the rapid rise in stocks. There is no present warrant for such speedy improvement, and it has only led to a partial covering of short contracts, to free selling to realize profits, to an absolute check to any investment demand either domestic or foreign, and must finally end in a serious decline more discouraging than the fact itself merits. During the same time there have been developments tending in some measure to lessen confidence in railroad property. The putting of Reading into receivers' hands (which we have commented upon in another column) was at this juncture a very unexpected event. That the necessity for such a step might come with the interest payments of the first of July was felt possible, but even then it was hoped that through borrowing, if in no other way, the emergency would be passed. Still, with so large a floating debt already being carried, that course was found to be impracticable, and with the coal trade promising so poorly the plan adopted appeared to the management wisest for the preservation of the property during this period of greatly-disturbed credit.

Another somewhat similar incident was the passing of interest by the Texas Pacific; the coupons are being bought by the Missouri Pacific but not paid. This action following the default and appointment of receivers of the Wabash has thrown more or less discredit on the whole Southwestern system. Then, again, the new rumors with regard to the Louisville & Nashville, though unconfirmed, and in fact denied, have proved disturbing, as it is very easy now to believe anything unfavorable. We comment on the report of earnings of that road later on. Finally, the further possible entanglements of the West Shore, as indicated by the action brought against the receiver of the construction company, and the resignation of two of the directors, was a disappointment. Besides these developments which have directly affected the standing of stock properties, there have been, as already stated, disclosures in various parts of the country showing how widespread this moral or rather immoral epidemic which has broken out is.

Our exchange market has also become a source of some solicitude, as rates have turned against us again. A reversal in the tendency of that market ought not to have caused surprise, for such a re-action was inevitable with the establishment of lower rates for money here. It has, however, been more sudden and decided than it would have been, were it not for the rapid rise in prices at the Stock Exchange, which first shut off the foreign investment demand for securities, and then led to considerable sales to realize profits. But aside from these sales, nothing was needed but a check in the flow of capital this way to give an unfavorable turn to exchange, since the foreign trade movement is so decidedly against us. The April figures we published last week, but judging from New York Custom House reports the May totals will be still more unfavorable. It is in fact amazing to see how large our imports continue, with our industries so depressed and consumption so restricted. For one who does not recognize currency derangements as the cause, the movement is wholly inexplicable. We are the best market in the world to sell in and the poorest to buy in. To-day among other things sugar is pouring in and piling up here until the trade is becoming wholly demoralized, and simply because prices rule higher in New York than in London; and yet it does not go into consumption. A short time ago tea and coffee were the more prominent products seeking our generous market. Hence with exports at a minimum, high rates for exchange are now the natural condition of the market. Furthermore, there are sterling loans, made by bankers, which are about maturing. Some of these can be renewed provided the security is satisfactory, but others are of such a character that renewals may be regarded as not probable. The indications, therefore, point to still higher rates.

On the other hand, it is agreeable to notice the splendid reports that are coming in with regard to our crops. There is one exception and that is cotton in the Southwest, particularly in Texas and part of Louisiana. What the outcome of the late rains will be there, time only can determine. But with that exception, cotton is reported as in a very favorable condition almost everywhere, while breadstuffs throughout the West seem to be extremely promising, pointing to a large yield of cereals. So, too, the trade of the country is being gradually put into a better shape to meet the changed conditions. Economies in production are being practiced and short time adopted making the outturn of goods correspond more nearly with the restricted consumption, and giving a steadier tone to the market. Railroad earnings have likewise kept up fairly well, and so far as reported continue better than anticipated. All these circumstances should be and are reassuring, but it is difficult for the public to throw off the feeling of distrust as long as the disclosures making and threatened continue so damaging to official integrity. Still, with the bank condition decidedly improving, as we have shown, and these other features so favorable, although the prevailing facts furnish little encouragement for buoyant markets, there is no sufficient warrant for the widespread want of confidence existing in property and individuals.

We had intended to remark at length to-day upon the Government revenue figures issued this week and the strong argument they present for legislation reducing taxation as a relief to the present industrial situation. It seems that the total revenue shows another month very close up to last year's figures, the customs duties being even in excess of May, 1883, as the following summary of the monthly returns for this and last fiscal year will show.

It should be said in explanation of the above that in 1883 a larger portion of our imports than usual went into warehouse to await the tariff reductions which took effect with the first of the following July. We do not see how any Congressman with these figures before him and with a knowledge of the present depressed condition of our industries, can consent to an adjournment before he has afforded the country some relief from the exactions this large and worse than useless revenue imposes.

Louisville & Nashville's figures, in view of the current unfavorable reports alluded to above, will be scanned with more than the usual degree of interest. This road is not so exclusively dependent upon one kind of traffic—cotton—as some of the other Southern roads. It has a large amount of general merchandise freight, and latterly has derived important accessions to its business from the development of coal and iron mines in Alabama and Tennessee. The contraction in the cotton movement, therefore, though an unfavorable feature, probably affected it in only minor degree. But the company suffered considerably in the early months of the year from the heavy floods and rains that prevailed in the Ohio Valley, which interrupted traffic operations and connections, and at the same time added largely to expenses. As a consequence, the returns for January and February did not make a very favorable showing. A better statement was looked for in March, but though the expectation was fulfilled as regards gross earnings, it was not as regards net earnings, which recorded a decrease because of the additions to expenses. Now, we have again a large increase in expenses, but the gain in gross was so great as still to leave an improvement in the net. Below we give the figures for four years, both for April and the four months ended April 30.

This statement shows a steady increase in gross earnings but net earnings not up to those of other recent years. We are aware that these figures of net earnings have been questioned, but they have been questioned not as being too small, but as being too large. We would say however that the figures we give for the present April have been twice reaffirmed at the company's office, and further that taking them as they stand they do not of themselves bear out the charge of inaccuracy. If it were intended to make the comparison favorable perforce, expenses would be put at a lower figure than in previous years and not at very much higher totals. In January and February there was, as we have stated, a reason for the increase in expenses, but it is a fact that the heaviest additions have come in March and April, that for March being $76,518 and for April as much as $168,418 over the same month of 1883. Taking the four months together, earnings have increased $947,000 since 1881 and expenses over $692,000, showing that the latter have increased in a greater ratio than the former. It will be noticed, too, that the percentage of expenses to earnings is as much as 68½ per cent, certainly not a low figure. For these reasons we shall be disinclined to credit the reports impugning the correctness of the statements furnished unless accompanied by substantial proof.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy also furnishes quite a good exhibit for the month of April. Not that there is any increase in net—that was not expected—but that the decrease is hardly more than nominal, while in the preceding month it had been very large. It is true that in this preceding month the gain last year had been extraordinary, so that a falling off in the present year was inevitable, but then it is also true that the same influence that was in the main responsible for this falling off in March—namely, a diminished movement of corn—was also operative in April, and, as in March, tended to reduce results. This will be apparent when we say that for four weeks in April the receipts of corn at Chicago (of which the Burlington & Quincy is the leading carrier) were in 1884 only 2,246,055 bushels, while in the same four weeks of 1883 they had been 3,352,438 bushels, a falling off of 1,106,383 bushels or one-third, which is greater than the ratio of falling off in March, though the amount of decrease was somewhat heavier then—namely, 1,454,057 bushels. That in the face of a smaller movement of grain the company should actually have increased its gross earnings in April (as it has, the decrease in net resulting from heavier expenses) is gratifying evidence of the growth of other classes of business. In this connection, we note that freight earnings really fell off $78,357, but that miscellaneous earnings increased $37,590, and passenger earnings $49,088. The gain in passengers (noted in previous months also, there being an increase of $130,684 in the four months to April 30) is especially significant, as it indicates that the people in the section of country traversed by the Burlington & Quincy's lines continue prosperous, and have not yet been reduced to the necessity of contracting travelling expenses whatever Eastern pessimists may may be inclined to say about the business there. In the following statement we set out the company's gross and net earnings for four years past.

| Chic. Burl. & Quincy. | 1884. | 1883. | 1882. | 1881 |
| April. | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| Gross earnings | 1,832,451 | 1,8[illegible]4,130 | 1,[illegible]30,8[illegible]9 | 1,574,371 |
| Operating expenses | 1,187,248 | 1,16[illegible],612 | [illegible]25,147 | 67[illegible],313 |
| Net earnings | 645,203 | 657,518 | 707,692 | 699,[illegible]58 |
| January 1 to April 30. | | | | |
| Gross earnings | 7,557,712 | 7,457,415 | 6,213,190 | 5,3[illegible]5,289 |
| Operating expenses | 4,231,112 | 3,902,312 | 3,186,568 | 3,052,062 |
| Net earnings | 3,32[illegible],600 | 3,555,103 | 2,726,622 | 2,283,227 |

Gross earnings are thus, both for April and the four months, larger than in any preceding year, but the expenses, though they showed a heavy increase last year, show a still further increase in the present year, making the net earnings record a falling off—for April these latter have not varied much during any of the four years, but for the four months there is a very decided gain over both 1881 and 1882, and even the large total of 1883 is left only $232,000 behind. The heavy additions to expenses within recent years are interesting as reflecting the possibility of a reduction in the same items in the future, should the course of business make such a step necessary.

East Tennessee Virginia & Georgia has issued figures this week for April and previous months. The gain over last year is small, but any gain at all is satisfactory, considering the great contraction that has taken place in the cotton movement. Early in the year, in reviewing the statement of results for the six months ended December 31 (the first half of the company's fiscal year), which showed a gain of over $300,000 in net for that period, we remarked that as the conditions during the current six months would be so very much less favorable, a similar heavy improvement during this half year was out of the question. The figures now at hand clearly sustain this view. For the four months ended April 30 we find an increase of $13,772 in gross and $27,044 in net, which in either case is hardly more than nominal. How very satisfactory, however, even this small increase is, will appear by reference to the statistics showing the movement of cotton this year as contrasted with last. We do not know just what the cotton tonnage of the East Tennessee was, but we can get some idea of its relative amount in the two years from the receipts of the staple at Virginia ports and at Georgia ports, the company having lines to the sea through both those States, in the former case, however, not by the use of its own road. Accordingly we find that at Norfolk the receipts during the four months this year were only 140,483 bales, while during the same four months in 1883 they were 257,222 bales, and at Savannah the receipts were only 105,255 bales, against 213,359 bales in 1883. The gross and net earnings for each month are as follows.

| Month. | Gross. | | Net. | |

Here we see that for the ten months of the company's fiscal year, gross earnings increased $381,292, and net $343,562. The total net in the whole of the fiscal year 1882-3 were only $1,393,052, so that in the ten months of the current year this has already been exceeded in the sum of $118,146, with two months still to add on. The payments for interest last yeaf (not, of course, including anything on the income bonds) aggregated $1,383,307. If the charge should prove no larger the present year, the above earnings would be more than sufficient to meet it.

Money on call at the Stock Exchange has resumed its normal condition. That is to say, balances in the hands of brokers in excess of their needs are loaned at or after the stock delivery hour at rates ranging from 4 to 1 per cent, accordingly as the demand is comparatively urgent or light. The banks, except on demand, loan nothing below 6 per cent, and it is not difficult to get that for long time on excellent security. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

* Includes $350,000 transferred in the shape of silver certificates by a deposit of gold in the Sub-Treasury.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $400,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item, therefore, to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the N. Y. Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day. It should be said that the Clearing-House certificates still operate as a disturbing feature and make it difficult to forecast the actual result.

The Bank of England return for the week shows a loss of £1,600,000 bullion. This represents £1,370,000 sent to the interior and £230,000 sent abroad, £200,000 of which latter was shipped to Canada via New York for the use of the Dominion Government. The Bank of France reports a gain of 1,812,000 francs gold and of 2,562,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany an increase of 1,503,000 marks. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

THE ORIENTAL BANK COLLAPSE.

The Oriental Bank Corporation, the "O. B. C.," which was once, more truly the type of wealth and stability in India than the Bank of England has ever been in the British Isles, after having been "an unconscionable long time dying," gave up the ghost at last. In looking back upon its now closed career we can hardly help comparing it with some famous athlete, who could once encounter single-handed and overcome all rivals, attacked by a deceitful pulmonary disease which sapped his strength but not his hope, lingering through years of slow decline which was perceptible to all but himself, and finally surprised at finding that his vital force is completely spent.

There is not much that is romantic in the banking business, but the career of the Oriental Bank might not improperly be so described. It was chartered in 1851. It derived its powers as a corporation not by taking advantage of a vulgar "general act" of incorporation, nor yet from a special act promoted through Parliament, but by a direct grant from the Sovereign. It was the first of the Anglo-Indian banks, though not the first of what are known as British-Colonial joint stock banks. But it quickly distanced all its competitors, and the new banks which were organized to share in its success were for a long time feeble rivals. It had offices in India and Ceylon, and gradually extended its operations to other colonies and to foreign countries. Where its notes were current they had even more unimpeachable credit than a Briton gives to a Bank of England note. To be in the employ of the Oriental Bank, in one of the colonies, was to have a social standing. To be supported by the Bank in business was to have unlimited credit. At home the directory was hardly second to that of the Bank of England for the ability and the financial standing of its members. The reputation which the institution gained, and which was well deserved, gave it new prosperity, but also prepared the way for disaster. Returning colonists urged their deposits upon the Bank, and Englishmen followed their example. That was at a time when large sums could be profitably employed abroad, and the Bank could well afford to pay the five per cent which was offered to depositors, and lend the money safely at double that rate in India and Ceylon. The shares rose in the market. During the Civil War in this country, when the scarcity of cotton led to a large development of its culture in the East, the £25 shares of the corporation sold at £70 on the London Stock Exchange—or at 280 on a par of 100. The profits were enormous and the dividends very high.

That was the heyday of the Bank. The crisis of 1866 hurt its credit—not seriously, but enough to show that it was not exempt from financial laws. It did, however, affect it in a way which led to the final disaster. Money was still offered for investment by the million, but it could no longer be so profitably employed as it had been. But probably with the best intentions in the world the directors continued to employ it, and as the safest business no longer offered the highest rates they took greater risks. So it went on for ten years. It was not until 1876 that the dividends were reduced from twelve to ten per cent. Meanwhile many things had happened. There was business depression all over the world. Silver had been gradually declining, and in 1876 there came a great drop in the price. This was a severe blow at the Oriental Bank; for the money had been borrowed from depositors in gold, before the decline, and lent in countries where silver was the standard. When the profits returned they too were in silver, which must be exchanged for gold. The officers of the Bank, instead of writing off the great loss which had come to them by the decline in silver, hoped that the price would recover, and carried on their fictitious valuation of securities. So it went on for two years more, the dividends continuing at 10 per cent and the stock having a market value of from £10 to £15 a share. In the autumn of 1878 came the failure of the City of Glasgow Bank. It was, no doubt, the revelation of the risks involved in trying to conceal the real situation of that bank which led the directors of the Oriental to write off their losses. The Bank had taken a Chilian loan, and the bonds, which depreciated on its hands, were sold at a loss of more than £90,000. The coffee-disease in Ceylon had rendered it impossible for the planters indebted to it to re-pay their loans, and the Bank had been forced to take the plantations and go into coffee culture on a large scale. Much the same thing had happened in Mauritius, where the decline in sugar had been the cause of the mischief. The business of the Bank was contracted as much as possible. The Ceylon plantations were disposed of to a new company organized for the purpose, which assumed, however, none of the liabilities, and has always been a drain on the Bank. The South African business was taken by the Bank of Africa.

But the dividend at the beginning of 1879 was passed. Between the failure of the Glasgow Bank and April, 1879, the shares of the Oriental declined from £40 to £19—far below par. Operations on a more contracted scale seemed to promise well. The directors managed to figure out a profit of about four per cent until the close of 1883, but sometimes the balance carried over would be drawn upon to the amount of a few hundred pounds to yield even this dividend. Meantime the charter, which was for thirty years, expired in 1881. It was twice renewed for a year at a time, while the "model charter" was in preparation, and last year the directors advised the shareholders to accept that charter. During this interval, that is in 1882, the Bank lost by death the director who had been most industrious and useful in carrying on the business in the deceitful hope that a revival in the sugar market, or something favorable to offset the calamity to Ceylon coffee occasioned by the great extension of Brazilian planting, would occur. It was not until last autumn that the management fully realized the situation. Up to that time the Bank was still deluding itself and the public. The new step proposed was to write off a large part of the loss already incurred, and to raise more capital if possible. The details of the plan it is needless to enter into, for it failed everywhere. Capital could not be had, and depositors began demanding their money. The shares fell still more. At the close of 1883 they were worth about £13; they dropped gradually to £10; just before the spring report appeared they fell away to £5; after the appearance of that report shareholders were offering to give them away, with a bonus of £10 added to whoever would accept them, and with them the liability to be assessed up to the limit of £25 a share.

This rapid sketch of the history of the bank omits many facts which might be interesting to bankers, but after all they are not essential to a correct understanding of the case, or to an enforcement of the only lesson which the whole affair teaches. That is the old but always new lesson —a mere truism and commonplace—that anything short of the most conservative banking is reckless. The managers of the Oriental Bank had a prosperous institution of unbounded credit to administer. Their willingness to take the many millions of pounds sterling offered upon interest made it necessary for them to keep it employed. So long as the conditions were wholly favorable this could be done at a profit. Subsequently the conditions changed, and they were compelled to venture on unsafe ground. Their business pride forbade their acknowledging, even to themselves, the great losses which they had incurred until the truth could be no longer concealed. Then it was too late to repair the consequences of earlier faults, and the course of the Bank was downward—doomed inevitably to be wrecked at last. The depositors did not take alarm all at once, but the Bank's liabilities on this score were decreased between 1878 and the end of 1883 almost one-half, or nearly £6,000,000, and before the failure they had been drawn down to about £3,500,000. The public and the customers of the Bank had fully discounted the failure. The only persons who hoped on to the end were the shareholders, for no considerable amounts of the stock have been transferred since the decay began.

We have no bank corresponding in all respects to the Oriental. But late events and our remarks of last week show that we have some subject to the same class of dangers as those which brought that great corporation to ruin.

READING'S FAILURE AND THE STATE OF THE COAL TRADE.

The action of the managers of the Philadelphia & Reading in placing their property in receivers' hands again, has occasioned genuine surprise. Notwithstanding the event is claimed in certain quarters as having been a foregone conclusion for some time, it is questionable whether any one, either among the company's friends or enemies, anticipated that a resort to such a measure would become necessary so soon. It is but little over a year since the concern was returned to stockholders' control, and scarcely three weeks since the final act under the old receivership, namely the formal discharge of the receivers, was performed. Not five months have elapsed since the proposition (based on the excellent exhibit of operations and income for the year ended Nov. 30, 1883) to declare a dividend on the stock of the road was seriously considered and escaped adoption on a very close vote.

Of course, those who have followed our reviews of the company's monthly statements, (which needed special analysis because of the introduction into the accounts of the operations of the Central New Jersey), knew that the Reading was experiencing large losses of earnings. The company's officials claimed that this was wholly the result of the new policy adopted in limiting the production of coal, by which it was sought to confine restriction entirely to the Winter months, and that consequently in the remaining months of the fiscal year the early loss would be made good. It is not to be denied that there were serious misgivings as to whether these anticipations would be realized—the anthracite coal trade being very much depressed, and its future involved in great doubt. Still, it was not supposed that the company would have to go to default on the 1st of June for the want of $750,000—a comparatively small sum for a corporation of the magnitude of the Reading.

This latter brings us to what has always been an unfortunate feature in the company's position, and was doubly so at the present juncture—namely, the large and unwieldy floating debt that it has been carrying. In the last annual report Mr. Gowen stated the amount of this debt on January 10 at $6,754,291, in addition to $3,460,311 still due on the purchase of Central New Jersey shares, or a total of $10,214,602. That figure probably meant the net amount, and possibly allowed for some items as offsets which would not be immediately available, for in the company's balance sheet of November 30, the gross current liabilities foot up $16,117,846, and the actual cash assets against the same were only about 4¼ million dollars, though there were other assets the value or availability of which cannot be determined. Counting on a net debt of about 10 millions, Mr. Gowen proposed to fund this, together with $2,141,000 of outstanding income bonds which had to be redeemed before any payment could be made on the stock, into a 12 million collateral trust loan at 5 per cent. That of course would have relieved the company of a great burden, but unfornately the loan was never negotiated, Mr. Gowen holding out for better terms and hoping for better times in which to place railroad securities. The financial markets, however, instead of growing less distrustful grew more so, and the late panic found the company with these 16 millions of demand liabilities pressing heavily upon it, and with the coal trade going from bad to worse and entailing very large losses of earnings. It is necessary that these facts should be clearly understood, because otherwise it will seem incomprehensible that a company which last year earned nearly 47 millions gross and over 15 millions net could fail to meet the $750,000 necessary to pay the June interest.

But while this large floating debt played a very important part in forcing the suspension at this time, it is still true that it was the gloomy state of the coal trade that brought about the crisis in the company's affairs, impairing its borrowing capacity, besides reducing its earnings during the first four months of the current fiscal year in the large sum of $2,141,799. To appreciate the change in that trade, we have only to remember that besides a suspension of work for 48 days during December, January, February and March (twice as long as the restriction in production during the same months last year), a further stoppage of six days during April became necessary; and yet, even then it was found at the end of that month that stocks at tidewater had increased to 859,450 tons, from 588,229 tons at the beginning of the month. Hence no alternative was left but a stoppage of nine days more for May, making 63 days altogether during these six months, against only 51 days during the whole of the previous fiscal year. With such a record for the first half of the fiscal year it was confidently hoped that at least subsequent to the 1st of June, full time could be counted on, and Mr. Gowen expressed this opinion in his letter to us, which certainly was not an unreasonable view to take. However, even these 63 days have proved insufficient, and the companies felt obliged to order a suspension of 12 days additional during June, making 75 days altogether thus far. The question naturally arises, therefore, what has produced the necessity for these increasing restrictions?

It is not difficult to see that it has resulted from a number of circumstances. In the first place, the producing capacity of the mines has evidently very largely increased—that is, new collieries have been opened—so that the amount of production is greater. This is seen in the fact that, though during the calendar year 1883 the idle days numbered 60 (including 9 in December, which count in the current fiscal year of the Reading), against only 48 in the year 1882, production actually increased 2,672,931 tons, from 29,120,096 tons to 31,793,027 tons. Further during the four months of the calendar year to the end of April, there was a stoppage of 45 days, against only 30 days in the same months of 1883, and yet the total production fell off less than 400,000 tons. As bearing upon future restrictions, this is a very important fact to keep in mind, and one that has not up to the present time commanded as much attention as it should.

Then again the consumption by manufacturers is certainly falling off from the large totals of previous years; many industries that have heretofore been working their machinery up to its full capacity, have since January 1st adopted short time. This is obviously true of the cotton mills and also of the woolen mills, while many of the smaller lines of manufacture are doing less work. In fact, that is now the tendency in all industries. Another influence has been the encroachments made by bituminous coal. The extent of this it is difficult to determine—and probably it has been over-estimated—but there is no doubt that some manufacturers have changed from anthracite to bituminous, the reason being that the latter is so much cheaper, the price of the former being held up by the coal combination. Then there is reason to believe that many of the coal companies crowded production to the utmost during the closing months of 1883, and this of course would operate to cause a larger contraction in the early months of 1884 than would otherwise have taken place.

Finally, as regards the Reading itself, the restriction of production by the combination would seem to be operating very unevenly and unfairly as between the different members, the Reading being made to bear almost the whole of the burden. This may be the result of accident, or of some circumstance peculiar to the Reading; but, as it stands, it seems surprising and unaccountable. In the following table we give the figures of production by each company, for the four months of the calendar year to the end of April, as prepared by Mr. John H. Jones, the accountant of the companies, from which it will appear that the Reading has had to sustain a falling off larger than the entire amount of the falling off in the production of all companies during this period.

| | 8,501,929 | 8,900,957 | dec. 399,028 | or 4·48 |

Thus during these four months Reading (including Central New Jersey) has suffered a loss of 400,530 tons, while the loss by all companies is only 399,028 tons. The Lehigh Valley, which comes next to the Reading in size as a producer, has a loss of 118,474 tons, but the ratio of decrease is less than 6½ per cent, while on the Reading it is nearly 11¾ per cent. The decrease on the Delaware & Hudson is only 5½ per cent, that on the Pennsylvania Coal Company less than 8¾ per cent, while the Delaware Lackawanna & Western actually has an increase of 3 per cent. The heaviest increase, however, is on the Pennsylvania Railroad—163,212 tons, or 22 per cent—but that company does not belong to the combination, and, therefore, is not governed by its action. To the figures of loss above for the four months, we must add that for December—237,854 tons—by the Reading, to get the months corresponding to the company's fiscal year, and that gives us a total loss of 638,384 tons.

It is this heavy loss in coal—counting first at the mines, and then in a diminished tonnage over the railroad lines—that explains the falling off in the Reading's earnings. We showed last week by the April exhibit, and previously by each of the earlier exhibits, that the volume of general business and of passengers was steadily increasing. The company's trouble lies, therefore, in being so largely dependent upon one item of traffic, and so long as this continues to be the case, its fortunes will fluctuate with the rise and decline of the coal trade, which is subject to sharp changes, as the statistics prove.

It is perhaps reasonable to presume that, with the completion of Mr. Vanderbilt's South Pennsylvania line, the company's position will be strengthened in that respect. This line will run parallel to the Pennsylvania, from Pittsburg to Harrisburg, and in connection with the Lake Shore and the Pittsburg & Lake Erie will make the Reading part of an important trunk line to the West, and add materially to its business. So, too, the completion of the Baltimore & Ohio line to Philadelphia will prove of great benefit to the Reading and Jersey Central. But these relate altogether to the future, and will not help to tide over the company's present difficulty. Too much may be made of the South Pennsylvania, as it will not be completed for two years yet. For the present, all depends upon the coal trade, and this, as we have remarked above, is involved in considerable uncertainty. If no further restriction is necessary after the first of July—and already the stoppage for the half year is six days greater than that for the whole calendar year 1883—the company will of course even yet be able to recover a part of its previous losses.

FINANCIAL REVIEW OF MAY.

The month of May, 1884, may long be remembered as one of the most eventful in the history of Wall Street. So far as appears at the present writing, that month witnessed the culminating point in a period of eleven years, during which time had occurred the slow recovery from the crash of 1873, the rise and development of the most gigantic speculation in railroads that any country had ever seen, and finally the inevitable downward movement continued during nearly three years from July, 1881, and ending in May, 1884, with what came near to being a serious financial crisis. At the end of three years of unparalleled shrinkage in Stock Exchange values, the crash was at last precipitated by the turning up of a line of frauds in financial operations which had hardly been matched before—and the worst and heaviest of these frauds was perpetrated under the influence of the name (though not with the personal connivance) of that distinguished soldier and president, General U. S. Grant. The names of Fish of the Marine Bank, Grant & Ward, John C. Eno, and a few others, must be woven into the history of May, 1884.

The details of the month's operations have been given from week to week in the CHRONICLE, and need not be repeated here. The Marine Bank and Grant & Ward suspended on Tuesday, May 5, and the following week the Metropolitan Bank suspended, followed by a number of banker and broker firms, and the height of the excitement was reached. The Clearing House banks joined together to support each other by issuing "Clearing House certificates," by which means the Metropolitan Bank was enabled to resume on Thursday, May 15, the day after its suspension. The Second National Bank was robbed of about $4,000,000 by the stock speculations of its President, John C. Eno, but this deficiency was immediately made good by the father of the defaulter and other directors.

The money market was excessively stringent only for a few days, when confidence was entirely lost and deposits were being withdrawn from the banks in immense amounts; at that time 1 per cent a day was sometimes paid for money, and possibly higher rates.

Foreign exchange rates fell off sharply, as the purchases of securities here on cable orders, for foreign account were large, and gold was even shipped this way from London.

At the Stock Exchange wild excitement prevailed, and the bears smashed down the price of one stock after another, without any regard to what the result might be on the banks and general financial situation. After a while the high-priced investment stocks were attacked, and their prices forced down to ridiculously low figures; perhaps it may be fairly said that there never has been so good a time to buy stocks in New York with an assurance of large ultimate profits; but this assertion can only be made on the idea that the present and future position of railroad properties is now so much better known and defined, that purchases can be made with greater certainty than at the low prices of 1873.

Several railroads added to the general depression by defaulting or preparing to default on their interest; among these were the Erie and the Philadelphia & Reading, while the Louisville & Nashville stock was knocked down to ruinous figures by the misuse of its funds in speculation by the President, and by bad management of the directors.

The following summary shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks, rate of foreign exchange and Prices of leading securities and articles of merchandise, on or about the 1st day of June, 1882, 1883 and 1884.

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, May 24, 1884.

The weather during the past week has been very brilliant, and the reports which have been received regarding the growing crops are, with scarcely an exception, of a very encouraging character. Some assert that rain is required, and no doubt a moderate fall on light soils would have beneficial results. It is also said that, owing to the recent easterly winds and to the frosts, the crop of stone fruits has been much damaged; but this is a small matter comparatively. The pasture lands are luxuriant, and there are ample, if not abundant, supplies of cattle food; the appearance of the cereal crops is promising, and vegetables are increasing in abundance.

The money market is also in an easy condition, and yet, in spite of all these favorable conditions, business is still in a very unsatisfactory state. The trade which is the most active, and apparently the most remunerative, is that for wool, the public sales of colonial descriptions which are now in progress having exhibited a firmer tone since their commencement a fortnight ago. The uncertainty of the political situation, no doubt, has an adverse influence on the general position, as it is feared that the difficulties which exist in connection with Egypt may lead to serious results. On that important question public opinion is adverse to the Ministers. The dilatory policy of the Aberdeen Ministry has always been understood to have brought about the war with Russia—a conflict which many contend might, with a firmer and more judicious policy, have been avoided. There is still a reflection of that great event upon the public mind, and there are many who apprehend that in pursuance of the same policy the time for settling the vexing Egyptian question has been allowed to slip by. Political affairs of such serious importance can scarcely have any other effect than to lead to a very cautious mercantile policy, and especially so when for a long time commercial circles have felt but little confidence.

On the Stock Exchange the amount of business in progress has been very moderate. The excitement of last week has died away to a considerable extent, but in the American market much irregularity has prevailed. More will be known of the condition of that market next week, when there will be the fortnightly settlement, as it will then become evident to what extent the recent operations have been purely speculative or for investment. Efforts will no doubt be made to take as much stock off the market as possible, and if that should prove to be the case, a better condition of things should be brought about.

This week's Bank return does not show changes of any important character, but it is a favorable statement, and the proportion of reserve to liabilities is now 48·20 per cent, against 48 per cent last week and only 35·11 per cent last year. At this date in 1883 the Bank of England rate of discount was raised to 4 per cent, owing to the activity of the export demand for gold, and the Bank of England was in a weak condition. The supply of gold held was reduced to £20,130,894, while the reserve was only £11,413,659. The former is now £25,034,142—an increase of nearly £5,000,000; and the reserve of notes and coin £15,360,567—an improvement of £3,900,000. The Bank has therefore augmented its resources considerably during the past twelve months, and there are certainly no present indications of any retrograde movement. This is obviously a fact which should engender confidence in the future.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains at 2½ per cent, and although no activity has been apparent, the open market is firm in tone at 1⅞ to 2 per cent for three months' bank bills. For short loans there has been very little demand, at about 1 per cent interest per annum.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold—The Bank of England has not received any of the arrivals during the past week, the export demand having more than sufficed to absorb all imports. The arrivals are £16,390 from the Brazils, £7,400 from Australia, £4,400 from South Africa—total, £28,190. The "Bokhara" takes £20,000 to Bombay.

Silver has been scarce, and the price, which was 50 13-16d. at the close of last week, has slightly improved in consequence, and we give this day 50 15-16d. as the nearest quotation. The only arrivals are £41,000 from New York. The P. & O. steamship "Bokhara" takes £57,000 to Bombay and £10,000 to Calcutta, and the "Sutlej," sailing this day, takes £10,000 to the latter port.

Mexican dollars have maintained their price of 49⅞d., at which they closed last week. Supplies have not been large, and the price quoted is quite nominal. We have received £19,000 from New York. The P. & O. steamship takes £155,030 to China and the Straits.

Tenders were received at the National Bank of Australasia on Tuesday for £1,651,300 South Australian Government 4 per cent bonds. The applications amounted £2,739,000, at prices ranging from the minimum of £100 to £103. Tenders at and above £100 2s. received allotments in full, and those at £100 1s. 6d. about 14 per cent. The average price was £100 6s. 1d.

A new loan for the Dominion Government of Canada for a considerable amount—some say £10,000,000—will be introduced at an early date.

Tenders will be received at the Bank of England on the 4th of June for £1,800,000 in treasury bills, of the usual amounts, and upon the ordinary conditions.

A new Queensland 4 per cent loan for £3,000,000 will be introduced on Monday at the price of 98 per cent.

Fine weather and ample supplies, actual and prospective, have caused the wheat trade to continue in a very dull and inanimate state. The general report is that "there is nothing doing," that is to say, that there is no speculation, and that the business in progress is almost entirely, if not wholly, for the supply of actual wants. If the present dry and brilliant weather continues, the harvest will be early; and as there is a similar prospect on the Continent, the probability is that the current season will be a short one, as there will be supplies of newly-harvested produce at market at an earlier date than usual. Undoubtedly the prospect for consumers is a very satisfactory one, and the only encouragement which is likely to accrue to British farmers is this—that there is a promise of a crop of good quality, which is a very essential result when so much competition exists. The intrinsic value of the crop is enhanced considerably, and less difficulty will be experienced in securing a ready sale. The crops, however, both here and abroad, have to pass through some critical stages before we can congratulate ourselves over another "harvest-home." The following are the estimated quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn afloat to the United Kingdom; the supplies from the Baltic are not included, but these are now increasing in importance.

The Manchester Ship Canal will probably be constructed. The opposition to it in the House of Lords has been defeated, the Select Committee having decided that the scheme ought to be proceeded with. The feasibility of the undertaking has been satisfactorily made out, and as the £5,000,000 required for the undertaking is promised, the work will be commenced as soon as the bill has passed the committees of both houses o Parliament. It is not expected that £5,000,000 will complete the work, or that the canal, when completed, will be directly remunerative; but Manchester will gain considerably, as the cost of cotton to its manufacturers will be much reduced.

—Attention is called to the card of Messrs. Vyse & Son in to-day's CHRONICLE. This well-known firm has recently moved to 52 Broadway, corner of Exchange Place, where they have large and beautiful offices well adapted to the accommodation of their friends and customers. They have also opened a branch office at the Everett House, Union Square, which is connected with the main office by private telephone.

—A new map of the State of Ohio has just been issued by Messrs. Warner & Foote, map publishers at Minneapolis, Minn. The numerous important lines of railroad traversing Ohio gives to a new map of that State a general interest, which is not confined to its own citizens. Ohio's seven thousand miles of railroad are clearly indicated in their routes on this map, which is drawn on the large scale of four miles to the inch.

—The card of Mr. J. P. Wintringham, dealer in gas, insurance and bank stocks, will be found on another page. His circular, recently issued, contains the detailed bank statements of May 3 and May 31, side by side.

—The card of Messrs. Gilder & Farr is published on the first page of the CHRONICLE to-day. This firm has been organized for some time, and is composed of gentlemen well qualified for taking care of a stock brokerage business.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1884—6 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The past seven days have shown evidences of a further improvement in the general tone of the financial situation. One fact which contributed to the restoration of confidence was that on last Saturday the New York banks published their usual detailed statement of the condition of each of the banks in the Clearing House Association. The banks are still using the Clearing House certificates, but the amount outstanding is being gradually reduced. It is even complained of in some quarters that the banks are excessively anxious to retire these certificates, and that in their determination to get the cash to do so they are to some extent refusing their customers the accommodations they are entitled to. The banks, however, are very cautious, and will not retire the certificates faster than the situation warrants.

There have been no further bank troubles in any part of the country, except a disposition on the part of savings depositors in Washington to withdraw their money from the banks there. But there have been a number of disturbing features connected with railroad properties. Thus the Philadelphia & Reading has again passed into the hands of receivers, though the coupons due June 1 on the general consols of 1911 were paid by the Drexels in Philadelphia. So the Texas & Pacific did not meet its interest payment on the Eastern Division consols, but had the Mercantile Trust Company buy them instead. Then there have also been renewed disquieting reports about the losses incurred by the Louisville & Nashville through the operations of its late President: but these reports, though they had a bad effect on the price of the stock, have been denied. The further decline in the bonds of the New York West Shore & Buffalo road is accepted as evidence that the company's finances are in a more unsatisfactory condition than had been supposed, and that the funding scheme is not meeting with the success anticipated for it. On the other hand, the settlement by compromise, on Thursday, of the long-pending and acrimonious litigation between the Elevated railroad companies in this city is calculated to have a good effect on the market generally.

There has been no change in the general condition of trade and industry throughout the country in the last week. The iron and anthracite coal interests remain depressed, but this is partly due to the competition of bituminous coal and to the increase in the producing capacity of the anthracite mines. The grain movement via the Western trunk-line roads is still large, and, with the prospect for good average crops of all the small grains in all parts of the West, there is abundant ground for taking a hopeful view of the outlook there.

The New York money market continues very quiet. The field for employment of money on collaterals of railway stocks has been so diminished by the shrinkage in value of the stocks and the much more conservative policy of the banks that rates for call loans have been quoted at from 1½ to 4 per cent during the week. These rates, however, have been largely nominal, and the attempt to borrow to any extent would probably show that the banks are doing comparatively little, and what they do is nearer 6 per cent than lower figures. In time loans there has been very little done, though rates may be quoted at from 5 to 6 per cent. The rates for mercantile discounts remain unchanged at 5½ and 6 per cent for two and four months on endorsed paper and at 6 and 6½ on single names.

The last weekly statement of the averages of the New York banks was much more favorable than was generally expected by the public. It showed that by the contraction of only $3,529,200 of their loans the banks had increased their reserve of legal tenders and specie $2,578,000. This, together with the reduction of $8,214,000 of their deposits, left their average deficiency below the required reserve only $1,975,625, as compared with a deficiency of $6,607,125 a week previous.

The statement of the Bank of England showed a loss of £1,600,000 for the week. The reserve was also reduced to 46¾ per cent, from 48 1-16 per cent the week previous. The Bank rate of discount remains unchanged at 2½ per cent, though the rate on the street is 1⅝. The weekly statement of the Ban of France showed a gain of 1,812,000 francs in gold and 2,562,000 francs in silver.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The market for sterling was still considerably unsettled during the past week, owing to the movement of foreign capital in connection with the purchase and sale of stocks on foreign account. But on the whole the market has been stronger, owing to the continued scarcity of commercial bills. The posted rates were advanced two or three times during the week, and now stand at 4 85½ and 4 87½, with concessions of about 1 cent per £ on actual business.

Quotations for foreign exchange are as follows, the prices being the posted rates of leading bankers:

State and Railroad Bonds.—There was an increasing volume of business in railroad bonds during the last week and also a declining range of prices for the majority of the speculative issues. The better class of investment bonds have been dull and quite steady. The Texas & Pacific issues were all adversely affected by the fact that the coupons of the Eastern Division consols were not paid at maturity in the regular manner, but were bought in the interest of the Mo. Pacific. The Rio Grande Division firsts were affected by this and declined 9 points and the land grants 4. The Louisville & Nashville general mortgages were depressed by the rumors of the company being embarrassed for ready money. The Kansas & Texas issues were affected by the same causes that depressed the Texas & Pacifics, and the East Tennessee 5s by the financial difficulties of Mr. Seney. The West Shore 5s were lower from the fact that no progress has been made toward a financial scheme for the relief of the company. Many of the other speculative bonds were depressed by the difficulty of using them as collaterals for loans. The settlement of the elevated railroad difficulties helped the Metropolitan Elevated firsts. The Oregon Short Line 6s also re-acted from their extreme depression of last week. The most important changes since Friday the 30th ult. have been as follows, viz.: Declined—East Tennessee 5s, 5 to 51; do. Incomes, 1 to 14; Erie second consols, 1¾ to 57¼; International & Great Northern firsts, 2 to 106; Kansas & Texas general mortgage 6s, 5¾ to 67¼; do. 5s, 6 to 56; Louisville & Nashville general mortgage 6s, 6 to 82; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts, 5⅝ to 97; Iron Mountain 5s, 2¾ to 61. Advanced—Canada Southern firsts, 1⅜ to 99½; Metropolitan Elevated firsts, 4 to 105; Northern Pacific firsts, ¾ to 104; Northwestern debenture 5s, 1½ to 93½; Oregon & Trans-Continental firsts, 2¾ to 72¼; Oregon Short Line 6s, 5 to 80, and Oregon Improvement firsts, 2 to 63.

State issues were quiet and firm during the week.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market was depressed in the early part of the week by the appointment of receivers for the Reading and the general unfavorable aspects of the coal trade; also by rumors about the condition of Louisville & Nashville. Besides, a great many stocks bought from ten days to two weeks ago at low prices for foreign account were sold to realize profits. Under these influences prices declined up to Wednesday. But after some weakness on Thursday, there was a recovery on Friday, which left the market generally higher for the week. Mr. Gould's specialties—Missouri Pacific and Western Union—show advances of 8 and 2¼ per cent respectively, while the granger stocks generally show advances of from 1 to 2 per cent. Union Pacific has been notably strong, and is 4¾ higher than a week ago. Louisville and Nashville has been conspicuously weak, and the Vanderbilt trunk lines—particularly Lake Shore—have also been weak and lower. The Elevated properties have advanced sharply on the news of the settlement of all difficulties between the companies.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

St. Louis Alton & Terre Haute Railroad.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The annual report for 1883 has just been issued. The report says that during the year the respective boards of directors and stockholders of the companies in interest have formally ratified the lease of the Main Line and Alton Branch to the Indianapolis & St. Louis, and the Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis railway companies, as joint lessees. The lessee companies report the following comparative statement of earnings:

| From— | 1882. | 1883. |
| Freight | $934,827 | $1,028,980 |
| Passenger | 358,739 | 353,978 |
| Mail | 20,813 | 19,872 |
| Express | 29,975 | 29,967 |
| Miscellaneous | 75,500 | 51,271 |
| Total | $1,119,261 | $1,484,069 |

"Showing an increase of $64,808 12 in 1883, or 4⅛ per cent. The minimum rental of $37,500 per month has been promptly paid, making a total of $450,000 for the year, and the sum of $6,729 for account of 1882 in addition. Under the new lease, $450,000 is all your company should receive until the earnings exceed $1,750,000 per annum. The experience of a year's operation under the lease gives us the most satisfactory evidence that the lessees will carry out their undertakings and obligations in good faith. It is their evident purpose to make your road equal in all respects to the best of the Western trunk lines—a result which they will very soon reach if they continue the work of improvement and development with the same ability, energy and liberality that have thus far characterized their management." * * *

"The intervening petition of this company in the foreclosure proceedings against the former lessee (the Indianapolis & St. Louis Railroad Company), in which the claim of this company to priority in the distribution of the proceeds of the sale of the Indianapolis & St. Louis Railroad was made, was formally submitted to the court in the early part of 1883, after full argument, but no decision has been rendered at this date." * *

CAIRO SHORT-LINE DIVISION.

"Under this name (which was adopted because the line, in connection with the Illinois Central Railroad, forms the shortest line between St. Louis and Cairo), your company operates the following roads:

| | Miles. |
|---|---|
| The proprietary line from East St. Louis to Belleville | 14·4 |
| The leased line from Belleville to E. Carondelet | 17·3 |
| (called the Belleville Division) | 31·7 |
| The leased line from Belleville to Du Quoin | 56·4 |
| (called the Du Quoin Division) | |
| The leased line from Du Quoin to El Dorado | 50·2 |
| (called the El Dorado Division) | |
| Total | 138·3 |

"This is an increase over the mileage of former years of 17·3 miles, being the leased line from Belleville to East Carondelet, built by the Belleville & Carondelet Railroad Company, and leased by your company June 1, 1883, at a fixed annual rental of $30,000 per annum, or 6 per cent per annum on the actual cash cost of the road and its equipment, including terminal grounds at East Carondelet, and an approach or incline for car transfer, ferry and coal dump, stone quarry, etc. Under the terms of the lease the entire capital stock of the Belleville & Carondelet Railroad Company has been transferred to, and is owned by your company. The road is laid with sixty-pound steel rail, and the equipment consists of one hundred coal cars, one passenger car and two locomotives, all new."

The following statements show the earnings and expenses of this division for 1883, compared with those for 1882:

EARNINGS AND EXPENSES.

| From— | 1882. | 1883. |
|---|---|---|
| Passenger | $168,300 | $178,968 |
| Coal | 259,703 | 287,932 |
| Miscellaneous freight | 376,070 | 352,644 |
| Mail | 12,780 | 14,139 |
| Express | 11,954 | 15,440 |
| Miscellaneous | 36,349 | 23,344 |
| Total | $875,158 | $822,168 |
| Operating expenses and taxes | 446,332 | 425,655 |
| Net earnings | $429,126 | $396,513 |
| Rental of leased lines | 190,196 | 200,897 |

"The operations of the El Dorado Division show a deficit in earnings, after paying all expenses and rent, of $2,725. By crediting this division, however, with the net earnings, on the other divisions, from business which the El Dorado Division contributed, we have a net profit resulting from the business of that division, amounting to $7,996.

"The decrease in both gross and net revenue is due to the falling off of earnings from local freight only, and this was caused by the failure of the wheat crop on the entire line of your road, from the drought of 1883. This is shown by the fact that earnings from local freight were $79,185 less in 1883 than in 1882—a decrease of 20·2 per cent—while the through freight earnings were $35,160, or 23·13 per cent more than they were in 1882. The increase in through freight earnings was mostly contributed by the Texas & St. Louis Railroad, which was completed in August, and opened for business September 1, 1883."

GENERAL FINANCIAL RESULTS FOR 1883.

Cincinnati Washington & Baltimore.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The first annual report of this re-organized company is just published. The remarks of the President, Mr. Orland Smith, are given at some length.

This company is the successor of the Marietta & Cincinnati Railroad Company as re-organized.

Under date of April 9, 1884, the President says: "Negotiations for the sale of the 'Old Line,' between Main Line Junction, near Canaanville, in Athens County, and Moore's Junction, on the Marietta Division, to the Marietta Mineral Railway Company, have been progressing, and have about reached a satisfactory conclusion. It is believed that the stockholders of the two contracting companies will be called on at an early day to ratify the contract of sale." * * *

Of the earnings and charges it is remarked:

|---|---|
| The gross earnings were | $1,989,866 |
| Expenses, including taxes and rentals, 74·87 per cent | 1,489,824 |
| Net earnings | $500,042 |
| The fixed charges for the year were | 673,690 |
| Leaving a deficit in the year's operations of | $173,647 |

The earnings and expenses for the year in detail and the income were as follows:

| Earnings— | 1883 | Operating Expenses— | 1883. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Passenger | $562,881 | Maintenance of way &c | $208,967 |
| Freight | 1,177,131 | Maintenance of equip't | 460,673 |
| Mail, express, &c | 249,805 | Transportat'n expenses | 545,511 |
| | | Taxes and rents | 90,193 |
| | | General | 84,478 |
| Total earnings | $1,989,867 | Total expenses | $1,489,820 |
| Net earnings | | | $500,042 |
| Per cent of expenses to earnings | | | 74·87 |

INCOME ACCOUNT.

|---|---|
| Net earnings | $500,042 |
| Interest on debt | 673,690 |
| Balance, deficit | $173,648 |

"Under the terms of the re-organization, a fund, amounting to $473,680, was provided for the purchase of much-needed additional equipment. As soon as practicable, contracts were made for rolling stock, as follows: 400 box cars, 100 gondola cars, 12 first class passenger cars, 3 baggage and express cars, 3 locomotives. Provision was also made for building, at the company's shops at Zaleski, 100 stock cars of large capacity."

"While this result is not gratifying, yet, when all the circumstances are considered, it may not be found altogether discouraging. The crops of the year, both on the line of the road and on the line of its principal Western connections, were unusually light. Mineral interests, particularly the manufacture of pig iron, constitute a large element in the local business of the road. These interests have everywhere suffered a very discouraging depression, the effect of which has been felt not only in respect to the industries directly concerned, but in all the collateral branches of traffic. In the month of February, 1883, the road suffered greatly, in diminution of revenue and in increase of expenses, by reason of the then unprecedented flood, which caused an almost entire suspension of freight business for many days, and entailed a largely increased expense in protecting and repairing embankments, which were partially, and in places wholly, submerged. Besides, the beneficial effects of the new equipment were not felt till the later months of the year. An examination of the earnings and expenses by months will show that the net earnings for the half-year ending December 31 were $342,019, while for the half-year ending June 30 they were only $158,023.

"With fair crops and a revival of the iron industries, supplemented by the additional equipment now on the road and yet to be increased, there is ground for hope that the net earnings may soon equal the fixed charges, with fair possibilities for a surplus in the not distant future." * * *

"Statement of amount of accrued interest on new bonds, being the amount accrued from November 1, 1881, to January 1, 1883, as follows:

|---|---|
| Warrants on first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, 1,250 @ $60 | $75,000 |
| Warrants on first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, 5,935 @ $45 | 267,075 |
| Nov. and Dec., 1882, interest included in May coupon | 57,012 |
| | $399,087 |
| Third mortgage bonds warrants, 2 270 @ $37 50 each. $85,125 | |
| Less January, 1883, interest included | 5,675— 79,450 |
| | $655,860 |

"These warrants and coupons have been paid, as presented, except those held by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, but by such payment the floating debt has been correspondingly increased, being represented mainly by supply claims held by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company."

Boston Concord & Montreal.

(For the year ending March 31, 1884.)

The annual report lately issued shows the following earnings and expenses:

| Earnings. | | Expenditures. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| From passengers | $371,673 | Maint. of way | $166,936 |
| From freight | 503,575 | " motive power | 90,039 |
| From mails | 20,355 | Cost of working road | 345,729 |
| From express | 19,475 | Cost of management | 28,684 |
| From miscellaneous | 25,413 | Miscellaneous | 44,548 |
| Total | $940,491 | Total | $675,936 |
| Net earnings | | | $264,555 |

The gross receipts for the year ending March 31, 1883, were $920,195, and the expenditures for the same year were $697,651. This statement shows an increase in gross receipts of $20,296, a decrease in expenditures of $21,715, and an increase in the net earnings of $42,011.

"Judging by the present condition of the road-bed, track, locomotive power, passenger and freight equipment, it is fair to believe that the operating expenses charged to maintenance of way and motive power, for the next two years or more, will be considerably less than for several years past.

"Sales of the consolidated bonds have been made to the amount of $13,000. the proceeds of which have been applied to the payment of the cost of the branch to Mount Wasnington, as will appear by reference to the financial statement. The sinking-fund bonds due in 1889 remain as stated in the last report.

"The negotiations for the renewal of the contracts with the lower roads have been continued during the past year without arriving at an entirely satisfactory result."

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul.—At Milwaukee, June 5, the annual meeting of the stockholders of this company was held. The election resulted in the choice of the following board of directors: Alexander Mitchell, Milwaukee; Julius Wadsworth, New York; Selah Chamberlain, Ohio; Abraham R. Van Nest, New York; James T. Woodward, New York; William Rockefeller, New York; Peter Geddes, New York; Hugh T. Dickey, New York; James Stillman, New York; John Plankinton, Milwaukee; S. S. Merrill, Milwaukee; Janson C. Easton, Minnesota, and Joseph Milbank, N. Y. The last named was chosen to supply the vacancy caused by the death of his father. The new board at once organized and re-elected the following officers: Alexander Mitchell, President; Julius Wadsworth, Vice-President; J. B. Dumont, Second Vice-President; S. S. Merrill, General Manager, and Roswell Miller, Assistant General Manager.

Chicago Rock Island & Pacific.—At the annual election Mr. Vanderbilt's interest was defeated by a fair majority and Mr. H. H. Porter was re-elected a director. The following is a synopsis of the annual report for the year ending March 31, 1884:

| | 1883-4. | 1882-3. | Increase. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Gross earnings | $12,535,514 | $12,189,902 | $345,612 |

| Net earnings | $5,237,512 | $5,080,086 | $157,426 |

The surplus this year, after paying interest on bonded debt, rentals of leased lines, dividends on the capital stock, additional improvements, &c., is $89,071.

Connotton Valley.—At the annual meeting held at Canton, O., the following directors were chosen: H. A. Blood, Charles H. Blood, Irving A. Evans, J. C. Watson, Samuel Briggs, Isaac H. Taylor, H. D. Upton, Jeremiah M. Watson, and D. K. Stevens. The board elected H. A. Blood, President. The plan of reorganization formed at a meeting of stockholders, held in Boston February 24, was approved, and the directors were instructed to execute proper conveyances when the stock and bondholders shall have signed their assent, which is being done at the office of the International Trust Company in Boston; and in case the requisite assents shall not be given, it was voted that the February committee shall continue to act for the protection of the equitable rights of the stockholders.

East Tennessee Virginia & Georgia.—The gross and net earnings for ten months from July 1, in 1882-83 and 1883-84, have been as follows:

| | Gross. | | Net. | |
| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. |

Iowa Railroad Land Company.—The annual report o the Iowa Railroad Land Company for the year ending March 31 shows that 51,119·66 acres were sold, and the amount received therefor $400,952. The average number of acres sold to each purchaser was 92·77, and the average price per acre $7 84. The lands disposed of and the amounts received were distributed as follows:

| | Acres. | Amount. |
|---|---|---|
| Iowa Railroad Land Company | 19,479·52 | $140,017 |
| Iowa Falls & Sioux City Railroad Company | 15,210 77 | 132,231 |
| Missouri Valley Land Company | 6,352·94 | 37 576 |
| Blair Town Lot & Land Company | 182·65 | 4,475 |
| S. C. & I. F. Town Lot & Land Company | 537·33 | 15,041 |
| Elkhorn Land & Town Lot Company | 9,356·45 | 61,612 |
| Totals | 51,119·66 | $400,952 |

The aggregate cash collections during the year were $1,550,191, and the bills receivable now amount to $1,944,355. During the year 2,426 contracts and 126 leases have been issued in duplicate, and 2,779 deeds executed. The amount charged for expenses for the sale and management of the lands for all the companies during the year is $38,222, as against $65,266 last year. This amount is equal to 9·53 per cent of the gross amount of sales or 74¾ cents per acre.

Louisville & Nashville.—The gross and net earnings for ten months of the fiscal years 1882-83 and 1883-84, to May 1, have been as follows:

| | Gross. | | Net. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. |

| Total 10 mos. | $12,162,642 | $11,082,862 | $4,658,063 | $4,198,580 |

—Since the resignation recently of Mr. C. C. Baldwin as President of the Louisville & Nashville company, in consequence of injudicious management, attempts to reorganize the company have been in progress. It is said that the directors have expressed their willingness to resign their seats in the board, and that J. S. Rogers, the present President, who accepted the office temporarily, was empowered to form a new board. No precise information has been given out as to the present status of affairs, nor as to the company's financial situation. On Thursday the directors were in session, but nothing was given out, except the following statement by F. D. Carley, the third Vice-President of the company: "We are planning for a reorganization of the board of directors, with a view to bringing in some strong men who have partially promised to co-operate with us. As to losses from speculation, we have no modifications to make of our original statement. Should an examination of our books disclose anything that should be made public, we will not hesitate to do so. As to the sensation article in The Times, we certainly would like to have $1,000,000, but there is no special demand upon us for money in the sense that the article would indicate."

Manhattan Elevated.—The committee of adjustment between the Metropolitan and the other companies has unanimously come to an agreement, which will be submitted to the stockholders of the respective companies, and undoubtedly approved. The agreement, which was signed by all the members of the committees, is as follows:

NEW YORK, June 5, 1884.

Memorandum of agreement entered into this day for settlement of all differences between the Manhattan, New York and Metropolitan elevated railway companies:

First—The Manhattan Elevated Railway to pay the Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company interest at 6 per cent per annum from October 1, 1883, to April 1, 1884, less amount already declared and paid.

Second New stock to be issued by the Manhattan Company, and apportioned as follows:

| | Old. | New. |
|---|---|---|
| Manhattan | $13,000,000@ 85 | $11 050,000 |
| New York | 6,5 0,00 )@120 | 7,800,000 |
| Metropolitan | 6 50 ),000 7110 | 7,150,000 |
| Total | $26,000,000 | $26,000,000 |

Third—Dividend at the rate of 6 per cent per annum to be paid on all new stock for three months ending June 30, 1884.

Fourth—The Manhattan Company as consolidated to assume all liabilities of the three companies, including bonded debt, taxes, litigations and litigation expenses, and to receive all assets of the said three companies.

The above arrangement to be ratified by the majority of the stocks of the three companies.

JAY GOULD, CYRUS W. FIELD,
W. K. SOUTTER, JOHN D. SLAYBACK.
H. O. ARMOUR.

On the basis of exchange fixed by the agreement the whole share capital of the Manhattan Railway Company is neither increased nor diminished. In case all the existing stocks of the three companies are converted into the new stock the Manhattan Railway will still have a capital of $26,000,000. The new stock will share alike in the earnings of the lines.

Mexican Central.—The committee appointed to consider the proposition to fund the coupons falling due on July 1 was not ready to report on Thursday. The directors, however, informally considered the matter, and though they passed no resolution, there is reason to think that the holders of bonds will be asked to forego interest until the road earns it.

—The Boston Advertiser says: "It appears that the annual interest now amounts to $2,560,250, or $213,350 per month. The corrected April earnings were $248,341. They should exceed that rate per month hereafter. Call them $250,000 (which is very conservative), and they would foot up $3,000,000 for the year. The operating expenses are, say, 50 per cent, which would leave net per month $125,000 Mexican currency, equal to about $104,000 in United States money. The subsidy can be expected to average $90,000, making $194,000 per month available for interest. There is besides to be provided for the interest on the year loan of $1,000,000 and some smaller items.

Mobile & Ohio.—The earnings and expenses for May, and for 11 months from July 1, in 1882–3 and 1883–4, have been as follows:

| | May. | | July 1 to May 31. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. |
| Gross earnings | $146,126 | $141,975 | $2,142,234 | $2,147,381 |
| Expenses | 125,000 | 115,062 | 1,417,803 | 1,533,916 |
| Net earnings | $21,126 | $26,913 | $724,431 | $613,415 |

New York & Long Branch.—An amicable settlement is reported between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Philadelphia & Reading as to the Long Branch route. By the new agreement the pooling contract is abolished, and in the future each road will conduct its business independent of the other. Each company will run trains over the road, the only conditions being that the rates charged shall be the same on each. The sum of $206,000 is to be paid annually to the New York & Long Branch Railroad, and is guaranteed by the two companies. The Pennsylvania Railroad had made a demand for about $140,000 on the New Jersey Central, alleged to be due under the old contract, but the latter declined to pay the sum. The amount agreed upon under the new contract has not yet been made public.

No settlement has as yet been effected in the matter of the Dinsmore suit, but it is said that this will also be amicably settled.

Northern Pacific.—The earnings and expenses for April, and for four months in 1883 and 1884, have been as follows:

| | April | | Jan. 1 to April 30. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Gross earnings | $1,111,515 | $660,411 | $6,172,648 | $6,235,857 |
| Expenses (includ'g rentals & taxes) | 663,478 | 494,607 | 6,163,838 | 4,103,962 |
| Net earnings | $778,037 | $165,804 | $4,008,810 | $2,131,895 |

—It is stated that contracts will shortly be let for a section of twenty-five miles of the Cascade Division running from Tacoma, Washington Territory, eastward towards Green River and Stampede Pass. The extension of the Jamestown & Northern branch, as now opened for business, runs from Carrington, Dakota, northward sixteen miles to New Rockford, and the grading of this extension is completed to Minniewaukon, at the west end of Devil's Lake, about thirty miles from New Rockford.

New York & New England.—A comparative statement of earnings and operating expenses of the N. Y. & New England RR. for April, and for four months, in 1884 and 1883, makes the following exhibit:

| | April | | Jan. 1 to April 30 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Freight | $165,997 | $161,089 | $820,192 | $836,662 |
| Passengers | 88,727 | 88,094 | 316,792 | 314,707 |
| Mail | 3,777 | 3,759 | 15,108 | 15,196 |
| Express | 6,995 | 7,037 | 27,185 | 30,234 |

| Total earnings | $275,507 | $275,890 | $1,034,282 | $1,055,598 |
| Operating expenses | 214,124 | 239,670 | 859,881 | 1,014,731 |
| Net earnings | $61,382 | $36,220 | 174,381 | 40,857 |

North Carolina State Bonds of 1919.—Application has been made to list $3,000,000 of North Carolina 6 per cent bonds, dated April 1, 1879, due April 1, 1919. These bonds are issued under the authority of "An Act to adjust and renew a portion of the State debt," ratified March 14, 1879, and are issued only in exchange for the bonds in aid of the construction of the North Carolina Railroad, with twenty-four per cent accrued interest on the same, or for sale for the purpose of investing the proceeds in the purchase of such bonds. They are in sums of $1,000 each, with coupons payable April 1 and October 1 in each year. 1,988 bonds have been already issued. The committee asks that power be given them to add to the List the remaining $1,012,000 of bonds as they shall from time to time receive official notice of the issue of the same.

Adopted by the Governing Committee May 28, 1884.

Philadelphia & Reading.—This company has again been placed in the hands of receivers. Under existing circumstances this is, perhaps, the best thing for stockholders that could have been done. When a railroad is in financial embarrassment, the most disastrous course to pursue is to drag along to the furthest possible point by borrowing on the pledge of collaterals at ruinous figures, till the resources of the corporation are utterly exhausted. At Philadelphia, June 2, the directors of the Railroad and Coal & Iron companies held a meeting, and were harmonious in voting for an application to the United States Circuit Court to have receivers appointed. The application was presented to Judges McKenna and Butler. The plaintiff named in the application was Henry C. Kelsey, of New Jersey. He is the holder of $7,000 of the income bonds of the Reading Railroad Company. Richard L. Ashurst, the attorney who appeared in behalf of the bill of complaint, and the attorneys of the company, James E. Gowan and Samuel Dickson, agreed in suggesting to the Court for appointment as receivers the names of Edwin M. Lewis, George de B. Keim, the President, and Stephen A. Caldwell. The court acted in accordance with this suggestion, and in the decree ordered that an injunction should issue against the defendants to restrain them from interfering with the receivers, that a master should be appointed for auditing the accounts of the receivers, and that a bond of $500,000 should be required from the receivers. This bond was furnished at once.

President Keim issued the following official announcement from the company's main office this afternoon:

"To the share and bond holders of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company: I think it due to all interested in the securities of the company to say that no apprehension should be felt in consequence of the appointment of receivers, the company having cheerfully acquiesced in the application for a receivership, believing it a wise and prudent measure for the protection of every one owning either the stock or bonds of the company."

Another matter, acted upon by the directors at the meeting, was indicated in a notice subsequently posted up, to the effect that the coupons and interest due on June 1 on the consolidated mortgage bonds would be paid at par in cash by Drexel & Co. Late in the afternoon the receivers issued a circular, making the formal announcement that the employees of the two companies would be retained. The circular says the wages certificates issued by the railroad company and the obligations for supplies, materials and labor issued in May by both companies will be redeemed at maturity by the receivers out of the income of the properties. All overdue wages of both companies not yet settled for by wages certificates will be paid in cash, due notice being given of the times and places of payment.

The Reading had a large amount of obligations to pay interest on, including $10,629,000 consolidated sevens and $8,162,000 consolidated sixes issued under the same mortgage, $2,454,000 income mortgage sevens. The Jersey Central dividend of 1¼ per cent on $18,568,200 also fell due, and the quarterly interest on the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Company's $11,500,000 consolidated sevens; also the semi-annual interest on $2,310,000 of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Company sixes assumed by the Jersey Central. Of the Reading's other leased lines a quarterly dividend of 3 per cent on the Chestnut Hill Railroad's $120,650 stock was due; also interest on $1,709,380 Schuylkill Navigation mortgage 6s, and the Catawissa Railroad Company's $60,000 construction 7s. The total fixed charges due by the Reading on these securities June 2 amounted to $1,232,541.

It is said that it was the company's inability to meet its July obligations which determined it to suspend. The company has several millions of fixed charges to meet on the 1st of July, and $3,313,580 maturing scrip extended from July, 1883, while the June earnings will be light (coal mining being ordered suspended for two weeks this month). The Philadelphia North American remarks: "The former suspension occurred on May 21, 1880; Messrs. Edwin M. Lewis, Franklin B. Gowen and Stephen A. Caldwell were appointed receivers on May 25, 1880. Mr. Gowen raised $7,650,308 on the deferred income bonds, and the receivers' certificates were refunded into car trusts, so that the receivers returned the property to the stockholders on February 28, 1883; they were not finally discharged, however, till the 10th of last month. The lease of the Contral Railroad of New Jersey took effect one year ago yesterday. Since that time the anthracite coal trade has suffered from over-production, and the partial suspension of mining has been a necessity. Since the beginning of the Reading's present fiscal year anthracite mining has been suspended 61 days in all. The Reading has needed a larger production than is possible under the circumstances in order to earn its fixed charges."

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. |
|---|---|---|
| Earnings | $1,680,626 | $1,694,407 |
| Expenses | 1,147,836 | 1,355,839 |
| Net earnings | $532,790 | $338,568 |
| Per cent of expenses | 68·3 | 80·0 |

The decrease in gross earnings and the reduction in expenses were in part caused by the giving up of unprofitable through traffic. There has been paid on account of the Carlyon accident, not included in the above statement, the sum of $85,162. It is estimated that $5,000 more will cover the whole cost of that accident. Since Jan. 1, 1883, over 14,000 tons of steel rails have been purchased, of which more than 12,000 tons have been laid, making 208 miles of steel track now on the road.

Five hundred freight cars and six locomotives have been added to the equipment during the year; $650,000 of consolidated bonds have been sold to obtain the money necessary for purchase of steel rails and to pay a portion of the floating debt. The latter is less than one-half what it was one year ago. The company still owns $566,000 of consolidated bonds.

Texas & Pacific.—Notice was published that the coupons due June 1, 1884, of the consolidated mortgage bonds of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, Eastern Division, would be paid on and after that date at the Mercantile Trust Company, 120 Broadway. But the holders on presenting the coupons for payment at the Mercantile Trust Company received a statement that the Mercantile Trust Company was authorized to buy the coupons of these bonds; the Mercantile Trust Company buying the coupons for the Missouri Pacific Company. It is stated that the Texas Pacific Company did not have the money to meet its June interest, and that the Missouri Pacific advanced the money for this purpose, taking the coupons as security. The interest due June 1 amounted to about $275,000.

To reporters Mr. Jay Gould, the President of the Texas & Pacific, said it was not a default, and it did not mean, as reported, that there was an intention to apply for a receiver for the road. The Texas & Pacific was operated under contract by the Missouri Pacific. The accounts of the two roads were necessarily kept together to a great extent. It was often the case that the roads owed one another. The present arrangement whereby the Missouri Pacific bought the Texas Pacific coupons was nothing new. It had been done two or three times before. Nothing would have been thought of the matter if the Reading's coupons had not been bought by Drexel & Co. The Texas & Pacific would earn enough during the year to pay the coupons.

A. L. Hopkins, a director, said that the Texas & Pacific just earned its way last year. Business had been light this spring, but the outlook for the remainder of the year was favorable.

Union Pacific.—The Boston Transcript says: "The auditing department of the Union Pacific at Omaha telegraphs that the April expenses were $98,000 less than in 1883, and cannot vary $3,000 from this upon the actual figures. As the estimated loss in gross earnings was $247,000, this would indicate a loss in the April net earnings of only $150,000, which is a considerable improvement over the statements of the first three months."

Virginia State Bonds.—The amount of Virginia State bonds presented for re-funding in May was $291,790, making a total to date of $4,405,898. The total issue of 3 per cents is $2,731,728. Of the amount surrendered in May, $168,168 was in 10-40 bonds and coupons; $37,407 in consols; $63,180 old unfunded bonds and interest and $23,035 in other securities.

Wabash St. Louis & Pacific.—The receivers of the Wabash Railroad were ordered by Judge Treat of the United States Circuit Court, to protect notes falling due May 31, amounting to $223,333; also those falling due on June 14, amounting to $85,000, and all other secured notes of the company maturing pending further orders. The Iron Mountain Road consented to the terms of the order.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, June 6, 1884.

The colder weather mentioned in our last became quite severe in Northern latitudes, causing frosts which did much damage to fruits and early vegetation; but for the past few days it has been quite warm again. The recurrence of excessive rains in the Southwest causes much discouragement regarding crop prospects in that section. The financial situation continues unsatisfactory. The Republican National Convention has been in session at Chicago this week, and to-day began balloting for candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, which resulted in the nomination of Mr. James G. Blaine, of Maine, for President.

The speculation in lard was quiet all the week, and prices have fluctuated toward lower figures, closing this afternoon at 9·20c. for June, 8·39c. for July, 8·50c. for August and 8·59c. for September. Lard on the spot has also declined, and closes at 7·85@7·90c. for prime city, 8·20@8·25c. for prime Western and 8·40c. for refined for the Continent. Pork is nearly nominal, sustained by Western speculation; mess $17@$17 50 and clear $18 25@$19. Bacon is still quoted nominally at 9½c. for long clear. Cut meats have had a fair sale at last week's prices. Beef is without change, but beef hams have advanced to $28 per bbl. Tallow rather quiet at 6½@6⅝c. Stearine dull at 9⅞c. for prime Oleomargarine sold to-day at 8⅝c. Butter, at 17@22c. for creamery and 10@15c. for Western factory, closes more active. Cheese has declined to 6@10½c. for State factory. Eggs are firmer at 16@18c. per dozen.

Rio coffee has been dull and depressed at 9¾c. for fair cargoes; options have been dull and declining, closing to-day at 7·90@ 8c. for June, 8·10@ 8·15c. for July, 8·25@ 8·30c. for August, 8·40@8·45c. for September, 8·45@ 8·50c. for October, 8·50@8·55c. for November and 8·55@8·60c. for December; mild grades have been moderately active; Maracaibo was quoted at 10½@11c. for good Cucuta. Tea has been dull and nominal. Foreign fruits have been nearly nominal for dried, but fairly active and steady for green. Rice has been steady but less active. Spices have been dull and nutmegs have declined slightly. Molasses has been dull and unchanged. Raw sugar has been active at slightly lower prices, closing dull at 4 15-16c. for fair refining and 5 13-16c. for 96 degrees test centrifugal; options have declined to 4·75@4·77½c. for fair muscovado for July, 4·90@4·95c. for August and 5·07½@5·12½c. for September; refined is dull at 7½@7⅝c. for crushed, 6⅝c. for granulated and 6¼c. for standard "A."

In Kentucky tobacco the legitimate trading has been slow, but the speculative movement has been fair at firm prices; lugs 7¾@8¼c., leaf 8½@9¾c.; seed leaf remains steady though quiet; sales 1,050 cases, including 300 cases crop 1882, Pennsylvania, 5¼ to 15c.; 200 cases crop of 1881, do., 6 to 10½c.; 250 cases crop 1883, New England, 11½ to 30c.; 150 cases crop 1882, Ohio, 5¾ to 9c.; 150 cases sundries, 15 to 18c.; also 400 bales Havana, 80c. to $1 15; 100 bales Yara II. cut, 77½ to 80c., and 200 bales Sumatra, $1 30 to $1 60.

In naval stores the drift has been downward, particularly on spirits turpentine, which closed to-night at 30@30½c for spot lots; rosins have remained very dull at $1 35@$1 40 for strained to good strained. Refined petroleum has continued about steady, though very slow, at 8¼c. for 70 abel test. Crude-oil certificates have been on the down tack until to-day, when there was a rally from 74⅞c. to 76¼c., and the final figures were 75c. In metals, oils, hops and wool nothing of interest has transpired, and prices in many instances are almost nominal.

Ocean freight room has been quite steady, particularly for berth room for wheat, which has been moderately active. Oil tonnage at the close shows irregularity. Grain to Liverpool by steam, 3d.; cheese, 35@30s.; bacon, 17s. 6d.; cotton, 9-64d.; grain to London quoted 3¾d.; do. to Newcastle by steam, 4d.; do. to Antwerp by steam, 3¾d.; refined petroleum in cases to Java, 30½@31½c.; do. in barrels to German Baltic, 3s. 3d.; crude do. to Fiume, 3s. 2d.

The past week has been a very dull one for the speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market. The Liverpool market was closed until Wednesday, and the feeling in financial circles has been of a character to check speculative action. The changes were slight and insignificant, but inclining towards a lower range of values until near the close of Wednesday's business, when the renewal of excessive rains in the Southwest caused a movement in the fall months, at some advance. Yesterday, with Liverpool doing rather better, the turn of prices was generally upward, September closing 5 points dearer. There seemed to be no longer any doubt that the northern parts of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi have suffered so much from frequent and heavy rains that the prospects for a good crop in that section are seriously impaired. To-day, with a further improvement in the Liverpool market, a slight advance was made, the offerings from sellers being very small. The close was firm, and, as compared with the close on Thursday of last week, there is an advance of a few points for the next crop. Cotton on the spot has not been so largely dealt in as in the previous fortnight. Neither the demand for export nor for home consumption has been maintained; yet a very fair business has been done on both accounts. Quotations were on Monday reduced 1-16c. To-day, there was a good export business, and middling uplands closed firm at 11 9-16c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 234,500 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 13,384 bales, including 9,577 for export, 3,807 for consumption, — for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

* This year's figures estimated.

The above totals show that the old interior stocks have decreased during the week 7,585 bales and are to-night 44,653

bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 5,275 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 692,543 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

QUOTATIONS FOR MIDDLING COTTON AT OTHER MARKETS.—In the table below we give the closing quotations of middling cotton at Southern and other principal cotton markets for each day of the past week.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,771,199 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,937,024 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,610,482 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 12,584 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 4,519 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 16,703 bales and for 1882 they were 5,433 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT JUNE 6.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to June 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to June 6. | 4,764,246 | 5,847,583 | 4,572,513 | 5,594,474 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,251,042 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 333,665 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 740,349 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather during the week has not in general been satisfactory. In the Atlantic and Eastern Gulf States the conditions have, for the most part, favored the growing crop, although in a few sections rain is desirable. In the Southwest, however, there is still a great excess of rain, and considerable damage has no doubt resulted.

Galveston, Texas.—It has rained hard on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and fifty-four hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 66 to 85, averaging 78. During the month of May the rainfall reached seven inches and seventy hundredths.

Indianola, Texas.—It has rained hard on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and nineteen hundredths. Weeds are becoming troublesome. Average thermometer 76; highest 85 and lowest 71. Rainfall for the month of May seven inches and forty-two hundredths.

Palestine, Texas.—We have had rain on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and thirty-seven hundredths. Much damage has been done by the constant rains. The thermometer has averaged 72, the highest being 84 and the lowest 60. During the month of May the rainfall reached twelve inches and ninety-nine hundredths.

Huntsville, Texas.—It has been showery on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching thirty hundredths of an inch. The whole of the Trinity Valley is again overflowed, and much damage has been done. The thermometer has averaged 75, ranging from 62 to 89. Rainfall for the month of May seven inches and sixteen hundredths.

Luling, Texas.—We have had a shower on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching forty-five hundredths of an inch. Good progress is being made in clearing the fields of weeds, and crops are doing reasonably well. Average thermometer 76, highest 89 and lowest 59. Rainfall for the month of May five inches and fourteen hundredths.

Brenham, Texas.—It has been showery on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching fifty hundredths of an inch. Uplands are recuperating somewhat, but immense damage has been done in the lowlands. The Brazos River has again overflowed and ruined the remnant of lowland crops in its valley. The rise has been the highest for thirty-two years. The thermometer has ranged from 65 to 91, averaging 76. During the month of May the rainfall reached twelve inches and thirty hundredths.

Belton, Texas.—It has been showery on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching fourteen hundredths of an inch. On high lands young crops are doing well, but all valley crops have been greatly damaged by overflows. The wheat harvest is progressing. The thermometer has averaged 73, ranging from 52 to 89. The rainfall during the month of May reached five inches and forty hundredths.

Weatherford, Texas.—We have had rain on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and thirty-five hundredths. The wheat harvest has been retarded by wet weather, but is now progressing. The thermometer has averaged 70, the highest being 84 and the lowest 50. Rainfall during the month of May twenty inches and seventeen hundredths, the heaviest since the settlement of the country.

Dallas, Texas.—It has rained hard on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and thirty-four hundredths. Farmers are almost in despair; all work is stopped, and railroads broken in all directions. Trinity River and all other streams are again overflowed. Much damage has been done. The thermometer has ranged from 59 to 89, averaging 75. During the month of May the rainfall reached seven inches and thirty-eight hundredths.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and thirty-eight hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 76.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—We had several light rains during the early part of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and forty-eight hundredths. The river is falling slowly. Roads are bad. The thermometer has ranged from 65 to 89.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—The early part of the week was clear and pleasant, but during the latter portion it has rained severly on two days, the week closing cloudy. The rainfall reached one inch and sixty-five hundredths. We are having too much rain, and weeds are growing so fast that they are becoming troublesome. The thermometer has ranged from 61 to 85. Rainfall during the month of May eleven inches and seventy-six hundredths.

Meridian, Mississippi—It has rained on four days of the week. We are having too much rain. Cold nights during the past ten days have done considerable damage to cotton, making re-planting necessary in many places. Crop accounts are less favorable.

Greenville, Mississippi—It has rained on four days of the week. The rainfall reached three inches and seventy hundredths, of which two inches and forty-six hundredths fell in twelve hours. Crop accounts are less favorable. The thermometer has averaged 72, the highest being 82 and the lowest 55. Rainfall for May eleven inches and thirty-one hundredths.

Columbus, Mississippi.—We have had rain on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and sixty-seven hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 71, ranging from 55 to 86. During the month of May the rainfall reached one inch and ninety-three hundredths.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—It has rained on five days of the week, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy. The rainfall reached one inch and fifty-eight hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 64 to 84, averaging 69.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Helena, Arkansas.—It has been showery on four days, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy. The rainfall reached one inch and eight hundredths. We have secured a good stand of cotton. Weeds are growing so fast that they are becoming troublesome. The thermometer has averaged 69, the highest being 79 and the lowest 55. Rainfall during the month of May six inches and twenty hundredths.

Newport, Arkansas.—During the month of May we had rain on six days and the rainfall reached four inches and fifty hundredths.

Memphis, Tennessee.—The first two days of the week were clear, with cold nights, but on the remaining five days we have had rain, on three of which, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, very hard. The country is soaked with water; farm work is totally suspended, crops are badly in the grass, and, being two to three weeks late, it is feared that much damage will result. The rainfall since the first of January has been forty-one inches and twenty-two hundredths, which is the heaviest for the same period during the past fourteen years. During the month of May there was rain on fourteen days, and the rainfall reached six inches and forty-six hundredths. The thermometer ranged from 54·3 to 86·8, and averaged 69·6.

Nashville, Tennessee.—It has rained on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and fifty hundredths. We are having too much rain, it having rained almost continuously since Monday. The thermometer has ranged from 48 to 84, averaging 67.

Mobile, Alabama.—The early part of the week was clear and pleasant, but during the latter portion there has been rain on two days. The rainfall reached one inch and thirty-nine hundredths. The crop is developing promisingly. The fields are clear of weeds, a good stand has been secured and the plant looks strong and healthy, but small. There are some complaints of too much rain. Average thermometer 76, highest 88 and lowest 63. During the month of May the rainfall reached eight inches and forty-two hundredths.

Montgomery, Alabama.—The early part of the week was clear and pleasant, but during the latter portion we have had very welcome and needed showers on two days and the indications are that they extended over a wide surface. The rainfall reached ninety-five hundredths of an inch. Crop accounts are more favorable. The crop is developing promisingly, the plant looks strong and healthy and the fields are clear of weeds. The thermometer has averaged 73, ranging from 59 to 84. Rainfall for the month of May one inch and eighteen hundredths.

Selma, Alabama.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and thirty-eight hundredths. The crop is developing promisingly. The thermometer has averaged 71, the highest being 82 and the lowest 59. Rainfall during the month of May one inch and twenty-seven hundredths, rain on four days.

Madison, Florida.—During the month of May the rainfall reached one inch and fifty-five hundredths.

Macon, Georgia.—We have had no rain during the week. Rain is needed. The thermometer has averaged 69, ranging from 55 to 81.

Columbus, Georgia.—We have had no rain all the week. Crops need rain badly. The thermometer has averaged 75, ranging from 58 to 84. Rainfall for May one inch and twenty-six hundredths.

Savannah, Georgia.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching six hundredths of an inch. Days have been warm, but the nights cold. The thermometer has ranged from 58 to 80, averaging 69. During the month of May the rainfall reached one inch and twenty-two hundredths.

Augusta, Georgia.—We have had no rain during the week. The weather has been clear and pleasant. Accounts are excellent. The fields are clear of weeds, the crop is developing promisingly and the plant looks strong and healthy, though inclined to be small because of the lateness of the season. Average thermometer 69, highest 81 and lowest 54. Rainfall during May three inches and twenty-one hundredths.

Atlanta, Georgia.—Telegram not received.

Charleston, South Carolina.—We have had no rain during the week. The thermometer has averaged 69, ranging from 60 to 80. Rainfall during May two inches and eighteen hundredths.

Columbia, South Carolina.—Telegram not received.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock June 5, 1884, and June 7, 1883.

| | | June 5, '84. | | June 7, '83. | |

| Vicksburg | Above low-water mark. | 38 | 0 | 38 | 10 |

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to June 5.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Great Brit'n. | Continent. | Total. | Great Britain | Continent. | Total. | This Week. | Since Jan. 1. |
| 1884 | 26,000 | 20,000 | 46,000 | 404,000 | 542,000 | 946,000 | 75,000 | 1,364,000 |

| 1881 | 10,000 | 14,000 | 24,000 | 217,000 | 411,000 | 628,000 | 46,000 | 975,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts of 4,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 21,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 74,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. | | | Shipments since January 1. | | |

| 1883 | 1,000 | ..... | 1,000 | 71,000 | 12,100 | 83,100 |

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

| Alexandria, Egypt, June 4. | 1883-84. | | 1882-83. | | 1881-82. | |

| Total Europe | 3,000 | 380,000 | 2,000 | 315,000 | 3,500 | 417,571 |

* A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending June 4 were 1,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 3,000 bales.

New York Cotton Exchange.—At a meeting of the Board of Managers on the 2d inst. the completed laws and by-laws respecting the selling and buying of print-cloth contracts were adopted and ordered to be posted, with notice of a meeting on Monday the 16th inst., for the purpose of their being considered.

It is proposed to have two daily calls—one after the first and the other after the third cotton call, except on Saturdays, when print cloths are to be called after the first and after the second cotton call. The price difference is to be 5-100 of a cent per yard, and the quantity not to be less than 1,000 pieces of 45,000 yards. Deposits for margins are to be made the same as for cotton. The brokerage for non-members has been fixed at $6 for every contract bought or sold, or $12 for the round; and for members the brokerage is to be $2, namely, $4 for the round. If the broker does not carry the contract, the brokerage is to be reduced to 50c. for buying and 50c. for selling 1,000 pieces.

On Monday, June 2, the annual election for officers of the New York Cotton Exchange was held. There were three tickets in the field, only one of which (the regular ticket) received general support. The following gentlemen were elected: President, Mr. Siegfried Gruner; Vice-President, Mr. C. D. Miller; Treasurer, Mr. Walter T. Miller; Board of Managers—Messrs. J. L. Macaulay, Thos. Scott, E. R. Robertson, W. V. King, J. M. White, Wm. Mohr, R. P. Salter, P. A. Fachiri, K. Meissner, T. M. Foote, R. Sidenburg, F. W. Williams, Chas. H. Small, J. H. Hollis and K. M. Murchison; Trustee Gratuity Fund, Emanuel Lehman; Inspectors of Election, A. G. Munn, Jr., J. T. Moses and W. W. Hill, Jr.

The Board of Managers met Thursday afternoon, June 5. Mr. W. V. King was elected Secretary to the Board and Mr.

Walter T. Miller Chairman of the Nominating Committee. Mr. Powers was re-appointed Superintendent.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

This statement shows that up to May 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 1,062,921 bales less than in 1882-83, and 200,983 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to May 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

This statement shows that the receipts since Sept. 1 up to to-night are now 1,074,585 bales less than they were to the same day of the month in 1883 and 193,954 bales more than they were to the same day of the month in 1882. We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to June 6 in each of the years named.

COTTON IN FALL RIVER.—The following from the Boston Advertiser of June 3 indicates the extent of the cotton manufacturing interests of Fall River:

"The deliveries of cotton to the Fall River mills during the year ending May 31 have been as follows: Number of bales delivered by steamboat during June, 1883, 3,853; July, 3,018; August, 3,093; September, 6,900; October, 11,637; November, 10,507; December, 4,782, January (1884), 1,392; February, 2,880; March, 3,23 ; April, 5,728, and in May, 2,752; total by steamboat, 62,967. The number of bales delivered by railroad in June, 1883, was 3,080; July, 2,136; August, 1,247, September, 3,090; October, 6,948; November, 11,076; December, 9,751; January (1884), 16,189; February, 10,245; March, 10,957; April, 10,238; May, 10,335; total by railroad, 95,240. This makes the total number of bales delivered here during the "cotton year" 158,209, which is about 23,000 less than was delivered during the previous year. The decrease is probably owing to the strike, which has had a depressing influence upon the manufacturers making large purchases. The strike is a thing of the past. Nearly all the mills are running their full complement of machinery. Some of the spinners who struck have been thrown entirely out of work, but the majority were given work by special application to the overseers. The result is a signal defeat for the spinners."

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &C.—The demand has not shown any improvement and the only trade reported is of a jobbing character. Prices are unchanged, sellers not forcing goods, and full rates have to be paid on the parcels that are moving, though an offer of a shade less would be accepted for a quantity. The market closes at 9½c. for 1½ lb., 10c. for 1¾ lb., 10¾c. for 2 lb. and 11½c. for standard grades. Butts are rather easy in price and the market is dull. There have been sales of 1,000 bales paper grade at 2⅛@2¼c., and these are the present figures, while bagging grades are held at 2⅝@3c. There has been an arrival of 14,600 bales, which makes the stock 57,250 bales, while the visible supply is 186,864 bales.

SHIPPING NEWS.—The exports of cotton from the United States the past week, as per latest mail returns, have reached 17,351 bales. So far as the Southern ports are concerned, these are the same exports reported by telegraph, and published in the CHRONICLE last Friday. With regard to New York we include the manifests of all vessels cleared up to Thursday night of this week.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., June 6, 1884.

Flour has been dull for most descriptions, and prices have been depressed. There has been really no change in the general position of the market. The supply, though not what in times of greater activity would be called at all excessive, is, nevertheless, in the existing circumstances, quite ample. To-day the market was dull and weak.

Wheat has been fairly active on speculation, but the fluctuations of prices have been within narrow limits; latterly a slight decline has been recorded. There has been a larger foreign demand, and on Wednesday nearly 250,000 bushels were purchased by exporters. It is noticeable, however, that any attempt to advance prices causes a sudden falling off in the export trade, just as a decline in prices has precisely the opposite effect. The crop advices have been favorable. Bulls in Chicago have at times sold very freely; they express disappointment at the slight decrease in the visible supply in this country, while the fact that the supply there at this late stage of the season is not only large but composed mostly of contract grade, also exerts a depressing influence. The near approach, moreover, of the time for new wheat to arrive likewise causes some apprehensions at Chicago, especially as the heavy carrying charges have the effect of keeping the wheat there. To-day the market here was irregular, opening a fraction lower, but recovering later, owing to a pretty good export demand, and advancing ½c. to 1c. No. 2 red sold at $1 02 in elevator, $1 02⅞@$1 04⅛ for July, $1 04¼@$1 05⅜ for August and $1 05⅜@$1 06¼ for September. No. 2 red closed steady at $1 02⅛ in elevator, $1 00¾ for June, $1 03⅝ for July, $1 04⅞ for August and $1 06 for September, showing a decline of ¼c. to ½c. for the week.

Indian corn has been only moderately active at some decline, due partly to the depression in wheat, and partly to a decline in Chicago, where the receipts have been large. To-day there was a light speculation, but a slight decline early in the day was recovered later, and a fractional advance then took place. Old No. 2 mixed sold on the spot at 65½c. delivered, and No. 3 mixed at 59c. No. 2 mixed closed dull at 62⅛c. in elevator, 62½c. for June, 63½c. for July, 64⅞c. for August and 66c. for September, showing a decline for the week of ½ to ¾c.

Rye has been fairly active for export to Antwerp and German ports, and has ruled steady in price. Oats have been moderately active at one time at some decline, but latterly a slight advance has taken place. No. 2 mixed sold at 37⅞@38⅜c. for June and 37⅞@38¼c. for July. No. 2 mixed closed weak at 38¼c. for June and July and 36c. for August.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., June 6, 1884.

There was during the past week a continuation of the quiet ness which has lately prevailed in commission and importing circles, but the activity of the retail trade was reflected in a somewhat better demand from retailers, and a fair distribution (for the time of year) was consequently made by leading jobbers. Under the influences of favorable crop reports and an improvement in the financial situation, buyers are becoming less apathetic than of late, and there are evidences of returning confidence, which will doubtless lead to a revival of business in the not far distant future. The transactions of the week were chiefly confined to such goods as are required for immediate distribution, but fabrics adapted to the coming season have met with some attention from buyers from a few remote markets, as California, &c. The salvage stock of fine woolens from a recent fire (4,000 pieces) was disposed of at auction to fair advantage, considering the fact that the goods were in a more or less unmerchantable condition. The coming week will witness an unusually large auction sale of sound woolens and worsteds of a popular make, 8,000 pieces of which will be peremptorily sold on the 10th inst.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics for the week were 2,625 packages, of which 1,469 were shipped to Great Britain, 316 to Argentine Republic, 175 to Venezuela, 132 to Hayti, 90 to New Zealand, &c. There was a continued light demand for all descriptions of staple cotton goods at first hands, and the jobbing trade was of moderate proportions, though a trifle better than the previous week. Some makes of goods are doubtless accumulating because of the protracted lull in the demand, but the most desirable fabrics are not in excessive supply as yet, and prices are maintained with a fair degree of firmness. Low-grade brown and bleached goods are barely steady, and buyers of "round lots" can readily obtain concessions as an incentive to liberal operations. Print cloths were quiet, and the market closed easy at 3⅜c. for 64x64s and 2⅞c. for 56x60s, some sales having been made (in exceptional cases) at a fraction under these figures. Prints ruled quiet, but woven wash fabrics, as chambrays, seer-suckers, block plaid ginghams, &c., were in pretty good demand, and a fair trade was done in printed lawns and piques.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The demand for clothing woolens was light and unimportant, but there was a steady movement in cassimeres, suitings, worsteds, &c., on account of former orders. Spring woolens were lightly dealt in by clothiers, but a moderate business was done by cloth and dry goods jobbers. Cloakings were in irregular demand, but on the whole quiet, and ladies' cloths, tricots, Jersey cloths, and stockinettes were in limited request. Satinets were somewhat sluggish in first hands, but stocks are in pretty good shape, and prices remain steady. Kentucky jeans ruled quiet with agents, but considerable sales were effected by large jobbers. Flannels and blankets were mostly quiet as regards actual business, but more inquiry for these goods has been made by intending buyers. The demand for dress goods was chiefly restricted to light summer fabrics, as lace buntings, lenos, nuns' veilings, &c., and these were distributed in small lots to a fair amount. Hosiery was more sought after by package buyers, but shirts and drawers continued sluggish, and prices of the latter are low and unsatisfactory to manufacturers.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There was a light re-order demand for a very few specialties in summer fabrics, but the general demand for imported goods at first hands was very light, and the jobbing trade presented the usual "between seasons" quiet. Most of the principal importing and jobbing houses are now represented in the European markets, but it is understood that their buyers are operating cautiously for the coming season.

Importations of Dry Goods.

W. Story, Matthew Arnold, Ruskin, Tennyson, Browning, and many others, are represented in the pages of

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

During the forty years of its publication THE LIVING AGE has met with continuous commendation and success.

double-column octavo pages of reading matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its great amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a satisfactory completeness attempted by no other publication, the best Essays, Reviews, Criticisms, Serial and Short Stories, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific, Biographical, Historical and Political Information, from the entire body of Foreign Periodical Literature.

It is therefore invaluable to every American reader, as the only satisfactorily fresh and COMPLETE compilation of an indispensable current literature,—indispensable because it embraces the productions of

in all branches of Literature, Science, Politics and Art.

"No other periodical gives so diversified a view of current literature, not by abridgments, but by publishing entire the best essays, criticisms, discussions, short stories, and serial romances of the day * * * It is for readers of limited leisure or purse the most convenient and available means of possessing themselves of the very best results of current criticism, philosophy, science, and literature."—Presbyterian Banner, Pittsburg.

"Through its pages alone it is possible to be as well informed in current literature as by the perusal of a long list of monthlies.'—Phila Enquirer.

"Whatever there is of interest in the literary and scientific world is spread before its readers."—Boston Journal.

"No reader who makes himself familiar with its contents can lack the means of a sound literary culture."—New York Tribune.

"It furnishes a complete compilation of an indispensable literature."—Chicago Evening Journal

"Remarkably cheap for the quality and amount of reading furnished."—Montreal Gazette.

"It is by odds the best periodical in the world."—Morning Star, Wilmington, N. C.

"We know of no equal to THE LIVING AGE for variety of information, depth of interest, and purity of tone. Its pages are sufficient to keep any reader abreast with the best printed thoughts of the best of our contemporary writers. It is the great eclectic of the world."—Episcopal Register, Philadelphia.

Published WEEKLY at $8 00 a year, free of postage, or,

For $10 50 THE LIVING AGE and any one of the American $4 Monthlies (or Harper's Weekly or Bazar) will be sent for a year, postpaid; or for $9 50 THE LIVING AGE and the St. Nicholas, or Lippincott's Monthly. Address,

AND PAID PROMPTLY IN NEW YORK EXCHANGE.

This is one of the few classes of securities that has not suffered any during the recent depression in financial circles.

We have had experience of several years in lending money on improved property, during which time we have placed large sums of money for Insurance Companies, Savings Banks, Trustees of Estates and capitalists, and the safety of these investments is evidenced by the fact that not one of our investors has ever lost a dollar of interest or principal when negotiated by us.

Loans are made only on very desirable, improved and productive property, after we have made a thorough personal inspection of the security and the abstract of title examined and approved by our Counsel. And in no case do we loan more than 33 1-3 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

Located as we are at Kansas City, the Metropolis of the Southwest, with a population of 160,000, we are able to select from the most desirable locations, and place money to a much better advantage for the lender than firms located in New York or Boston, where they cannot have a personal supervision of the investments. Satisfactory references will be furnished.

The borrowers pay us for our services, and interest is collected and remitted by us in New York exchange the day it falls due, with no charges to investors.

Write us, stating how much you would like to invest, and ask for particulars.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Commercial and monetary affairs are rapidly assuming a midsummer quietness. A fair distribution of goods seems to be in progress and an average demand is anticipated during coming weeks, since interior stocks are believed to be moderate while the Western crop condition is very promising. On the other hand we have entered upon a Presidential contest never favorable to buoyancy in business; cotton in the Southwest has had a bad month, though in very good condition in the Atlantic States; the blow the panic has struck is still very widely felt, some of its more visible effects being seen in the embarrassments, embezzlements and unfaithfulness which are daily disclosed. Altogether, therefore, while there appears no sufficient ground for the prevailing despondency, one can find even less encouragement for speculative confidence.

As regards the banks, the progress towards recovery has continued uninterrupted and rapid. The situation at that midnight meeting on May 14th when the Associated Clearing-House Institutions determined to open the doors of the Metropolitan Bank in the morning, and the situation to-day, are in very strong contrast. Few understand in full the dangers which then threatened or the risks which were jointly assumed solely in the interest of the public safety. We noticed last week that some member of Congress from Missouri, we forget who it was, proposed in quite a querulous mood a resolution appointing a committee to come here and examine into this proceeding and arrangement. Such a committee if in a teachable frame of mind would not be wholly undesirable, for perhaps through it Congress might learn how much better in bank management individual responsibility is than legislative restrictions and remedies. There never could be a law framed that would have met and averted the danger of last month; and yet how easy it would have been by law to have lessened the power to act promptly and efficiently at the critical moment. Furthermore, it might be shown to the committee that legislation is chargeable with much of the weakness our city banks develop. They have been so burdened with state and national taxes and restrictions that capital is all the time leaving the business, and substitutes are springing into life which carry no reserve but wholly depend for convertibility in the hour of danger upon our Clearing House institutions. Then again, under existing laws, it is so difficult for banks to earn a dividend in a conservative way that there is all the time an inducement, almost a necessity, for running risks. In a word, the more the facts are inquired into the more evident it will become to any one wishing to inform himself, that what the public interest requires now is, not restriction but freedom for banks.

Speaking on this subject recalls the centennial celebration of the Bank of New York. One hundred years ago, under the leadership of Alexander Hamilton, this bank was organized. It is the oldest in the country except the Bank of North America in Philadelphia, which is older than the nation itself, having been founded by Robert Morris Colonial Secretary. Another venerable institution is the Manhattan Company Bank, of which Aaron Burr was the originator. The special interest these facts possess in this connection is that their early organization suggests how naturally banks spring up among the first wants of every people. They come with the very beginnings of commerce, progress and even civilization being impossible without them. All countries have found it indispensable to encourage their growth, and they are among the oldest institutions every nation possesses. These statements show the folly of antagonizing such a commercial agent.

A feature in the progress towards recovery this week has been the stoppage in the drain for funds upon this centre, and the steady gain of the banks in cash from the interior. The country did not feel the panic when its severest effects were seen here; the developments there were a later influence, and now even these are passing off, too, and our whole system of banks is speedily returning to a normal condition. The only uncertain question connected with them, and with the tendency of the money market towards extreme ease, has been the course of foreign exchange and the possible renewal of the demand for gold for shipment to London. The developments of the week have been reassuring in this particular. In the first place, the inclination of the stock market has been downwards, which is wholesome, as the advance was artificial, not natural, and permitted free selling by the recent foreign buyers to realize profits. Another influence has been the enlargement in the volume of our exports as indicated by the movement at New York. Whether this is a temporary change or whether it is an effect of the panic on the prices of all commodities—a perfectly natural result—cannot be known. Still it would seem impossible that our foreign trade should not quickly and materially respond to the increased depression which has existed here. Imports cannot be affected so speedily; but it is marvelous that our exports should have so long continued so very small. It will be remembered that in our review of the foreign trade two weeks since, April exports showed a smaller total than for any April since 1877. If as a result of the panic prices have been so far rectified as to permit a changed movement in this particular, it will be a very hopeful step towards a permanent recovery.

It was not to be expected, however, that the foreign exchange market should at present show any inclination to lower rates. Money is getting easier here and is likely to continue to make progress in that direction, so that foreign capital will hardly find profitable investment in our loan market much longer. Then there are some sterling loan contracts which have to be settled or renewed; in fact it has been suggested that one reason for putting up stocks in our market was to make a better basis for collaterals on these renewals. Whether there is anything in that idea or not the inquiry for bills within the past few days and the marking up of rates for sterling yesterday, would indicate the adjustment of some of these loans. The supply of bills now comes mainly from petroleum, dairy products and provisions. We note also one important feature in the export movement, and that is the shipment of refined sugar, not only to European countries but also to Australia, the drawback paid enabling the exporter to secure a small profit. Bills from these and other sources have hitherto supplied the market. Foreign bankers would not be surprised to see a further advance in rates soon as a result of the influences we have indicated above, though this may be prevented if our trade movement should continue to improve.

In this connection it should be stated in explanation of the arrival from London of $500,000 of gold which was received by the Bank of British North America, that it is only in transit to Canada. It is being shipped to its destination in lots of $100,000 each. The City of Berlin brings $500,000 more, and the cable announces the withdrawal of £100,000 from the Bank of England on Thursday for export to New York for the same account. It is perhaps not known to all our readers that as a result of our panic a drain of gold set in from Canada to this centre. The Canadian Government, we know, issues notes, the total now outstanding being about 17 millions, which the banks use as part of their reserve, they carrying only about six or seven millions of actual specie. When therefore the demand arose for gold the banks were forced to present the Government notes for redemption; at first this demand was met, but they came in such large quantities that pretty soon the gold supply was exhausted and these arrivals now are to replenish the stock.

Nothing of any special importance has happened to disturb the stock market this week. It has, in general, had a declining tendency (though with daily recoveries), simply because there was nothing to keep it up except the oversold condition of many securities. Rumors of various kinds have been afloat no more than usual, probably, and no more important or truthful. Among them may be mentioned a story which was to the effect that the Chicago & Northwestern managers intended to issue collateral trust bonds based upon the recent acquisition of the Blair system of roads. Another was that the tripartite pool was in danger of rupture which seemed to have for its basis only the fact that for the past few weeks we have had no report concerning the progress made by the Union Pacific and the Quincy toward a settlement of their differences; it was argued that in this case no news was bad news. Still another rumor was the assertion that the anthracite coal combination was on the eve of dissolution. This undoubtedly grew out of the necessity which apparently exists for some change in the method of regulating the coal trade so as to equalize the burdens. It has been stated that a plan is under consideration by which an allotment shall be made of the amount of coal to be mined by each company and providing for a money penalty for a violation of the agreement

Among the events of importance have been, first and foremost, the announcement that the N. Y. West Shore & Buffalo had been placed in the hands of receivers. This had, however, comparatively little effect upon the first mortgage bonds, for the reason that dealers in and holders of them regarded this course as the best that could be taken under the circumstances. The election of Mr. M. H. Smith, heretofore Vice-President, as President of the Louisville & Nashville, in place of Mr. Rogers, was also regarded favorably, being interpreted as an indication of a purpose to manage the road for the best interests of all concerned, instead of for the interests of stock speculators. The new scheme for funding the floating debt into collateral trust bonds, bearing 6 per cent interest and running ten years, has been deferred for the purpose of enabling foreign creditors of the company to express their preferences. The disclosures regarding the financial condition of Union Pacific had, however, an unfavorable effect. The statements made were undoubtedly exaggerated, and particularly those which alleged that a portion of the sinking fund had been invested in securities of the company. Mr. Dillon, the President, promptly denied this story, saying that not a dollar had been misapplied.

Union Pacific statement of earnings for April is favorable in showing a smaller loss than in most other recent months; also in reporting, as is usual with the progress of the season, a larger volume of business from month to month. In January and February combined the company had earned only $580,495 net, and this led some to base estimates for future months upon the same low scale. But in March the total net reached $768,159, and now for April we have $951,940. Of course these totals are in each case below those of a year ago, but, as stated, the falling off in April is smaller than in previous months. The decrease in gross for the month is reported at $234,312, and this is accompanied at the same time by an increase of $97,782 in expenses, making the loss in net $332,094. So far as it stands, this is a not unsatisfactory showing—particularly in view of the loss of over $500,000 in March. But there is something about the April figures that needs explanation. These figures we have taken for both years from the exhibit furnished by the Boston office. At the New York office, where we are usually favored with a comparative statement for the two years, we have been able to get this time only the totals for 1884, which agree with the Boston totals. The difficulty occurs about the figures for last year. Those now given out differ from those originally furnished in 1883. In itself, there is nothing striking in this fact, because it is known that as the company no longer operates the St. Joseph & Western, the accounts of this road are taken out of the totals reported last year, in order to make the comparison correct, and, understanding this, we have in previous months refrained from commenting upon that fact. But this month the alteration in the figures is greater than this change alone would seem to warrant. For instance, while the gross earnings for April, 1883, which last year were reported at $2,435,844, are now reported at $2,363,277, or $72,567 less, the expenses which had been reported at $1,334,605, are given at $1,079,243, or $255,362 less. With the St. Joseph & Western as the only cause for the change, this would show that on merely $72,567 gross earnings in April last year, as much as $255,362 had to be spent in operating that road, which scarcely seems reasonable. Probably the figures now given are correct, and the apparent discrepancy can be explained by some other circumstance, but without such an explanation the difference will appear unaccountable. We mention the matter here because the new figures for last year make the loss this year so much greater than it otherwise would be. Using the original totals (without any allowance for the St. Joseph & Western) the decrease in net in April, 1884, would be less than $150,000, instead of $332,000, as actually reported. Below we give a comparison of results for four years—the totals for 1883 being those now furnished.

| April. | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| Gross earnings | 2,128,965 | 2,363,277 | 2,369,609 | 2,140,014 |
| Operating expenses | 1,177,025 | 1,079,243 | 1,331,196 | 1,382,451 |
| Net earnings | 951,940 | 1,284,034 | 1,038,413 | 757,563 |
| Jan. 1 to April 30. | | | | |
| Gross earnings | 7,188,553 | 8,345,113 | 8,773,109 | 7,251,473 |
| Operating expenses | 4,887,961 | 4,201,567 | 5,397,765 | 4,837,228 |
| Net earnings | 2,300,592 | 4,142,606 | 3,375,344 | 2,414,245 |

We here see that for April, while net earnings are smaller than in either 1883 or 1882, they are yet nearly $200,000 greater than in the same month of 1881. For the four months, however, the total is smaller even than in that year.

New York Lake Erie & Western has this week issued an exhibit of its earnings and expenses for the month of April, after having withheld that for March. The suppression of the figures for the latter month did not inspire confidence, and as much interest now attaches to them as to those for April. Using the company's statement of results for the seven months to the end of April, we have made up the exhibit for March, and find that both for that month and for April the showing is far from satisfactory. Of course, it was known that trunk line business had not been good, that rates had been reduced to a point where there was little or no profit in the work, and that the depression in the coal trade—the company having an exceedingly heavy tonnage of that article—was also operating against the road, but it was hardly supposed that the loss would be so heavy as it has turned out to be. The gross earnings for March (on the Erie proper, leaving out the Pennsylvania & Ohio leased line) record a falling off of over $500,000 as compared with the previous year, and of nearly $700,000 as compared with 1881, the total being only $1,177,892—the smallest since 1878. The net earnings are even smaller than in that year; they reach only $234,001 (which a loss of $21,373 on the leased line reduces to $212,628), against over $500,000 the previous year, and over $700,000 in both 1881 and 1880. For April, the showing is somewhat better, though both gross and net earnings are yet smaller than in any year since 1879. The decrease however from last year is very much less than in March, and in that respect the return is encouraging. The falling off in gross was about $150,000, which the company met by a reduction of over $121,000 in expenses, so that the decrease in net is only about $29,000, though this is swelled into a decrease of $76,000 by a loss for the month of $47,000 in operating the Pennsylvania & Ohio leased line. Below we give a comparison of earnings and expenses back to 1880—for March, for April, and for the seven months of the fiscal year from October 1 to May 1.

Owing to the more satisfactory results in the early months of the company's fiscal year, the exhibit here for the seven months makes a much less unfavorable comparison with preceding years than the recent returns would appear to indicate. The loss in gross is over a million, but in net (through increased economies in expenses) is only about $428,000, to which however must be added $227,000 as the loss on the leased line, making the total loss $655,000. We showed recently that on the operations of the fiscal year ended last September, the company had a surplus of $646,917 above all its charges and 6 per cent on the preferred stock, and that taking out the dividend on the preferred stock and other items not obligatory, there was a balance of $1,265,485 that remained to be wiped out before interest payments became endangered. As the loss in the seven months that have elapsed is only $655,000, we still have a considerable margin left to be exhausted before that contingency will be reached. It is in the remaining five months that the company usually does its heaviest business, and if these should prove favorable, the exhibit for the full year might yet turn out better than expected. Still, the outturn of these five months is involved in considerable uncertainty, and it is for this reason, as the company claims, that the June interest on the second consolidated bonds has been passed.

So far as the movement of securities is concerned, it is at present confined to the operations of the arbitrage brokers who daily trade between the London and New York markets and make their settlements fortnightly, according to the rule on the [illegible] naturall periods, accordingly as the balance is for or against this city. The following shows relative prices of leading bonds and stocks in London and New York at the opening each day.

Money on call is without important change. Brokers' balances are loaned at from 1½ to 3 per cent, and time loans command 5 to 6 per cent for 60 to 90 days on stock collateral. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

* Includes $350,000 transferred in the shape of silver certificates by a deposit of gold in the Sub-Treasury.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have gained $1,200,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury. Adding that item, therefore, to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the N. Y. Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day. In addition to the presence of Clearing-House Loan certificates in the banks, we have this week another element which makes it difficult to forecast the bank return and that is the gold which has been received by the Bank of British North America from London for transmission to Canada, already referred to.

The fall in the long-date government bonds this week is mainly due to the absence of demand, and to the fact that bankers making a specialty of dealing in these securities, have less speculative interest in them than they had previous to the panic. Money cannot be borrowed upon these bonds at nominal rates for long time, as was the case a month ago; and consequently dealers and speculators prefer to trade in something which will give them quicker returns.

The Bank of England statement for the week shows a gain of £1,400,000 bullion. This represents £1,420,000 drawn from the interior and £20,000 sent abroad. The Bank of France lost 717,000 francs gold and 1,517,000 francs silver, and the Bank of Germany gained 742,000 marks. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

RAILROAD EARNINGS IN MAY, AND FROM JANUARY 1 TO MAY 31.

Railroad earnings for May do not make quite as favorable an exhibit as for the month immediately preceding. Taking the roads as a whole, we have an increase on the figures of a year ago; but the increase is small, and is occasioned almost entirely by the heavy gains that one or two large roads make. On the other hand, there is quite a number of companies that fall behind the totals of 1883, in some cases, too, after recording a loss in that year. In fact, the total percentage of increase in 1883 was small, the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Southwestern roads contributing the bulk of it, which makes the small improvement now even less significant than it otherwise would be.

The influences at work the past month were not, of course, in favor of large receipts. To a great extent they were much the same as in other recent months, only more marked. The depression and dullness that has pervaded general business, certainly remained unabated, and besides diminishing the volume of merchandise freight over the railroads, also had the effect in May of diminishing the volume of passenger traffic in a number of instances. The movement of grain in the West and Northwest, which in May, 1883, was far from large, suffered a further contraction the present year, while in the Southwest and South the diminished movement of cotton again affected railroad traffic unfavorably, the amount of the staple that came forward during the month being hardly more than nominal. At the same time the heavy rains and floods that afflicted Texas and Arkansas did not tend to improve the situation in that section of the country. Altogether, it may be said that there was nothing on which to base an expectation of materially larger receipts, while on the other hand there were many reasons for supposing that earnings would fall off, so that perhaps even the small increase of $581,528, which our figures record, is a not unsatisfactory showing. Below is our customary table, giving earnings and mileage of each road.

The only noteworthy increase in the above exhibit is that on the Northern Pacific—$527,013. Of course, to a great extent this is the direct result of the opening of the road through to the Pacific coast. We presume that as in previous months the gain is largely in passengers, and naturally the road gets much of the travel destined to Portland that formerly went over the Central and Union Pacific to San Francisco, and thence by steamer to Oregon. But aside from this, the gold excitement about the Cœur d'Alene mines has been a profitable source of gain. To show the relative proportions of the increase in passengers and freight, we need only say that of the augmentation of $781,103 in receipts during April, $157,830 came from freight and $623,273 from passengers, the earnings of the latter having risen from $231,077 in April, 1883, to $854,350 in April, 1884.

Northwestern roads as a rule do not make as good a comparison with 1883 as in April, notwithstanding that these roads in May last year, with one exception, were not distinguished for any very decided gains. The exception is the St. Paul, which then had an increase of $405,581. On that road therefore the small decrease of $47,513 this year is insignificant. Other roads however in that section, had only small gains last year—where they did not actually have a decrease. The changes on these this year, consequently command more attention. We find that the Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern gains about $13,000 in 1884, in addition to $9,000 in 1883, and the St. Paul & Omaha $55,000 in addition to $49,000. The Chicago & Northwest which in 1883 had a gain of $46,000 for the month, this year gained $25,000 in addition during the first three weeks. The figures for the fourth week of the month we have not been able to obtain, though unofficial statements in the daily papers report a decrease of $109,000 for this period, and it is claimed that this accounts for the figures not being given out at the company's office. But even if correct we very much doubt whether the returns would be withheld were it not that the fourth week of May completes the company's fiscal year; for that reason it is desirable that all necessary corrections be incorporated before sending out any figures for the full year. The St. Paul & Duluth road reports a decrease of $2,773 for the month, after an increase of $18,500 in 1883. The road, however, that makes the least satisfactory showing is the St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba. This road lost $131,403 in 1883, and now loses $113,844 more in 1884—in other words, the present earnings of $613,655 compare with $858,902 only two years ago. The large gains recorded by this line prior to 1883 came chiefly from the heavy immigration into Manitoba and also from the carrying of construction material for the Canadian Pacific, both of which sources of traffic have now suffered a break. It is interesting to note here that the Canadian Pacific itself records declining earnings, notwithstanding the addition of over 850 miles of road to the mileage in operation—the loss for May on this increased mileage being $53,447. As bearing out our remark above, that Western and Northwestern roads as a rule had a smaller supply of grain traffic in May this year than last, we give below the following table of the movement in our usual form.

The largest diminution in the movement, it will be seen here, occurs in the item of corn, though wheat also shows a material falling off, while oats, on the other hand, record a gain. Chicago is the heaviest loser, and St. Louis comes next. In general, it may be said that, as in preceding months, nearly all the roads in the section east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio—comprising the States of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, where the harvest was poor last year—had a small supply of grain traffic, and also a small supply of other local traffic as a result (farmers gauging their wants by the size of the crops) so that the roads in this district record a pretty general decrease, which is all the heavier where there was a gain in 1883. Indiana Bloomington & Western and Ohio Central both had a large increase in 1883, and now have a decrease, in each case, however, smaller than the previous increase. The Chicago & Eastern Illinois again has a large loss, after a heavy loss in 1883, so that its earnings this year were only $115,246, against $146,779 in 1882. The Alton & Terre Haute branches and the Peoria Decatur & Evansville likewise make further losses. Evansville & Terre Haute, on the other hand, gains $1,207, on a loss of $5,038 in 1883. The Cincinnati Washington & Baltimore (former Marietta & Cincinnati) has a loss, as in all other months this year. The Illinois Central, which on its Iowa lines (operated for a percentage of gross earnings) continues to lose heavily in gross, on the Illinois line and Southern division makes quite a satisfactory gain. This, we presume, occurred on the Illinois portion of the line, and not on the Southern portion, since the latter lost considerably in cotton traffic, as is indicated in the fact that it delivered only 1,938 bales of cotton at New Orleans in May this year, while in May last year it delivered 11,411 bales, against which loss, however, there is as offset a gain in local traffic constantly going on.

Of Michigan roads, the Flint & Pere Marquette has a loss which is small alongside the large increase the same road reported in 1883, while the Detroit Lansing & Northern also has only a small decrease. On the other hand, the Marquette Houghton & Ontonagon (mineral road) and the Chicago & West Michigan both have some gain—the former after a large loss and the latter after an increase in 1883. In Wisconsin the Green Bay Winona & St. Paul loses all it gained in 1883 and more, while the Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western and the Milwaukee & Northern both have very satisfactory gains. Of the great east-and-west trunk lines, our table contains only that in Canada—the Grand Trunk—and that exhibits a decrease of $175,613, or 13 per cent. The detailed returns recently published show that for January, February and March the company was able to meet almost the whole of its loss in gross earnings by a decrease in expenses, but that in April it was not so successful in this respect, a decrease of £45,017 in gross earnings being accompanied by a decrease of only £24,774 in expenses.

The roads running to or connecting with the Southwest, make, as far as reported, very satisfactory exhibits. This is the more remarkable that it is precisely these roads that made the best exhibits a year ago. The Chicago & Alton gains $3,744 in addition to $87,153 in May, 1883, while the St. Louis & San Francisco, which then recorded an increase of $43,000, now has a further increase of nearly $61,000. The Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf continues to profit by the extension to Memphis, and is swelling its earnings handsomely. We have none of the Gould roads, but with the smaller cotton movement and the dreadful rains, and the further fact that they had very heavy gains in earnings last year, there seems good reason for believing that their showing this year must have been unfavorable. The Fort Worth & Denver, which in a measure profited by the floods (getting traffic that would otherwise have taken other routes), has a very heavy percentage of increase, and further south in Texas the Gulf Colorado & Santa Fe just maintains its earnings of a year ago. A feature in the figures of the latter is the fact that freight earnings show an increase, while passenger earnings show a falling off. That the cotton traffic on all Southern and Southwestern roads during the month was almost nil will appear from the following table.

Here we see that the total receipts at all the ports reached during the month only 24,000 bales, while in 1883 the total was 144,000, and even in 1882 (remnant of the short crop of 1881) as much as 76,449. Galveston, New Orleans and Norfolk lost heaviest, though there is not a single port that did not have smaller receipts than a year ago. Yet Southern roads, almost without exception, make singularly good exhibits. This is remarkable, in view of the fact that so many of them are very largely dependent upon this one item of traffic. The only explanation that can be found for the way earnings keep up, despite this contraction in the cotton movement, is that there is a considerable development of the territory tributary to their lines. In point of fact, the managers of the Illinois Central inform us that the growth of local traffic on their Southern line is almost sufficient to offset the loss in cotton, and the same must also be true, and more than true, of the Louisville & Nashville, Mobile & Ohio and other lines. The Louisville & Nashville for May, it will be noticed, gains $85,567, or 8 per cent, and it will be observed that most other Southern roads also record more or less increase, and even where there is a decrease it is hardly more than nominal in amount.

Our table of earnings for the first five months of the year makes a tolerably good exhibit. The Northern Pacific of course leads all others in point of increase, but the St. Louis & San Francisco also makes an excellent showing, and the St. Paul & Omaha and the Louisville & Nashville do not lag far behind. The Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf and Rochester & Pittsburg likewise do well. Of those having a decrease, twenty-five in number, the Central Pacific loses nearly three-quarters of a million, almost all occurring in the first three months and in large part due to the floods in Southern California. The St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba and the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul both have a decrease of over $150,000. The heaviest decrease, however, is reported by the Grand Trunk of Canada—namely, $834,707. This is the only large trunk line in our list, and though outside the United States, will, in connection with the smaller roads given, afford some idea of the course of traffic over the trunk lines in this country during the same period. We find for instance that the Indiana Bloomington & Western has lost $145,000 or 13 per cent in these five months, that the Cincinnati Washington & Baltimore has lost $44,955 or 6 per cent during the same time, and that the Alton & Terre Haute main line has lost $12,496 or only 2½ per cent. From London, we have also the figures of the Ohio & Mississippi for the first four months showing a loss of $35,000, or less than 3 per cent, and the Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis with a loss of $140,000, or about 11 per cent. This demonstrates clearly that trunk line business has not been very satisfactory, and moreover tells us that it has been least satisfactory on the more northern routes. The following is our usual table, giving particulars of the earnings of each individual road for the first five months of the year.

Our statement of net earnings covers this time, April and the first four months of the year. The exhibit for April is not as a rule very favorable, though there are prominent exceptions to this in the case of several individual roads. Among these latter, we have already commented, in previous issues, upon the excellent showing of the Northern Pacific and the Pennsylvania; also upon the more satisfactory return issued by the Reading for April. In another column we dwell upon the falling off on the Erie and the Union Pacific. Outside of these the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe loses $100,000 in the month, wholly the result of increased expenses, which in preceding months had been steadily diminishing, and the Burlington & Quincy and the Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern both exhibit a small diminution in net. The section of country that offers the best returns as a whole, is the South, but even here there are some roads that fall behind. The East Tennessee, the Louisville & Nashville, and the Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis, all have better results than a year ago. In the following table will be found the figures of all roads that will furnish monthly returns for publication.

RE-FUNDING IN GREAT BRITAIN.

While no other national debt has experienced so many and so rapid changes, of form, of amount, or of the rate of interest which it bears, as has that of the United States, the common impression that it is quite peculiar in these respects is not borne out by the facts. Particularly is it not true that the British debt surpasses those of other governments in permanence and stability. A reduction of £20,000,000 sterling in the capital of the debt in the ten years from 1874 to 1883 is nothing in comparison with the achievments of our own Government in paying off as much or more in a single year. But it is much, when we remember that, leaving out of the account the small sum which remains of the £28,000,000 annually appropriated for interest and charge of the debt, the budget is intended to be balanced. The Chancellor of the Exchequer estimates both revenue and expenditure very closely, and he does not provide for a surplus, at least not for a considerable surplus. Consequently the reduction of twenty millions referred to has been for the most part merely the result of unexpectedly large revenues.

If there is no feverish haste to pay off the British debt, there is also nothing like a disposition to tinker its form. But, whenever an opportunity offers to make a saving, the Government is ready to take advantage of it, and brings forward a plan for reducing either the capital or the interest. Oddly enough it sometimes increases the interest charge for the sake of disposing of the capital, while it is now proposing to increase the capital for the purpose of diminishing the interest. Both processes are demonstrably advantageous to the Government. Last year an act was passed by Parliament permitting the sale of terminable annuities, by which it was expected that no less than £173,000,000 of the debt would be canceled in twenty years. But of course the rate of interest paid during that time will be very greatly increased. The plan is apparently successful, for during the past year no less than £72,000,000 of the funded debt has been canceled and transformed into the annuities above mentioned.

Now Mr. Childers proposes to begin the process of refunding the whole of the three per cent stock, the consols, into new stock bearing interest at two and one half, and two and three fourths per cent. It is commonly supposed in this country that the British consols are irredeemable, and that the Government can only extinguish the debt by purchase. It used to be so considered in England also. But until quite lately it was not a practical question at all. Consols were permanently below par, and the cheaper way would have been to buy, rather than to call in the stock, if Government had the choice. But in 1870 Parliament declared the debt to be redeemable at par at the pleasure of the Government. Since then consols have risen to a premium, and have remained steadily above par for a long time. This seems to be an opportune time, then, for an attempt to reduce the interest on the whole debt, and that is what Mr. Childers proposes by the government bill now pending in Parliament.

His plan is as follows: He proposes to offer to the present holders of three per cent stock, £102 in 2¾ per cent stock, or £108 in 2½ per cent stock, for every £100 which they now hold. The effect of this would be that those who took the former class would receive £2 16s. 1d. interest, and those who took 2½ per cents would receive £2 14s., where they now receive £3, on each £100 held. The actual loss of sale value of the capital would, however, be much less in proportion. Three per cent consols sold on May 28 at 101⅛, and two and a half per cents at 92⅝. Three per cents were thus at 109½, nearly, as compared with 100 for the lower class of stock. Mr. Childers' proposition, therefore, gives an option of taking 1½ per cent less than the market value of the three per cent stock. At present he asks for nothing but the right to make the offer to fund-holders. But he says that probably the next offer will not be so favorable as this, and the right to redeem the consols is held in reserve to coerce those who are not disposed to accept his first terms.

There seems to be something like audacity in suggesting the possibility of a forcible redemption of such a vast sum as £612,000,000, the present amount of the three per cents—for, since it does not consist of numbered bonds, nor even of bonds of uniform denominations, it must be called, if at all, in gross and all at once. Mr. Childers, in his speech moving the second reading of the bill for the conversion of the debt, referred to Mr. Gladstone's admission in 1853, that a notice of redemption addressed to all the holders of three per cents would be a hazardous experiment. But since then the Government has become much stronger and the manner in which the United States debt has been re-funded has given some valuable lessons in finance. Should Mr. Childers' offer be accepted by the holders of a considerable amount of consols, the position of the rest is perceptibly weakened. The fear that he may be successful will induce many holders to accept at once, and the chance of being forced to accede to harder terms will hasten others to the same decision. On the whole, if we may judge from the manners in which American holders of six and five per cent bonds assented to a reduction of interest to three and one-half, and afterwards to three per cent, there is a very good prospect that the whole of the three per cents may be converted.

In case the present £612,000,000 three per cents were converted into two and a half per cents (the expectation is that most of those who are willing to make the exchange will take two and one half per cents), the capital would be raised to £661,000,000; but the interest would be reduced from £18,360,000 to £16,524,000, a saving of rather more than £1,800,000. The Chancellor of the Exchequer deems it wise to devote nearly half a million sterling of this sum to a sinking fund for the extinguishment of the addition to the capital, leaving him a little more than £1,300,000 a year as the net saving by the conversion of the whole amount of three per cent stock. That is not a great sum, but it is worth saving. What is of more importance than the actual money economy is the establishment of two and one half per cent as the ordinary rate of interest on British Government loans, and as the rate to be paid on future loans. In all probability the demand for this class of security will, in the course of a very few years, bring up the two and a half per cents nearly or quite to par, and if the credit of the Government should be as well cared for as it has been in the past, which there is every reason to expect, loans will be effected at the new rate as productive of capital as those recently made at three per cent have been.

The bill meets with opposition, but that was to be expected. Mr. Hubbard gave the House of Commons notice that his colleagues of the Bank of England were adverse to it. No one could have supposed that they would favor it. The Bank holds so large an amount of the debt as security for its circulating notes that the loss of interest will be appreciably felt. Other fund-holders will sympathize with them. But it is not easy to see what they can alledge, aside from self-interest, against the scheme. Mr. Childers now asks for nothing but authority to propose to the holders of consols an exchange of their present securities for others, with more capital and less interest. Any one will be at liberty to refuse, but the Government will effect an economy so far as the offer is accepted. It is unfair to no one, unless the reservation of authority to call in and pay off the consols not exchanged be looked upon as a threat against those who refuse to accept the offer. But the fact that unless some coercive step is taken the Government will forever be unable to make use of its authority to redeem the consols at par, and will therefore be at the mercy of its own creditors so far as to be forced to pay an unnecessarily high rate of interest, will be a sufficient excuse for the measure.

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, May 31, 1884.

The course of business during the past month has been rather more satisfactory, but, at the same time, there is no very encouraging feature. Less anxiety is now felt regarding the position of affairs in the United States, and yet the desire to operate more extensively in American securities is by no means of a decided character, the general public having shown a strong inclination to keep away from Stock Exchange securities of nearly all descriptions. It is seldom that the public are buyers of stock when depression and uncertainty exists, and this is the case now. In addition to the very cautious feeling which prevails, it is quite generally admitted that the means at the command of the people are below the average, owing to the inactivity of business and to the small profits which, as a rule, accrue on the completion of commercial transactions. There is more or less of a hopeful feeling regarding the future; but it is certainly difficult to see how any substantial improvement can immediately take place. Our stocks of many articles of produce are still very large. Merchants show no eagerness to buy, except upon very remunerative terms; but, at the same time, consumers are very cautious in their operations, and only buy from hand to mouth. With the exception of Egyptian affairs, which are still very perplexing, there is no serious anxiety with regard to foreign political questions. But the dynamite outrages show that there are still a few among the discontented Irish who are ready to adopt the most reckless means in seeking to attain their purposes. Nothing short of the repeal of the union will satisfy that section of the Irish people. Last night's outrages have produced a gloomy feeling, and there is not at present any clue to the miscreants. The destruction of a portion of the leading Metropolitan Police station evidently shows that the dynamite party is very determined and unscrupulous, and that it will adopt any means, however cruel, to attain its end. Several of these plotters have been captured of late, and are awaiting their trial. The law will, of course, deal severely with them, if they are found guilty, but these conspirators will have but little chance of a trial if, at any time, they should be laid hold of by an impatient people.

The feature in this week's Bank return is that the return of coin from Scotch circulation is smaller than had been anticipated. A very limited quantity—about £50,000—has come back, which may be accounted for partly because there is a certain amount of distrust, and, secondly, because the Whitsun holiday season, in the North of England and in Scotland, is the most important of the year. Nearly the whole of next week will be devoted to festivals and amusements, and the majority of houses will be closed to business. The Bank of England return is, however, a satisfactory one. The proportion of reserve to liabilities amounts to about 48 per cent, against 35·26 per cent last year, and is also in excess of the three preceding years. The increase in the total reserve amounts to £191,449. The total reserve now reaches a total of £15,552,016, against £10,732,771; while the total supply of bullion is £25,138,966, against £20,497,811 in 1883. In the bullion market, a feature has been that £100,000 has been withdrawn from the Bank for transmission to Montreal.

The payment of instalments on new loans has given a little more firmness to the market for short money, but the interest charge has been at the rate of only 1¼ to 1½ per cent per annum. In the discount market an easy tone has prevailed, but without leading to any material change in the quotations. The supply of mercantile bills is very moderate, and shows no immediate prospect of increase.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

Tenders were received at the Bank of England yesterday for the Queensland 4 per cent loan, which was a great success. The applications amounted to as much as £8,925,000, at prices varying from the minimum of £98 to £102. Tenders at £99 8s. will receive about 40 per cent of the amount applied for, and those above that price in full. The average price obtained was £99 9s. 2d.

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week, Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold has been in good demand both for India and South America, and the arrivals which we give below have all been bought for export. The Bank has received £52,000 in sovereign from Australia. The imports are £14,000 from the West Indies, £3,000 from Chili and £276,000 from Central America; total, £123,000; while the exports are £25,000 in bars to Bombay per P. & O. steamer and £100,000 in sovereigns shipped in to-morrow's North German Lloyd steamer to New York.

Silver—With weaker rates from India, the market, which in the absence of supplies was at 50 15-16d., fell to 50 13-16d., at which rate the amount by the "Medway" was yesterday sold, and to-day that by the Chilian steamer. The arrivals are £30,000 from New York, £26,000 from the West Indies and £46,100 from Chili; total, £102,100. The "Khedive" takes £70,400 to Bombay.

Mexican Dollars—About £170,000 came to hand by the Royal Mail steamer "Medway," and realized 49 13-16d., showing a decline of 1-16d. compared with last price.

In the wheat trade, there has been continued dulness, the accounts which have been received from all parts of Europe having been of a decidedly favorable character. At the present time a somewhat early harvest is looked forward to, and, as is usual in dry seasons, an excellent quality of produce is expected. The arrivals of wheat into the United Kingdom this week have been rather limited, and the result has been that the quantity afloat has been somewhat augmented. The supplies actually or almost immediately available are still fully adequate to our requirements; in fact, they exceed them. The only policy, therefore, for millers to adopt is to buy from hand to mouth, and to keep their working stocks at a full working point—a course which, it is understood, they have pursued for many months past. Only a very quiet trade for wheat can therefore, be anticipated as long as the weather remains fine and the crop reports are propitious.

A feature in the trade just now is that the Continent, or rather the Western part of it, including Germany, is a large buyer of foreign wheat. The Baltic ports have, for some time past, been re-opened to navigation, and rather considerable shipments of wheat are being made from St. Petersburg. According to the last weekly return 64,348 chetwerts were sent to the United Kingdom (direct ports), and 35,188 chetwerts for orders, but to the Continent they were as much as 126,984 chetwerts. The cause of the movement is obvious. The agricultural season on the Continent, more especially in the Southern districts, is more advanced than it is in the North and in this country, and supplies are, in consequence, becoming more and more restricted. Owing to the wet autumn of 1882, the crop of wheat in many parts of the Continent was smaller than usual, though better than had been expected under such adverse circumstances. Assistance is now required, and more wheat is now being directed both from American and Russian ports to the Continent. There has also been more inquiry for wheat at British ports of call of late than for some time past. Prices, however, have not varied considerably in consequence, but they are rather firm for white sorts.
